MEETING OF THE WOMAN'S CLUB

The Tallahassee Woman's Club held its regular monthly meeting at the Leon Hotel on Thursday, Jan. 14, at 3.30 o'clock. The attendance was unusually large. After the business meeting, the club gave a reception in the parlors of the hotel. Over 100 people were present.

The principal feature of the entertainment was the program furnished by several members of the College faculty. The program was as follows: Piano Solos, "Three Preludes," Chopin

Miss Iselhardt
Songs, "Boat Song".....Ware
"Love's Awakening".....Sanderson
Miss Sparkes

Reading, "The Great Day When Martha Voted".....John K. Bangs
Miss Roberts

Violin Solos, "Pantomime".....Mozart
"Spanish Dance".....Rehfeldt
Miss Rausch

Songs, "Just You".....Brown
"At Dawning".....Cadman
"Spring".....Hildach
Miss Bishop

Accompanists, Miss Iselhardt and Miss Opperman

The Tallahassee Woman's Club has voted a scholarship in the short course will be given here next month. This scholarship is to be given to some girl from Leon County who does not live in Tallahassee. This is in line with the plan of the Jacksonville Woman's Club, whose members offer a similar scholarship. The plan is in the Home Economics Department in the Florida State College for Women.

REHEARSING A NEW PLAY

The girls are rehearsing regularly for the play "Pride and Prejudice," which will be presented by the students in the School of Expression at the Opera House the last of February. This play is anticipated to be the best yet produced by the College girls. The play itself is dramatized from Jane Austen's novel, "Pride and Prejudice." It is delightful. One of those old English masterpieces which continually delight us with their charming characters.

The heroine of the play is Miss Elizabeth Bennett, who will be interpreted by Miss Helen Farrington. Miss Farrington is a true Elizabeth Bennett, about whom George Saintsbury said: "In the novels of the last hundred years there are vast numbers of young ladies with whom it would be a pleasure to fall in love—but to live with and to marry, I do not know that any of them can come into competition with Elizabeth Bennett."

Mr. Darcey, who possesses a very natural pride of birth, will be represented by Miss Constance Cavell.

Mrs. Bennett, whose business of life it was to get her daughters married, will be played by Miss Adrienne Phillips.

Miss Myrtice McCaskill will interpret Mr. Collins, whose lofty manners and awkward gallantry produce some very amusing situations.

THE THALIANS

"That the president shall wear cap and gown, and also the Thalian colors, at every meeting of the society," was a resolution adopted by the members of the Thalian Literary Society last Saturday evening. The resolution was also adopted that there should be three marshals appointed by the president. Their duty will be to act as ushers, to keep order at club meetings, and to usher at any public functions given under its auspices. These marshals will wear the society colors at every meeting.

SKANSEN

In traveling abroad one soon realizes that the whole world is becoming so Americanized, or modernized, it is losing much of its former interest.

Where ancient fashions are retained it is chiefly for the benefit of tourists. The interior of Sweden is untouched—here you will find the ways of the people unchanged.

It is not often possible or convenient for the usual tourist to find his way into interior Sweden; but at Skansen, in the suburbs of Stockholm, one will find rural Sweden in miniature, within easy reach, and with all its attractive phases.

A devoted Swede, in fear that the peasants would give up their ways for the ways of the modern world, has collected at Skansen actual types representing every industry, activity and national trait.

This patriotic and scientific enterprise was undertaken for the purpose of preserving the habits and customs of the Scandinavian races.

There are about forty acres in this park, called Skansen, and probably 150 people living exactly as their forefathers lived and practicing the primitive customs that prevailed two centuries ago in the agricultural regions.

Ancient farmhouses and stables have been brought from the old farms in the interior of Sweden and been put up in Skansen.

The quarters of the houses, which you must often stoop to enter, the doorway is so low, contain their original furniture. The beds are built into the walls, sometimes one over the other, ship fashion. The benches, too, are attached to the walls. The kitchen and company room are all true to life, and the Swedish people living in the houses are dressed exactly like the original inmates of the house, and carry on the work in the same way that it was done a hundred years ago.

Here also you will find the Lapps brought from the frozen zone of Sweden, with their dogs and reindeer, living as they do in the polar regions.

The music for the dancing is furnished by queer old-fashioned instruments. The leader, a splendid specimen of an old man, tall, broad-shouldered, about six feet six, with his long-tailed, white-trimmed frock coat, reaching to his heels, his bright red vest, his long side whiskers, his broad-brimmed hat, his genial bright face and his feet keeping time to the very queer fiddle he is carrying, makes a picture not soon to be forgotten. The dances are original and very pretty. One of the most ancient and popular is "weaving homespun," the figures imitating the action of the shuttle. One dance is almost like the Virginia Reel.

All the dances require violent physical exercise, and some are accompanied by pretty melodies sung in unison by both the men and women.

The children are also good dancers of the Folk Dance, and with their sweet, bright faces and quaint dresses make a sight quite pleasing to the eye.

"The time will come when all our gold will not be sufficient to buy an accurate picture of the times long past."

The above is the significant motto over the gateway to this living, outdoor museum called Skansen, just outside the city of Stockholm.

Probably the afternoon spent at Skansen was one of the most thoroughly enjoyed and aroused the keen-

THE FIELD DAY

Are we getting ready for Field Day?

This year it comes on Monday and Tuesday, March 29-30. All track events will come on Monday and the games and gymnasium exhibit on Tuesday.

A class may be represented by any number of girls in all the events. The winner of any event will receive 5 points, the second winner 3 points, and the third 1 point. All points awarded to a class must be won by a member of that class. A champion barker will be given the class that wins the greatest number of points.

This is our third Field Day. Two years ago the banner was won by the Sub-Freshman Class, last year by the Juniors. Before long a book will be ready in which all who wish to enter the contests may register. The committee on athletics will soon meet to decide upon the events. Miss Elder will be glad to receive any suggestions.

"More class spirit and enthusiasm was shown this year in basketball than ever before, so the prospects for Field Day are unusually good," said Miss Elder, instructor in physical culture.

We have splendid material in College, and if the girls will come out early for practice we ought to be able to measure up to the standards of other women's colleges. There are many girls who have athletic ability of which they are unconscious, and which could be developed by practice. If the classes will get their representatives to work early, I am sure we will have the best Field Day the College has ever had.

MRS. CAWTHON AT HOME SUNDAY EVENING

Sunday evening, in the Y. W. C. A. lobby, Mrs. Cawthon, our college mother, assisted by the college seniors, was at home to the Bryan Hall girls and invited guests from Reynolds and East Hall. It was delightfully informal. Everyone enjoyed singing the old songs, though they had the "Home, Sweet, Sweet Home" effect upon us. This was duly dismissed, however, by the terrifying, yet fascinating, ghost stories of Mrs. Cawthon and Miss Phyllis Jarrell. Miss Belva Floyd sang, in her own charming manner, "The End of a Perfect Day." Miss Stone, guest of the Y. W. C. A., spoke most interestingly of her work. Her talk began with the government reception at New York, given by the President of the United States and Miss Hodges, national secretary of the Y. W. C. A., and the journey from New York city to Mohawk Lake. In a pleasing, graphic way, Miss Stone related many of the odd little experiences and funny happenings that come from the meeting of more than two hundred people of different nationalities. Tea and sandwiches were served after the program. The guests departed reluctantly, for they so thoroughly enjoyed spending one of the long Sunday evenings in a way that our college mother had planned for them.

est interest of any of my many happy eventful days the past summer.

I purchased a set of pictures of Skansen and its folk for our girls, which will, I think, give them a better idea of this interesting place than this description will do. The pictures will be found in my office.

S. L. CAWTHON.

A PROMINENT Y. W. C. A. VISITOR

Miss Mabel E. Stone, one of the two Y. W. C. A. student secretaries for the South Atlantic field, arrived at the College Thursday, Jan. 14, and left last Sunday morning. Miss Stone came recently from the Y. W. C. A. headquarters at Charlotte, N. C.

The South Atlantic field is one of the eleven fields in which the States of the whole country are grouped. There are eighty student associations in this field. Miss Stone helps to develop those organizations already started, and helps the girls to find a place for the Y. W. C. A. among other college organizations. She also starts new organizations in many places.

While at the College, Miss Stone met with the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and several committees, and assisted them in making plans for the coming year.

"The Y. W. C. A. has its purpose in the college in strengthening the Christian life of the girls," said Miss Stone. "It helps the girls to have clear-cut standards of character; of course, the Bible study is a big help to that. And the weekly meetings, parties and entertainments all fit themselves to that main purpose. The Y. W. C. A. leads the girls to a keener sense of Christian democracy, and leads them to an intelligent enthusiasm for community and world service."

THE MODEL SCHOOL

At the opening of the second semester every desk is taken and the waiting list has grown to seven. One mother declared she was going to send her boy even if he could have no other place than to stand in the corner.

The Seniors are very enthusiastic about their work with the little ones. Each has a class of her very own for eight weeks, and many are showing great aptitude for teaching.

The Second Grade was delighted to receive a dissected map of the United States from Winifred Lively, a former pupil, and they are learning to put it together.

The interest of the Fourth Grade centers now around a product map of the United States. They color the different sections as they learn them, and will glue the products on when the entire map is colored.

The First Grade has just learned the great word "Alphabet," and they like to say it, as well as to write the letters.

The Third is joyously awaiting the coming of the second semester, for then they are to have composition books.

THE GIRL AT HOME

"What can I accomplish when I go back home? Of what real use can I make my college training?" This is the incessant question which follows the college girl like a guilty conscience, and it is this very question which Miss Stone made the keynote of her talks while at the College.

The greatest danger which faces the college girl when she goes back home is that she will not "make good." She knows that only one girl out of 500 receives a college education, and that she is the "girl who has had a chance."
What can she do to help the others?

The Y. W. C. A. offers a plan, the Eight-Week Club, by which the college girl can bring back to the girls at home much of the benefit she has derived from college. The plan consists in organizing the girls of one community for three special aims.
The first, to study something worth while along literary lines; the second, to have good times, and the third, to do something which will help the community. This Eight-Week Club plan is only a stepping stone. It can lead to greater things.

THE "BOY AND GIRL" DANCE

Misses Coris Shands and Ruth Cook led the grand march, which opened the "Boy and Girl" Dance given in the Recreation Hall at 8:30 o'clock last Saturday night. One of the features of the evening was the Doll Dance, between the second and third dances, given by Misses Verna Monroe and Zella Wilson. Many girls used original programs, characteristic of the costumes they wore.

Miss Ida Hester, with her pistols, sambonet and chewing gum, was a good representation of a country girl.
Miss Mildred Sweeney was dressed as a typical college boy. Miss Ethel Gildewell was a charming little girl, with her curls, ribbons and Teddy Bear. Miss Dorothy Tutt was especially attractive in a white Grecian robe and laurel wreath. Miss Annie Holmes, as a colonial girl, was unusually pretty in blue satin. Miss Ruth Berry was a life-like Buster Brown. Miss Roberts, as a school girl, and Miss Grace Owen, in a tuxedo, were one of the most amusing couples present.

The couples present were: Misses Marie McMillan and Elizabeth Anderson, Agnes Edwards and Natalie Motter, Helen Vaughn and Helen Farrington, Betty Floyd and Angelica Young,
Sarah Burwell and Evara Hall, Josephine Grasty and Florence Linger, Josephine Gildewell and Dixie Shingle-ton, Oakley St. John and Gertrude Lovel, Reenie Murrell and Sylvia Kinney, Verna Monroe and Margaret Mitchell, Zella Wilson and Fern Hibbard, Emma Barry and Nell Cooper, El-beth Mulholland and Minna Harris.

The visitors at the dance were: Mrs.
E. W. Sweeney, Misses Letitia Johnson, Kate Byrd and Mary Dodd.

A PROFESSOR'S TROUBLES

"Left, right; left, right. Why don't you keep straight lines?"
"Column, left; company, halt!"

"Young ladies, if you're going to have military drill, you'll have to stop talking; it doesn't matter if Miss Parkhill can't keep good time with the drum."

These were some of the difficulties
Prof. Barber met with when he undertook the command of Company A of the Broom Stick Regiment, Friday afternoon.

"The College girls have taken it upon themselves to add a "War Department" to the Florida State College for Women. Accordingly, forty girls, uniformly dressed in white middie blouses and blue skirts, were lined up on the campus Friday for military drill. L. S. Barber, professor of horticulture, instructed the girls in the military use of the Gomezie tool—Go broom. During the coming semester Company A will drill twice a week under Prof. Barber's command.

This idea originated when the horticultural class was on a "hike" in the woods. The girls picked up brooms for implements of war, and Mr. Barber took command.

FEELIN' FINE

There ain't no use kikin' friend, if things don't come your way;
It does no good to holler 'round, an grumble night and day;
The thing to do 's to curb yer grief,
cut out yer little white,
An' when they ask you how you are,
jest say, "I'm feelin' fine."

They ain't no man alive but what is hooked to get his slap;
They ain't no man that walks but what from trouble gets his rap;
Go mingle with the bunch, old boy,
where all the bright lights shine,
An' when they ask you how you are,
jest say, "I'm feelin' fine."

Yer heart may be jest burstin' with some real or fancied wee,
But if you smile, the other folks ain't very apt to know;
The old world laughs at heartaches, friend, be they your own, or mine;

So, when they ask you how you are,
jest say, "I'm feelin' fine."

THE CANNING CLUB

The annual Canning Club School will be conducted from Feb. 15 to Feb.
22 at the Florida State College for Women by the following representatives: Mr. C. B. Martin, Miss Mary E. Creswell and Miss Ola Powell of the Bureau of Plant Industry. They will conduct the work pertaining particularly to the Canning Clubs. Dr.
M. N. Stranahan of the Bureau of Chemistry will give special instructions in the chemistry of preserving and jelly making. Miss Caroline L. Hunt of the Department of Nutrition, Department of Agriculture, will give special instructions in nutrition, particularly adapted to farm conditions. Members of the faculty of the Florida State College for Women and the Extension Division of the University of Florida, will also take part in that school.

Twenty counties are organized in the Canning Club work this year, and the agents from all of these counties will take the instructions offered them at this Short Course. Many of these agents are planning to stay at the College through the Short Course in Home Economics.

The canning workers are not only becoming more efficient in teaching the preserving and jelly making to the Canning Club girls, but practical instructions are now being given by those agents in various home problems.

THE COLLEGE LIBRARY

The Library of the Florida State College for Women is particularly fortunate to have received nearly one hundred volumes from the library of the late Miss Mary S. Lewis. This collection is of great value, many of the books being rarely found in a private library. "Hakluyt's Voyages," a complete set in twelve volumes; Bryce's "American Commonwealth"; books on floriculture; books collected in different countries during her travels abroad, which treat of the manners and customs of the people; biographies, dramas, poems, etc. One of the most interesting of the collection is a complete text of the Passion Play given in Oberammergau, 1910. This text is accompanied by photographs of the peasants who took the leading parts, and many beautiful views of Oberammergau. All of these will be framed to form the "Oberammergau Group."

Miss Lewis also gave the College a box of curios, characteristic of the countries she visited.

MRS. GARRETT'S HOUSEKEEPING NOTES

A peep in at Nos. 15, 110, 115 or 225
Reynolds Hall will give one a glimpse of a college girl's model room.

In Bryan Hall, suites 5, 6, 87, 206, 207, 208 and 110 have been kept in perfect order for a week.

In East Hall, with the exception of two or three rooms, the entire dormitory has been beautifully kept.

"Call on the girls," said Mrs. Garrett, "and you will have the pleasure of seeing well-kept rooms. Interest in housekeeping is increasing each day."

CAMPUS NOTES

Miss Florence Stephens, secretary to the president, returned last Monday from a month's visit with her mother in Miami.

Henry Lee Bell, of Pensacola, spent last week and part of this week at the college taking pictures for the annual.

The first regular business meeting of the French Club will be held at Dr. Clausen's home at 8 o'clock next Monday night.

Mrs. W. M. Corly and Miss Ahdie Monroe of Quincy took dinner at the College Wednesday night.

Miss Constance Walden of Passaic, N. J., guest of Miss Alice Corry at her home in Quincy, is now her guest here at the College for the week-end.

The girls of the College wish to express their thanks to Mrs. Cawthon for her gift of a rug for the Y. W. C. A. den.

Miss Mabelle Dorst, a graduate of the Home Economics Department, and the winner of the Buckman Medal in Home Economics in 1912, has been appointed County Agent for Canning Clubs and County Domestic Science Teacher in Seminole County.

Miss Katherine Martin, graduate of the Department of Home Economics, and winner of the Home Economics Medal in 1913, has been made County Agent of Canning Clubs in Citrus County. She begins her work on Jan. 27.

The members of the faculty of the Department of Home Economics are now planning the Short Course in Home Economics to precede the spring review term. This course is offered annually by the Department of Home Economics and is planned to give an opportunity to the women and girls in the State to come to the College and spend two weeks studying Home Economics.

Miss Mae L. Wells, of the Extension Division, has just returned to the College after two weeks spent in South Florida giving daily lessons in mar-making. Wednesday and Thursday, the 20th and 21st, she will spend in Walton County assisting at a Farmers' Institute there.

"The Alkalest Favorites" gave a recital at the College Auditorium at 8 o'clock, Wednesday night last, to a fair-sized audience.

Prof. Rolfs, director of the Experiment Station at Gainesville, has offered to send to the College 150 small palms, to be set out on the campus as soon as they are large enough for transplanting. He has also offered to send us for similar purposes a number of cabbage palmetto plants and a number of white cedars and Japanese cedars. Later he will also furnish the College, from the Experiment grounds, various varieties of bamboo. The College very heartily appreciates the co-operation of Prof. Rolfs.

C. A. Landrum, of Quincy, a brother of Mrs. Cawthon, spent last Saturday afternoon at the College.

Mrs. Cawthon gave an At Home to the College girls last Thursday night at 7 o'clock. The program was as follows: Miss Ruth Cooke (recitation), "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm"; Miss Bishop, vocal solo, and a representation of the evolution of the modern dance in pantomime, by the college girls.

The officers of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet were at home to the members of the faculty last Friday afternoon in honor of Miss Stone, traveling secretary of the Y. W. C. A. They received from 4 to 5 o'clock in their rooms in Bryan Hall. During the evening, Miss Bishop sang "Eyes That Used to Gaze in Mine" and "His Little Baby." The hostesses added to the charming occasion with the music of their Victrola while tea was being served.

INFIRMARY NOTES

Miss Stella Palmer, instructor in Home Economics, left the Infirmary Monday. She had been there, with a sprained knee, for nearly a week.

Miss Geneva Moseley is recovering from mumps. She will be out of the Infirmary to-day.

Miss Doris Neel left the College Monday for her home at Westville, Fla., on account of illness.

Miss Willard Hall of Titusville, Fla., has returned home on account of illness.

Miss Mae L. Wells, of the Extension Department, was in the Infirmary Tuesday with a bruised head. Miss Wells received the injury in a railway wreck at DeLand Junction.

Miss Ella Seoble Opperman, director of music, has been ill for several days.

NEW LITERARY SOCIETY

A new literary society, The Anvil, came into existence last Saturday night. For some time past the girls have been holding weekly business meetings for the purpose of organizing, but it was not until the last meeting that a name was adopted, officers elected, and the society got in working order. Meetings will be held every Saturday evening. At these meetings the literary productions of its members will be delivered and discussed before the society.

At present, The Anvil has a membership of twelve, which number includes a representation of each of the four college classes. All of its members manifest intense interest in the work of the society.

The first literary meeting will be held Saturday night, Feb. 6.

THE SPICE OF SCHOOL LIFE

Meaning of words, according to the little folks: Missionary, an orphan; display, "jes' playing"; "stop playing"; cataract, "something to hang your hat on"; lexicon, "a six-sided figure"; anger, "a man that hores holes in the future"; chaff, "a horsecht"; jealous, "when they begin to love each other."

Teacher: "What does hemp mean?" John: "What a lady has in the bottom of her skirt."

Joseph: "No that's not it. It's like when you play a joke on a fellow and he says, 'Get away from here, you little hemp (inn) you.'"

Dramatization of Marquette: Little boy who represents Marquette teaching the Indians: "O people, why do you worship islands (dols) like this?"

When the children in the fourth grade were studying the story of Niagara Falls one child asked: "If the water flows all the time why doesn't it run dry?" Another child quickly said: "Oh, I heard last night that all Virginia had gone dry."

Teacher (one cold morning): "Children, what shall we do to warm our hands?"

Robert (in earnest): "Let's go over by the elevator."

Teacher: "What does brilliant mean?"

Pupil: "It means bright and shiny."

Teacher: "All right; now make a sentence with brilliant in it."

Pupil: "Some people have brilliant noses."

Some teachers emphasize the subject, others the child. These latter accomplish wonders unknown to the former. Verily "the life is more than meat."—The American Schoolmaster.

KINDERGARTEN NOTES

The members of the class of 1911 are located as follows: Miss Clara Brodnax is director of a kindergarten in Jacksonville; Esther Soy is doing primary work and reports her kindergarten training as of great benefit in her primary grades; Miss Mabel Maxwell has a primary school in Duquoin; Miss Alberta Arnold has a kindergarten in Green Cove Springs; Miss Emma Helseth is back at F. S. W. C., and is a senior at the College.

At the last meeting of the Kindergarten Club it was voted to comply with the suggestion sent out by the International Kindergarten Union that all members be taxed 25 cents toward the maintenance of a kindergarten as a part of the educational exhibit at the Panama Exposition. The money was immediately sent out by the treasurer.

The Commissioner of Education, Dr. Claxton, strongly advocates that a statue of Froebel, the founder of the kindergarten, be erected in Washington. The Kindergarten Club is doing what it can toward helping.

During the past week "sheep" and "wool" have been the principal subjects for discussion in the kindergarten. The children have drawn sheep and molded them. They have built sheep barns, drinking troughs and pastures for the sheep, out of blocks. The shearing of the sheep has been a favorite dramatic play. Half of the children represent sheep and the other half the shearers. While doing this they sing:

"We are the shearers, big and strong,
And we sing as we work away,
While we shear the wool from the old sheep's back,
Through the long bright summer day,

"Click! sing the shears, and a click,
click, click,
As they clip his coat so fine,
As we shear the wool from the old sheep's back,
In the happy summer time."

Then the imaginary wool is packed into imaginary sacks and carried to the mills (in the corner of the room), to be sold and made into warm clothes for kindergarten children and others.

A cordial invitation is extended to all College students to visit the Kindergarten any day from 9 to 12 o'clock.

THE FLORIDA STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING.

The Florida State College for Women has existed under its present name since May, 1909. As early as 1851, Florida had begun to feel an interest in the higher education of her citizens. The first step toward attaining this ideal was the establishment in the early part of that year of two seminaries, one east, the other west, of the Suwannee river—the one established at Gainesville, the other at Tallahassee. For a number of years, these and other state institutions, representing various branches of learning, were successful in their work, but in order to increase the efficiency of means to higher education in the State, these several institutions were abolished in the year 1905, and immediately following their abolishment, the Legislature passed an act establishing two institutions which would take the places of these which had formerly existed, and which would cover in two plants all the branches of learning which had up to this time been carried on in the several smaller institutions, and this with less expense to the State. The outgrowth of the consolidation of these schools was the establishment of sister institutions—the University of Florida, for the young men of the State, and the Florida Female College, for her young women. The University was located at Gainesville, the site of what had been known as the East Florida Seminary, and the College at Tallahassee taking the location which had previously been that of the Florida State College. It retained the name of Florida Female College for four years, when, by another act of the Legislature, it was given the name it has now.

The Florida State College for Women has grown rapidly and steadily ever since it was founded, and in the ten years of her existence, practically every outward appearance of the former institution has disappeared. In place of the small buildings, which would now be altogether inadequate to the accommodation of her students, large, new buildings, equipped with every modern convenience, have been erected. In place of the former comparatively small Administration Building there was erected, in 1907, the present well-equipped building, and even this is becoming crowded, as the College increases in numbers. Bryan and Reynolds' Halls are both spacious dormitories, arranged with every modern convenience for the comfort of the girls who room there. East Hall, although smaller than the other dormitories, practically equals them in convenience of equipment. The Gymnasium is very important, for physical training is a feature of the College in which most of the girls are interested, and the increasing interest in this line of work, together with the added numbers of students, prophecies the necessity of a new building in the near future. In connection with the Normal Department of the College, there is a Training School and Kindergarten Building. The Dining Hall, which was completed just before school closed last year, is one of the most beautiful buildings on the campus. It is thoroughly modern in every respect, and is large enough to accommodate the growing number of students for some years to come.

The impression one gets on visiting the College campus is one of beauty and strength, but the important fact is that these outward signs of growth are merely a suggestion of the real inner growth of the College. With each year she gathers new strength in every branch of her work, and even in her comparatively short existence she has already come to be recognized as one of the leading institutions of learning in the South.

THE MUSICAL DEPARTMENT

The School of Music is quite dominant at present. The series of students' recitals will begin, however, after the close of examinations.

Vesper services will be held in the College Auditorium, Sunday afternoon, Feb. 14, at 4 o'clock.

The Glee Club has started to work on a cantata, "Pan on a Summer Day," by Paul Bliss, author of the operetta, "Feast of the Red Corn," which was delightfully given by the club at the Daffin Theater last year.

THE THALIANS

The Thalian Literary Society convened Saturday evening, Jan. 23, with a live, well-planned program. It was one of the most interesting meetings of the year. The opening number was a war song, "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," by the entire society, awakened a storm of enthusiasm.

The program was as follows:

War Song, "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" Thalian Literary Society
"Beginnings of the Conflict".....Alta Grimm
"How France Became Involved".....Dorothy Slemmons
"The Marseillaise".....
"Carmen and Rose Evans"
"The Position of England".....
"Constance Cavill, Irma Blake"
"The Allurement of Europe".....
"Winnie Warren"
"Recent Happenings of the Front".....
"Elsie Hargrave, Florence Conibear,"

A answer to Roll Call, with choice of winners in conflict.

WAR BRIEFS

The Swedish government has issued a decree prohibiting the transit or forwarding to belligerent powers of all kinds of war materials, as well as of the raw materials essential to their manufacture.

On Jan. 25, the Austrians effectually checked the invasion of Hungary. The Austro-German army now has the offensive in the southeastern war theater. This is recognized as the event of chief importance in that part of the war zone at the present time. There are few changes of conditions in the west. Roumania is as yet undecided as to whether or not she will enter in the war.

The Austrian army captured 1000 prisoners in a battle in the Carpathians Jan. 25-26.

Jan. 24, the biggest naval battle of the war was fought in the North Sea. The British battle cruiser squadron, commanded by Vice Admiral Beatty, were victorious. The German armored cruiser Blucher was sunk, and two other ships were crippled. This is the first time during the war that dreadnoughts have met in battle.

Jan. 26, Germany asks the United States to stop the sale of hydro-aeroplanes to belligerent nations. The Curtiss Works at Hammondsport, N. Y., make them, and has sold several to England. Thirty-six hydro-aeroplanes of the same type have been ordered by England from the same firm, and these are now under construction. Russia has also ordered a number of hydro-aeroplanes of similar construction. The German embassy objected to this as a violation of part of an agreement concluded at The Hague Oct. 18, 1907.

The report came from Amsterdam that in a recent aerial raid upon the city of Essen, British aviators completely wrecked a repair shed containing 400 German military automobiles.

DEATHS

Dr. Long's old students regret to hear that he has suffered a severe bereavement in the death of his brother, John Long, who died of pneumonia last week at Madison Heights, Va.

The entire college regrets deeply to learn of the death of Mrs. Katherine Dodd, mother of Dr. Dodd, of the College. Mrs. Dodd was spending the winter in Tallahassee, when she was taken ill about ten weeks ago. She died last Friday morning, Jan. 22, at the home of Dr. Dodd. The remains were taken to her old home in New Philadelphia, Ohio, where the funeral was held Tuesday afternoon.

OUR NAME

"Florida," of course, quite naturally; but "Flambeau," by what right? Look at the great seal of our Alma Mater; on it you see three primal ideals enumerated, for which our College stands, and for each ideal stands its symbol,
the classical torch, which our Dear Mother hands on to succeeding generations. And let us hope that each shining emblem symbolizes a greater light than "never was on land or sea."
MOTT.

THAT MUCH-ABUSED WORD

"Culture!" How much the highbrows enjoy uttering this mouth-filling, brain-emptying word! But now comes Prof. Henderson and defines culture as "the pursuit of perfection," and with one fell blow does he tumble down the snobbish claim to a possible state of idealism—the possession of an intellectual elite. Activity and evolutionary ideals are both provided for in this new and comprehensive definition, and the very soul of democracy is encouraged to come forth and enter into its world possessions of time, spirit and mind.

MOTT.

STUDENT ENTERPRISES

It rejoices the heart that at last there has come into the life of campus and hall a student activity that is a possible crystallizing force for all other student activities. Teachers and students are all supporting with a genuine enthusiasm our weekly paper, and they all seem to realize that our College community has a common medium of expression. We look into our reflector and see ourselves, beauty spots, wrinkles and all. We chronicle events and in events are chronicled.
We anticipate and record. The fair-to-day is forgot in a fairer to-morrow.
We are one in thought and in work, and every issue of this paper will be an index to a newer and better life in dormitory, on field, in classroom and entre nous.

But there are others—other student activities, and we are all eager to see literary societies, clubs and fraternities justify themselves by an actual and a constant ministration to a richer social life—a ministration that adds, multiplies and divides, but never subtracts.

STATE COLLEGE ALUMNAE

The Alumnae Association of the Florida State College for Women is making its influence felt in many parts of Florida through its individual members. Besides it has a specific enterprise constantly in operation, and that is the maintaining of a scholarship, of $100, in the College. Recently the president of the association, Miss Myrtle Warren, of DePueville Springs, sent out a letter calling for the annual "dues" of the members. This call met considerable response, but it is hoped many additional memberships fees will yet come into the treasury.

There are seven graduates of 1914 who are now taking post-graduate courses in the College.

Miss Elizabeth Corbett of Jacksonville, a graduate of 1910, is visiting her friend and classmate, Mrs. George E. Lewis, Jr., of Tallahassee.

Miss Katherine Meres of Tarpon

Spring, who graduated last year, was recently married to Mr. Fleming.

Miss Corinne Patterson, B.S., graduate of 1914, has recently been appointed as assistant teacher of Home Economics in the St. Petersburg High School.

Miss Josephine Drane, an A.B. graduate of 1914, is taking post-graduate courses in the College, and is the valuable student assistant in Dr. Dodd's English classes.

Miss Johnnie Rutland, a graduate of 1908 who has been a most efficient teacher of English in the Tampa High School for some time, has announced her engagement to Dr. Smith, professor of education in the University of Indiana. The wedding will take place in February.

Miss Mozelle Durst, class of 1913, has recently been appointed County Agent for Canning Clubs in Citrus County.

The association will soon make its announcement for the great jubilee celebrating the tenth year of the State College for Women. Friends and students, please watch for this announcement.

THE DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL CULTURE

A bulletin will be issued by the Department of Physical Culture in July, outlining and illustrating this year's work in the department. It is hoped that it will create more interest in this work, and a demand for a normal course in Physical Culture in this college. Already many requests have come from students for such a course.

The Gymnasium classes seem to be growing in popularity from year to year. Many girls are taking more than the required two hours a week.

Miss Elder's first year class is so large that it is hard to make much progress, or to accomplish much. The hour is spent in Swedish gymnastics, apparatus work, games and track events. From this class most of the material for Field Day is obtained.

The second year class is devoted to folk dancing. The girls have learned several interesting clog dances, including the University High Clog, the Roy Waltz Clog, besides many others.

Miss Elder is very proud of her fourth year dancing class. They have been doing especially good work in advanced Russian and Interpretive dances. At present, they are working on a Russian dance, Czardis, and a Greek Interpretive dance.

Miss Roberts expects much of her 11 o'clock gymnasium class. It is a small class, and has already accomplished much in apparatus work,
Swedish gymnastics and marching.

The 3 and 4 o'clock classes are two very large ones. They have spent their hours in Swedish gymnastics and apparatus work.

Miss Roberts' first year dancing class is taking up the foundations and fundamentals of dancing. The object is to conduct this class like the old-fashioned dancing class. It begins with a march and ends with a formal bow to the teacher.

A new class will be formed March 10 for the girls of the Normal School.
This class will study easy singing games and folk dances suitable for public school grades. It will be conducted by Ruby McLin, Verna Monroe, Zelia Wilson and Grace Lothridge.

CAMPUS NOTES

Miss Bertha Andrews, formerly a student of the College, is the visitor of Mrs. M. A. Smith in the city. She spent Wednesday night at the College, the guest of Miss Clara Brown.

The teachers and matrons of the College were at home to their friends in the Sun Parlor of Bryan Hall, from 3.30 to 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Delicious tea and cakes were served.

Mr. Leland Shepard of Mt. Pleasant, Fla., was a visitor to the College last Sunday as the guest of his sister, Miss Alice Shepard.

Mr. Henry Ball, of Quincy, Fla., visited the College Sunday, the guest of his sister, Miss Kathryn Ball.

Miss Isidora Sikes left yesterday for a week-end visit to relatives in Lake City, Fla.

Miss Mary Burton, of Madison, Fla., the visitor of Mrs. S. E. Cobb, of Tallahassee, spent the week-end at the College. She was the guest of her cousin, Miss Sarah Fraleigh.

A Fancy Dress Dance by the girls will be given in the Recreation Hall at 8:30 to-night.

A Cornell Calendar was sent to Mr. A. W. Williams, head of the History Department here, from Dr. Hull, of the History Department of Cornell. The calendar contains fifteen views of student activities at Cornell, and many beautiful scenes from the surrounding country. These scenes picture Cornell at the different seasons. The calendar is 15x9 1/2 inches, and the covers are cream tinted.

The regular meeting of the Philosophical Club, which was to have been held Wednesday night, was postponed until Feb. 4, out of courtesy to Dr. Dodd.

A new bulletin gotten out by the College, came from press yesterday. It gives information concerning the Spring Review Term for Teachers and the Short Course in Home Economics, and the Summer School.

The Misses Jackson and Leavitt Smith left Saturday afternoon for their home in Bahabridge, where they spent the week-end.

Miss Mary Edna Owen left Tuesday to spend the week in Jacksonville.

Miss Elizabeth Corbett of Jacksonville, one of our 1911 alumnae, was a guest of the College Saturday afternoon.

Miss Mary Burton, of Madison, was the guest of Miss Sarah Fraleigh, at the College, Saturday evening.

Miss Whinnie Warren and Miss Edna Ireland left Wednesday night for DeFuniak Springs, where Miss Ireland will be the guest of Miss Warren at her home for the week-end.

Mrs. R. E. Sloan of Monticello is the guest of her daughter, Miss Mary Bailey Sloan, at the College, this week.

Miss Elizabeth Turnbull, of Monticello, is spending the week-end at the College as the guest of Miss Margaret Carroll.

Mr. D. Sullivan spent Sunday afternoon with his daughters, the Misses Norine and Sorette Sullivan.

We are glad to announce that after a short visit to Jacksonville, Mrs. Garrett is again home with us.

Teacher, who has been drilling class in gymnastics as well as in geography: "Mary, in what position on the map is the grand division of North America?"

Mary: "In an erect position, teacher."

TRAINING SCHOOL

Pupils of the Training School have found that a delightful way to have a birthday party is to bring a birthday cake to school—Mrs. Lowry furnishes the candles for all cakes that come. When recess time arrives the candles are lighted and the little host or hostess names a number of friends corresponding to the number of candles. Each blows out a candle and gives a wish to the little friend. Then the whole school forms a circle around the cake and enjoys the process of cutting and distributing the slices. Cecelia Wahnish was the last hostess—a very beautiful cake she brought.

The second grade enjoyed their color work especially, last week, as they read about the color fairies and then mixed the primary colors to make the secondary colors.

The greatest enthusiasm of the week was the arrival and distribution of the pretty globes intended for the third and fourth grades, in their geography.

Though there is a waiting list of seven, at the end of the first semester there is not a vacant desk for a new student, which is a good record for a school of forty pupils.

AT HOME

The Seniors of the Kindergarten and Normal School, assisted by Mrs. Garrett, gave an At Home in the Y. W. C. A. Room of Bryan Hall on the evening of Jan. 21. The chairs were placed in a circle typical of the Kindergarten. Miss Sarah Sparkman sang "Take My Life and Let It Be Consecrated," by Schnecker. The circle began by singing Good Morning Songs and having Good Morning Bows. "How-Do-You-Do, My Partner," "Gaily Dancin' Around the Ring," "Welcome, Little Traveler," and other kindergarten games were thoroughly enjoyed. Miss Wheeler told "The Three Little Pigs," and "Billy Goat Gruff." The details of the entertainment were carried out, as far as possible, just as they are in the Kindergarten. Two of Miss Fay's brightest pupils were Mrs. Cawthon and Miss Wheeler. Salted peanuts were served.

THE RIGHT NUMBER

A teacher in giving a lecture to the members of her junior hygiene class, had cautioned them against eating anything hard, such as nuts, hard candy, etc. A small boy held up his hand. "What is it, Sammie?" she inquired. "Say, did you ever see any of these candy jaw-breakers?" he asked. "Yes, I believe so," she hesitated wonderingly. "Well, Willie here," indicating another boy in the class, "stood right in front of Gregorie's store yesterday and ate five of them right down." "Ate," corrected the teacher. "Aw, was it eight? I was thinking it was only five."

Miss Harris is on a trip this week to Tampa, Gainesville and Glen St. Mary in the interest of the Canning Clubs.

Miss Anna Barrows, secretary of the National Home Economics Association, will reach Florida somewhere about Feb. 20. Miss Barrows will be at the College for two or three days. While she is in Florida she will visit the Woman's Clubs of Jacksonville, Ocala, Bradentown, Palatka and Stetson University of Deland. She is visiting Departments of Home Economics in the colleges and universities of the South. She will go from the Florida State College for Women to Sophie Newcomb, New Orleans.

Miss Barrows is on the faculty of Teachers' College, Columbia University, and has had charge of the Summer School at Chautauqua for a number of years. All Home Economic workers of the State are looking forward with much interest to Miss Barrows' visit.

Mrs. Priest, of Marion County, the mother of two Canning Club girls, has been nominated by the Ocala Woman's Club as the winner of their scholarship to the Home Economics Short Course for Housekeepers, to be held in Tallahassee, Feb. 23 to March 5.

The Woman's Club of Tallahassee will offer a scholarship to some woman in Leon County for the Home Economics Short Course.

Mrs. Babb, wife of Dr. Geo. F. Babb, University of Florida, has registered for the Short Course in Home Economics.

Miss Palmer, after suffering with a dislocated knee for several days, is spending examination week at her home in Montevallo recuperating. She will return to the College on Sunday to resume her duties.

Home Economics will be offered as an elective to the ninth and tenth grades in the Tallahassee High School.

The College girls registered in the Methods Class are already conducting work in the eleventh and twelfth grades, and are looking forward with much pleasure to having another class at the High School.

The Meridian Canning Machine Company sent Miss Harris three checks to be delivered to the three girls who used their canning machine and made the three highest records in the State in 1914. This week she mailed a check for $12.50 to Mildred Adams of Ft. Lauderdale, in Dade County, who made over $100 with her canning machine last year. Mabel Logie, of Volusia County, won the second prize of $7.50, having made a profit of $89 with the Meridian canning machine, and Pettie DeShong, a student of the Florida State College for Women, and the State Champion of the Canning Clubs last year, received a check for $5.

The third annual Short Course in Home Economics will be held at Florida State College for Women, Feb. 23, 1915.

Registration indicates that there will be three classes of students, and work will be planned accordingly:

First, for housekeepers of both town and country homes, who have never done any work in Home Economics before.

Second, for those who have had the practical work, but who wish to study more of the Science of Foods and home-making.

Third, for County Agents of Canning Clubs and teachers in rural schools who wish to study in order to teach their students and club members.

The problems studied will be of interest to home-makers of both town and country, but the problems of Florida's rural home will receive emphasis.

At the end of the short courses one examination will be held.

For those registered, who attend all lectures and two of the laboratory courses regularly and pass a creditable examination, a certificate will be given.

Already there are registered a number of women from various parts of the State who are planning to come and take the Short Course.

Offering a Short Course in Home

Economics for housekeepers is a custom generally followed by State Institutions who have Home Economics Departments, and it is expected that the women of Florida will show an equal interest in the study of home problems as the women of other States.

The following is the general program, which will be followed:

8:00-9:00—Lecture and demonstration; housewifery and household management, Miss Wells and Miss Harris.
9:00-10:00—Lecture by members of the faculty.

10:00-12:00—(a) For teachers and County Agents, cooking, Miss Palmer; (b) for advanced students, nutrition, Miss Harris; (c) housekeepers' sewing, Miss Clark.

12:00-1:00—Lecture, nutrition, Miss Harris and Senior Class in Dietetics.

2:00-4:00—For teachers and County Agents, sewing, Miss Clark; for housekeepers, cooking, Miss Wells.

The work of the Short Course will be offered in three groups, and students can elect any three groups which do not conflict.

FRENCH CLUB MEETING

Miss Clara Brown was elected president at the first regular business meeting of the French Club, at Dr. Claassen's residence, last Monday night. The other officers elected were Miss Bessie Michael, vice president, and Miss Margaret Carroll, secretary and treasurer. Misses Elizabeth Anderson, Alice Corry and Elizabeth Clayton were appointed on the program committee.

After the business of the evening was over, Dr. Claassen helped the girls in singing "La Marseillaise."

The most delightful feature of the evening was, "Fieres, Approchons-nous," sung by a quartette composed of Misses Mary Floyd, Gladys Comforter, Marian Coleman and Sara Burwell. Miss Grace Owen recited most entertainingly in French, "La Clef et la Fourmille." After the program, a delicious two-course luncheon, such as only Mrs. Claassen can serve, was enjoyed. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing French games. These games were very unique, and were played with cards which Dr. Claassen brought from France. They were: Jeu de l'Histoire Naturelle, Connaissiez-vous Paris; and Question et Repenses.

Those belonging to the French Club are: Misses Elizabeth Anderson, Sara Burwell, Janet Byrd, Margaret Carroll, Kathleen Caro, Alice Carry, Marion Coziah, Laura Chapman, Nellie Cooper, Gladys Comforter, Mary Floyd, Hazel Hany, Alta Grinn, Julia Hart, Ruby Leach, Jaquette McMillan, Pattie Martin, Bessie Michael, Edwina McLeath, Azalee Moore, Marie Mosley, Grace Owen, Aline Powell, Marie Pitchford, Oakley St. John, Carrie Taylor, Irma Trammell, Francis Tippetts, Isabel Walker, Lucy Wood, Sara Spencer, Clara Brown, Elizabeth Clayton, Agnes Edwards, Janette Holson, Zoe Manning, Mrs. Rae, Maudie Wilkerson and Angelica Young.

LAKELAND AND THE F. E. A., 1914

"Yes, and Tallahassee and the F. E. A., 1915. We came, we worked and we attained," said Dean Salley when he came back from Lakeland. "The meeting of the Florida Educational Association at Lakeland was great, but we shall make the meeting in Tallahassee greater. In trying to bring the meeting to Tallahassee, we had a worthy antagonist in St. Augustine. It is a real pleasure to be in a contest with Prof. Keith, especially when we win, but St. Augustine will have better luck later."

It was an interesting meeting. The city of Lakeland did itself proud in entertaining the Florida Education Association. Every possible and necessary courtesy was extended freely by the good citizens of Lakeland.

"The meeting in itself was valuable and helpful, bringing together teachers from all quarters of the State to hear discussions by experts of real

THE BEN GREET PLAYERS

The Junior Class has made the final arrangements for bringing the Ben Greet Players here on Thursday, April 8. They will present, at a matinee and night performance, two of the following plays: "Hamlet," "Winter's Tale," and "The Taming of the Shrew." The Juniors find the selection hard to make.

The Seniors had planned at the first of the year to bring the Ben Greet Players here, but because they were so busy with other matters, they turned this business over to the Juniors.

Tickets will be on sale, beginning next week, on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, from 10 to 11 o'clock, at Dean Salley's office. Seats may be reserved on the days mentioned in the foregoing sentence. A plat will be on sale soon for the town people, at the Tallahassee Drug Store.

"It isn't necessary for me to introduce the Ben Greet Players to you," said Miss Lucille Freeman, president of the Junior Class, in speaking before the student body last Thursday morning. "Everyone was delighted with the performance they gave us last year. We wish the plays this year to be a distinct success from an artistic and from a financial standpoint, and to do this we must have the co-operation of every girl in the school."

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

"I'll meet you at the Y. W. C. A." This will be the general farewell remark heard on the Panama Exposition grounds next summer. The Y. W. C. A. is to have a special building at the Exposition, with a rest room, a cafeteria and a small auditorium, where there will be moving pictures and stereopticon lectures on things of interest to women. There is to be a his open lobby, where the women can rest and write picture postal cards.

This will be the first time any religious organization has had a building on any exposition ground. The conveniences and the protection this building will offer to the visiting girls and to the 1500 girls employed on the grounds will be inestimable.

All local Young Women's Christian Associations will observe Sunday, Feb. 7, in memory of Miss Grace Hoadley Dodge, president of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A., who died at her home in New York city, Dec. 27, 1914. That there may be uniformity in these services, a committee has selected certain favorite hymns that meant much to Miss Dodge, and some favorite Bible passages that express truly her deep and obedient faith. She herself disliked anything in the nature of personal tribute, and would want us to think only of the sources of her life, rather than of the life itself.

A simple memorial service will be held in the Y. W. C. A. room at 7 o'clock Sunday night. At the close of the meeting there will be a Recognition Service to acknowledge the new members who are being solicited by the Membership Committee this week. All are urged to be present, especially those who have not been taken in. The secretary is very anxious to complete the roll.

Springfield, Mass., is added to the list of cities that have women on the police force. They are found to be better adapted than men for certain classes of cases.

ONE-HOUR COURSE FOR LEON COUNTY TEACHERS

The Department of Education announces a one-hour course for teachers in Leon County. Course open also to mothers and all ladies interested in education.

Education VII—The Principles of Training. This is a series of lectures based on the most practical and recent educational thought as to the improvement of the program of studies with a view to the child's rights. The course might be rightly called "The Rights of the Next Generation." No fees, no entrance requirements, no examinations required. Regular attendance is expected, but those who cannot come every Saturday may make special arrangement as to attendance. This course will be given if as many as four apply. Lecture every Saturday at 12 m. Extent of course to be determined by interest of the students. Course begins Saturday, February 6, 1915.—Professor Salley.

For further information write to or apply to Nathaniel M. Salley, Professor of Education.

PUBLICATION OF THESE

Students who received the M.S. degree majoring in Chemistry in the Graduate School, with the titles of their theses, were as follows: Genevieve Crawford, "Iron in Florida Tomatoes"; Bertha Langley, "Normal Chlorine in West Florida Surface Waters"; and Alma Parlin, "Iron in Florida Soils."

A preliminary note concerning "Iron in Florida Soils," was published in the November number of the Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry. It will be enlarged and published later. "Iron in Florida Tomatoes" was published in the December number of the same journal. It is expected that the article on "Normal Chlorine in West Florida Surface Waters" will be published soon.

PALMER COLLEGE BURNED

Many of the College students who were formerly students in Palmer College, at De Funiak Springs, regret very much the burning of the Palmer Administration Building, which occurred at 2 o'clock last Saturday morning. The students are using the Gymnasium Building and the classrooms in the Men's Dormitory, for classrooms.

Palmer College is a Presbyterian school. It was previously the State Normal School. The administration building, which burned, was a frame building, and was thirty years old.

THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Owing to a mistaken idea which seems to be prevalent in Tallahassee, it will be well to make the following announcement:

Anyone who is not residing in the College Dormitories may enter the School of Music and take private lessons in any branch of music desired, independent of work in the College of Arts and Sciences. The entrance may be made at any time during the year. Interviews with the Director of Music can be arranged by calling up the College Office, Phone No. 81.

ELLA SCOBLE OPPERMAN,
Director of the School of Music.

INFIRMARY NOTES

Misses Emma Lee King, Mary Floyd, Minna Harris, Martha Livingston, Helen Farrington and Minnie Lee Hodges are in the infirmary with mumps.

A CHANCE TO EARN $100

Wanted—Stories, plays, poems, songs and drawings, between now and April 1, 1915.

Offered—Awards ranging from $10 to $100, and the possibility of acceptance of manuscript by one of three leading magazines.

Contestants—Any girl or woman who wishes to compete.

You who are turning in your 7,000 words a semester for one hour of College credit; you who are producing poster after poster for the College bulletin board; why not enter these very efforts, perhaps, in the contests just opened by the National Board of the Y. W. C. A., which are to form part of their exhibit in the Association Building on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific Exposition?

There are all kinds of contests, some of them for Y. W. C. A. members especially, but those which are open to all women, and of interest to students especially, are the ones suggested above.

Robert S. Yard, editor of the Century; Trumbull White, editor of Everybody's Magazine, and Miss Gertrude T. Lane, editor of the Woman's Home Companion, are to be judges for the writing contests. In addition to the National Board prizes, Miss Lane offers $100 for the best article on "What a Girl Should Contribute as Her Share of the Marriage Partnership."

To be specific: First and second prizes of $100 and $50, are offered for a drama (anything from a farce to a morality play) dealing with the progress and development of woman, or bearing on some principle of development of woman, or bearing on some principle of Association work.

2. For a story of 5,000 words or less (some subjects as above) prizes of $100 and $50 are also offered.

3. Prizes of $50 and $25 are offered for the best Bible story.

4. Prizes of $25 and $15 are offered for essays on a group of subjects ranging from "What a Girl Has a Right to Expect of the Association," to some phase of church history.

5. Awards of $25 and $15 will be given for a drawing suitable for a poster, magazine cover, etc., suggesting some phase of Association work.

For further information, see Miss Rosa Walker, president of the Y. W. C. A.

MRS. GARRETT'S HOUSEKEEPING NOTES

The girls are taking a great deal of interest in housekeeping, and each week seem to realize more and more the value of orderliness. Yesterday 55 rooms in Reynolds' Hall were beautifully neat, and in East Hall it was really a joy to visit most of the rooms. Of course, the single rooms in Trunk Alley are easier to keep, but even dear old Bryan Hall, with her suites, is not far behind. Many of the suites were lovely, and many in order, though not perfect. We are gradually working out a system by which we hope to establish a habit of good housekeeping which will be of value to the girls throughout life.

THE RUG FUND

The house-mothers of the various dormitories sold delicious home-made sandwiches to the girls, in the Y. W. C. A. Kitchen, last Saturday afternoon. Their store of "goodies" lasted but a little while. The six dollars and fifty cents cleared will be used to pay for the new rug in the lobby of Bryan Hall. Our College mothers wish to thank the girls for their liberal patronage.

MOVING PICTURE OF THE COLLEGE

Miss Alice Corry featured in "Our College Girl," a thousand-foot reel, which was taken at the College last week.

This picture was produced at a great expense by the following citizens of Tallahassee: Dr. Edward Conradi, president of the Woman's College; J. G. Kellum, business manager of the College; J. W. Corbett and C. E. Daffin. It was made by C. L. Chester, Inc., New York city, with H. D. Blauvelt, cinematographer, formerly with the well-known Pathé Company. The scene opens with Mother's Dream, which shows a girl leaving home for College. She takes automobile for depot, which shows her leaving on train for Tallahassee. The next scene shows her arrival at Tallahassee at 2:25, over the Seaboard Air Line, greeted by the matron and College girls, and accompanied through the city of Tallahassee to the College. The scene changes, "Our College Girl" is met at the College entrance and is shown through the buildings and over the campus. Then we see "Our College Girl" in all her College activities, outdoor sports, at study hour, and in the many charming experiences of her College life, which afford many delightful surprises to the audience.

Miss Corry is one of the most beautiful girls in the College, and she played her part of leading role in a charming and easy manner.

COLLEGE LOYALTY

From time to time we hear from one student or another the lament that there is not enough college spirit in our school. And after a while we get to believe it. It is like catching the measles. And yet, if in a sober moment we ask what is this much desired college spirit, we are met by a dumb look on the faces of those who are loudest in their demand for it. They can no more tell what it is than they can tell what culture is, or education, or efficiency, or a hundred other desirable things that, according to calamity howlers, the world is lacking in these degenerate days. We are frank to say that we do not know just what the true brand of college spirit consists of. We probably have not seen it; we are not sure that we ever felt the real thing. But we are willing to lay almost any wager that it is something other than intercollegiate athletics, with which so many seem to identify it; that the core, the very essence of this very elusive thing, is college loyalty. If we are right in this, we need not be so pessimistic over the lack of college spirit in the school. The great majority of the girls, we believe, are true and loyal to the College. They believe in her and in what she is doing. They catch something of the vision of the great future which is hers. And yet, with all this, there are moments when the blue devils get possession of our souls, and we get discouraged over the lack of support which too many of the students seem guilty of. The knocker with her little hammer, like the poor, is with us always. She can see nothing good in what is being done. She has not the breadth of spirit to know a good thing when she sees it. If she has been to another college, nothing here compares with what she has been used to there. Things are going to the "demniton bowwows" here, so she thinks. But we have noticed that too often, when any new movement is started, in order to improve some of our bad conditions, she is the first to buck. When anything in the nature of an uplifting entertainment comes to the College, and charges 10 cents admission, she stays at home. To her the college paper is rotten, altogether too rotten to pay a dollar a year for, but not too rotten to read when she can borrow a copy from a girl in the next suite.

Girls, let's "cut it out." This isn't a bad place to be. Honestly, now, do you know of any better? Why not bury that little hatchet you are always waving, and exchange that war-whoop for the college yell? Try boosting the College once, and see what a fine old school she will get to be in your own eyes. And she is yours, almost for nothing. Why, you can come here and get what she gives for less money than you can stay at home and get nothing. She is yours for the taking. She doesn't ask anything of you, except your loyalty. Give it to her, and see how much college spirit we shall have. Try it once. If you can't do that, why do you stay in such a rotten place? We went into a shop the other day, and we noticed in a conspicuous place a placard on which were the words: "You came in without knocking; go out the same way." We commend this to the girls in our school who carry hammers and hatchets.

DOMESTIC ART DEPARTMENT

The work of the past semester has been quite gratifying to the members of the Domestic Art Department of the College. The girls in the first-year sewing class began the term by having their first experience in garment-making. Their progress has been such that by the end of the first quarter they were ready for an exhibit. This took place on Home Economics Day, Dec. 1, and was quite satisfactory. The girls of this class are now working out a clothing budget. This is to consist of a year's wardrobe for a schoolgirl, and is to be at a cost of only $100.

The work of the second-year class has been no less satisfactory. Already each of the girls has completed one cotton and one woolen dress, each of which is a credit to the one who made it. These girls are now at work on lingerie waists, which are to be completed in the very near future.

The third-year class has accomplished much during the year. Each girl has made one mink and one winter hat, many of which are quite pretty and attractive. Their evening coats were finished before the end of the semester, and these are every one garments of which the girls should be justly proud. The work of this class at present is that of making evening dresses. These are creations of real beauty and art, and show the excellent taste of judgment of those who are making them.

The first number of the Florida Flambeau is on our table. It is a clean, sweet paper, and its complexion shows no sign of powder. This is because it is published by the students of the Florida State College for Women, at Tallahassee. It is a breezy paper without any signs of affectation, and the sense of humor of the writers peeps out occasionally. While so many other papers style themselves the "Sun," the "Star," the "Searchlight," etc., the "Flambeau" appears as a very modest name. The electric torch is the modern flambeau, but that would not be euphonic for a name. We note that Miss Lucille Freeman, of Starke, is the circulation manager. May the Flambeau continue to shed its gentle light, and may it never lack for "oil," if that's what keeps flambeaus alive.—Bradford County Tele-

WHAT OTHER SCHOOLS ARE DOING

After years of importunity the Board of Administrators of Tulane University has granted all the privileges of the Medical Department to woman students.

A one-year course in public health work, open to physicians and others qualified for special preparation for such work, is offered by the University of Wisconsin.

The extension division of the State University of Iowa will undertake a new line of work this year, designated as school survey. It has secured the services of Ernest J. Ashbaugh, who was on the faculty of the Northeastern State Normal at Tahlaquah, Okla., at the time of his appointment. Mr. Ashbaugh was reared and educated in Indiana, receiving both his A.B. and A.M. degrees in the Indiana University.

Dr. Willard G. Bleyer, head of the course in journalism at the University of Wisconsin, has just returned from England, where he spent some time. He brought with him some 200 newspapers, contents bills, and photographs illustrative of English journalism in war time.

There is no more effective way to stimulate interest in a subject than to prohibit its discussion. So the Seattle Board of Education, in prohibiting school debates on the single tax, probably accomplished the reverse of what it intended, if it was moved by a desire to suppress knowledge concerning that subject. In spite of the teaching of experience, it seems very hard for bourgeois to grasp the fact that suppression does not suppress.

The largest enrollment in any university in the world is at Columbia University, New York city, where the net aggregation is 12,500.

A two-year course is given at the University of Wisconsin for those who wish to fit themselves for the supervision of music in the public schools.

The schoolmaster of a small village asked his pupils the following question:

"In a family there are five children, and the mother has only four potatoes to divide between them. She wants to give every child an equal share. What is she going to do?"

Silence reigned while everybody thought hard. Suddenly a small boy stood up and gave the following answer:

"Please, sir, mash the potatoes."

CAMPUS NOTES

Miss Thelma Parsons has returned to the College after a week-end visit to her home in Jacksonville.

Miss Mildred Vining spent the week-end at her home at McClenny, Florida.

Miss Mary Bannerman was the guest last week of her aunt, Mrs. Robinson, of Tallahassee.

Miss Mary Brundye spent last Saturday and Sunday at her home, near Tallahassee.

Miss Lillian Glenn was called to her home in Gretna on account of the illness of her sister.

Miss Irma Strange is at her home in Gretna for the week-end.

Miss Ruby McJin, whose return to College was delayed on account of illness, arrived last Monday afternoon.

Miss Hattie Baird writes that her stay at home is continued on account of ill health, but that she expects to return soon.

Miss Sarah Burwell spent the week-end in town as the guest of her grandparent, Mrs. J. P. Cobb.

Miss Clara Browne was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. M. A. Smith, of Tallahassee, for the week-end.

Miss Mildred Sweeney spent the week-end in Tallahassee, with her mother, Mrs. Sweeney.

Miss Katherine Ball and Miss Alice Correy spent the week-end at their home in Quincy. They had as their house-party guests, Miss Oakley St. John and Miss Lila Patterson.

Miss Harriett Brandon had Miss Mary Louise Seales as her week-end guest at her home at Thomasville, Ga.

Miss Ruby Adams returned Tuesday from a week-end visit at her home at Perry.

Miss Catherine Montgomery returned Monday night from a short visit at her home at Mayo.

Misses Mary Spears and Ella Whiddon were the week-end guests of Miss Whiddon's aunt, Mrs. Mae Donald, of Havana.

Miss Ruth Berry has returned home, at Ador Keys, to stay.

Miss Sarah McMullen spent the week-end in Quincy, with her brother, E. W. McMullen, principal of the Gadsden County High School.

Mrs. R. L. Sullivan has been visiting her daughters, Misses Norine and Loretta, at the College.

Miss Kate Byrd was the guest of Miss Constance Cavell Saturday night.

Miss Bertha Andrews spent Monday at the College, the guest of Miss Rosa Walker.

Miss Winifred Minter of Columbus, Ga., was the guest of Miss Ollie Henderson from Saturday until Tuesday.

Cherokee roses have been planted along the fence, on the south side of the campus. Live oaks, magnolias, dogwoods and other trees native to Florida are being planted in suitable places on the campus.

Miss Mallie Edwards went to Gretna for the week-end.

Miss Kate Underwood, who was delayed in returning to College on account of an automobile accident, came back Friday night, Jan. 28.

Dr. Brautlecht announced in the dining room last Thursday at dinner that the ladies of town were giving a dinner for the benefit of the public library, "and," said he, "as the people of Tallahassee always patronize the College so liberally, the girls should, by all means, precipitate."

ATHLETICS

Beginning next week, Dr. Conradi and Dr. Moor will give the gymnasium classes a course of lectures, which will come every two weeks. Dr. Conradi will lecture on "Personal Hygiene," and Dr. Moor on "First Aid to the Injured."

Wednesday afternoon the first baseball practice of the season was held on the diamond back of the Gymnasium. Many new players reported, as well as some of last year's stars. Although most of the girls are in need of practice, they will soon be in their old form, and some exciting games are anticipated.

A POEM

When the long and gloomy winter
Has at last its end attained,
And we feel the joys of springtime
Coming to us once again;

Then we know that God is near us,
Giving life to everything;
Watching over great and little,
Then our songs with praises ring.

Then the birds come flying homeward,
With their melodies so gay,
And the daisies on the hill-side,
Show themselves at peep o' day.

Nature smiles from all around us,
And the blue sky from above
Seems to say there's one who keeps us
Ever sheltered in his love.

WHAT WE HEAR AT LIGHTFLASH

Mrs. Y.—Daughter, don't ever let me hear you use that dreadful word again.

Daughter—Why, Mother, William Shakespeare uses it.

Mrs. Y.—Well, you must never go with him again. He's not a fit companion for my daughter.

Helen M.—Elizabeth, you aren't affectionate at all, are you?
Elizabeth C.—Yes, I am, too! But not with girls.

Ella Reynolds—Anne Pearle, what do you know about Chaucer?
Anne Pearle—Please, Ella, I'm a new girl here and don't know anybody.

Cornelia (calling down the hall)—Grace, have you got your Chemistry problems?
Grace O. (hopefully)—When I get this one I'm working on, and three more, I'll have four.

Sylvia (going out of the dining room from breakfast, Tuesday morning, met Lucille Freeman walking in backwards)—"What in the world are you doing, Lucille?"

Lucille—"Oh, I'm walking in backwards so Mrs. Young will think I'm going out."

AT HOMES

Wednesday afternoon the teachers of the College were At Home from 4 to 6, in the lobby of Bryan Hall. These little series of At Homes, given by the members of the faculty to their friends, afford a most delightful means of bringing the town people in closer touch with the College.

Mrs. Spear's At Home, to her girls, in Reynolds' Hall, Sunday night, was made especially pleasing by the readings of Miss Murrell, Miss Hull and Miss Tutt. After the program, the guests assisted in making candy.

A fancy dress dance was given by the College girls in the Recreation Hall last Saturday night. Many unusual and very interesting costumes were worn. Miss Lucille Freeman was very pretty in a brown-checked apron and sunbonnet. Miss Marie Moseley and Miss Doris Myers represented sailor boys. Miss Emma Lee impersonated Vernon Castle remarkably well. The other girls who were in costume were: Misses Martha Stebbins, Grace Julian, Hazel Johnson, Annie Moorhead, Olivia Edna Owens, Dorothy Simmons, Dixie Singleton, Vernie Swindle, Katie Jackson, Coris Shands, Juanita Branch, Dot Davies, Hazel Finney, Ethel and Jo Gildwell, Gertrude Lovel, Isabel Schwalmeier, Zella Wilson, Verna Monroe, Isabel Walker, Marie Ellis, Dorothy Reece, Annie Holmes, Elizabeth Anderson, Grace Owen, Natalie Moffett, Bernice Simmons, Mary Louise Nahn, Agnes Edwards and Louis Oakness.

A number of College girls enjoyed a tramp through the woods last Saturday morning, under the chaperonage of Miss Schalmeyer. The day was an ideal one for walking, and everyone was in a picnic humor. Lunch was spread out in the woods, about two miles south of the College. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in telling stories and taking pictures. Those in the party were: Misses Schalmeyer, Louise Powell, Lucie Wood, Allene Powell, Etoile Reid, Hazel Finney, Martha Livingston, Doris Meyer, Isabel Schalmeyer, Margaret Weaver and Annie Moorhead.

A tea for the College Girls was given by Miss Evelyn Whitfield, at her home on Calhoun street, at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. The tea table was attractively decorated in the different shades of purple. Four small baskets filled with violets, at the corners of the table, were connected with the large center basket by lavender tulle. Hot chocolate, delicious cake and candy were served. Amusing readings were given by Miss Winnie Cobb. The College girls present were: Misses Elizabeth Parkhill, Angelica Yonge, Coris Shands, Francis and Grace Lothridge, Lilla Patterson, Mary Francis Smith, Virginia Mays, Mary Bailey Sloan, Marie Ellis, Margaret Pearce, Rosa Evans, Bessie Milton, Priscilla Major, Sarah Fralleg, Gertrude Lovell, Lena Barber and Ella Ready Jordan.

The wedding of Miss Eva Child and Mr. Melrose Avery was solemnized Wednesday evening at 9 o'clock at the home of the bride.

Mrs. Hudson played the wedding march. Miss Ruth Child was maid of honor. She wore pluk crepe meteor, and carried an armful of bridesmaid roses. The bride entered with her father. She was exquisite in her gown of white satin and veil of tulle. She carried a shower bouquet of brides roses. They were met at the improvised altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. William Byrd. Dr. Nixon, of the Methodist Church, performed the ceremony.

An informal reception followed the wedding, and a delicious salad course was served. After this came the cutting of the bride's cake. The ring was cut by Miss Janet Byrd, the dime by Miss Helen Saxon and the thimble by Miss Mary Louise Seales.

The house was beautifully decorated, the color scheme of green and white being carried out in every detail. About 100 guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery left on the midnight train for Jacksonville, and from there they will go to Miami, their future home, in their car.

Mrs. Avery was graduated last year from the F. S. W. C. We are unanimous in our wish for her happiness.

Miss Bessebel Waggener, of Warrington, was married at the St. John's Episcopal Church, at 11 o'clock, last Thursday morning, to Mr. Theodore Lachman, of Warrington. Miss Waggener was formerly a student in the Florida State College for Women.

A handkerchief shower was given to Miss Eva Child, who was married Wednesday night to Melrose Avery, by the members of the Kappa Delta Sorority, in the chapter rooms of Bryan Hall, last Saturday afternoon.

The handkerchiefs, tied with green and white ribbons, were pinned on a clothes line, and Miss Child was asked to take in her "wash." This "wash" consisted of all kinds of beautiful handkerchiefs.

After the shower, refreshments were served.

Miss Child was graduated from the Florida State College for Women in 1914, and her marriage will be of interest to her many friends.

Among those from the College who attended her wedding were: Misses Constance Cavell, Mary Louise Seales, Nellie Cooper, Edna Ireland, Natalie Moffett, Marguerite Simmons, Isabel Davidson, Cornelia Puleston, Agnes Wards and Mary Robertson.

Mr. C. E. Daffin entertained the College girls at a theater party on January 30. Mrs. Cawthon chaperoned. Those present were: Naomi Grothaus, Myrtice McAnskill, Lola Johnson, Kathryn Monroe, Jeanette McMillan, Madeline Wilkinson, Kathryn Morrison, Axie Mae Hinson, Lucille Freeman, Gladys Martin, Ma Mae Wingate, Emma Blake, Juanita Hopson, Ruth Berry, Ruby Leach and Laura Chapman.

None of the Seniors of the College of Arts and Sciences missed the At Home given by Miss Elder and Miss Bishop in the parlors of East Hall at 8 o'clock last Saturday night. In the paper-tearing contest, Miss Birdie Coffin won the prize for tearing out the most perfectly-shaped animal. In a "Magazine Romance" contest, Miss Pearl Caldwell was awarded first prize, which was a lovely hand-embroidered placematon. After the contests, Miss Roberts served chocolate ice cream from a punch bowl. This entertainment was voted by the Seniors to be the most enjoyable one that has yet been given them.

SOCIETY

An At Home was given by the Senior Class of the College, in the Y. W. C. A. Lobby, at 8 o'clock, Sunday night, in honor of the Bryan Hall girls.

A delightful feature of the evening was a talk by Mrs. Arthur Williams. "The Place of Worship of the Israelites During Their Wanderings" was the subject of her discussion. It was made clear and impressive by use of a small model of the tabernacle, its furnishings, and the tents of the tribes of Israel. All these were placed on a table in their original order. Passages of Scripture, relating to the building of the tabernacle, its furnishings, etc., were read in connection with the lecture. Those who had the pleasure of hearing Mrs. Williams went away feeling greatly benefited. All look forward to having her again with us. After the program, light refreshments were served.

The following was the program: Vocal solos, Misses Gladys Martin, Emma Blake, Gladys Comforth; violin solo, Miss Carmen Evans; lecture, Mrs. Williams.

THE PHILOSOPHICAL CLUB

The Philosophical Club met at the residence of Dr. Conradt, Thursday evening, Feb. 4. Dr. Conradt read a paper on "Some Qualifications of the College Professor."

Dr. Conradt emphasized four important qualifications. First, the college professor should be a man, or woman, of sterling character; second, he should be a teacher who can inspire his students; third, he should be a scholar who knows the work of his department as a whole, and should be an investigator who has somewhere, at some time, explored at the frontiers of knowledge; fourth, he should have a proper sense of responsibility as to his relations with his constituents. The following is a summary of some of the salient features of the paper:

Weaknesses in high school or grade teachers can often be traced back to the college professors who taught these teachers, and a lack of thoroughness in a high school may be only an imitation of the same lack in the college. Concrete illustrations were given to show this. It was urged that college faculties, as a matter of common honesty, should live up rigorously to the standards they proclaim, and it was deprecated that in some colleges sacrifices are made in honesty for the sake of numbers and of athletics.

The college professor should be punctually on time in his classroom, as per schedule, and should not call his classes off except for emergencies. Any college professor who dismisses his classes before the hour is up, because he "gets through," should immediately get the required information or the required energy, or he should resign. A college president, who was also a professor, was referred to, amongst others, who was scheduled for 48 recitations, and who met his class 12 times out of the 48.

A college professor should be a scholar; he should be at all times in touch with the latest and best in his department. He should have access to some of the best magazines in his field, and with the latest books that throw new light on his work. If he can from time to time bring some contribution, as an investigator, it is the best sign that dry-rot has not set in. If a decaying professor is made the butt of students' jokes, he gets what he deserves, and if the students make his life miserable, their efforts are well bestowed. If a college professor is at all worthy of his position, his very enjoyment of life must demand living contact with the best that is being produced in his domain.

Small colleges are in special danger of having their teachers become fossils because the department being in charge of but one man, there is lacking the stimulus that comes from the associates and assistants. It is one of the most serious problems of the trustees of such colleges to protect them against the decaying professor.

The professor should be a teacher. He should attend to the method of presenting his subject, as well as to the subject matter. "Knowledge for the sake of knowledge," should not be his aim, but rather knowledge "in terms of life." He should see the general relations of his subject to the larger problems of life, and should teach it accordingly. "He must, with an appreciating understanding, see the philosophical and life-building aspects of his subject, and must be able to present it so that it may be a 'revelation of God and a gateway to heaven.'"

Any professor who "dishes up" warmed up material, or who is a "brevet who conducts platoons of students through textbooks of stereotyped or even second-hand knowledge," is a

STUDENTS' RECITAL, SCHOOL OF EXPRESSION

The School of Expression, Miss Elder, director, assisted by the voice pupils of Miss Bishop, gave a recital in the College Auditorium, Monday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Miss Ruby McLin, in Act IV, Scene I, of "As You Like It," showed great strength in her ability to render Shakespeare.

Miss Lucille Freeman's voice revealed a great deal of dramatic ability, and Miss Myrtice McCaskill interpreted Riley much to the delight of the audience.

The vocal solos were all excellent; especially delightful and artistic was Miss Cavell's "The Dance of the Swords."

The special feature of the evening was Jerome K. Jerome's famous little comedy, "Sunset." Miss Hazel Grimm as Lois Rivers, exhibited much dramatic instinct, and Miss Priscilla Major was very successful as a comedy character. Each member of the cast is worthy of commendation on their dramatic merit.

The program was as follows:

1. "As You Like It" (Shakespeare) Act IV, Scene I.....Miss Ruby McLin
 2. (a) "The Man in the Moon"; (b) "When the World Busts Through"; (c) "Prior to Miss Bell's Appearance" (James Whitcomb Riley).....Miss Myrtice McCaskill
 3. "Two Lovers" (Bartlett).....Miss Leona Roberson
 4. "The Littlest Rebel" (Edward Peoples).....Miss Verna Monroe
 5. (a) "Jean" (Spross); (b) "Ecstasy" (Rogers).....Miss Gladys Conforter
 6. "She of the Triple Cheuron" (Gilbert Parker).....Miss Lucille Freeman
 7. "The Dance of the Swords" (Spross).....Miss Constance Cavell
- "Sunset" (Jerome K. Jerome) Cast: Mr. Rivers.....Miss Ruth Cook; Laurence Leigh.....Miss Agnes Edwards; Azariah Stodd.....Miss Priscilla Major; Ann Drusilla.....Miss Pattie Martin; Lois Rivers.....Miss Hazel Grimm; Jean Jasper.....Miss Natalie Moffett

EDUCATION VII: A COMMUNITY EXTENSION COURSE

Fourteen students have joined Prof. Salley's new class that has been formed for the teachers and for all other ladies in this community who are interested in the matter of training children. The following is the list of the students joining the class: Misses Kate Sullivan, Katherine Leiman, Grace Cobb, Winifred Cobb, Helen Martin, Marjorie Peacock, Elizabeth Portner, Lillian Dusenbury, Clare Bowen, Emma Child, Nannie Chaires, Rowena Johnson, Eunice Shirley and Helen Johnson.

Prof. Salley was overheard to remark that he is as proud of this class as a hen is of her chickens.

time-server; he has begun to die. His students are asked to drink out of a fountain that has run dry. The college teacher must be in living contact with the best at all times if degeneration is not to set in at the top. He must be full of the "instinct" of the scholar. Through independent thinking he must be able to light his own path as well as that of the student. He must have the vision and the grasp of a master, and with mastery he must lead the student to a deeper and more thorough understanding of the subject, and in this way lead him, or her, to a wider and richer life.

SHORT COURSE IN HOME ECONOMICS

The third annual Short Course in Home Economics, for housekeepers of Florida, will take place in the Department of Home Economics at the Florida State College for Women, from Feb. 23 to March 5.

The program for the Short Course will be published in next week's Flambeau.

There will be a number of housekeepers attending from various parts of the State.

Miss Anna Barrows, secretary of the National Home Economics Association, will be at the Florida State College for Women next Tuesday and Wednesday. Miss Barrows is an instructor in Teachers' College, Columbia University. She was one of the first women in the United States to do any extension work for women. She planned extension work for women in farmers' institutes when such work was first started. Besides her work at Teachers' College for twelve years, with Mrs. Norton of Chicago University, she has been in charge of the School of Domestic Science at Chattanooga, New York.

She has written some of the most used Home Economics books, and has also written bulletins for the United States Department of Agriculture.

Miss Barrows is on a trip, visiting Southern institutions and women's clubs. While in Florida, she will spend two days in Jacksonville with the women's clubs of that city; one day in Ocala, and she will be two days with the Department of Home Economics at Stetson University.

Miss Caroline L. Hunt is in the Department of Nutrition of the United States Department of Agriculture. She assists Dr. Langworthy in getting out the set of food charts which is universally used in this country in the teaching of Home Economics. She has written a number of bulletins for the United States Department of Agriculture, on practical subjects: "The Economical Use of Meat in the Home," "The Economical Use of Cheese in the Home," "Corn and Corn Meal and Its Use," and has written a bulletin on the "Use of Honey," which is now being published by the department.

Miss Hunt visited the College last year, and many of the students are looking forward with great pleasure to meeting her again.

Miss Ola Powell is from the Bureau of Plant Industry, Department of Agriculture, and makes her third visit to the Florida State College for Women.

Miss Powell has made a special study of preserving and jelly making, and came down to Florida during the fig season and again during the guava season. She will assist Miss Harris in getting out a bulletin which will give this information to the women of Florida for use next summer.

Miss Powell will spend the entire week at the Canning School, giving detailed instructions to the County Agents.

Dr. M. H. Straughn is a specialist in the Bureau of Chemistry. He attended the Canning School last year, and has since developed a method of making a marmalade from wild oranges which we hope will be found practical to be used by the Canning Club Agents in their work.

Dr. Straughn will give daily instruction emphasizing the science of preserving and jelly making.

Mr. O. B. Martin is in the Washington office, and is in charge of the Girls' Club work in the South. He will visit the fifteen Southern States in which this work is being conducted.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE

In the Year Book for 1911 of the American School Peace League comes the announcement which reached some of us earlier by letter.

The Second Honorable Mention for the Seabury Peace Prize Essay for 1914 was awarded to Miss Jennette McMillan of the Senior Normal Class of the Florida State College for Women. This contest is open to Seniors of all normal schools in the United States. Four "Honorable Mention" names are given: The first from New York, the second from Tallahassee, Fla.; the third from Duluth, Minn.; and the fourth from Springfield, Mo. The College is proud of Miss McMillan's place, for she made a commendable effort for our Normal School, and the competition was large enough to cover the United States. The decision was made last summer, and this information came to us privately shortly afterward; but the Year Book of the Peace League has just reached our desk.

THE FLORIDA FLAMBEAU

The "Alligator" staff was somewhat surprised to receive a copy of "The Florida Flambeau." This paper is now published weekly by the students of the Florida State College for Women, and their brother institution wishes to congratulate them upon the success attendant upon their first number. It is a real paper, and shows up well in comparison with the sheets put out by some of the older colleges of the South. It is full of news concerning the happenings around their school, much of which is of interest to the University students. In a short time it will undoubtedly be one of the leading weeklies among those in the South, published at women's colleges. The size of the type compares favorably with the size of the sheet, though a larger sheet, with larger type, would probably look better. "The Florida Alligator" wishes it all possible success in the future.—Alligator, University of Florida, Gainesville.

SAVES LABOR AND MONEY

In the Home Economics Department is a unique piece of kitchen furniture, planned and made by Miss Mae Wells. With a few materials found around the average storehouse of a home—a hard tin, several pounds of excelsior, buyers of newspapers, two tin buckets, some pieces of asbestos, and a cushion made of excelsior—Miss Wells has made a real fireless cooker. On Monday this cooker was tested in a demonstration of cooking, and found both a rapid and practical instrument for preparing food for meals. The girls of the housekeeping course will enjoy this bit of instruction and may find it serviceable in the future.

THE GIVE AND TAKE POLICY

The Flambeau has met a cordial response from the people in the College community, and one of its obligations will be to sustain and increase this co-operative spirit. Its columns speak for you, to advance your interests and to build your causes. Then give us the news. Give your subscription and you shall take back full values in many ways.

Some years ago William McKinley made his reputation on his great "give and take" policy, embodied in his reciprocity bill. Such a policy is applicable in small situations as well as larger ones. At the College for Women the faculty ask for your interest and work; they give interest and work in return. The Seniors ask for patronage for the Annual; if you respond they will give you such a Placemow as you never have seen before.

The Juniors want you to buy a ticket to the Ben Greet plays. Buy one, and you will take home a dream of beauty and pleasure. Florida gives you a fine institution, with every opportunity for an education. Take the education and bear away the influence of the College.

Use whatever name you please—reciprocity, mutual support, or co-operation. But whatever name it be, the "give and take" policy is good for us all.

WAR BRIEFS

Dispatches dated Jan. 29 state that the Austrian government has decided to put in force a governmental appropriation of foodstuffs similar to that decreed by Germany last week.

A gathering of German-Americans was held in Washington on Jan. 30 for the purpose of forming an organization to "re-establish genuine American neutrality and to uphold it free from commercial, financial and political subservience to foreign powers." The sum and substance of their proposals was that the German-American citizens of the country should bring political pressure to bear on the administration to induce it to pass laws in contravention to the international code, which should assist to remove from the land whose citizenship they have renounced some of the disabilities which have been imposed on it by reason of the command of the sea held by the powers with which it is at war.

On Feb. 8, Russia assumed the offensive in Poland, where the Germans have apparently been withdrawing troops from both north and south. This news is from London. German sources insist that plans for the capture of Warsaw are still being pushed, but the Russians claim minor successes at various points, and declare the German attack reached its climax several days ago.

Activities seem to be at a standstill in the west, but the allies are taking advantage of every day's delay to throw in reinforcements.

The Belgian ambassador today issued a statement opposing a tax placed by Germany on Belgian refugees who do not return to Belgium by March 1, as confiscatory, in violation of The Hague conference. The German government, after having imposed an enormous war levy of 180,000,000 francs ($6,000,000) upon Belgium, already ruined by war and the numerous exactions made, on Dec. 14, 1914, and the formal promise that no further taxes should be imposed upon the country. This new taxation, therefore, is not only a violation of The Hague convention, but constitutes a breach of the most solemn pledge.

This Turkish invasion of Egypt was one of the most daring events of the war. It was apparently unsuccessful. After their defeat near the Suez Canal it is reported that the Turks are now in full retreat.

Y. W. C. A.

Miss Grace H. Dodge, president of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A. of the United States, died at her home in New York, on Dec. 27. She was fifty-eight years old. For eight years she was president of the National Board. That this was but one of the great interests of her life will be learned when time and written words reveal to us the fullness of a life which even those who claimed her as their president but dimly comprehended.

The memorial service for Miss Dodge was held at this College, as in all other organizations throughout the country, in the Y. W. C. A. Lobby, at 7 o'clock Sunday night.

The CH Psalm was read in concert. This was one of Miss Dodge's favorite passages. Miss Alice Corry, who led the meeting, read a short sketch of the life of this noble woman. The violin solo by Miss Carmene Evans; the vocal solo, "Face to Face," by Miss Ethel Gildewell, and the articles from the Association Monthly, read by Miss Oakley St. John, were some of the interesting features of the program.

At the close of the service, thirty-two new members were received into the Association.

The regular Wednesday evening meeting of the Y. W. C. A. will be changed to Thursday evening. The pastors of the various churches will come to the College to lead the denominational meetings, which are to be held once a month.

MINERVA CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Miss Mary Floyd was elected president at a meeting of the Minerva Club held at 7.15 o'clock last Saturday night. The other officers elected were: Miss Maude Godley, vice president; Miss Hulott Gist, secretary; Miss Elton Gule, treasurer; Miss Ruth Nelson, critic; and Miss Annie McPherson, sergeant-at-arms.

CAMPUS NOTES

Miss Gertrude Lovell returned over the S. A. L. Monday afternoon from her home in Jacksonville. We must congratulate Gertrude on the propriety and grace with which she is carrying the newly-acquired spectacles.

Miss Alice Shepard, who left Saturday, returned Monday afternoon from her home in Mt. Pleasant, Fla.

Miss Carrie Taylor was the guest of her aunt, Miss Blake of Tallahassee, for the week-end.

Miss Pearl Caldwell, president of the Senior College Class, is in Jacksonville having her eyes tested.

The Misses Loretta and Norine Sullivan, Gladys Comforter, Estelle Marks and Julia Coombs are guests at their home in Apalachicola for the week-end.

Miss Cornelia Pileston is the guest of the Misses Sullivan, in Apalachicola, until Monday.

Because of Miss Andrews' absence from the College, the girls of East Hall were the guests of the At Homes in Reynolds and Bryan Hall, Sunday evening.

SOCIETY

Mrs. E. G. Chesley entertained a few of the College girls Monday afternoon at an informal luncheon. The table was artistically decorated with yellow jessamines and violets. Delicious sandwiches, hot chocolate, cream pudding, cake and nuts were served.

Those present were, Misses Josephine Diane, Florence Conliffe, Phyllis Jarrell, Elizabeth Parkhill, Frances Lothridge and Grace Lothridge.

Don't forget "Pride and Prejudice" at the Opera House, Monday, Feb. 22.

A tea was given by Miss Agnes E. Harris, head of the Home Economics Department, for the girls who sit at her table, in her room in East Hall, at 5 o'clock Tuesday night. Delightful refreshments of tea, sandwiches, crackers and nuts were served. Among those present were: Misses Isabel Rauch, Norine Sullivan, Loretta Sullivan, Gladys Comforter, Estelle Marks, Mary Dorry Burns, Kathleen Caro, Kathleen Morrison, Leah Smith and Jeanette MacMillan.

Miss Roberts took her 8 o'clock Gymnasium Class for a hike Wednesday morning. Fifteen girls started from East Hall. They stopped in the woods to cook a delicious breakfast of bacon, eggs, toast and coffee, and returned at 5 o'clock. The girls enjoyed their outing so much that they intend to repeat it very soon.

Mr. Smith gave the 4 o'clock Gymnasium Class an exhibition on the parallel bars and in pole vaulting Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Smith believes the parallel bars have more possibilities than any other piece of apparatus in the Gymnasium. Some of the girls made brave attempts to imitate him.

AT HOME

The matrons of the College, Mrs. Cawthon, Mrs. Garrett and Mrs. Spears, were at home to their friends, in Mrs. Cawthon's office, from 2:30 until 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Ten was served to the callers, among whom was Miss Maud Swalmeyer, Isabella Sparks, Florence Stephens, Mrs. W. N. Shiers, Sr.; Mrs. W. N. Shiers, Jr.; Mrs. J. P. Wilson, Dr. and Mrs. Davet.

BUY A BALE OF COTTON

Buy a bale of cotton gives the South a helping hand.
Now that she is in distress, let your heart expand.
Now everyone come forward with dollars long or round,
And buy a bale of cotton; it's only ten cents a pound.

Never will you regret the good deed you have done,
Knowing that you have helped many a needy one;
Value received you get, and every bale is sound;
Then buy a bale of cotton; it's only ten cents a pound.

You can still remember when you were in distress,
Someone came to your relief, relieving your distress;
Now that you are easy, don't forget the one's that down;
Come buy a bale of cotton; it's only ten cents a pound.

Honest debts were contracted on the cotton crop;
Circumstances unforeseen brought things to a stop;
The farmers are up against it, no market can be found;
Go buy a bale of cotton; it's only ten cents a pound.

The farmers are the mainstay of the entire land;
Without their aid business never could expand.
Hence you are dependent on them the year around;
Now buy a bale of cotton; it's only ten cents a pound.

"SAFETY FIRST"—"KEEP COOL"

These orders are written in big red letters on the fire alarm rules which have been posted in every room in all the dormitories. The girls are having real "honest-to-goodness" fire drills now, managed by the College Fire Department.

This department has been organized, with its Chief, Captains and Lieutenants.

The duties of these officers have been outlined as follows:

The Chief is to be a College Senior, elected annually by the Student Body. She is to call monthly meetings of the Captains to discuss methods and improvements, to ask for reports from the Captains, to call for fire drills, to keep record of the time it takes to be emptied, and to have general oversight and direction. She is to keep a list of all Captains and Lieutenants, and give notices to the Flambeau.

The two Captains for each floor must meet once a month, when called by the Chief, elect their Lieutenants, keep revised list of the girls under their charge, and file a report after each drill. During drills or fire, they are to give all orders for rooms to be cleared, call roll after the house is emptied, and take note if girls have complied with fire directions.

The Lieutenants are to report to the Captain when the alarm is first given, and follow her orders.

The following are the fire alarm rules:

Do not run. Do not talk. Get shoes, coat and towel. Close windows. Light your light. Stand in place and wait command. Outside dormitory report to Captain, and await command. Sign up in Captain's room when spending the night out.

"It is absolutely necessary that the girls be careful about that last rule," said Miss Myra McValine, the Fire Chief. "If any girl fails to sign up, the Captain can have no way of knowing of her safety."

Mrs. Cawthon appointed the following girls to serve until the beginning of a new term: Myra McValine, Fire Chief; Zella Wilson, Rose Evans, Oakley St. John, Lucy Buckels, Ora Odum and Dixie Singleton, Captains in Bryan Hall; Harriett Brandon, Nella Wells, Maude Godley, Hulet Gist, Ernestine Blocker and Mary Bailey Sloane, Captains in Reynolds Hall; Angelica Yonge, Birdie Coffrin, Elizabeth Clayton and Ruth Nelson, Captains in East Hall.

KINDERGARTEN NOTES

The Kindergarten Club held its regular meeting last Saturday night. A very interesting program was rendered.

The Kindergarten children are quite enthusiastic over the carpenter this week, which is being carried out in regular program. An excursion was made by all the Kindergarten over to Mr. Prince's shop last Tuesday morning, where carpenter tools were shown to the children.

We are glad to see Miss Wheeler out again after a short illness.

The Senior girls are now receiving "personal criticisms" upon their teaching.

The Juniors are learning to observe more closely since they are required to keep observation notes.

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES

The pupils are finding February one of the most delightful months of the school year, for it has Valentine Day and Washington's Birthday. They are learning to cut and to draw hearts of different sizes and colors. The practice teachers, who have charge of the manual hour, promise some interesting things with paper, scissors, paints and muclage.

The third grade has the sand table for this week, and has made a whole river system, with the aid of glass and string.

All the children were glad to welcome Mildred Garrett back to school after her trip to Jacksonville.

SCHOOL OF MUSIC

The February Vesper Service will take place on Feb. 25, instead of the second Sunday of the month. This change of date is made in compliment to the State Agents of the Canning Club, convening in the College at that time.

There will be a series of Monday Morning Students' Recitals of the School of Music, beginning Feb. 15. The hour will be 11 o'clock, and all friends of the College are cordially invited to attend. The following is the program for next Monday:

LIBRARY NOTES

The annual book order was sent in some time ago. All but the imported books have been received, and they are expected daily.

The North American Student and the Association Monthly have been added to the magazine list. There are now eighty-two periodicals in the reading room.

THE RUG FUND

"Send your 'Crush' a Valentine. Purchase it at Suite 9, Bryan Hall."

This is one of the many ways the girls have devised for earning money to pay for the rug in the Bryan Hall Lobby. Fifty girls have pledged themselves to raise $1 each. Some of the girls are giving lessons in dancing, and some in tatting. The matrons have been selling doughnuts and ice cream. The School of Expression will give a series of entertainments at the Thursday evening At Homes in Bryan Hall, the proceeds of which will go into the fund box. The rug will cost $160.

INFIRMARY NOTES

Mrs. Mary E. Townsend, the nurse, has been ill with la grippe since Saturday.

Miss Mary George Adams suffered a slight stroke of paralysis last Thursday. She has sufficiently recovered to resume her studies.

WHAT WE HEAR AT LIGHT-FLASH

Mrs. Cawthon—Dorcas, I trust you are feeling much better after taking the medicine the nurse gave you.

Dorcas—Yas'n, but I 'se sweatin' on de inside; de nurse done tol' me dat medicine 'ud steam-u-late me.

Flambeau Reporter—Have you been visiting relatives in Jacksonville?

Thelma Parsons—Oh, no; just kin-folks.

COLLEGE PLAY TO BE GIVEN MONDAY EVENING

The play's the thing now!

Jane Austin's "Pride and Prejudice" will be presented by the Dramatic Club at the Opera House next Monday night. This is the first time the club has attempted a play of so much literary and dramatic value. The fact that the play has been worked on for several weeks, increasing interest always being shown, leads us to believe the production on Monday night will be unusually good. The members of the club feel they were unusually fortunate in securing Feb. 22 for their date, as the costumes will be in keeping with the holiday. All the men's costumes have been ordered from Philadelphia. The girls are hard at work on quaint ballroom dresses, quiet street frocks and hats of marvelous sizes and shapes.

The characters are particularly well adapted.

Mr. Darcey, "a fine, handsome fellow, clever, haughty, reserved and fastidious, with ten thousand a year," will be taken by Miss Constance Cavel.

Mr. Blingley, "just what a young man ought to be, sensitive and good-humored—such happy manners," Miss Dorothy Slemmons.

Colonel Fitzwilliam, "in person and dress most truly a gentleman," Miss Mizpah Otto.

Mr. Bennet, "an odd mixture of sarcastic humor, reserve and caprice. He is fond of the country," Miss Natalie Moffett.

Mr. Collins, a young man of five and twenty, grave and formal; his veneration for his patroness, Lady Catherine de Bourne, mingled with a very good opinion of himself and his authority as a clergyman, make him a mixture of pride, self-importance and humility, Miss Myrtice McCaskill.

Sir William Lucas, accepting himself solely in being civil to all the world, Miss Louise Powell.

Colonel Forester, Miss Mildred Sevcney.

Mr. Wickham, endowed with all the best parts of beauty, false and deceitful, Miss Elizabeth Parkhill.

Mr. Denney, Miss Hazel Johnson.

Mrs. Bennet, a woman of mean understanding. The main business of her life is to get her daughters married, Miss Adrienne Phillips.

Jane Bennet, a girl of good strength and feeling, Miss Nellie Cooper.

Miss Elizabeth Bennet, a playful disposition which delights in anything ridiculous; a mixture of sweetness and archness in her manner, Miss Helen Farrington.

Lydia Bennet, a girl of fifteen, Miss Mary Francis Smith.

Landy Lucas, a neighbor to Mrs. Bennet, Miss Martha Livingston.

Charlotte Lucas, a sensible, quiet woman, Miss Lucy Wood.

Miss Bingley, proud and conceited, Miss Rubie McLin.

Lady Catherine de Bourne, "what she said was spoken in so authoritative a tone as marked her self-importance," Miss Ruby Leach.

Hill, Miss Priscilla Major.

Martha, Miss Katie Jackson.

The play is under the personal direction of Misses Elder and Roberts. Girls, get out your "Pride and Prejudice," read over the novel, and all come out Monday night. Be loyal to your College play. All proceeds go to buying scenery for our auditorium.

HONORING SHAKESPEARE

When the Ben Greet Players were here last year, one of the company casually inquired what we were going to do, as a school, to celebrate Shakespeare's birthday. We could make no reply, except to say, "Nothing." Out of that inquiry, however, sprang the determination, on the part of a few, to do something this year toward honoring the great poet, in a worthy way, on his birthday. Through the year, considerable attention has been given in the English classes to Shakespearean plays. In the School of Expression, also, splendid work has been done in the interpretation of Shakespeare's characters. All this work has helped to enliven the interest in the great dramatist, and to prepare the students for an intelligent participation in the birthday celebration.

And now comes an opportunity to the students to witness two of Shakespeare's dramas presented by artists of international fame. On April 8, the Ben Greet Players will give, on the campus, "Taming of the Shrew," and "Hamlet." Although the occasion of these performances will not be the poet's birthday, they may be fairly considered a very important part of our celebration of that day. We feel confident that every student in the College will want to see both of these plays. We know every one who has seen the Ben Greet Players in the past will. But, lest there be some girls here who feel indifferent about it, we must. In these columns, last week, it was stated that if you attend these plays you will take away a beautiful impression. How true! And much more can be said. Here is an opportunity to see Shakespearean drama, which, for many, possibly may never come again. Accept the opportunity. Make it a part of your memory that you have seen worthily given one of the most delightful of English comedies, and a tragedy that is one of the world's great works of art. Be royally entertained for four years. But not the least of all, by seeing these plays, do your part in showing honor, not only to England's greatest dramatist, but to the greatest dramatist of all time.

ALUMNAE SOCIETY MEETING

An interesting meeting of the Alumnae Association was held Monday afternoon, Feb. 15, at 3:30 o'clock, in the College Auditorium.

Besides other important business matters, plans for the Jubilee, which will be held here during commencement week, were discussed.

Every one is very enthusiastic, and the co-operation of the members, the faculty and town people is assured. The Alumnae throughout the State anticipate the occasion with great pleasure. All are planning to be present.

SOCIETY FOR SCIENTIFIC STUDENTS OF EDUCATION

The Department of Education has, under the guidance and guardianship of Dean N. M. Salley, organized the Society for Scientific Students of Education.

Its Legendary Title Is: The Modern Druids.

Hall Mark: The pursuit of perfection.

Symbols: The Florida live oaks.

Colors: Royal purple and green.

Flower: Florida violets and their foliage.

Impossible Ideal: The attainment of the birth in the study of character training.

This society is to meet "every little while."

Creed: We believe in respecting all creeds and orders; but, first, we believe in making it possible to respect ourselves, and, above all things, we believe in trying to discover and utilize the intended order of nature in the proper rearing of children; we believe in conserving the best thought of the great teachers of the past in the better thought and practice of today; we believe that we sin against our best selves and the children we are given to train if we forget at any time to be always attempting to unbind and release all human souls from the dogma of science, tradition and convention. If we forget for a single moment to be assisting all human spirits to enter into the kingdom of self-respect, the royal will of every human being that it may gain that most important thing in all the world—wise self-direction and proper self-control.

To our constantly-to-be-improved ideals we dedicate ourselves, our time, our talents, our all.

Declaration of Rights: First, we reserve the inalienable right of being constantly engaged in that irritating process called thinking.

Second, we demand as a right to be unbound by any banal yesterday utterance of ours, which we, at the time, denominated "our opinion."

Third, and finally, we refuse to subscribe to any doctrine whose truth is not imminent, practicable and usable, even though this doctrine be pronounced by one who is in the habit of making a noise with all the dignity and aplomb of an Elizabethan phrase-maker.

Founded: In the year of our Lord, Nineteen Hundred Fifteen, by the members of the classes of Prof. N. M. Salley, Dean of Normal School and Head of Department of Education, Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee, Florida.

Members: The eclectic, those members of Prof. Salley's classes whom the spirit of free inquiry moves to join the society.

Honorary Members: The elect, those whom the society elects.

No officers; no fees; no red tape. Meetings on call by the members.

SOPHOMORES ENTERTAIN

The Sophomores of the College of Arts and Sciences will be at home to the College Seniors, in the Recreation Hall of Reynolds' Hall, Saturday evening. A unique and delightful affair is planned, as is suggested by the invitations:

CLASSICAL CLUB

A well-attended meeting of the Classical Club was held in the music parlors, on Friday evening, Feb. 12. The following program was rendered and was much enjoyed by those present: Canonius by the Club, "Lauriger Horatius."

Paper, "Nature in the Similes of Homer".....Miss Nelson
Vocal Solo, "The Secret".....Miss Colman
Story of Atalanta's Race.....Miss McCaskill
Instrumental Solo.....Miss Orr

Chorus, "Gaudeamus Igitur."

After a short business session, at which several interesting plans for the future of the club were discussed, the meeting adjourned.

Y. W. C. A.

The ministers of the Episcopal, Baptist and Methodist churches of the city conducted denominational meetings at the College last Thursday night. These meetings were held in place of the regular Wednesday night meeting of the Y. W. C. A. There was no Presbyterian meeting, as Dr. Newcome was out of town, but we hope it will be possible for him to be with us at our next regular denominational meeting. These meetings are to be held monthly.

The sad news of the death of Mr. Smith, father of Miss Katharine Smith, former chairman of the Social Service Committee, reached us last week. Miss Smith went home some weeks ago on account of the continued illness of her father.

FIRST MEETING OF THE ANVIL A SUCCESS

The student body watched with interest the first open meeting of the new literary society, The Anvil, which was held in Miss Opperman's Music Studio last Saturday night. The program, which was carefully planned and carried out, was given with earnestness and enthusiasm. There was not a visitor nor a member present who was not deeply impressed with its excellency.

"We wish to make clear to you the purpose of our organization and our attitude toward other literary societies," said Miss Mary Louise Scales, in her opening address, last Saturday night. "We are not organized to reflect ill upon them in any way, for we have a genuine interest in their growth and upbuilding. Our organization springs from a need each member feels of more individual development in literary work. We feel that this work can best be done if a limited number of genuinely interested persons attempt it. We purpose to create a strong literary spirit and to work with a view toward maintaining it. Our name does not suggest the classical—rather it suggests the crude. We shall bring our thoughts, our expressions, to The Anvil, and by means of the hammer of helpful criticism, we hope to have our crude work made into something finished. We are not exclusive. Our doors are open to those who feel a similar need, and an interest in our process of satisfying it."

At the close of the program, Miss Longmire complimented the girls upon the success of their program, and told them wherein it was at fault, and how it could be improved.

Dr. Conradi also spoke a few words of encouragement.

THE COLLEGE LIBRARY

The Library, that part of the College machinery to which every student must turn, in order to gain a more comprehensive view of the questions which are constantly rising before her, does not have as wide a scope of usefulness to the students as it should have. Do you ask why? The question is easily answered. The open hours for the Library are from 8 o'clock until 1, in the morning, and from 2 until 4, in the afternoon, thus giving seven open hours during the school day; and this is well. But can we, as students, really consider these hours as open to us for the work of research, which should mean so much to us? No. The hours when the Library is thrown open to us are the very ones in which we are compelled to consider the other side of our work—the class and the textbook. This side has its own special importance, but would it not mean more if each student were given the opportunity of attaching to it in greater degree that indispensable supplement—research in the Library? Of course, it is most probable that every student has one or more open periods between the hours of 8 and 4, but a stray hour here and there cannot mean much; for, coming between classes, as they do in most cases, it is quite reasonable that the student should feel it her duty to put that time on preparation for the lesson of the coming recitation. The instructor has a right to demand well-prepared lessons, and student, in her turn, should demand the same of herself. When her mind is on the recitation before her, it is reasonable to suppose that she will not be likely to abandon herself to the real work of research.

The study-hour period, then, is the only time that the average student can, in the present situation, derive much real benefit from the Library. This short period is valuable to her—but is not enough. We appreciate the privileges we now have, and realize that having the Library open during the hours of the school day is indispensable, for this is the only quiet place to study. However, observation will show that most of the work done here during the school day is not, to any great extent, real library work. It is mostly preparation of the lesson from the text. The only way to see that the students shall have greater opportunity for research is to give her the privilege of using the Library after the day's lessons are done. Most students are through with their classes by 4 o'clock, and then it is—when their minds become free from the care of recitations—that they could accomplish more in the Library. Having it open during the hours from 4 to 6 in the afternoon, and a greater number of hours on Monday, would do much toward increasing the means toward efficiency in carrying out our curriculum; and surely this is one of the chief aims of the institution as a whole.

As college students, and as seekers after knowledge, we feel a desire for and a need of a greater opportunity than we now have; and we feel that this opportunity should be placed before us as the right and privilege of every student of our College.

A FINE OFFER

One of the most complimentary propositions has come to a student of the College for Women, in the offer to Miss Lucy Grier to assist in teaching in the Department of Entomology, at Cornell University, and pursue graduate studies in that line in the University. Miss Grier graduated in the College last June, and is now taking post-graduate work leading to an M.S. degree. She is a young lady of fine ability and of energetic and ambitious disposition. She is now working out her thesis in entomological lines under the instruction of Prof. L. S. Barber, who has charge of that work in the College.

This offer, including the scholarship, pays about $500 a year. It is complimentary in three ways: First, it came from Cornell University; second, it is an honor to the College to have such a place offered to one of its graduates; and, last, it is an honor to the young lady who has proved herself worthy of the position. Miss Grier is a Florida girl; her home is at West Palm Beach. She has the sincere congratulations of her friends and the good wishes that this opening will lead to several years of useful and enjoyable work.

CAMPUS NOTES

Miss Harriett Brandon motored to her home in Thomasville, Ga., to spend the week-end as the guest of her mother.

Miss Pearl Caldwell, president of the Senior Class of the College, returned from Jacksonville.

The Misses Sullivan returned from their home in Apalachicola Tuesday morning.

Miss Cornelia Puleston, guest of the Misses Sullivan of Apalachicola, for the week-end, returned Tuesday morning.

Miss Maud McLin was called home Wednesday on account of the illness of her mother. We wish for Mrs. McLin a speedy recovery.

Miss Genevieve Mathews was the guest of Miss Mary Bannerman, of the College, at her home near Tallahassee.

Miss Marguerite Simmons and Miss Bessie Milton, house-party guests of the Misses Sullivan, at their home in Apalachicola, returned Tuesday.

Miss Jeannette McMillan spent the week-end at her home in Hinson.

Mr. G. W. Martin of Ocala was the guest of his daughter, Miss Gladys Martin, of the College, for the week-end.

Mr. P. C. Williams was the host at a dinner party at the Leon, Saturday evening, Feb. 13, given to Misses Irma Blake and Du Bois Elder, and Mr. W. J. Yon.

Miss Gladys Comforter is again at the College after a week-end visit at her home in Apalachicola.

Miss Estelle Marks and Miss Julia Coombs returned Tuesday morning from Apalachicola, where they had been on a short visit.

Miss Marie Andrews returned home Wednesday after a short visit in Jacksonville.

One of our house mothers, Mrs. Garrett, was called to Washington, Monday night, on important business.

Room reservations for the Spring Review Term are being made.

Mr. Kellum is turning farmer. He has bought twenty hogs to add to the College farm. The live stock on the farm has, for quite a while, consisted of three mules, but with the coming of the hogs, our hopes are renewed, and we believe our College dairy is in sight.

"The maps of France and Germany and the shipment of books recently received from abroad seem to show," says Dr. Conradi, "that all intercourse with those countries engaged in war is not impossible."

Among the College activities worthy of notice is a new industry in College—that of shoe shining. For further information see George, on Sundays, from 7 until 11 o'clock, in Room 9, of the Administration Building.

Prof. N. M. Salley made a trip to Havana, Fla., on Saturday, Feb. 13, and spoke before the Gadsden County Teachers' Association on "What Is It To Be Professionally Trained?"

RUG FUND

The Rug Fund is still growing encouragingly. The house-mothers have a goodly store of turkey sandwiches planned for sale in the near future. The girls who have contributed their pledge money so far are:

Edwina Macbeth.
Bessie Michael.
Edna Owen.
Margaret Mitchell.

COLLEGE RECEPTION IN HONOR OF CANNING CLUB

A most delightful reception was given in honor of the lecturers and instructors of the Canning School and County Agents, in Bryan Hall, Wednesday evening, February 17. Among the distinguished guests were the members of the faculty, the club women of Tallahassee, the officials at the Capitol, and others especially interested in this work of the County Agents. Simplicity being characteristic of the Home Economics Department, the entire evening was delightfully pleasing in that respect. Bryan Hall Lobby, where the hostesses received, was a bower of flowers. The color scheme of white and yellow was carried out in the white roses and clusters of golden daffodils on the great brick mantels and tables. Bamboo vines trailed about the portico railing, while the corners of the reception room seemed like a glimpse of Japan in their profusions of white blossoms and fern. Some of the College girls rendered a charming musical programme while refreshments were served:

Vocal Solo, "Ashore" (H. Trotter) Miss Gladys Martin
Vocal Solo, "Elegy" (Massenet) Miss Irma Blake

A SERENADE

Mrs. Cawthon announced in the dining room Tuesday evening that all who wished a delightful surprise should repair to Bryan Hall Lobby immediately after supper. It appeared that a band of stranded carnival people had come to serenade the College girls. Their program savored of the minstrel. It was delightful. Combs, harmonicas, and the like, were their unique instruments. In the strangers' presence, however, certain of our wise heads have hinted that in the Highland ladie they felt the presence of their own expression teacher, Miss Elder; in the dancing senorita, some how, they remembered Miss Longmire. The actors in black and yellow dominoes yet remain a mystery. They sang:

We are spirits of Mardi Gras,
From our prison cells set free
To roam the earth.
You've seen us oft before,
You'll see us soon, once more,
But no names we tell.

HOME ECONOMICS DINNER

The second dinner of the year was given by the Home Economics Department, Wednesday night, at 6 o'clock. Misses Alta Grimm and Hazel Finney acted as host and hostess. The room was artistically decorated in hearts and cupids, and the color scheme of red and green was carried out in the different courses.

The following guests were present: Dr. and Mrs. Conradi, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Sheats, Dr. Stranglin, Mr. Jennings, Mr. Martin and Misses Barrows, Hunt, Powell, Wells, Harris, Clark and Palmer.

The following menu was served:
Oyster Cocktail
Soup Croutons
Planked Chicken
Duchess Potatoes Beets
String Beans
Beaten Biscuits Butter Guava Jelly
Waldorf Salad Saitines
Cup St. Jacques Angel Cake

SOCIETY

Miss Jonnie Rutland of Tampa was married on Wednesday, Feb. 3, to Prof. Henry L. Smith, Mrs. Smith is a graduate of the Florida State College for Women. She has made Tampa her home for a number of years, and has been an instructor of English at the Tampa High School for a couple of years. Mr. Smith is professor of secondary education in the University of Indiana. The romance began at Columbia University, New York, from which university both Mr. and Mrs. Smith have taken degrees. They have made their home in Bloomington, Ind.

An informal tea was given by Mrs. C. E. Brevard, at her home on Monroe street, Monday afternoon. Delicious refreshments of tea, sandwiches, cake and salted nuts were served. Mrs. F. M. Hudson sang "Perfect Day" and "I Love You." Among those present were: Mrs. T. A. Darby, Misses Carrie Brevard, Helen Haughan, Ollie Henderson, Emma Lee King, Geneva Mosely, Lucile Cooper, Helen Farrington, Ethel Evans, Katy Mae Galloway, Mina Harris, Elbert Mulholland, Margaret Pearce, Carmene Evans, Dorothy Slemmons and Mary Lou Leman.

The Home Economics Club entertained for the Canning Club Agents and visitors to the College, with a tea, Tuesday afternoon, from 5 to 6 o'clock. Miss Kathlyn Monroe gave the first of a series of teas in honor of her Senior friends, in her room, last Monday, at 4 o'clock.

Misses Lulu Mae Green and Juanita Pipkin entertained the members of their crew at a Valentine party last Saturday night.

No. 6.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

Since Commencement, 1914, plans have been maturing for the celebration at the College for the tenth anniversary of the founding of the institution. The arrangements for this celebration are very properly in the hands of the Alumnae Association. It is intended to make this the greatest occasion the College for Women has yet seen. Most of the alumnae have already signified their intention of being present. Prominent speakers will take part, and original music will be prepared. We are able to present this week the following tentative arrangement of the program of the occasion:

TUESDAY, JUNE 8

- 10 A. M.—Parade (all classes).
- 11:30 A. M.—College Song on Campus at Conclusion of Parade. Short Speeches by Several Men and Women. College Song.
- 1:00 P. M.—Luncheon in College Dining Hall.
- 2:30 P. M.—Anniversary Address. Choruses. Anniversary Ode.
- 4:00 P. M.—Business Meeting of Association.
- 5:00 P. M.—Reunion of All Classes and Societies.
- 6:00 P. M.—Picnic Lunch on Campus.
- 8:00 P. M.—Reception. Music by Faculty.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9

- 9:00 A. M.—Business Meeting.

SOPHOMORES ENTERTAIN THE SENIORS

The social feature of the week was the Sophomore-Senior party given in the Recreation Hall last Saturday night. It has been the custom in the College for the Sophomore class to entertain for the Seniors each year. The party was a Martha Washington affair, and the hostesses and their guests looked charming in their colonial costumes. The evening was spent in dancing the old dances, Miss Roberts, as George Washington, and Miss Jessie Key, as Martha Washington, led the grand march. The room was beautifully decorated with smilax. The lights were shaded with red. Punch was served during the evening, and coffee and salad served during the intermission.

Before the "Home, Sweet Home" waltz the best and most enjoyable part of the evening came in the shape of a big birthday cake. The guests took turns blowing out the candles and in carving the cake. No detail had been neglected by the Sophomore Class to make this evening a perfect one.

TURKEY SANDWICHES

Mrs. Cawthon and Mrs. Spears, our College mothers, sold turkey sandwiches in the Y. W. C. A. kitchenette of Bryan Hall, last Thursday. They cleared $6 on one turkey, and were so happy that both danced the "turkey trot." The girls are delighted that their success took such effect, and are wishing for some more sandwiches real soon. It is interesting to note the many ways in which the Rug Fund is growing. The girls made and sold Valentines, and are sewing, giving up the "corner store," nay, even giving private vaudeville, "light-flash" performances, to contribute. The fund has already reached the hundred-dollar mark.

Y. W. C. A.

Dr. Newsome, of the Presbyterian Church, came out to the College Thursday night, and lectured to the Y. W. C. A. girls, at their regular mid-week meeting. Dr. Newsome has recently returned from a convention held in Atlanta, and he brought to the association a report of the great things he heard while there.

Nominees for the new officers of Y. W. C. A. have been chosen, and the election will take place at an early date.

Sunday, March 28, is to be a universal day of prayer for the Y. W. C. A. Last Sunday night, Miss Emma Belseth gave "Prayer" as the subject of her talk to the girls, at the regular Sunday night service. She spoke well, and in placing the matter before the girls in clearer light, she did much toward preparing them for the special prayer service for next Sunday night.

A GOOD PLAY WELL PRESENTED

"Pride and Prejudice" was given at the Opera House, Monday night, Feb. 22, under the auspices of the College Dramatic Club. In the way of dramatic interest, the play was the best of the season, for this department of the College, and the girls of the College, as a whole, showed intense interest and loyal enthusiasm in it in a way which was more than pleasing to those in charge.

The play was a dramatization of Jane Austen's delightful novel, "Pride and Prejudice," arranged by Mrs. Steele McKay. The dramatization was good, but, perhaps, in some degree, it fell short of presenting the characters in as strong a light as they are given to us in the original work.

The cast was well chosen, and each girl handled her part creditably. Miss Constance Cavell distinguished herself in the difficult role of Mr. Darcy, the proud and haughty young hero of the play, and Miss Elizabeth Parkhill did full justice to her part—that of the villain, Wickham. The part of Mrs. Bennett was taken by Miss Adrienne Phillips, whose interpretation of this character was exceptionally good. Miss Rubie McIn played well the part of the proud and conceited Miss Bingley. The heroine, Miss Elizabeth Bennett, was characterized by Miss Helen Farrington, who interpreted the part in a way creditable to herself and to the charming original.

The scenery and costuming were good, and added much in the portrayal of scenes of the life of the times.

Taking all things into consideration the Dramatic Club feels very much encouraged in its work of the past two years. Besides a number of small farces given on the campus, it has presented to the public one Shakespeare play—an open-air performance of "Midsummer Night's Dream," a most laughable farce, "Billy," presented at the Opera House, and the play given this week, "Pride and Prejudice." On April 23, the club will present what promises to be the biggest thing in its history—an out-of-door pageant representing characters of Shakespeare's works. Great things are being planned for the next school, as well, and to encourage work along dramatic lines, among the students, plans are being made to offer a prize next year for the best dramatization of any standard work. Under the able direction of Miss Elder, and her assistant, Miss Roberts, the Dramatic

OUR NEW DEN

The Dean's Office, at Bryan Hall, has recently had a visit from our fairy godmother. The plain little office, previously used for answering telephone calls only, has been transformed into a most attractive little den. The new cream walls, and crisp, cream curtains, with broad, oriental draperies at the windows, complete the coziness made by the brown wicker chairs and sofa. Alzella's "Miznon," several old points of Russia and Venice, and a few others collected by Mrs. Cawthon while on her tour abroad this summer, are the sole wall decorations. "Our new den," as Mrs. Cawthon has said, "is for the girls' pleasure."

CURRENT EVENTS

How much do we College girls know about them? What do they mean to us? Most of us don't seem to find time to keep up with the world. We get into a sort of rut, and stay there. Periodical after periodical comes, fresh and clean, into the reading room of our library, and we let them go back to the files in the same condition. We cannot truthfully say that we do not care. None of us like to be moss-grown. None of us enjoy that vacant feeling we have when we're called upon to express an opinion about something we've never heard of.

Nobody realizes this weakness existing among College girls more keenly than Dr. Dodd. As a text book on Composition, for his Sophomore English Class, he has installed the Atlantic Monthly. The members of the class are very enthusiastic over it. They have not been studying the Atlantic Monthly very long, but already they can tell you about some of the world's troubles, and many can suggest means of overcoming them. "It seems there is plenty of room here for the Atlantic Monthly," Dr. Dodd told his English students. "In fact, the class ought to be bigger."

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS

Wouldn't it be a fine thing for our College to invite the girls from the different High Schools of the State to participate in Field Day exercises? We are anxious to meet them, and equally anxious to see what good sportsmen they are. Wouldn't it be jolly to meet the delegation of High School girls at the corner of the campus and present them with the keys of the College? The president of the Athletic Association could do this with royal good grace. Girls of the Florida High Schools, here's hoping! May we meet you on the field of good sportsmanship. Victory to the best!

FLORIDA FLAMBEAU EXCELLENT PAPER

Among the school publications issued in Florida, there is none so attractively arranged or more readable than The Florida Flambeau, formerly The Tailsman, the second number of the first volume of which has been sent out to the papers of the State by the publishers, who are students at the Florida State College for Women.

A glance over the columns of this delightful sheet gives evidence of the fact that each of the departments is in the hands of a capable writer, and each of them seems to be striving for supremacy in their particular line.

The staff is composed of some of the most brilliant young ladies in Florida, and among the local editors are, the name of Miss Mizpah Otto, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. O. Otto, of Key West. * * *

EDUCATION V ON SAFARI

Prof. Salley's class in Methods visited, on Monday last, the school of Miss Eunice Shirley, on the Belleair road, about two miles and a half out. The class carried luncheon in baskets. These they left at the Wainwright place, on the way to the school. At the school the class found five grades of interesting children, unself-conscious and unafraid. These pupils seemed anxious to learn and eager to please. The school is a fine illustration of the possibilities in Leon county. Demonstrations were made by the teacher of the school and by the instructor in charge of the Methods class.

Returning, Education V stopped at the Wainwright home, where Mr. Tubal Wainwright was kind enough to place the beautiful lawn at the disposal of the students and the instructor. Here, good (?) coffee was made by the instructor and served by the finely co-operative students. The subtle hands of the young women spread the table under the beautiful live oaks, and the too hungry adolescents, tempting luncheon was enjoyed by all. Home we came, feeling none the worse for our happy journey of five miles.

FIELD DAY

Field Day is right here upon us, girls—the 29th and 30th of March. Freshmen have met, elected track, basketball and baseball captains. Class spirit has even lulled all yearnings for the precious early morning.

Let us get up and stir these nice fine mornings, and we shall have better stunts, more of them and more profitably performed than any previous occasion has seen on our campus. In other words, make Field Day not only a red letter day, but a red capital letter day.

The new gym equipment, parallel bars, ladder, swinging boom, etc., will make the indoor exhibition more attractive. Spalding has just gotten out a new ball for long distance throw for girls, one of which our Athletic Association has just purchased. A new suggestion comes to us for the relay race; that is, for the runner, instead of touching her fellow classmate at the different stations, to pass her a little wand of the class colors. This saves doubt and dispute, as well as leaves an interesting souvenir for the victorious class to add to their trophies.

A tentative program of this year's Field Day is published below, and the committee, composed of the two representatives from each class, are working with the president of the Athletic Association, Miss Barrs, on perfecting this program and on the system of points for the different feats. Printed copies of both will be available in course of a few days.

CAMPUS NOTES

The B. Bs. of the Mother's National invited new members, on Feb. 22, to celebrate the anniversary of their Founders' Day.

Miss Lulu Taylor returned Monday night from a week-end visit at Live Oak, and at her home in Alton. She was accompanied by her sister, Mattie Lou, who was unable to return after the holidays, because of illness.

Miss Allee Dezell was a guest for the week-end of her niece, Miss Alice Shepard, of the College.

Miss Carrie Charles left Friday, over the S. A. L., as a week-end guest at her home in Caryville.

Miss Lula Taylor, who has been spending the week-end at her home near Live Oak, Fla., returned Monday afternoon. Her sister, Miss Mattie Lou Taylor, who was detained from resuming her studies at the first of the semester, returned with her.

Miss Thelma Hogan returned Monday afternoon from a week-end visit at her home in Waldo, Fla.

Miss Clara Brown spent the week-end in town with her aunt, Mrs. Milton Smith, of Tallahassee.

Miss Janie Herlong left Saturday afternoon for a short visit to her home near Quincy.

Miss Pearl Laffette is spending the week-end at her home in Lloyds.

Miss Esther Snyder, who left for a week-end visit at Quincy Saturday afternoon, returned to the College Tuesday morning.

Miss Florence Williams and her niece, little Miss Aileen Middleton, are the guests of Miss Mary Williams, of the College, this week. Miss Williams is an alumna of F. W. C., and her visit here is especially welcome. Miss Aileen is the daughter of Senator W. S. Middleton, of Putnam county, and is an enthusiastic prospective student of the College, since her day's visit at the Kindergarten.

Mrs. Edward Conrad entertained at tea Saturday night. Misses Hunt, Powell, Harris and Haensch.

Prof. P. A. Rolfs, Director of Experiment Station, Gainesville, presented the College with 872 plants for the campus. They were received last Monday. Among them were: 75 small bamboo, 100 elephant grass, 25 yellow cane bamboo, 15 large common bamboo, 150 special ornamental grasses, 50 white cedars, 100 camphor trees, 225 canary dates, 50 palmettos, 5 George Washington palms and 18 Japanese cedars.

KINDERGARTEN NOTES

The Kindergarten children have been busy the past week making and sending Valentines.

The connection with a talk on George Washington, the statement was made that God had taken His Father to heaven to live with Him. William Wood: "Why did He take Him to heaven?" Miss Wheeler: "I don't know why." William: "Will He make Him another father?" Miss Wheeler: "No, I think not." William: "Why not?" Miss Wheeler: "Well, I suppose God thought He could get along without His Father for a while. You know His Mother was left." William: "I don't think he could get along without his daddy. He wouldn't have anyone to work for him. I'm going to keep my father. I bet God won't take him, because he wouldn't go."

Miss Wheeler: "You know George Washington lived long before your father, long before your grandfather, and long before your grandfather's father." Lawrence: "Miss Wheeler, did you ever see him?"

"Professor," said Miss Skylight, "I want you to suggest a course in life for me. I have thought of journalism."

"What are your own inclinations?" "Oh, my soul yearns and throbs and pulsates with an ambition to give the world a lifework that shall be marvelous in its scope and weirdly entrancing in the vastness of its structural beauty!"

"Woman, you're born to be a milliner."

AT HOMES

EAST HALL

Miss Andrews' At Home, in East Hall, Sunday evening, was especially delightful to the girls. Misses Patty Martin and Birdie Coffin entertained with two very interesting readings. The musical numbers by Miss Ruth Nelson and Miss Dorothy Reed, and Miss Nelson's entertaining story, were enjoyed with enthusiasm by the guests. All joined in singing the old familiar songs and expressing their appreciation of a most delightful evening.

REYNOLDS HALL

Mrs. Spears' At Home, in the Recreation Hall, Sunday evening, was, as usual, charming. These Sunday evening at homes are providing a delightful means of preserving quiet in the dormitories and in making the long Sunday evenings interesting and pleasant.

BRYAN HALL

The Seniors of the Kindergarten Department and of the Normal School, were at home to the girls of Bryan Hall, and their guests, Sunday evening, in the Y. W. C. A. Lobby. Miss Schwalmeyer's story was the feature of the evening. Lettuce sandwiches and tea were served.

DRAMATIC CLUB ENTERTAINS

The Dramatic Club presented two farces in the College Auditorium on Friday, Feb. 19. These plays were very satisfactorily presented. "Two College Tramps" was very entertaining, and "The Quiet Family" was full of humorous situations which delighted the audience. The proceeds, which amounted to $27, will be contributed to the Rug Fund.

The characters in the two farces were:

THE BEN GREET PLAYERS

To see things in their beauty is to see them in their truth, and for that reason Ben Greet's Woodland Players have, for several years, enjoyed the spirit of a vast following wherever their open-air plays have been presented.

A sylvan setting, a summer's night, and a Shakespearean play by the Ben Greet Woodland Players, with a natural background of green trees, and we have an evening's entertainment that is so entirely different from anything of like character as to make it refreshing as well as educating.

So widely known is the enviable reputation of Ben Greet, and so delightful and successful are his open-air presentations, that it has been found necessary to increase from year to year the seating plans everywhere of open-air auditoriums.

Arrangements for an open-air performance here by the Ben Greet Woodland Players have been completed, and that excellent organization is to be with us this season.

SCENE FROM AN OPEN-AIR PLAY BY THE BEN GREET PLAYERS

THINGS FROM ABROAD

The College has received a number of things, characteristic of foreign countries, which the late Miss Mary S. Lewis collected during many years of travel abroad. With such an excellent beginning, we hope in time to have a collection which will be the pride of the F. W. C.

From Japan there is the national flag, the red sun upon a background of white; and the military flag, the sun with sixteen rays—this is a modification of the Imperial crest, which is the sixteen petalled chrysanthemum. Naturally, one always thinks of the paper umbrella in connection with Japan; this collection of them ranges from the small ones, used by children, to the large garden umbrella, which stands several feet high when closed. We have, too, some writing paper; it comes in rolls about seven and one-half inches wide, is beautifully decorated and of almost transparent delicacy. With this is a box of writing materials which contains two brushes, one heavy, the other sharply pointed, two ink stones, upon which the wet brush is rubbed, and a small stick of sealing wax; the latter is very necessary, for they do not use envelopes. There are also several articles of dress which, of course, seem very curious to us—the stockings that come slightly above the ankles and have the great toe-divided sandals of straw held on by means of crossed pieces of crimson velvet, and an obi, or sash of silk, this is the last and most important article of dress assumed. There is also a purse of blue silk, elaborately embroidered in silver and gold. The purse is always carried in the obi, as are many other things, for there are no pockets in Japan. The fan plays an important part in the dress of the men, as well as the women of Japan, for no gentleman would consider himself completely dressed without one of the round fans, or face screens. We have several, upon one is painted the famous red-lacquer bride. It is interesting to know that the Japanese invented the folding fan. There is also a box of Japanese incense, and though the tiny sticks are no longer than one's finger, they burn for at least half an hour. At one time, the incense, or "in-sniffing" ceremonials ranked next in importance to the tea-drinking ceremonials. The sample of lacquer is most interesting, for the lacquer work is the glory of Japan. While they learned the art from the Chinese, they soon surpassed them, perhaps, because the sap from which the lacquer is made was better, for the tree found a more congenial climate in Japan. The art is very old, and the process most tedious and delicate. It has been said that the "art work in lacquer are the most perfect objects which ever issued from the hands of man."

From China, we have a small embroidered shoe, chop sticks with ivory ends, which reminds one that it is considered a courtesy for the hostess to pass the chop sticks through her lips before giving them to a guest. Two opium pipes, long and slender, with metal pieces at both ends; the bowls are very small, holding just about enough opium for three "whiffs."

Very curious are the scissors, fashioned very much like sugar tongs, except, of course, they have blades. In China, the fan is as important as in Japan; the fan we have is of silk, and a good example of their skillful embroidery.

There are caps of velvet, elaborately embroidered and braided in gold, which are worn by young boys in India; a fly brush of palmetto, with beaded handle, and a necklace of brown beads. If one were not told the beads were dried seeds, one would think them hand-carved. There is, too, an Indian prayer paper, a queer brown strip of paper, with the prayer written in red.

The pieces of Italian marbles are very beautiful, and from Italy came a rosary made of fifty-six dried seeds, black, and rather large; their triangular shape forms a perfect maltese cross at the end of the rosary. We are told that these thorn seeds produce the same kind of tree that was used to make the crown of thorns for the Saviour.

There are a great many pictures and photographs well worth studying, and a box of rare, old coins.

Though the collection was almost entirely of foreign things, Tallahassee was not forgotten. There is a small, but perfect, urn of magnolia wood that was turned in Tallahassee, and some cotton yarn made here long before the civil war.

SENIOR CHICKEN PILAU

The Seniors held one of their most important class meetings on Feb. 25. People passing by the Den of Bryan Hall, during the meeting, were astounded at the amount of noise, and wondered what in the world was happening. The Seniors were merely having a good time, and at this meeting they decided that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." From henceforth they are to have lots of fun all mixed up in their work. A chicken pilau was decided upon as the initial number of the fun program.

Promptly at 5:15, on the afternoon of March 2, the Seniors and their invited guests met in front of Bryan Hall. They left the campus at 5:30, and no jollier crowd has ever been seen. They headed straight for the Wainwright plantation, about two miles out on the St. Marks road, the chickens, etc., having been sent out earlier in the day. Because of having late work to do, the following went out with Mr. Kellum in his car: Mrs. Conrad, Miss DuBois Elder, Misses Irma Blake and Rubie McLin. On the way out, those walking formed a company, and such commands as were given! The company was quite hard-headed when the command "Company, Halt!" was given, this usually being given when said company was going at a rapid rate down hill.

Arrived at their destination, all were delighted to find the chickens cooking nicely. Rice and seasonings were immediately added, Mr. Kellum acting as official taster, and proving to be quite at home and efficient in this capacity. Good coffee was made, and when Mr. Kellum announced "Eight o'clock and all's well!" trays were passed to each present. Miss Edna Ireland served the pilau. Misses Emma Barry and Myra McVainne the coffee, and Miss Pearl Caldwell the crackers and pickles. All sat around the fire (which was made in the big yard), and enjoyed the feast thoroughly. When every one admitted that they could eat no more, an Indian war dance and song was much enjoyed, after which songs, the old familiar kind, "Dixie," "Old Black Joe," "Way Down Upon the Swannee River," filled the air.

At 9 o'clock, after thanking the Messrs. Wainwright for the lovely time they had had, all turned their faces homeward, tired but happy.

Those who had the pleasure of sneaking their lips over the chicken pilau, and pronouncing it good, were: Dr. and Mrs. Conrad, Mrs. S. D. Cawthon, Miss Annie Burke Landrum of Gainesville, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Kellum, Miss DuBois Elder, Miss Josephine Steed of DeLand, Fla.; Miss Eunice Shirley, Mr. Tubal Wainwright, Mr. Coby Wainwright, and the members of the Senior Class.

PATTIE MARTIN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF Y. W. C. A.

Miss Pattie Martin was elected president at the Y. W. C. A. meeting last Wednesday night. The other officers elected were: Vice president, Ruth Nelson; secretary, Martha Livingston; treasurer, Frances Tippetts.

Miss Martin took up her new duties at once. She is very capable, and we are sure she will help us to strengthen the association as much in the coming year as Miss Walker has in the past year. The retiring president, Miss Rosa Walker, has served a very faithful and very successful term. The Y. W. C. A. has become a tremendous force in the College. "We feel like we belong to something worth while, now," the girls declare.

DR. GAME LECTURES ON HOME LIFE OF THE ROMANS

Dr. J. Game, professor of Greek and Latin, lectured on "The Home Life of the Romans," in the College Auditorium, Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Dr. Game's years of intimate companionship with the history, language and life of these people assured the great success of his discourse. It was simple, graphic and interesting. With the aid of lantern slides, which he had recently received from Washington, he took the audience into the cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum, which were buried to the depth of a hundred feet, hundreds of years ago. The stately ruins of the homes of such men as Cornelius and Augustus, and the famous house of Castor and Pollux, its open square and handsome columns, showed the model architecture and good taste of these ancients. In the house of the Veligi, the flying figure, a wall painting has been preserved from the time of Christ. The Roman candelabra, in these homes, from which the lamps were suspended, were much in evidence, and often formed a large part of the wall decoration. "They were tall, graceful and supported much the same kind of oil lamps that our grandmothers used," said Dr. Game. Paintings of Cupid, in all styles, made the chief designs for the wall. By the fire place, or cooking platform, were large painted serpents. Mosaics decorated the tile floors.

The pictures of Minerva and Justitia brought out the lives of Roman dress. The utensils for domestic use were largely like ours of to-day. Of especial interest was the great Claudian aqueduct, for no city since Rome has had the enormous water supply it afforded. The Roman baths, the ruins of which are sufficient to give us a picture of what they once were, accommodated over one-half million people daily. The last and most impressive slide showed the great tomb of Hadrian, on the River Tiber. In conclusion, Dr. Game said:

"We are not as independent of the past as we thought we were. We are part and parcel of the past. And I here I have given an accurate idea of how several things in connection with Roman housekeeping looked."

THE FLYING SQUADRON

The Flying Squadron of America is giving a series of meetings in Tallahassee, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, March 5, 6 and 7, in the High School Auditorium, at 3 o'clock, in the afternoon, and 7:30 at night. The purpose of this squadron is to challenge the liquor traffic, and to unite the people for a final attack upon saloons. Dr. Carolyn E. Geisel, who has lectured here in the city and at the College before, will be here with the squadron. All who have heard Dr. Geisel, will be glad to have the opportunity of hearing her again.

GIRLS' STUNT SHOW

Cupid or Psyche, which?

Perhaps both, and still some!

The most original dramatic feature of the year will be the Girls' Stunt Show, Monday evening, April 5. This entirely novel idea of performance has been enacted by the colleges and universities with great success. It is a ten minutes' acquaintance with each of the College classes, sororities and literary societies, in their most unique, attractive guise. In these separate productions there have been such widespread enthusiasm and competition among the participants that the height of originality and good acting is assured. Farce comedies, pantomime, highest class vaudeville, mystic dances, are anticipated, with the music and spirit of the twentieth century actors at F. W. C.

"OUR COLLEGE GIRL" TO BE SHOWN MARCH 11

"Our College Girl," featuring Miss Alice Corry, was shown at a private performance and approved by the College authorities. It will be shown to the patrons at the Daffin Theater, Thursday, March 11, matinee and night, with an excellent additional program.

"The photography in this picture is excellent," said Mr. Daffin. "It is quite different from anything ever before shown in the way of local motion pictures in Tallahassee."

The picture consists of one 1000 foot reel. It opens with "Mother's Dream," which shows a girl leaving home for College. She takes automobile for the depot and leaves on the train for Tallahassee. The next scene shows her arrival at Tallahassee, at 2:25, over the Seaboard Air Line, greeted by the Matron and College girls, and accompanied through the city of Tallahassee to the College. The scene changes. "Our College Girl" is met at the College entrance and is shown through the buildings and over the campus. Then we see "Our College Girl" in her College activities, out-door sports, at study hour, and in the many charming experiences of her College life, which afford many delightful surprises to the audience.

MUSIC STUDENTS GIVE RECITAL

The second of the Music Students' Morning Musicales took place on last Monday. The program consisted of piano, voice and violin solos, and a reading by a student from the School of Expression. The students all gave evidence of the good work that is being carried on in the department. There was clean technique, good phrasing and thoughtful interpretation throughout the program. A number of Tallahassee ladies attended the recital. The next program will be offered on Monday, March 15.

The faculty of the School of Music will give a studio recital Friday evening, March 5, for the students of the Short Course in Home Economics.

STUDENTS WILL PRESENT MOCK FACULTY

The first Mock Faculty the College has presented in three years will be given in the College Auditorium on Monday night, March 15. It will be given under the auspices of the Junior Class. The girls who will "take off" the different members of the faculty have been carefully selected. This will probably be the most interesting entertainment the girls have yet given.

UNIVERSAL DAY OF PRAYER FOR STUDENTS

The World's Student Christian Federation, realizing the added responsibility placed upon Christians because of the frightful conditions in Europe, set apart Sunday, Feb. 28, 1915, as the Universal Day of Prayer for Students. The American students have a great interest in this intercession, because they seem about the only ones now on this earth who have the time and quietness in which to pray for the students of other lands, who are either laying down their lives for their countries or suffering from the loss of friends and possessions.

Last Thursday evening, Dr. Newcome, who has recently returned from the Laymen's Convention, in Charlotte, N. C., gave the substance of a lecture delivered there by Dr. John R. Mott. Dr. Mott has recently returned from Europe, where he has been studying the effect of the war upon the students, as one phase of his work. The Sunday evening service was led by Miss Roberts, in an impressive manner. Special emphasis was placed upon Prayer, in all the meetings of the day.

Y. W. C. A. GAMES

The social committee of the Y. W. C. A., Miss Alice Corry chairman, is making a special effort to make the Y. W. C. A. Room a social center for the girls who do not participate in the dancing in the Recreation Hall. As a means toward that end they have ordered quite a number of games. A large combination board, two games of rook, one set of ten pins, one checker board, one of old maid, one of India, one of dominoes, and one of lotto. In addition to these, they have a shuffle board and shipboard polo. Small tables for the games are placed about the lobby, and have already become very popular during evening recreation period. In addition to these indoor games the committee anticipates the purchase of two games of lawn croquet, so that when the spring is a little further advanced there will be a diversion added to tennis, not quite so strenuous for the warm weather. The social committee is also working toward making some cozy corners in the Y. W. C. A. rooms, which will add greatly to their attractiveness.

A FRENCH PLAY

The French Club met at Dr. Claassen's residence last Monday night at 8 o'clock. The meeting was opened by singing La Marseillaise, with mandolin accompaniment by Mrs. Claassen.

Three scenes of the French play were presented by the following members: Angelica Yonge, Zoe Manning, Elizabeth Clayton, Jeanette Hopson. They played their parts especially well, and the spectators were highly pleased. The complete play will be presented in the College Auditorium the latter part of next month. After the play, Miss Madie Wilkinson read a selection from "Les Miserables." Mrs. Claassen then served delicious lemon tarts and coffee. The meeting, though not very well attended, was a decided success.

LET THE WOMEN STRIKE FOR BETTER "MOVIES"

Mr. Charles Frohman says that the audiences in the theaters are two-thirds composed of women. What does this prove? That we women can have an amazing influence over the quality of the theatrical productions. At the present time the "movies" are exerting the most influence over the country. Let us patronize only the intelligent and refined motion pictures.

"ROUGH STUFF"

Field day has become an established event with us now, an occasion anticipated with a great deal of pleasure and entered into with almost wild enthusiasm. At first it is necessary to appeal to the ever-lurking laugh in human nature in order to reach the students' interests and enlist their support. By virtue of this necessity we have given the ple barrel race, three-legged race, and blind wheelbarrow race space on our program. But now that Field Day has gained for itself a sufficiently important place in our College life as to cover two days, don't you think we can now leave out these "Jke, Junior," "Keystone Comedy" antics and substitute for these discuss throw, target and archery, stunts or feats requiring as much fine skill and muscular adjustment—in other words, to make this Field Day a dignified athletic meet of the highest order.

What do you think about it, girls?

SHORT COURSE NOTES

The third Short Course in Home Economics, held annually at the Florida State College for Women, closed Friday night and certificates were given to thirty women.

Besides the regular work conducted by Miss Harris, Miss Clark and Miss Wells, including practical lessons in cooking, sewing and nutrition, the following are some of the interesting features of the past week:

Monday afternoon, Mrs. Trammell entertained at an afternoon tea for the ladies who are in Tallahassee attending the Short Course. She was assisted by Mrs. Hudson.

Monday night, Dr. Game gave an illustrated lecture on "Home Life Among the Romans." This was given in the auditorium, and not only the members of the Short Course, but the students of the College and students from the Tallahassee High School, attended.

Tuesday morning, Dr. Brantlecht gave a lecture on "Household Chemistry," in his lecture room.

On Monday and Wednesday, Dr. Conrad gave two lectures particularly for the housekeeper, concerning her work.

Wednesday, Miss Palmier lectured on textiles.

Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning, Mr. C. K. McQuarrie, the State Agent for the Demonstration Work, who is greatly interested in the woman's extension work, visited the College and gave a lecture. He talked on Butter Making and Poultry Raising.

Thursday, Dr. Babb, of the Extension Division of the University of Florida, was present and gave two lectures on the "Production of Meat on the Farm and the Care of Home-Cured Meats."

Friday, Dr. Dodd lectured on the "Library in the Home."

The members of the Short Course have had the pleasure of visiting the Gymnasium twice this week and receiving instruction from Miss Elder. Mrs. Conrad entertained Wednesday evening for the members of the Short Course and the Home Economics faculty.

On Friday evening the Music faculty gave a recital for the members of the Short Course. In the Director's studio, and just after the recital the closing exercises of the Short Course were held. Dr. Conrad presented certificates to all of those who had completed the work.

Miss Verda Thompson, while in Tallahassee attending the annual Canning School and Short Course, was able to get her Life Certificate from the State Educational Department.

The Department of Home Economics gave a dinner for the members of the Short Course on Wednesday evening. Misses Mary Wilkinson and Penny Maxwell were hostesses. The following were the guests:

Mrs. Priest of Marion County.
Miss Steed of Deland.
Miss Verda Thompson of Polk county.

Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Wellington of Jacksonville.

Mrs. Floyd of Gainesville.
Mrs. Johnson of Leon county.
Mrs. Mulligan of Tallahassee.
Mrs. Julian of Lake City.
Mrs. Russel of Bainbridge.

FIRE DRILLS

A most interesting drill was called last week. The buildings were emptied and all girls accounted for in four and one-half minutes. Miss Ora Odom commanded the "A No. 1" company. She reported to the chief in three minutes' time from the first sounding of the gong. Her written report shows no running, little talking and all girls well prepared. The ladies who are here for the Home Economics Short Course showed a good College spirit and entered into the fire drill with as much enthusiasm and fine spirit as did any of our girls.

Some one has defined a fire drill as a method of handling girls out of their beds in the middle of the night. That is what the next one will be; a surprise to every one. We will see what kind of records the girls make when they are not expecting a drill.

CAMPUS NOTES

Mrs. Edward Conradi and her guest, Mrs. Adam Helwig, of Lima, Ohio, were the guests of Miss Naomi Grothaus, Sunday, at dinner.

Mr. Cameron McDavid was the guest of his sisters, the Misses McDavid, Sunday.

Miss M. Danforth of Jacksonville, Fla., the guest of Miss Mary Whitfield, of the city, was the guest of Mrs. Spears, Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Helwig, of Lima, Ohio, are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Conradi.

On account of inclemency of the weather last Saturday night, the literary societies did not hold their regular meetings. The programs which were announced for that time will be given to-night.

Miss Mary Bannerman was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Robertson, of Tallahassee, this week.

Mrs. Colson of Jacksonville is the guest of her sister, Miss Thelma Parsons, for a short stay at the College.

Miss May Linton is in Monticello, to attend the wedding of Miss Eunice Gilbert, of that city. Miss Gilbert has visited the College quite frequently, and her many friends here extend hearty good wishes to her in her approaching happiness.

The city of Tallahassee has issued bonds for $15,000, to be spent in improving the streets. With a part of this money, College Avenue is to be either paved or curbed and guttered.

Many room reservations have been made for the Spring Review Course, which begins Tuesday.

Miss Margaret Pearce spent the week-end in the city, the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Edwin Barnes.

Miss Annie Mae Hawkins is at her home in Alachua, where she was called by the illness of her mother. We wish for Mrs. Hawkins a speedy recovery.

Miss Agnes Edwards spent the week-end at her home in Lloyds, Fla.

Miss Sarah Fraleigh, who has been visiting in Monticello, Fla., returned Monday afternoon.

Miss Mary Frances Smith is a week-end guest at her home in Monticello, Fla.

Miss Alice Corry had as her guest Miss Gertrude Lovell, of the College, at her home in Quincy, for the week-end.

Miss Josephine Grasty was the guest of Mrs. W. G. Dodd of Tallahassee, for the week-end.

Miss Sara Burwell spent Saturday and Sunday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cobb, of Tallahassee.

Misses Leah and Helene Smith and Jeannette McMillan spent last Sunday in Bainbridge.

Don't forget that a Shakespeare pageant will be given by the College on April 23, celebrating Shakespeare's birthday anniversary.

ATHLETICS

The following method of awarding points on Field Day has been decided upon by the committee in charge. The winner of any event will receive 5 points, second place 3 points, and third place 1 point.

As no class is able to have a complete baseball team, there will be two teams composed of players from all classes. The winning team will receive 12 points and the losing team 6 points. The points will be divided equally among the members of the team.

If there are three or more class basketball teams, the points will be 10 for the winning team, 6 for the second team, and 2 for the third team. Apparatus work will be included in the Field Day events. The winner will be chosen for the three best stunts on the boom, parallel bars and flying rings.

How shall we run the tennis tournament this year?

This is a question that is puzzling many. Last year it started out in doubles matches, and ended in singles. That is all very well when one class contains the two best players in school, but this year there is a class which has one fine player and no other. Must this girl lose her chances because her class cannot produce another player equal to her? Needless to say, this is a very unjust way in which to decide the championship of the College. What would we think of a College that made its own football rules? And yet that is what we have been doing in tennis. There are rules for conducting tennis tournaments, just as there are rules for playing the game itself. If we are going to have a tennis tournament, why not conduct it in the right way—strictly according to the rules of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association, and thus give satisfaction and an equal chance to every contestant. A book of rules costs ten cents. Can we afford it?

CONVOCATION OF EDUCATION SOCIETY

At the open hour on Thursday last, the members of the Society for Scientific Students of Education met at the call of Prof. Salley.

Important and interesting business was transacted at this convocation. The society has already begun to have sectional meetings specially suited to different groups of its members.

SOCIETY

The Seniors of the College, assisted by Mrs. Cawthon, were At Home to the girls of Bryan Hall, and to the ladies attending the Short Course in Home Economics, on Sunday night.

At 8 o'clock the guests assembled in the Y. W. C. A. room, where they enjoyed the following program:

Piano Solo.....Mary Orr
Short Talk.....Pearl Caldwell
Reading.....Helen Farrington
Vocal Solo.....Belva Floyd
Reading.....Alta Grimm
Violin Solo.....Carmene Evans

Delicious fruit punch was then served by Misses Rosa Walker, Clara Brown and Maudie Wilkinson.

The most interesting feature of the evening was the talk given by the president of the Senior Class, Miss Pearl Caldwell. She gave the purpose of the At Homes: That the College has long felt the need of something to entertain and amuse the girls on Sunday evenings, and the College mothers finally adopted the At Home scheme. They are certainly enjoyable affairs, and we wish them a hearty success in the future.

Eta Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi entertained in honor of Miss Josephine Steed of Deland, Fla., with an informal tea, in the chapter room, from 5 to 6 o'clock Monday night. The chapter room was attractively decorated in red japonicas. Tea, sandwiches, stuffed dates and mints were served.

Among those present were: Misses Josephine Steed, Belva Floyd, Marguerite Simmons, Helen Harvey, Zella Wilson, Rosa Evans, Verna Monroe, Cecile Jenkins, Katy Jackson, Hazel Johnson, Mary Louise Nahun, Bessie Milton, Marie Moseley, Katy Mae Galloway, Margaret Pearce, Dorothy Simmons, Adrienne Phillips, Emma Lee King, Helen Vaughan, Carmene Evans, Marie McMillan, Ollie Henderson, Geneva Moseley, Mary Lou Leman, Lucille Cooper, Ethel Evans, DuBois Elder, Emma Barrs, Minna Harris, Elizabeth Mulholland and Helen Farrington.

TRAINING SCHOOL

Pupils of the first grade are rejoicing in a new book, for they have entered the Advanced First Reader.

The third grade Geography has been studying about mountains and volcanoes, and on Wednesday they went into a field, where they built up a volcano and formed a crater. Then the teacher filled the crater with paper and gunpowder, and soon there was a real volcano. No wonder they enjoy Geography!

The second grade is beginning to write picture stories, and the girls of the fourth grade are making a set of furniture, while the boys build a pasteboard stable for a pasteboard horse and wagon.

The school misses Dexter Lowry and Mary Salley, and will be glad to have them with them again.

KINDERGARTEN NOTES

Home decorations and designing have been the main features in the Kindergarten program for the past week. Some very attractive and original designs have been made by the children.

Table No. 11 presented Miss Wheeler with a small table runner worked with a cross-stitch design.

Julian Henry has been a very interesting Kindergarten visitor this week.

The dramatization of games by the children has been exceedingly interesting and unusual.

Alex—"Miss Wheeler, I'm going to have a birthday party to-morrow; Mamma is baking me a nice cake to-day."

Lawrence—"Alex, I'm coming to see you this afternoon; you know I haven't been in a long time."

FIGHT AGAINST LIQUOR TRAFFIC BEGUN IN TALLAHASSEE

Flying Squadron Meetings Are Well Attended

The fight against John Barleycorn began in Tallahassee when the Flying Squadron of America began its series of meetings in the High School Auditorium on Friday, March 5. These meetings lasted three days. They drew larger crowds than anything which has been given in Tallahassee recently.

The Flying Squadron is a challenge to the liquor traffic. It is an effort to unite the people for a final attack upon the strongholds of the saloon. It is a movable university, a convention on wheels. It has visited and will visit all other important centers of the United States, for a series of six meetings in 3 days, in each city. When they left Tallahassee they had lectured in 144 cities without once stopping to rest.

On Friday, March 5, the following group held the afternoon and night meetings: D. V. Polling, musical director; Dr. Charles M. Sheldon, minister, lecturer and author of "In His Steps," and other books which have made him famous throughout the country for many years; Wm. Lowell Patton, pianist, and Daniel A. Polling, lecturer and president's associate.

The following group held the Saturday meetings: Dr. Ira Landrith, president Ward-Belmont College; Dr. Carolyn E. Geisel, with Battle Creek Sanitarium; Frederick Butler, musical director, and Mrs. Frederick Butler, pianist.

Dr. Geisel refuted many statements which are being made to uphold the rum traffic, namely: That alcohol is a food; that it will quicken the brain; that it is a good medicine, and that it heats the body. "If it did do all this for you, but left you a drunkard," said Dr. Geisel, "what good did it do you to be momentarily stimulated?" Friday night, Miss Geisel spoke of the menace the saloon has been to the American home. "You men who had the ballot in your hand, you have not protected your homes," she said. "You have licensed the saloon and fallen into your own trap. That's why we women want to vote. We'll twist the ballot into a mop and wipe up some of the wet territory about here." In answer to the query of the motherhood of America—"Why are so many feeble-minded children born?"—Dr. Geisel declares that one out of every two is insane, because of drink, in the first, second or third generation. In the Michigan Insane Asylum, 75 out of every 100 are insane because of alcohol.

Dr. Landrith presented the political side of the liquor campaign Friday afternoon. "If you have a Congressman who won't vote dry," said Dr. Landrith, "keep him home 'till he dries out."

The third group, who were here Sunday, were: Hon. J. Frank Hanly, former Governor of Indiana; John B. Lewis, former member of the Massachusetts Legislature; Hugh Porter, pianist; Miss Vera Mullin, soloist, and Hon. O. W. Stewart of Illinois.

Mr. Stewart lectured against the liquor traffic from an economic standpoint, Sunday afternoon.

Gov. Hanly spoke of the damage the liquor traffic does the childhood of America. He told how, in paroling a criminal from the State Reformatory at Jeffersonville, he tried to right a wrong the liquor traffic had done to one stricken family. "This circumstance," he said, "changed the whole course of my life. I put aside my political career and called together the men and women who constitute the Flying Squadron."

THE SHAKESPEAREAN PAGEANT

The College will offer, on April 23, the most elaborate program it has ever presented, from a dramatic and spectacular point of view. This is to be in the form of a pageant in honor of the greatest dramatist of the world. Almost every department of the institution will have a part in this exhibition, for the program includes selected scenes from Shakespeare's plays, and will naturally involve dramatic costumes, fine music, considerable aesthetic dancing, showy costumes and picturesque stage effects. The exhibition is planned and directed by Miss Elder, but other departments will assist in so much as it becomes a College affair. It has and should have the co-operation of any class that can be of service.

The pageant will be given on the campus, and will begin with a splendid parade. It is hoped that all the College people will be interested, and that friends in town will come and enjoy the whole affair. At some colleges for women, such programs have been given in which the crowd reached the proportions of 5,000 people. A community of such proportions as ours may reach 800 if everyone gets interested and wishes to see it a success. Cannot all of us at the College feel that this is an exhibition that will be beneficial to all, and work accordingly? We can read for it and talk for it, and even play a part. Later, a list of the scenes of several plays will be published.

INFIRMARY NOTES

An Infirmary library is needed. Mrs. Townsend asks that every girl in the College give a book to this library. The books need not be new; they may be books from home that are no longer in use there. Magazines of any kind will also be acceptable. The sick girls are constantly asking for something to read; and you, fair reader, may be the next one in that fix.

DR. CLAASSEN DELIVERED LECTURE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

"Facts and Fancies from the Land of Wilhelm Tell"

Dr. Claassen, professor of modern languages, in the College of Arts and Sciences, lectured Wednesday night on "Facts and Fancies from the Land of Wilhelm Tell." Dr. Claassen told about the country, with its great legends, interesting facts. He told about the mountains, Switzerland's own eternal monuments, with the aid of slides which he himself made while on this tour. He took his audience through France and "Beautiful Normandy" on his way to Switzerland. Many slides acquainted us with the charming characteristics of Southern France. The most impressive scene, upon entering enchanted Switzerland, was Thorwaldsen's "Lion of Lucerne," the masterpiece of the greatest sculptor since Phidias.

Scenes of the magnificent mountains were especially interesting. The great Pilatus, on the south, guarding Lucerne, smoking his pipe, spoke of what the mountains mean to the Swiss people. These mountains are a part of them. "They speak to them," said Dr. Claassen. The Doctor illustrated the birthplace, the place where Tell shot the apple, Tell's Chapel on Lake Lucerne, and wove every detail of legend and fancy into the minds of the audience. He said Tell's Chapel, though picturesque, is small. On the 1st of August, this tiny shrine becomes a part of those magnificent, gigantic cathedrals, of which the great pines are the columns and their moanings, the requiems. Many and interesting are the scenes in Switzerland. The last slide, a great monument, was appropriately beautiful in closing so impressively a discourse. It was the statue of the first man who ever ascended Mont Blanc—H. B. de Saussure, and his guide, Balmat. It pictures him pointing upward. It is the Chamonix, "and, in conclusion," said Dr. Claassen, "this monument should appeal to us, as an educational audience, for it is the eternal attitude in the course of every student's life. There are still greater heights to be climbed, and still greater vistas to be seen."

WELCOME TO NEW STUDENTS

Among the new students we wish to welcome to the College are:

Miss Minnie Matthews,
Miss Harrell,
Miss Leethe Sasser,
Miss Nannie Andrews,
Miss Velma Jernigan,
Miss Burdamey,
Miss Julia Croom,
Miss Lily Bell Stevens,
Miss Jimmie Wainwright,
Miss Eva Hester,
Miss Mildred Null,
Miss Annie Laurie Lang,
Miss Pearl Brubaker.

FANCY DRESS DANCE

A Fancy Dress Dance was held in the Recreation Hall last Saturday. This was an affair of great moment to the fun-loving folk of our school, and all who attended had a wonderfully good time. A grand march opened the evening's entertainment. This was led by Miss Zella Wilson, who was dressed as a woodland nymph. Miss Cecil Jenkins, with her curls and beauty spots, was charming as a "Maid of 1850." Miss Josie Steed of Deland was particularly attractive as a lady of the Sultan's harem.

Among those present were: Misses Kathleen Morrison, Zella Wilson, Noble Chopor, Priscilla Major, Juanita Branch, Florence Bunker, Josie Steed, Alice Corry, Sarah Fraleigh, Charlie Tatam, Mary Louise Nahn, Elbeth Mutholland, Oakley St. John, Cecil

MOCK FACULTY

Our popular faculty, in their most attractive and clever phases! Monday night, March 15, at 8 o'clock, in the College Auditorium, the dramatic feature of the season!

Five acts.
Three specialties between acts.
College quartette, Monroe and Sweeney in an attractive specialty, Zella Wilson in her newest solo dance, giving her interpretation of Madeleine Pavlova's famous Hungarian Trillesque, are several numbers of the program.

In Act V the audience will get a peep into the College girls' life. Hours of happy companionship with the members of our faculty have ennobled the students to make a thoroughly enjoyable representation of their interesting and pleasing characteristics. Prices, 25c to town patrons, 15c to College girls.

VESPER SERVICES

Vesper Services will be held at the College Auditorium, Sunday, March 14, 1915, 4 o'clock. The following is the program:

Organ Prelude, "Herr Christ, der einig Gottes Sohn" (Buxtehude).

The girls of the University of Missouri have undertaken a suffrage school where problems relating to the ballot will be a subject of organized study. Wouldn't it be a good idea for the girls of Florida to consider a similar undertaking, in view of the time when they will wield the ballot?

"'Twas a long wait for Equal Suffrage,
'Twas a wait full of woe,
But we'll soon have our Equal Suffrage,
For now the men will know
That it's good-bye to 'Special Privilege.'
Farewell, things not square!
It's a short way now to Equal Suffrage,
But we're almost there."

PUBLIC FIELD DAY

Why cannot we have open field day? Perhaps no question is being so fully discussed on the campus now. Good arguments are being put forth on both sides, but consensus of opinion seems to be in favor of admitting the public.

The College girls are interested in their athletics and want the town people to be interested also. Field sports are in their infancy in this College. They need for their development all the encouragement that can be given, not only by College authorities, but by outsiders as well. One thing is certain, we must either limit attendance strictly to the College girls, or invite and provide accommodation for all who wish to attend. Certainly the merchants and residents of Tallahassee have shown a real and vital interest in our previous field days. We feel that they are entitled to see what the girls are doing in physical education. Public field day is also a splendid advertisement for the College. It attracts the interest of many people who can be appealed to only through the athletic side of College life.

Y. W. C. A.

The Sunday night service of the Y. W. C. A. was postponed in order that the students might attend the meeting of the Flying Squadron.

On Thursday, March 18, the third of the denominational meetings will be held. This is a new feature of the work, but it has met with success. We hope to have the pastors of the various churches hold these group meetings once a month.

At the joint meeting of the old and new cabinets, plans for the work of the coming year were discussed. One important point under consideration was a means of securing funds to send delegates to the Blue Ridge Conference. Last year this association had two representatives. This year we must have at least three.

SPRING REVIEW

The spring review students are with us again. Let's give them the "glad hand" and try to show them the pleasant side of College life.

The spring review opened with thirty-five in the class. Prof. Salley is expecting this number to be doubled in the next few weeks.

WAR BRIEFS

The French and English fleets are battering their way nearer to Constantinople. The capture of this city is the main feature of the plans of the allies at the present time. The forts of the Dardanelles have already been stormed. The battle fought here is a naval battle unprecedented in history.

There is great excitement in Greece on account of the resignation of the Cabinet of M. Venizelos, who deemed Greece's entry into hostilities on the side of the Triple Entente to be imperative. King Constantine cannot agree with this plan, and it is believed that this is the reason for the resignation of the Cabinet.

Britain has declared her intention to stop all shipments of cotton to Germany. She will also hold up all shipments to neutral countries, as a help toward her plan of starving out Germany.

The Roumanian Parliament has passed a law empowering the government to proclaim a state of siege until the end of the war, if such a step should be deemed necessary.

WHAT OTHER SCHOOLS ARE DOING

The University of Wisconsin is constantly springing something new in a school way. Now they have called a conference on "Extension Education." It is to meet at Madison. Delegates from the extension staff of many universities are expected and much wisdom will no doubt be "leaked" as to the best ways of taking the benefits of a university to the people.

In Kentucky, the pupils are making donations to defray the expense of producing motion picture films showing school work. These films are to be rented and the proceeds used to defray the expense of a Kentucky exhibit at the Panama Exposition.

The Bureau of Student Employment of the University of Chicago reports that within the year 1913-14 it enabled 1,023 students to earn $152,172.68, a net increase of $12,000 over the preceding year.

A new organization, to be known as the "Association of Urban Universities," was formed recently at Washington, D. C. It is proposed to discuss the problems peculiar to the city college and university.

In Germany, many schoolrooms have been converted into hospitals to accommodate the wounded soldiers back from the front, and in some cases railway carriages are being utilized as schoolrooms.

The number of students of medicine in the United States is decreasing, according to the annual report on medical education published by the Journal of the American Medical Association. The total for the year ending June 30, 1914, was 16,502, a decrease of 513 below last year, a decrease of 1910 below 1912, and a decrease of 11,640 below 1904, when 28,142, the highest number of students, were enrolled. The falling off probably is due in part, at least, to the raising of the requirements for admission to medical colleges.

Ignorance on the part of university students regarding classical and Biblical allusions in English literature, a limited vocabulary, and a failure to grasp modern European languages, are facts revealed by the Columbia School of Journalism during the first two years of its existence, according to the report of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the university.

W. E. Andrews of Pana, Ill., writes: "Our temper is our private madhouse. Here we try to confine our personal bedlam of traits of character. How the imprisoned dote on clambering at the windows and raising such a din as to attract a large crowd of amused observers. The insane person is merely more so."

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON
AT HOME

The teachers and house-mothers of the College received from 4 to 6, in Bryan Hall Lobby, Wednesday afternoon. The lobby was charming in its profusion of fresh wild blossoms, gathered for the occasion by Prof. Barber's class. The little wicker tea table, with its flowers and dainty tea service, was very attractive. Tea and lettuce sandwiches were served.

A GIFT

Mrs. Cawthon, our house-mother, is the happy recipient of a very sweet thought in the gift of a box of lovely wild flowers, by Miss Elizabeth Stevens. Miss Stevens is a former student of the College, and her gift of yellow and blue violets but recalls the memory of the days she spent with us. They have been the center of attraction in our cozy new den. The girls, as well as Mrs. Cawthon, wish to thank Miss Stevens for the great pleasure her flowers have given them.

ALUMNAE NOTES

A letter from Miss Ruth Reynolds of New York brings the information that she will teach in the high schools of that city next year. She is continuing her studies in Columbia University, and writes that her work prospers in every way.

Miss Lena Baird of Gainesville, a graduate of 1908, was married a short time ago to Mr. J. G. Turner. Miss Baird was one of the most popular students of her class, and, after graduating, was a successful teacher for four years. She has the good wishes of all her friends for happiness and prosperity.

Among the girls of the class of 1914 who are now teaching, not one is more successful than Miss Louise Clark, of Tallahassee. She is a member of the high school faculty of Kissimmee, Fla., having charge of the classes in Latin and French. Many favorable reports come from her patrons and friends, showing she is doing so well in her work, as well as making a host of friends.

TRAINING SCHOOL

The week has been unusually full of good things. First, it happened that Frances Adcock and Dexter Lowry had a birthday on the same day. Dexter's cake was a very large one, with half pecans in the icing, and the loveliest pink candles. Frances brought delicious home-made candies. The candles were blown out and good wishes expressed by their companions, then the cake and candy were heartily enjoyed.

Next came the planting of the garden. The big lumps of earth were broken by little hoes and rakes, and the fourth grade have planted beans, corn, radishes and lettuce. The third grade planted radishes, lettuce and turnips, while the other little folks have flower seeds for their rows.

Then came the great bonfire of trash, leaves and a part of the dead tree that has lain so long by their favorite classroom—the shade of the great magnolia tree.

One of the College teachers asked Augustus Maxwell where he was going. "I am going now to the movie," said Augustus, "and in a few days I'm going to see the Flying Squirrel."

The little folks are interested in Miss Brevard's new book about the Indians. Its effect on Louise Conrad was such that she told her mother that she wished to go to "The Flying Squaw." It was gratifying to learn, through their own remarks, that both Augustus and Louise were interested in "The Flying Squadron."

Inquiring Son—Papa, what is reason?

Fond Parent—Reason, my boy, is that which enables a man to determine what is right.

"And what is instinct?"

"Instinct is that which tells a woman she is right, whether she is or not."—London Spare Moments.

MOCK FACULTY

Presented Under Auspices of Junior Class, College Auditorium, March 15

Ask the Faculty If "Mock Faculty" Wasn't the Hit of the Season?

Just at 8 o'clock, Monday night, the large audience's spirits were set in tune for the fun that was to follow by "the High Cost of Loving" and "Memphis Blues," with Miss Bernice Simmons at the piano.

The terrors of matriculation day followed. Little Sallyann Perkins, giggling, came in to enter the Home Economics course. Her situation was terrifying, and she giggled. Oh, how she giggled! The audience caught the refrain and kept it all evening. A goodly number of various types matriculated. Act II followed with the panorama of classes. Dr. Dodd's class, suffering the criticism of "representative sophomore themes," "How to Make a Shirtwaist," and "Her Promise," appealed to town patron and student alike. But it was for the Call Meeting of Faculty and Students, Act III, to introduce our popular faculty in its entirety. Each one was there, true to life, in his or her own charming characterization. Dr. Conrad rushed down the aisle to the "rostrum," just three minutes late, looked solemnly around and proceeded with the meeting. In the meantime a tiny voice called, "Daddy." Dean Salley said, "Excuse me, please, while I see my youngest offspring." Each characterization was good, especially typical were the mustaches and eyes of Prof. Williams and Dr. Claassen. Miss Sparks' solo, in the Faculty Reception, was especially artistic, interpreting well our popular voice teacher.

Especially do the lively specialties deserve mention. Monroe and Sweeney delighted the audience in their clever dancing act. The College quartette, the Misses Constance Cavell, Rose Evans, Carmen Evans, Irma Blake, sang "Mighty Lak a Rose."

Miss Zella Wilson's solo dance received three encores. Miss Wilson's dancing is truly professional, and is always a genuine treat to her audience. Her fine interpretation of Madame Pavlova's latest dance, her suppleness and grace, are highly commended. She responded to the first encore with a clever little clog, and to the second with a bewitching little Indian dance, one of her own composition.

Act V, the College Girls' scene, a feast at 10, with five lively girls, their jokes and songs, made merry till the monitor came. Then they all joined in the chorus, "Good-bye, Boys, We're Going To Be 'Compused' To-Morrow."

"Light-flash" closed with good spirit, mirth and fun—the cleverest Mock Faculty ever yet at old F. W. C. The cast was as follows: Dr. Conrad, Naomi Grothaus; Dr. Yocum, Mary Louise Nahn; Dr. Dodd, Constance Cavell; Dr. Brautrecht, Nella Wells; Prof. Williams, Josie Johnson; Dean Salley, Ernestine Blocker; Dr. Claassen, Julia Combs; Dr. Game, Dixie Singleton; Prof. Smith, Gertrude Lovell; Prof. Garand, Agnes Edwards; Dr. McNeill, Hulet Gist; Prof. Barber, Ollie Henderson; Miss Longmire, Dorothy Tutt; Miss Brevard, Harriet Brandon; Miss Opperman, Hilda Causey; Miss Sparkes, Gladys Comforter; Miss Isselhardt, Gladys

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT VESPER SERVICES

There was a very large attendance at the College Vesper Service last Sunday afternoon. The program, as usual, included a violin solo by Miss Rausch, whose playing has delighted so many Tallahassee audiences in the past three years of her connection with the College. She interpreted with rare feeling the Wilhelm Andante in E Major. Nature has surely endowed Miss Sparks with a voice of remarkably beautiful quality. Her solo, "Hear Ye, Israel," from Mendelssohn's "Elijah," was presented in the true oratorio spirit. Dr. Dodd and Miss Sparkes sang the duet, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," by Bashford. Dr. Dodd has an earnest voice with a beautiful silver quality.

The College Violin Ensemble Class played the beautiful prayer from Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel." The Misses Ethel, Rose and Carmen Evans, pupils of Miss Sparkes, sang the trio, "O Paradise," by Leslie. Miss Opperman, director, played two organ solos.

ST. PATRICK'S PARTY

Mrs. J. G. Kellum entertained most delightfully with a St. Patrick's party Monday afternoon, March 15. Mrs. Florence Conibear, sister of Mrs. Kellum, was honoree of the occasion. The reception rooms were artistic in a profusion of green foliage. The spirit of St. Patrick predominated. Mirth and fun reigned in true Irish style. Refreshments, consisting of a salad course, ice cream, cake and coffee, were served. The little shamrock added to the originality of the affair. The guests took home tiny green, Irish hats as souvenirs. Mrs. Kellum's charming hospitality was especially delightful, and the guests will long remember St. Patrick's day at College.

Those present were: Mesdames Salley and Cawthon, Misses Druce, Parkhill, Burwell, Baird, Patterson, St. John, Ball, Corry, Willard, Major, Jenkins, Bunker, Jarrell, Grasty, Young, Tipple, Longmire, Grace and Frances Lohridge, Mary and Betsy Floyd, and Conibear.

TENNIS MATCHES BEGIN

Two very interesting tennis matches occurred last week. Birdie Coffrin of Class B challenged Priscilla Major of Class A. Miss Major won by straight sets.

Florence Bunker was promoted to Class A by defeating Frances Lohridge by straight sets.

These are the first tennis matches that have been played under the present system of the tennis club, and it is hoped that many more will follow.

Martin; Miss Webb, Elfrieda Colwell; Miss Tausch, Pattie Martin; Miss Harris, Estelle Marks; Miss Palmer, Ora Odum; Miss Clark, Rosa Walker; Miss Wells, Thelma Hogan; Miss Elder, Kathryn Ball; Miss Roberts, Lucille Freeman; Miss Williams, Juanita Pipkin; Mrs. Cawthon, Myrtle McCoskell; Miss Schwalbmeyer, Miss Ruby Leach; The town beaux were: Marion Penot, Emma Barrs; Guy Haynes, Emma Lee King; Horace Van Brunt, Marie Mosley; Glover Johnston, Dorothy Slennous; Misses Irma Blake, Jessie Key, Rubie Melin and Frances Tipple played the role of College belles.

In Act V, the girls playing the part of College girls were: Lucille Freeman, Sylvia Kenney, Grace Owen; Elizabeth Anderson; Monitor, Constance Cavell.

CLASSICAL CLUB

The Classical Club, of the College of Arts and Sciences, convened Friday night, March 12. Miss Phyllis Jarrell, acting president, called the meeting to order at 7 o'clock. An evening with Horace proved the most interesting program of the year.

After the programme, a short business meeting followed. The main committees and subcommittees reported on plans for the banquet to be held early in May. The costumes, decorations and menu were discussed. Great plans are being made for this banquet, which promises to be the finest affair of the year. The following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

Dr. Yocum, president.
Miss Ruth Nelson, vice president.
Miss Mary Lou Leman, secretary.
Miss Sarah Burwell, treasurer.

WAR BRIEFS

Before Congress adjourned it passed a resolution empowering President Wilson to prevent ships from leaving American ports with supplies for belligerent warships.

Italy is taking significant steps in her preparations to fly at the throat of Austria. The Italian minister has ordered all mails and all exchange of telegraphic money orders to be suspended between his country and Austria.

Great Britain has made a formal proclamation of her intentions to form a blockade which will cut off the arteries of German trade during the war. This blockade refers to Germany alone; not to her allies. The last clause of the proclamation is interesting to neutrals in that it is an agreement to lift the blockade in case any nation will certify the ships flying its flag shall not carry goods to Germany, or goods originating in Germany, or goods belonging to the subjects of the German empire.

President Wilson has determined that the rival factions in Mexico shall be compelled, if necessary, to protect the lives and property of foreigners. He also insists on the opening of a railway line to Mexico City to insure freedom of commercial intercourse between the United States and its Southern neighbors.

Y. W. C. A.

Pastors from town held denominational meetings at the College Thursday night, March 18. They were very pleasant and helpful. These meetings were designed as a means of bringing the association into closer touch with the church.

Dr. Conrad met with the Social Committee Tuesday night to talk with the girls about plans for their work during the rest of the year. This committee is doing good work, and Dr. Conrad gave them a number of ideas by which they might make their work more successful.

The Membership Committee will begin an active canvass within the next few days. They are planning unique methods for interesting both old and new girls in the association.

PHILATHEA CLASS TO BE ENTER-TAINED

The Young Men's Wesley Bible Class of the Methodist Church will entertain the College girls of the Philathea Class at an oyster roast, at the Methodist Church, next Monday night. Misses Longmire, Schwalbmeyer and Elder will chaperone. About seventy girls will attend.

"VOTES-FOR-WOMEN" VICTORIES

Six states will vote upon the woman suffrage question at the next general election—West Virginia, New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Iowa and South Dakota. The Legislature of Arkansas voted to submit such amendment, but inasmuch as the law provides that only three constitutional measures can go to the people in one year—and there were already three others—it cannot be voted upon at the next election.

In Pennsylvania, Iowa, North Dakota, Vermont and Indiana, one house has passed a woman suffrage measure. Of the first two, this is the second Legislature to vote for submission; therefore it is more than likely that the people of these States will vote upon the question next November. In Tennessee, both houses passed a submission resolution, which must be acted upon by a second Legislature before going to the voters. Out of the fifteen State Legislatures which have considered a suffrage bill, the action in thirteen has been favorable.

PROHIBITION ADVANCE

Six months ago there were nine prohibition States. To-day there are nineteen, provided the Governor of Utah signs the bill just passed by the Legislature. An increase of more than 100 per cent in less than half a year! Arkansas, Iowa and Idaho were all made dry last month by legislative enactment, the law to go into effect Jan. 1, 1916. South Dakota's Legislature has submitted the question to popular vote at the next election. The lower house of Vermont has passed a prohibition referendum bill. South Carolina, tired of its unsatisfactory dispensary law, has referred the question of State-wide prohibition to the people, vote to be taken September 14. Montana has submitted a statutory law to be voted upon in 1916.

In eight other Legislatures State-wide prohibition measures have been introduced, namely, New York, Delaware, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Wisconsin. States planning for campaigns next year are California, Florida, Kentucky, Nebraska, Texas, Wyoming. Ohio enters a campaign this year under the initiative, the question to be voted upon by the people next November.

"GIRLS TAKE HOLD OF HORTICULTURE," SAID PROF. BARBER

"I am highly pleased with the way the girls take hold of horticulture," said Prof. L. S. Barber. "I find that they are quite as skillful and apt in their treatment of plants as boys."

The girls of the horticultural department have spent much time this year in planting young trees. Peach, plum and fig trees are some of the varieties they handle. They have also been pruning the peach and plum trees which were planted last year. A study of the habits of the peach borer and other insects affecting the peach tree has not been neglected. Indeed, Mr. Barber expects to give the girls some practical experience in the methods of spraying to prevent insects and fungus diseases of orchard crops. They will learn to make their own spraying material.

The study of floral culture is one of the most interesting features of this course. The potting of plants, the selection of dirt, and the proper care of the plants, are some of the things the girls learn. They have also experimented in propagation by cuttings of ornamental plants, as the ceranium, hydrangia and the begonia.

Since most of the students intend taking work in home economics, especial stress is given to principles of vegetable raising. Only the most important vegetables are raised, and these at appropriate seasons of the year. The girls are specializing in tomatoes this year. Each girl planted a different variety. They expect the tomatoes to bear the latter part of April. Each student also has a strawberry bed, from which she is already picking the strawberries. "The past two years have been up-hill work in this department," said Mr. Barber. "It has taken us this long to determine what line of this work the girls are best adapted to. We have great plans for the future."

WHAT A COMMA WILL DO

"Bill," the poet gasped, staggering into the friend's room.

"Why, what's wrong?" the friend inquired, starting as he grasped hold of the tottering man.

"Wrong!" the poet muttered. "Ye gods! I wrote a poem about my little boy. I began the first verse with these lines:

"My son! My pigmy counterpart."

"Yes, yes?"

The poet drew a long breath as he took a newspaper from his pocket.

"Read!" he blazed suddenly. "See what the criminal compositor did to my opening line."

The friend read aloud:

"My son, my pig, my counterpart!"

A GOOD ONE

College Girl to Dorothy Dodd at Mock Faculty: "Is your father here tonight?"

Dorothy: "Yes, of course he is. He had to come. Everybody would have said he was afraid if he hadn't."

The bashful snail who wrote to his lady-love simply

"H. John I. 5."

was delighted when he looked it up to get this response:

"Ruth I. 6."

—Missouri School Journal.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES

The University of Cincinnati is the only fully organized municipal university in the country. Supported in large part by public taxation, it is a university of the people, by the people and for the people.

Wyoming has met her responsibilities right nobly by providing a millage support for the State University, besides adding materially to the buildings and equipment. President Duniway has made a great record.

All honor to the Federation of Parents Clubs in Oklahoma City for their noble and heroic attitude in declining to be used by anyone in the political squabble of that city.

Parent-Teachers' Associations should keep out of school politics. They may help the cause occasionally, but they are too noble to be used by misguided cranks.

The New York City Board of Education voted almost two to one against the legislative move for a small board. Winthrop and Churchill voted together.

The most difficult thing in the profession is to go out of office gracefully. The few men who do so are noble characters.

Alabama has one of the most drastic child labor laws in the country. When the South wakes up she is sure to be heroic.

CAMPUS NOTES

Mrs. Lillian Cronk of Monticello, Fla., was the guest of her niece, Miss Virginia Mays, Saturday and Sunday. Miss Florence Powell of Jacksonville was the guest of Miss Cornelia Pieston Tuesday and Wednesday. Miss Powell stopped over en route to Carrabelle, Fla.

Miss Jennie McIntosh of Tallahassee was the guest of Miss Marie Ellis Monday night.

Miss Sallie Blake of Tallahassee was the guest of Miss Carrie Taylor Monday night.

Mrs. C. I. Guilford returned to her home in Hinson Monday, after a visit to her niece, Miss Pennie Maxwell. Miss Minnie Lee Hodges has left College to enter the Spring Review at Madison, Fla.

Prof. Salley will address the Parent Teachers Association of Tallahassee, Friday. The subject of his address is "Self-Complacency."

Mrs. S. L. Cawthon, our house-mother, was called to New Orleans Tuesday afternoon by the death of her aunt, Mrs. Chadwick. The entire student body regrets to learn of our College-mother's grief, and conveys hearts full of love and sympathy to her in her sadness.

Miss Helen Harvey, of the College, is at her home in Madison for a short visit.

Miss Ollie Henderson left Friday afternoon for her home in Monticello, where she visited until Monday evening.

Miss Ruby Adams has been detained on her visit at her home in Perry, Fla., by illness. We hope Ruby will soon return.

The Misses Alice Curry, Oakley St. John and Katherine Ball were weekend guests at Quincy this week.

Miss Bessie Milton returned Monday afternoon from a week-end visit at her home in Marianna, Fla.

Miss Irma Strange is a guest at her home for the week-end.

Miss Mildred Sweeney spent the week-end in town with her mother, Mrs. Sweeney, of Tallahassee.

Miss Mary Bannerman visited her home, near Tallahassee, this week-end. Miss Rubie McLin was the guest of sisters in town this week.

Miss Mary Lou Leman spent Sunday and Monday with her mother, Mrs. C. C. Leman, of Tallahassee.

We regret to announce that Miss Miona Rhodda has been called home by the illness of her grandmother.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Spears, Mrs. Garrett and Miss Andrews entertained Tuesday in honor of Miss Florence B. Stephens. Tomato sandwiches and tea, followed by chocolate cake and bombe glaces, were served. The color scheme of green was delightfully carried out through the charming little party.

A delightful supper was enjoyed by the members of Miss Florence Stephens' table Tuesday night. The party was in honor of Miss Stephen's birthday. The girls at the table were dressed in green and white, and favors appropriate for St. Patrick's Day were given. The girls presented Miss Stephens with a box of candy, who, in turn, treated the girls to no-less-appreciated broiled chicken. The fortunate girls were: Misses Harriet Crane, Katy Jackson, Fern Hibbard, Lucille Freeman, Ma May Windgate, Zilla Hutchinson, Genevieve Mathews, Jeannette Mathews and Thelma Parsons.

Miss Kathryn Monroe gave a very interesting tea party last Saturday afternoon. Miss Monroe is giving a series of teas in honor of her Senior friends. This was the third. The girls look forward to them with great pleasure.

MISS PALMER GIVES DINNER PARTY

The Home Economics Department was the scene of a very delightful dinner party given last Wednesday night in honor of St. Patrick. The decorations were all in green and gold; wild jasmine was used charmingly. The place-cards were hand-painted shamrocks. One of the most attractive features was the menu card, the menu being written on the strings of the harp "that once through Tara's hail."

At 6 o'clock the following dinner was served by the second year Domestic Science Class:

Celery Soup	Olives	Shillalahs
Kernels of Pork	Cold Slaw
Emeralds in Thinbals	Savory Spuds
Mint Ice
Shamrock Rolls
Malaga Salad	Saltines
Pistachio Ice Cream	Peach Sauce
Blarney Stones
Coffee	Cheese Balls	Crackers

The last course was served in the reception room. Those who enjoyed the dinner were: Miss Stella Palmer, hostess; Miss Marla Clark, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Conrad, Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Gamie, Dr. and Mrs. P. A. Claassen, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Kellum, Miss Huilet Gist and Miss Hazel Grimm.

DEUTSCHE VEREIN

Dr. and Mrs. Claassen were at home to the members of the German Club Tuesday night, March 16. German games and songs replaced the usual formal program. Every one enjoyed the evening with Dr. and Mrs. Claassen. After a series of lively German games, three-course refreshments were served. A hearty chorus sang "Ach Die Lieber," "Augustine," and others. Each member present expressed her appreciation of a most delightful evening.

Mrs. I. F. Grimm invited the sophomore class of the College of Arts and Sciences to her home on College avenue, to spend Saturday evening. The evening's entertainment was well planned, and the fun was not delayed a moment after the girls were seated in the cozy rooms. Miss Hazel Grimm presented each girl with mysterious little packages, sealed with red sealing wax. Each package contained a joke, which was read aloud later. Other games, such as "Proverbs" and "Progressive Short-Story Writing" (which was especially appropriate for sophomores), were played. Later it was reported that Miss Alta Grimm was an artist, and was going to make a picture of each one present. From her results, it was concluded that Miss Grimm was a most flattering artist, for many defects were so completely erased that in many cases they could not even recognize themselves. Refreshments, consisting of a delicious salad course, were served, together with tea and cookies.

PLEASANTRIES

The freshman at the post office stamp window:
"How much postage will this require?" he asked. "It is one of my manuscripts."

"Two cents an ounce," smiled the clerk. "That's first-class matter."

"Oh, thank you!"—Punch Bowl.

NOT ONE OF HER FRIENDS

Four-year-old Mary was listening intently to a letter her mother was reading out loud to the family. The letter was from Mary's cousin Louise, who had recently visited them. The post-script said:

"Is Mary as bad as ever?"
In a little while Mary asked:
"Mother, who is 'ever'?"

HOW SHE MANAGED

She had tried in vain to get the telephone, but the other parties were using the line. The last time she heard one woman say:

"I have just put on a pan of beans for dinner."

She tried later, but the women were still talking. Exasperated, she broke in crisply:

"Madam, I smell your beans burning."

A horrified 'cream greeted this remark and then she was able to put in her call.

USEFUL ARTS AND CRAFTS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

Mothers and teachers who wish to keep the young people cheerfully busy in useful tasks about the home or farm may be interested in a project of the United States Department of Agriculture for organizing farm and home handicraft clubs. Some of the arts and crafts in which the department's specialist in charge of club work for the Northern and Western States hopes to interest his boys and girls are as follows:

- Rope tying and splicing.
- Making seed testers (box, blotter, and rag-doll testers).
- Making a hen coop and brooder.
- Fruit tree grafting and tree surgery.
- Making a fly trap.
- Making wood box for kitchen or sitting room.
- Making a bird house and watering trough.
- Making a hot bed or cold frame.
- Making a step ladder or handy ladder for farm and home.
- Making one dozen vegetable market crates.
- Sharpening saw, pair of scissors.
- Making a medicine cabinet.
- Making and laying a cement walk or floor.
- Making a bookcase or library file.
- First aid to farm implements.
- (a) Repair whiplike trees.
- (b) Pair of shares.
- (c) Fork handle.
- (d) Repair gate.
- Drawing plan of 80-acre farmstead.
- Forging—two kinds, practical, related to farm work.
- Welding—two kinds, practical, related to farm work.
- Horseshoe making.
- First aid to household furniture:
- (a) Chair.
- (b) Table.
- (c) Picture frame.
- (d) Door lock or hinge.
- Pressing and cleaning a suit of clothes.
- Papering a room.
- Painting, staining or treating floor.
- Making a farm dooryard gate.
- Making a home-made fireless cooker—one of two methods.
- Making a home canner—one of two methods.
- Making a kitchen shelf or kitchen work chair for mother.
- Get out a set of plans and specifications for model farm home.
- Show how to give first aid to school furniture and equipment; such as the repair of a seat, window, fence, broken gate, blackboard, steps and sidewalk.
- Show how to repair the cover or broken back of a book.
- Art metal work for household.
- Molding in clay and plaster.
- Leather work; repair of leather goods or art work.
- Fabric dyeing and printing.
- Pottery for use in the home.
- Basketry for use in gathering and marketing vegetables and fruit.
- Making a milk stool.
- Home-made fruit juice and cider mill.
- Hall hat and coat rack.

These are mere suggestions which have been sent out to different State and district leaders in the Northern and Western States. It is hoped this list will enable them to encourage lines of work that have an economic value in the farm and home management of any community.

The new clubs, it is expected, will be merely the agricultural clubs already organized among the young people, and the new lines of industrial work will be taken up at times and seasons when corn, pigs, chickens and vegetables do not need the special attention of the boys and girls. Under the new plan each club member will probably select about ten of the suggested tasks and do each of them during convenient moments. The results of the work of all the members of one club will be exhibited at the end of a year's time in a place where the rest of the community may see what has been attempted and pass a judgment on its value.

Any mother or teacher who would care to interest her children in any of the arts and crafts outlined above

THE "SCHOTT"

Even nationalities who are in many, or most respects, far behind many of their fellow-men in civilization—inventions, arts, sciences, etc.—having been retarded by nature or by "man's inhumanity to man," have still, in some respects, attained some high or highest point of excellence that is noteworthy and may serve to the rest of the world as an object-lesson.

Thus, India can boast of the most beautiful sarcophagus in the world, carved into the solid rock—a most exquisite palace of the dead; China's porcelain and ivory carvings stand to this day without a peer, and even its tapestry-weavings will hardly yield to the most precious works of this kind produced by the Persians; and even Russia has its samovars and its "schotts." The former scarcely need an explanation; we find them in our museums and among our antiques, but the latter are not as commonly known as they perhaps deserve to be; not indeed for their art or exquisite shape, although there exist many richly inlaid and of exquisite workmanship, but because of their utility. It is a counting machine, and represents a vast improvement over the Chinese implement serving a similar purpose, or our own adding machines found sometimes in the primary grade of our schools. Like these, it consists of beads which are, however, quite invariably worked out beautifully in hard wood, ten in a row, and generally eight rows above, each representing a series of the decimal system, so that in the eight one could count to ten millions (of "rubles"). Below these eight rows is a wire containing four beads, to represent quarters, if it is desired to count that way, or perhaps better, to represent the decimal point; then two rows of ten each to represent the tens and units below the decimal points—the "kopeks," "cents," "centimes," "pfennige," as the case may be, and then again a wire with four to represent quarters of the lower denomination. The machine lies flat, instead of being put into an upright frame, or being held; the upper part is higher, and the heavy brass wires are curved upward to facilitate quick and decisive strokes in counting. The middle two beads in each row are black, to distinguish quickly, at a glance, the number one wishes to obtain; the others generally are yellow. There is not a merchant or an official in Russia who does not own one of these machines, and the facility with which they "strike," as they call it, any number or series of numbers, be it in addition, subtraction, multiplication, or division, no matter how large the number is, and the quickness and absolute accuracy of the result, are truly astonishing. Having a long column of figures to add, one need, of course, not set them down again; if one is interrupted in the operation, one need not bother one's brain to retain the unfinished sum, for it is on the "schott"; one need only designate the number which one has reached, and then go on when the interruption is terminated, where in paper (or head) work, one would have to begin all over again. The lightning rapidity with which experienced Russian accountants "strike" their "schott," and in the quickest time solve by its aid the longest problem is most interesting to behold, but most to be admired is the uniform accuracy of the result obtained at once and verified painfully and after repeated efforts consuming much time in the old elaborate system of counting that we generally employ by the use of pencil and paper. Even our modern costly adding machines that we use in banks and offices, while they are indeed rapid and exact, perform only operations in addition, while the Russian accountant on his "schott" performs with equal facility his operations in subtraction, multiplication and division.

A RECIPE FOR A HAPPY LIFE

Take a large quantity of cheerfulness and let it simmer without stopping. Put with it a brimming basinful of kindness. Then add a full measure of thought for other people. Mix into these a piling tablespoonful of sympathy. Flavor with essence of charity. Stir well together and then carefully strain off any grains of selfishness. Let the whole be served with love sauce and fruit of the spirit.—The Lamp.

LIFE

If I can stop one heart from breaking
I shall not live in vain;
If I can ease one life the aching,
Or cool one pain,
Or help one fainting robin
Into his nest again,
I shall not live in vain.

Ben Greet

Performances

The Ben Greet Woodland Players will be seen on the campus of the Florida State College for Women, April 9, afternoon and night.

The performances of this company are given with all the beauty and simplicity so in keeping with a sylvan setting, and everywhere the novelty of the presentation has added much to the pleasure and interest felt in the productions. The plays to be given here have been selected especially for their fitness to out-of-door presentation, and nothing lovelier can be imagined than plays of the great master being given in Nature's settings, for which so many of his plays were originally written. The night effect on the woodland stage is weirdly beautiful. The lights and shadows on the trees in the background produce an almost unreal aspect, so fantastic are the shadows cast on the scene.

In so many of the later-day presentations of Shakespeare too much stress is laid on the mounting of the plays with theater scenery and unnecessarily gorgeous costumes. The result seems to give the impression of a tremendous stage setting encompassing the actors, where, if one is to read the plays carefully, it seems that Shakespeare's idea was a company of actors surrounded with as natural scenery as possible to help the imagination of the auditors. In giving his plays out of doors, Nature's own background of shrubbery and trees is restful to the senses, without obtruding, and does in no way detract from the plays themselves, adding much to their charm.

The ideal of the Ben Greet Woodland Players is to give the plays in such a way that the auditor gains the impression of reality rather than seeing a company of players reading their lines. That they have lived up to their ideals successfully may be evidenced by the fact that Mr. Greet has been asked to send his company to several universities and colleges of importance throughout the country where the audiences are far more critical than is ever found in a theater. Every part receives an equal amount of attention during the preparatory period, and is cast with the idea of giving each part, no matter how small, most careful attention. No one in the company is engaged for what is known as a special line of parts, but rather cast in each play according to each one's own individual fitness, so that one night an actor may be playing the leading role, and the next night he will be seen in a very small part. This results in a performance which is remarkable for its smoothness and simplicity.

The company has long been the standard for performances of Shakespeare and the classic plays, and as the cast is practically the same as it has been for the last year, one may confidently look forward to the same high grade of presentation.

PROF. SALLEY LECTURED BEFORE PARENT-TEACHER CLUB

Prof. Salley lectured before the Parent-Teacher Club at the Leon County High School, on Friday afternoon, March 19. His argument was in favor of fewer examinations in all schools and less home work for children. He suggested that all school practice be considered modifiable, and that if we undertake less in the elementary school we shall accomplish more. He brought out the possible danger of considering any system of training as final, and the constant need of constructive criticism by parents and teachers as a solution for some of the difficulties of our school system. He especially stressed the importance of a close and communicative alliance between parents and teachers.

EX-GOV. PATTERSON COMING

Ex-Gov. Patterson of Tennessee will arrive in Tallahassee on April 8. He comes to lend his influence in furthering the cause of prohibition in Florida, and as this is one of the burning questions of the State, just at present, there is no doubt that his interest in the cause, and his masterful speeches on the subject of the liquor traffic and prohibition, will have a marked influence in approaching legislation.

As an expression of welcome to Mr. Patterson, the ladies of the W. C. T. U. have arranged a parade for the day of his arrival. This parade is to be composed of citizens and representatives of the various organizations of the city. It will have its origin near the Presbyterian Church, and the line of march will take in the principal streets of Tallahassee, ending at the southeast corner of the Capitol. Here, Mr. Patterson will deliver the first of his series of lectures.

The girls of the College have been asked to participate in this demonstration, and, from the enthusiasm which is being shown, it is safe to say that those who are in charge will have our hearty cooperation. The girls are planning several floats for the occasion, and all classes will be suspended on that afternoon in order that every one may take part.

Wesley Class

Entertains Girls

The Young Men's Wesley Class of the Methodist Church entertained the College girls of the Philathea Class at an oyster roast at the Methodist Church last Monday night.

Oysters cocktailed, oysters stewed, oysters fried—oysters in every conceivable style were served. J. Will Yon performed his duties as toastmaster most creditably. Interesting toasts were given by Miss Longmire, Miss Bertie Coffrin and Mr. McMullen. Miss Longmire represented the Philathea girls in her acknowledgment of the pleasure and happiness the young men were affording them. A reading by Miss Ruth Cook was especially fine. There were also interesting contests which every one entered into most energetically.

The young men who prepared for the girls' pleasure so carefully and so thoughtfully were. Messrs. Tubal Wainwright, Frank Wilson, Russel Mickler, T. F. Jones, C. W. Gwynn, Ted Yon, J. Will Yon, Alfred Averitt, H. W. Williams, Earl Mickler, Raleigh Van Brunt, Harry Van Brunt, Carthel Byars, E. D. Sandifer, E. W. Carter, Lamar Taylor, James Plant, Walter Averitt and Walter Collins. The chaplains were Misses Longmire, Schwalzmayer and Elder, Mr. Don C. McMullen and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Nixon.

WAR BRIEFS

The Austrian stronghold Przemysl capitulated to the Russian army on March 22, after a siege of several months. The entire garrison, consisting of nine generals, 300 other officers, and more than 50,000 men were made prisoners.

So far the British loss in the Dardanelles fighting has been five warships and 2,000 men.

An official announcement from Berlin states that the number of prisoners of war now held in Germany number more than 9,000 officers and 810,000 men, as compared with 353,000 captured in the Franco-Prussian war.

New turns and angles put upon the western battle front by recent fighting have increased its length until it is now estimated that the line is 500 miles long. Of this, the French are defending about 450 miles, and the English the balance. It is estimated that there are at least 3,000 miles of trenches on the battle front of the allies' side alone, and at least that amount on the German side.

Carranza and Villa forces are massing in Mexico for a great battle, which may be the most decisive fight since the overthrow of Huerta.

Y. W. C. A.

The Sunday evening services of the Y. W. C. A. were held by Miss Caldwell. She gave us a very helpful talk on "The Control of Our Moods."

Miss Schwalmeyer presented the association with two of C. M. Sheldon's books: "A Builder of Ships," "The High Calling." These books will be especially interesting, as many of us heard Mr. Sheldon speak at the meetings of "The Flying Squadron."

At the Wednesday evening services the new hymn books, purchased by the missionary committee, were used for the first time. The supply of these books is short, but we hope that some of the girls can buy a few more.

Petition to

President Conradi

The following petition was signed and presented by the students of the College to the president:

We, the undersigned, students of the Florida State College for Women, request the following changes for the possible improvement of our college life. As students we wish to get every possible advantage from our residence here, and we believe that these changes, if made, will be helpful to the whole student body of this institution.

First: We request that we have full library hours on Monday, and that on all days the library be kept open from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. This will be of great advantage to many students who get their exercise earlier in the day.

Second: To save a vast amount of time which is lost in the aimless search for books, material, etc., by students who do not understand library technique, and to save our librarian many unnecessary steps when she has other important and valuable work to do, we request that a series of lectures be offered to all students new to library technique for the purpose of teaching them how to use our library. It seems to us that this will be of great economic advantage, and while it may cost money we believe that it will be worth many times its cost in making the vast amount of knowledge in our library accessible to our students.

Third: We request that a more extended series of lectures be given for the benefit of those students who desire to become librarians, and for those students who intend doing high school work, for in all probability these college graduates who take up high school work will be called upon to give material assistance, nay, direction, in the cataloging of high school libraries.

Fourth: We request that a bulletin board be placed in the library for the ready accommodation of all students showing in clear and unmistakable form the mode of numbering in the Dewey system for all subjects.

A PETITION

A petition was presented to Dr. Conrad this week for consideration and action. The requests in this petition express a long felt need in this college—a need for longer library hours. Every girl here will be glad to see the petition acted upon favorably because the benefit which will be derived from such changes will be of inestimable value. One of the most important functions of the library is to introduce students into a wise use and enjoyment of all that the library contains. Our students do not have an opportunity to enjoy our library, nor time to find out the number of interesting things in store for them. Are they not in danger of becoming provincial? Their minds ought to be trained for broad views. Why can't they take advantage of the splendid library at their disposal? Simply because at the hours the library is open, from 8 o'clock in the morning till 4 o'clock in the afternoon, they are in classes, or preparing for a class. The work carried on in the library during the evening periods is required work. Give them a chance for spontaneous just-what-you-like reading.

WHEN MOVING PICTURES ARE GOOD

How can we always distinguish good moving pictures?
By the state our minds are in when we leave the theater. If we feel uplifted, inspired, satisfied, then the pictures were good. If we have been carried on interesting travels, see interesting peoples and places, if we are enabled to appreciate more keenly those wonderful things we read about, then the pictures were worth while. When pictures show, in their development, the triumph of good over evil, then, too, they are good. What an abundance of good influence our moving pictures can have!

THE COLLEGE MOVEMENT

An important division of the temperance army, and one which is rapidly increasing in numbers and efficiency, is the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association. The national convention of this body, held recently in Topeka, Kan., is characterized as the greatest national student gathering of a civic character ever assembled in America. The keynote of the convention program was "The Challenge of the Anti-Liquor Movement to the Present Student Generation," and its slogan, "We'll See This Thing Through." A nation-wide campaign was initiated, the aim of which is to enlist college men and women for active service in the fight now being waged for national prohibition. Dozens of college and university presidents and many well-known political leaders sent greetings to the convention, Secretary of State Bryan's being in the form of a two-page hand-written letter.

DRY TRANSPORTATION

A California congressman is troubled over the prospect confronting the congressional party which is to attend the Panama-Pacific Exposition. He says that if the Navy Department has control of the ships which carry the distinguished company, it will be, by reason of Secretary Daniels' dry order, "a funeral trip." On the other hand, if they go overland, there are whole States—States longest east and west—where grape juice will be the strongest drink obtainable. Whether by land or by sea, "it's a dry, dry way to San Francisco," wails the drinker. And it is fast getting dryer. Only the other day came the news that the Pennsylvania Railroad had abolished liquor from all its dining cars west of Pittsburgh. It has also announced that it will not renew the license for the bar in the Broad Street Station at Philadelphia, and that although its license to sell liquor in the New York Terminal will not expire until September, the bar will be closed at once. This will leave the Pennsylvania system east of Pittsburgh without a bar in any of its stations or restaurants, and without the sale of liquor in any of its dining cars.

CAMPUS NOTES

Miss Hull, aunt of Miss Evora Hull, is the guest of her niece at the College for the week.

Mrs. Johnson of Pensacola is spending the week with her daughter, Miss Lola Johnson, of the College.

All the girls of the College enjoyed the permission of seeing "Evangeline" at the Daffin Theater Thursday afternoon. The girls appreciate thoroughly the good photo plays that Mr. Daffin has been affording them of late.

Every week additions are made to the Spring Review Class. Several new members have entered in the past week. We are always glad to welcome them.

Miss Clara Browne spent the week-end at her home last week.

Miss Dorothy Reed returned from her home in Jacksonville Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Mattie Lou Taylor has returned to her home near Live Oak.

Miss Mary Williams was a week-end guest at her home last week.

Miss Josephine Grasty spent the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. Wm. G. Dodd, of Tallahassee.

Miss Margaret Pearce spent the week-end in town.

We are happy to announce the return of Miss Jeanette McMillan, who was called home on account of the illness of her father.

The center of attraction in our Bryan Hall Lobby for the past week has been a vase of beautiful calla lilies, the gift of Miss Maude Godbey.

Our Bryan Hall Lobby is particularly attractive in its new dress. The new tan walls blend harmoniously with the brown mission woodwork and furniture. In short, our lobby is getting ready for the reception of the beautiful, real, Royal Wilton Rugs which our house-mothers have been working for so strenuously for the past months. The rugs are expected any day.

Miss Evelyn Whitfield was the spend the night guest of Miss Mary Frances Smith Saturday.

Miss Ruby Byrd was the spend-the-night guest of Miss Mary Louise Seales Saturday.

Miss Mona Rodda arrived to-day from her home, Palatka, Fla.

Miss Margaret Mays was the spend-the-night guest of Miss Cornelia Puleson Saturday.

A concert by the Swiss Bell Ringers was given in the High School Auditorium Friday night at 8:15 o'clock for the benefit of the High School Athletic Association.

Misses Leah and Helene Smith were called to Bainbridge, Ga., on account of the illness of their sister.

Mr. Robert Crawford of Gretna was the guest of Miss Natalie Moffett Saturday afternoon and night.

FOR THE FLAMBEAU

To the Students of the Florida State College for Women:

Thank you, very much, my dear, dear girls, for the exquisite roses and carnations.

They came safely and promptly, and did much toward mitigating the great sorrow that has come to me in the loss of my dear, lovable Auntie.

The flowers spoke to me strongly of the loving sympathy of my girl friends at the College, and also brought solace and comfort in the thought of the Easter Tide when we shall again see our loved ones face to face.

In life the dear Auntie loved flowers so much I felt it was indeed a fitting tribute that her grave should be a veritable bank of blossoms.

From my heart I thank you! Gratefully, your College-Mother,
S. L. CAWTHON.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH OF FLORIDA EXHIBIT

"This Exhibit is Here to Spoil the Doctor's Business," said Dr. J. Y. Porter; "We Are Trying to Teach People, Not to Get Well, But to Keep Well."

Tallahassee, Fla., March 18.—Florida's State Board of Health Exhibit, with Dr. J. Y. Porter, State Health Officer; Dr. C. T. Young, Assistant; Dr. W. A. Claxton, Bacteriologist; Miss Frances Herndon, Lecturer on Tuberculosis; was held in the National Bank Building, on Monroe Street, on March 18, 19 and 20. The entire day Saturday, March 20, was reserved for the negro population. This Health Exhibit, for it is an exhibit which will mean health to thousands of our State, occupied the entire lower floor of the large bank building. The purpose of this great effort, on the part of our officers of this department, was told in an interview with Dr. Young. Dr. Young said: "This exhibit was gotten up in Jacksonville, November, 1914, for display there during the meeting of the American Public Health Association. As soon as the exhibit could be properly crated for transportation it was carried to Sanford for display at the Seminole County fair. It was afterward taken to a number of the larger cities of the State. The Board of Health aims, through printed panels, models and electrical appliances, to convey impressions through the eye which will cause a strict regard of these laws of health, and which will, above all, be lasting. It is altogether educational in its work in trying to stimulate public interest in all these things."

The students of psychology and of the various classes of education, in fact the entire student body of the Woman's College, took observations Thursday and Friday. At the entrance, in the center aisle, a large bell, suspended from a placard, tolled regularly. The placard read:

At Each Toll of This Bell
Some One Dies of a Preventable Disease in the United States

600,000 Every Year.

1,650 Every Day.

69 Every Hour.

More Than One a Minute

These Deaths Are Unnecessary

The Inhoff Sewage Plant was illustrated by a miniature plant, entire in every detail. By means of this illustration and blue prints, Dr. Claxton explained the process of operation and results of the Inhoff Tank, which is the sanitary method of disposing of sewage in inland towns where there are no water courses and where water courses are not used for drinking purposes. There are now in Germany about 100 plants using this system.

There was a panorama of moving pictures showing the development of the mosquito and rat, and a real Punch and Judy box, working by electricity, demonstrated the course of the fly's journey before he lights on our food. When the observer looked open-mouth at a sniling boy on a large placard, he could see both his upper and lower rows of teeth diseased, and the condition of his mouth.

Illustrations on Cancer: Its Prevalence, Nature, Cure and Control, with vital statistics and eminent characteristics, with pictures of people in the different stages of the disease, acquainted the public with its danger and with the importance of taking proper precaution against the preventable disease. Typhoid, Malaria, Hookworm, Diphtheria, Smallpox—all preventable diseases, their symptoms, effect and danger, were fully illustrated by pictures and statistics.

Scenes were shown of what Florida is doing for her cripples.

Electrical appliances, a furnished house, and pictures, illustrated completely the proper care of and means of preventing tuberculosis. In her future, Miss Herndon said, Tuberculosis is especially important because

SOCIETY

ORANGE DINNER PARTY

Miss Sparks entertained delightfully with an orange dinner, served in the Domestic Science dining room, Friday night at 6 o'clock. Miss Adrienne Phillips and Miss Isabel Schwalmeyer acted as hostesses. The entire affair was most unique in its decorations of blossoms and color scheme of orange and white. Tiny hand-painted oranges, with a sprig of orange blossoms on each, made the place cards. The guests pronounced it a most delightful affair. The following was the menu:

Orange Cocktail
Bouillon
Olive Croutons
Celery Planked Chicken
English Peas Escalloped Potatoes
Orange Jelly Rolls Butter Balls
Orange Salad in Orange Baskets
Orange Souffle Angel Food Cake
Coffee
Butter Thins Orange Sticks

The following program was given at the Senior At Home last Sunday night:

Violin Solo.....Carmene Evans
Reading.....Lucy Wood
Song.....All
Piano Duet, Misses Bernice Simmons and Genevieve Matthews.
Reading.....Miss Ollie Henderson
Vocal Solo.....Miss Sarah Fraleigh

One of the most delightful affairs of the week was the tea given Wednesday afternoon by Miss Rosa Walker and Miss Naomi Grothaus in honor of Mrs. C. R. Johnson of Pensacola, who is the guest of her daughter, Miss Lola Johnson.

TRAINING SCHOOL

At the first conversation period of the week was developed the fact that the little people fully appreciated the exhibit made last week by the State Board of Health. They discussed some of its lessons with an intelligence that was a surprise and a pleasure to their teachers.

Evelyn Hill made us twice glad with her delicious birthday cake and a beautiful full grown tulip. The third grade is making windmills and Dutch girls in the study March, and they were happy to have a flower of Holland.

We are missing Caroline Lively, Robert Cockrell and Lisbeth Williams and shall be glad to see them again.

Earl Russell, Edith Swing, Dexter Lowry and Walter Clemons have special care of the garden for a few days.

The first grade is delighted with the beautiful books sent by the American Book Company. It is "The Story Hour" and they find so many old friends within the pages that they are learning to read with surprising rapidity.

COLLEGE FIELD DAY

The committee on athletics met Wednesday afternoon and decided upon a public field day. Invitations will be sent out and spectators admitted at the gate by card only.

Field day has been postponed until April 12, but it is likely to be called off altogether unless more interest is shown than at present.

Girls, wake up and get to work. Let's show people that we are as up-to-date and as wide-awake in athletics as any other college. We have two more weeks; let's have the best field day we have ever had, or not any at all.

Inez Anderson, of C Class, defeated Martha Pearl Swain, of B Class, Monday afternoon. The score was 6-4, 5-7, 6-3.

BETTER THAN NONE

One day, while Willie and Harry were playing in a field they disturbed a bumble bee's nest, and began running, with the bees after them.

When they had run for a few yards, Harry breathlessly panted: "Willie, we ought to pray while we are running!"

To which Willie replied: "I know it, but I can't think of but one prayer."

And Willie, thus admonished, called out between gasps: "Oh, Lord, for what we are about to receive, make us truly thankful!"

WHAT ENOCH WANTED

"What can I do for you?" asked a weary man who called at the office of the Globe Museum of a gaunt young man who entered.

"I want an engagement as a freak in the curio hall."

"Who are you?"

"I am Enoch, the egg king."

"What is your specialty?"

"I can eat three dozen hen eggs, two dozen duck eggs and one dozen goose eggs at a sitting."

"Hum. We give four shows a day."

"I understand that."

"Do you think you can do it?"

"I sure can."

"And on holidays we give a performance every hour."

The young man hesitated. "In that case," he said, "I must have one thing understood before I sign a contract."

"What's that?" asked the manager. "No matter how rushing business is at the museum," the egg king replied, "you gotta gimme time enough to eat my regular meals at the hotel."

Ben Greet Players Friday, April 9

"TAMING OF THE SHREW," A FAVORITE PLAY AMONG ACTORS.

Most of the tickets have been sold for the Ben Greet performances, which will be given on the Campus next Friday. "The Taming of the Shrew" will be given at the matinee, and "The Merchant of Venice" at night.

Of all the plays of Shakespeare, "The Taming of the Shrew" seems to retain its original freshness and has a remarkable popularity. The Ben Greet Woodland Players, in their production, use a special prompt book made up by Ben Greet from several of the old editions now in the British Museum. This play is particularly interesting, from the number of stars and companies which have presented it in America during the history of our stage. Old-time theatregoers will recall the performances of tragedians such as Edwin Booth, who liked to show their humor by giving it after they had appeared in tragedy. It was one of the novelty plays in the repertoire of Augustin Daly with Ada Rehan as the shrewish Catherine. Elsie Herndon Kearns, who plays Catherine with the Ben Greet Players, has played the part with this company more than one hundred times. And she is quoted as saying that it appeals to her more each time she appears in it.

Shakespeare was evidently in a mood for fooling when he wrote the "Taming of the Shrew." The action of the play is rapid, and although certain scenes are given as farce, there is warrant for this in the text. The audiences of his day liked the harsh treatment that was meted out to Kate by her tamer, and there is little doubt that in the poet's time the rudeness and coarseness of Petruchio's conduct was much exaggerated from what it is at present. The play is a pretty rough piece of humor and cannot be acted in the spirit of polite comedy. But the parts are "fat" ones in the actor's vocabulary, and players like to show their skill in impersonating the long-range of characters which run from the fortune-hunting traveller Petruchio to the scheming father Baptista. It is a gallery of varied portraits that Shakespeare has drawn for us with the strictest attention to every detail. And when the play rushes along it is bound to find favor with an audience that appreciates humor.

COLLEGE'S CIVIC LEAGUE.

A college Civic League is the latest suggestion among our girls for the improvement of the Campus. This plan was suggested by Miss Pearl Caldwell in her talk in Chapel last Saturday morning. The idea of this league is to encourage the students to take a more active part, and to co-operate more closely with those in charge, in making and keeping the Campus attractive.

"Civic Leagues in other communities do a great deal of good," said Miss Caldwell, "and why shouldn't we follow in the footsteps of progress, and form a league of our own right here on the Campus?"

ELSIE HERNDON KEARNS, BEN GREET COMPANY.

Y. W. C. A. TEA ROOM OPENED.

"Take a Cup o' Tea" Is the Motto of the Week.

The Y. W. C. A. opened its attractive little tea-room Saturday morning, the 27th, just after the announcement at Chapel. Hosts of girls, longing for "goodies," flocked to the little veranda and adjoining room, in the north-east corner of East Hall. The veranda was well furnished with cozy tables, decked with bouquets of freshly-cut flowers. Prompt service was agile until the hour of noon. Ice cream, cold milk, grape-juice, with a delightful variety of crackers, were served. Our new campus store has a goodly stock for the morning lunch, the afternoon tea and the light-flash feast—ice cream, cold milk, grape-juice, large assortment of fancy crackers, candies, chocolates, nuts and nuts, a full line of boxed crackers, soups, olives, plimatoes, salad dressing, Wesson's oil, everything to make salads, home-made candy and other delicacies. The managers of this very thoughtful project are to be commended highly.

The Flambeau joins all the girls on the campus in congratulations and "Good Luck" to our new campus store! The hours are: Monday, 8 a.m. to 12 noon, and 2 to 5 p.m.; Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 10 a.m. to 12 noon, and 3 to 5 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 12 noon, 3 to 5 p.m., and 8 to 9:30 Saturday night.

WAR BRIEFS.

Official announcement was made from Berlin on March 21 that subscriptions to the new war loan amounted to 9,000,000,000 marks.

The French Chamber, on March 18, unanimously passed a proposal authorizing the government to raise the limit for the issue of Treasury bonds from 3,500,000,000 francs to 4,500,000,000.

Russia has resumed bombardment of the forts guarding the Bosphorus. The only news from the Dardanelles is the report that mine-sweepers are continuing their work of removing the mines placed in the straits by the Turks, and that weather conditions still prevent a resumption of the bombardment by the fleet.

In the twenty days' fighting in the Champagne country, the estimated loss to the Germans has been 50,000 men, which is double the loss to the French army. It was due to the persistent counterattacks of the Germans, supported by inadequate artillery, that their loss was so heavy.

The fall of Prynomyel will probably not be without its influence on the decision of Italy and of other State at present neutral, but availing a favorable moment for the "realization of their national aspirations." If Italy intervenes to regain the Trentino, then Rumania, encouraged by the latest blow to Austrian arms, will hardly tarry in advancing a claim to Transyl-

The Most Elaborate Performance of Year

The State College for Women has had many fine entertainments, but the Shakspearean Pageant, which will be given April 23, is the most elaborate performance it has ever undertaken. There are about one hundred fifty characters who will appear before the Courts of Elizabeth and James and render representative scenes from nine of Shakspeare's plays. Who would not like to live two hours in the royal splendor of "Her Majesty," the "Virgin Queen," and see the impersonations of Hamlet, Montvallo and Shylock pass before her throne? This performance will interest us for many reasons: It will be beautiful and imposing; it is our very own; it is the first entertainment of this type that the College has undertaken. Everybody knows Miss Elder's success as a dramatic artist, and therefore will be assured that this pageant will be a brilliant one. Many of us have never seen a similar pageant. Now is the time to see a splendid one in honor of the greatest dramatist of the world on his three hundred fifty-first birthday. Think of a writer who can hold the attention of the world for three hundred years!

The prices of admission, together with other details, will be published soon. Let us read or review the plays and be ready to enjoy the program.

THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF FLORIDA.

Next Tuesday, April 6, the State Legislature will assemble at the Capitol, and the students of the Woman's College feel a degree of pride and interest in this assembly. If we stop to consider, we shall derive many benefits from a study of the proceedings. It is one of the advertising features of the College that the students can have an opportunity to study, to a certain extent, the form and workings of this official body of men. It is well for us to put ourselves in an attitude of fairness and liberal opinions in order to appreciate the Legislature. We should take for granted that the members have been fair in their counties, or they would hardly be here by the voice of the people; and they will, in like manner, be fair in their dealings with the whole State.

Florida is a great State. And these men desire to push her on to the front politically, economically, intelligently, and morally. It is but natural that a great many causes will need valiant champions to secure a decisive and satisfactory vote; not so much because men object to good things, but rather because of the difficulty to unite and cement their notions as to ways and means of doing these good things.

The College naturally expects its share of consideration, and it is sure to have it. The State has never failed to do a good part by us, nor will she now forget her young women. Girls, the strongest plea we can offer to our Legislature is a just, a progressive, and a true record. If we can show that we have lived up to our opportunities for scholarship and improvement, it is the very thing that will enlarge our opportunities. A fine building is put up for us, we fill it to overflowing with students. A library is here; we use it. Athletic grounds and laboratories are here, we use them; and last, but not least, a curriculum is laid before us, and we endeavor to master it. If our social and our home life reflect the culture and poise that comes, through all these forces, the Legislature will ask no further questions, but continue to uphold and support our State College for Women.

APRIL THE FIRST.

Long live April First, at F. W. C. Chapel service—dinner service—all will long be remembered by the girls of '15.

In Chapel our august Sponsors occupied the faculty's seats. The Juniors, with all their transcendent dignity, donned cap and gown, and midst cheers of applause, marched in Senior file to the front row.

In regular form, Dean Salley read selected Scripture. The entire student body then sang heartily, "Auld Lang Syne." Miss Pearl Caldwell, President of the Senior Class, gave the announcements in true Canadian fashion. With three lusty cheers for the Seniors, given by the Junior Class, and the College Song, Chapel adjourned.

At dinner, April Fool was first course and only those who knew the way to the pantry, stayed their hunger.

It was a day of fun and good cheer. May we see many more anniversaries of just such an April Fool!

LEAGUE AT PENNSYLVANIA IS WORKING FOR PEACE.

"The University Peace League" is the title under which a large number of University of Pennsylvania students have organized themselves for the purpose of discouraging the growth of militarism in our American Schools and College, and for the purpose of making the American flag the symbol of peace and the standard of world harmony, not maintained by fear and supported by a colossal military machine. At the organization meeting the belief was expressed that if the movement were backed up by the ardor and prudence of the whole American people, the United States would command the respect of all peoples without the slightest fear of molestation. Permanent peace, not an armistice, is what they ask for; world sanity, not international riots; future prosperity, not national bankruptcies. Their slogan is: "In Time of War Prepare for Peace; WHY NOT?"—The Vassar Miscellany.

THE KEWPIES INVITE.

After the secret part of their initiation, the Kewpies entertained in their club room at 3 o'clock with an initiation feast. Fried chicken, fruit salad, deviled eggs, ham and lettuce sandwiches, iced tea, banana soufflé, layer cake and candy. The members of the Kewpie Club are: Misses Veria Monroe, Mildred Sweeney, Katie Jackson, Hazel Johnson, Christy Paulsen, Margaret Mitchell, Maude Remaker, Zella Wilson, Fern Hubbard, and Harriet Crane.

JUNIORS ADVERTISE BEN GREET PLAYERS IN THOMASVILLE.

The Junior Class has been extensively advertising the Ben Greet Players, not only in Tallahassee, but in nearby towns. A party motored over to Thomasville last Monday for this purpose. They report a fairly successful and pleasant trip. Those who composed the party were: Mrs. J. G. Kelham, Misses Du Bois Elder, Marjorie Alford, Lucille Freeman, and Mr. James Newt Mabry.

PROF. SALLEY BEFORE Y. W. C. I.

On Sunday night last, Prof. N. M. Salley addressed the Y. W. C. A. on the subject, "Personal Responsibility." The argument of the speaker presents a two-fold conception of conduct, embraced in the idea of the responsible individual in harmonious relationship with Society. Responsibility is measured by ability and opportunity meeting the individual; as a person's training and social contacts increase, so increases his responsibility to himself, to society, and to God, to do the individual and social tasks that only he can do. Responsibility may not be shifted by the individual to his neighbor, but must be shouldered by the individual himself. A concrete illustration of individual responsibility is the individual's duty to cry out against wrong, though the King sh. Youth is the seminary period for the formation of effective social habits and ideals, and unless the habit of crying out against wrong is gained during the ten years of youth from fifteen to twenty-five, then all the remainder of the individual's life is but an impoverished harvest of a neglected seedling time.

SOCIETY.

A dinner was given for the girls in the Kindergarten Department by Miss Wheeler Wednesday night at 6 o'clock. The Home Economics classroom was transformed into a charming bower of dogwood, sassafras and Cherokee roses. The tables were very appropriately arranged in the form of a "K." The rainfall was very delightfully carried out throughout the menu and place cards of simonist babies of various delicate color with the given name of each "child" present, upon it.

Those present were: Misses Martha Lewis, Elbeth Mulholland, Emma Helseth, Ronie Murrell, Emma Lee King, Ethel Moughton, Blanche Warren, Kathleen Morrison, Fay Hill, Mary Frances Smith, Claire Walker, Geni Pickett, Mary George Adams, Lilla Patterson, Kathryn Ball, Nella Wells, Geneva Moseley, Dorothy Slemmons, Helen Vaughan, Ernestine Blocker, Josephine Drane, Carrie Taylor, and Miss Wheeler.

CAMPUS NOTES

Miss Nella Wells has returned from a week-end visit to her home in Chipley.

Miss Lillian Glenn spent the week-end at her home near Quincy.

Miss Thelma Schell has returned to her home in Lake Butler. We hope that Thelma will soon be well enough to return to college again this year.

Miss Kate Underwood and Miss Marie Moseley were the house-party guests of the Misses Carmen and Rose Evans at their home in Thommsville, Ga., for the week-end. They motored over from Thommsville Monday afternoon and brought with them a profusion of crabapple blossoms for Bryan Hall lobby.

Miss Mary Hayes visited at her home in Tallahassee last week.

Miss Alice Shepard motored over to her home near Quincy, returning Monday afternoon.

Miss Ella Reynolds is visiting at her home in Jacksonville.

Mrs. R. E. Sloan and Mrs. A. C. McCull were the guests of Miss Mary Bailey Sloan, of the college, Wednesday evening and Thursday.

Miss Virginia Job Mays and Miss Mary Bailey Sloan are week-end guests at their home in Monticello.

Miss Mary Frances Smith is spending the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. E. E. Atkinson, of Monticello.

Miss Oona Gates spent last Sunday at the college as the guest of Miss Ha May Wingate.

Misses Lulu and Helene Smith returned from Bainbridge, Ga., Saturday.

Dr. Edward Conradi left College Tuesday for a three days' visit to a convention of County Superintendents and High School Principals in Live Oak, Florida.

The Ben Greet Woodland Players will present "Taming of the Shrew," and "As You Like It," in Gainesville on April 7th.

Misses Elizabeth Cockrell and Mary Window were the guests of Miss Wheeler at dinner Saturday.

Miss Mary Frank Knott was the spend-the-night guest of Miss Isabel Schwabmeyer Saturday.

Mr. E. F. Hayes was the guest of his daughter, Miss Dorothy Hayes, from Sunday until Tuesday.

APRIL MEETING POSTPONED.

Because of a conflict in dates, the April gave way to the French Club last Wednesday night. The same program will be presented by the members of the April next Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. Students or teachers who are interested in the work these girls are accomplishing, are invited to attend.

The W. C. T. U. Essay Prize of $100 is open to all college students writing a thesis or essay on "The Relation of Individual Total Abstinence to the Prosperity of the Nation." Maximum length, 3,000 words; essay due July or August. Write Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, Hartford, Wisconsin.

ONE OF OUR STUDENTS HONORED

Miss Rosa Walker will be Assistant Instructor in Home Economics in the University of Alabama, at Tuscaloosa, Ala., this summer. She will work under the direction of Miss Stella Palmer, who has charge of the Home Economics work there, during the summer months. Miss Walker graduated from the College this year with a B. S. degree in the Home Economics department, in which she has done splendid work. No one who knows Miss Walker will doubt for an instant but that her work will be a success worthy even of her ability. In her work she has won the respect and admiration of the faculty; in her contact with the students she has made for herself a high place in the esteem and love of the whole student body.

MR. LIVELY'S SODA WATER PARTY.

A train-party from the College, chartered by Mrs. Spears, Monday afternoon, met the 2 o'clock train. They also met Mr. Lively and, at his welcome invitation, visited the soda factory and ice plant. The ice plant was interesting—the soda line! Mr. Lively has every requisite of the charming host and best of all, knows what college girls like—cold soda, souvenir pencils and buttons, and a glorious ride home in the "Hup"—made Mr. Lively's trip a party a genuine treat.

THE PRESIDENT RETURNS.

Dr. Conradia returned Wednesday from the annual meeting of the State Association of County Superintendents. Dr. Conradia says the storm of Thursday night began at Live Oak and wore itself out before leaving.

Prof. E. L. Robinson, Principal of the Hillsborough High School, came to Tallahassee with Dr. Conradia. Prof. Robinson addressed the College girls at chapel Friday morning.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

The weather has been too damp and chilly to enjoy working the out-of-door garden, but there has been keen interest in the window garden, and some beautiful lessons in seed germination have been learned.

Elizabeth Cockrell and Helen Whigham were guests of Miss Wheeler at a dinner in the College dining hall.

Pauline Swing gave the school a very pretty picture of Arlington, the home of General Lee. Mary Maxwell Lowry, of the second grade, was the first pupil to recognize it. Dorothy Talley also gave a picture of Venice.

The fourth grade are completing their composition books this week and are anxiously awaiting Dean Salley's opinion of them.

FRENCH CLUB PRESENTS INTERESTING PROGRAM.

An act from La Cigale Chez Les Femmes was the most interesting feature of the program presented by the French Club, at the home of Dr. Claassen, last Wednesday night. The young women who took part in the act were: Misses Agnes Edwards, Elizabeth Chynon, Angella Yonge, Zoe Manning, and Jeanette Hobson.

Each member answered roll call with a French quotation. A duet in French, sung by Misses Sara Burwell and Gladys Comforter, was thoroughly enjoyed. A quartet was composed of Misses Margaret Carrol, Oakley St. John, Mary Floyd, and Gladys Comforter. Mrs. Claassen's father and sister, Mr. S. F. Stuart and Miss Lucy S. Stuart, were guests at the meeting. Before the adjournment, Dr. Claassen suggested that the Club have a picnic the last month of school, in place of the regular meeting. The suggestion was applauded, and Misses Burwell, Spencer, and Mosley were appointed on the committee to make final arrangements.

No. 12.

ECONOMY IS GOVERNOR'S ADVICE TO ASSEMBLY

The fifteenth biennial session of the Florida Assembly, under the Constitution of 1885, assembled at 12:05 o'clock for the administering of the oath of offices to members, election of presiding officers and attaches decided on at a caucus last Monday night, and the hearing of the Governor's message.

Senator Johnson, of the Seventeenth District, placed the name of C. E. Davis, of Madison, in nomination for President of the Senate, and he was elected by acclamation.

Cary A. Hardee, of Live Oak, was nominated Speaker by Representative Martin, of Tampa, and his election followed.

GOVERNOR'S RECOMMENDATIONS

Among other things the Governor urged the following: The necessity for economy, a measure authorizing cities to enact their own charters; a bill to apply game revenue to aid of rural schools; State aid to stamp out citrus canker; a crop pest law; agriculture and horticultural agents from each county; a bill to require common carriers to furnish cars for perishable products in certain time; libraries for public schools; equal length of term of certain schools; action further to remove State prisoners from the lease system; bill to prohibit insurance companies; an anti-trust law; graded corporation tax; uniformity of taxation; inheritance tax law; a bill authorizing traveling men and railroad employees the right to vote when away from home; reform of civil court procedure; a bill to destroy unanimous jury verdict; employer's liability law.

The following attaches have been chosen in the Senate:

Secretary, C. A. Finley; asst. secretary, D. M. Newman; bill secretary, J. B. Sutton; reading secretary, J. A. Bodinefield; assistant reading secretary, Rainey Martin; journal secretary, R. L. Holley; assistant journal secretary, R. J. Davis; sergeant-at-arms, J. R. Adair; enrolling clerk, A. E. Lester; engrossing clerk, Leota Conlin; recording secretary, Mrs. L. B. Younce; messenger, C. S. Zim; janitor, W. E. Lewis; doorkeeper, Nat Roddenberry; chaplain, Rev. J. D. Adcock; pages, Donald Adkins, Clifford Blitch and Harold Turner.

The following are the officers and attaches of the House of Representatives:

Speaker, Cary A. Hardee, of Suwannee; chief clerk, J. G. Kellum; assistant chief clerk, R. A. Green; bill clerk, C. C. Epperson; reading clerk, Nat R. Walker; assistant reading clerk, Nat R. Lanier; engrossing clerk, Eli Futch; enrolling clerk, Miss Sue Barco; recording clerk, Fred M. York; Sergeant-at-arms, W. R. Griffin; messenger, J. N. Rogers; doorkeeper, J. A. Cox; Chaplain, Rev. H. S. Howard; janitor, Eugene Hawkins; pages, Rhialdo Van Brunt, Joe Perry, Paul S. Williams and Carroll Fussell.

STATE SUPERINTENDENT TO DELIVER COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Nathan C. Schaefer, State Superintendent of Pennsylvania, has accepted an invitation to deliver the commencement address at the College on June 9. Mr. Schaefer will also deliver the commencement address at the University at Gainesville. The school is very fortunate in securing one of the foremost educational leaders of the country for this event. Mr. Schaefer has been State superintendent of Pennsylvania for a great many years. He is also a famous author and lecturer.

COLLEGE REPRESENTED IN PROHIBITIONISTS' PARADE

The College was represented in the prohibitionists' parade last Thursday afternoon by three floats and 350 students. There were about thirty-eight other features in the parade. The people of Tallahassee were very successful in their efforts to make this civic demonstration one which surpassed anything the town has ever had before.

The three floats from the College represented the Training School, the College Kindergarten and the College as a whole. The Training School and Kindergarten floats were white. They were occupied by the children and the College students who had charge of the children. The College float was one of the most attractive features of the parade. Mr. Edwin Alford donated his automobile, which was draped in white bunting and green bamboo vines. Three huge butterflies, one pure white and the other two with gilded wings, were suspended in front of the engine. Streamers were attached to the butterflies and brought back to the rear of the float where they were held by Miss Grace Owen, who was dressed in yellow, representing a butterfly.

The College girls proved themselves quite capable in their efforts to be of assistance in the parade.

MISS WELLS VISITS MIAMI

Miami, Fla., March 25.—Miss Mae Wells, who is one of the instructors in Home Economics at the Florida State College for Women, is spending a day or so in Dade county. Miss Wells is making Miami her headquarters, and while here is being entertained as the guest of Mrs. T. V. Moore.

This morning Miss Wells gave a bread-making demonstration to an interested group at the Woman's Club. Yesterday she spent at Princeton, where she showed another group preferred ways of making and baking bread. This interesting visitor was at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Woman's Club, where numbers of club members were presented to her. She expects to leave this evening, returning direct to Tallahassee, after an absence of several weeks on a tour of the east.

"I am delighted with your climate," said Miss Wells. "Everywhere I have gone, I have found such bad weather that it is a relief to find that what one hears about Miami and her glorious climate is true."

Miss Wells was entertained at luncheon today at the Hotel Halcyn. Miss Julia St. John was her hostess. Miss St. John and Miss Wells attended Columbia College, New York City, together last summer and are making plans to return this year.—Miami Metropolis.

LAST CALL FOR FIELD DAY—EVERYBODY READY?

The program is completed, the invitations are out, the rest remains with you, girls. Do your best for the honor of your class. If you cannot run or jump, you can lend your voice to cheer your classmates on to do their best. The invitations read as follows:

The Athletic Association of the Florida State College for Women invites you to be present at their Third Annual Field Day, April 12th and 13th, 1915. Men Admitted by Card Only. Present this at the gate.

The program will be the same as published in last week's Flambeau, with the addition of a faculty tennis match.

It is hard to prophesy which will be the winning class. It will probably be a close contest between the Sub-Freshman, Sophomore and Junior Normal. The Seniors have two more days to enjoy their banner.

One of the most interesting events will be the tennis tournament. We have an unusual number of tennis enthusiasts this year. Phyllis Jarrell won the tournament last year, and there is a strong competition for honors this year. The ten members of A Class and two members of B Class will enter. A number of matches were played last week to determine the two B Class members who will enter the tournament. Slips were drawn Wednesday morning for the preliminary round, and the following matches will be played before Saturday: Rose Evans and Lucy Buckles, Phyllis Jarrell and Lucile Cooper, Grace Lothridge and Coris Shands, Myrtice McCaskill and Delia Major, Florence Buzzer and Josephine Grasty, Irma Trammell and Emma Lee King.

There will be two baseball games, one each day. The two teams will consist of members of the Sub-Freshman, Sophomore and Junior Normal Classes. They will draw for places on the teams.

The Sub-Freshman Class contains some good athletes. Their basketball lineup will include several members of the Senior-Sophomore and Sub-Freshman team, Hazel Johnson, forward, and Sara Sparkman and Ida Hester, guards. These girls did splendid work in the Thanksgiving game. The Sub-Freshman class has a good tennis representative in Coris Shands, who also has a good chance for first place in apparatus work. Joe Glidewell and Ida Hester are two of the best baseball players in College. There is strong competition as to who will take first place in pole vaulting and diving. Last year Lois Tatom won the prize in diving, and she is again in the contest.

The Freshman Class has no basketball or baseball teams. It is, however, well represented in the tennis tournament. With such players as Rose Evans, Florence Buzzer and Grace Lothridge, the Freshmen may hope for third and perhaps second place. Rose Evans does splendid work in vaulting and also in use of the apparatus.

The Sophomore Class is small but the members are all keen athletes. They can boast the best basketball team in school, with such stars as Hulitt Gist and Alta Grimm. Their lineup will probably be as follows: Hulitt Gist and Marie McMillan, forwards; Frances Tippetts and Ruby Leach, guards; Alta Grimm, running center, and Isabel Walker, jumping center.

Frances Tippetts and Katie May Galloway will dive, and Hazel Finney and Alta Grimm will do apparatus work. Carrie Taylor and Isabel Walker will run, though, to speak

VESPER SERVICES TO BE GIVEN TOMORROW

Vesper Service will be held in the College Auditorium at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The following is the program:

Invocation.
Hymn No. 53, "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken".....Haydn
Scripture Reading.
Chorus, "Thou, O God, Art Praised in Zion".....Seely
Violin Solo, Intermezzo, Op. 118, No. 2.....Brahms
Soprano Solo, "The Day of Resurrection (with violin obligato).....Hanscomb
Hymn No. 51, "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me".....Gould Benediction.

Ella Seoble Opperman, Director of Music.

Marion Oskihwau Bishop, Soprano.
Isabella Rausch, Violinist.
Louise Isselhardt, Pianist.
Florida College Glee Club (conducted by Miss Bishop).

THE NEXT DRAMATIC ATTRACTION

The Shakespearean Pageant will be the next dramatic attraction at the College. Don't forget the evening of April 23 and have your interest alive to see the most imposing sight that the College girls have ever given in one performance.

The following plays will be represented either in scenes or in some one act:

"Julius Caesar," "The Merchant of Venice," "As You Like It," "Midsummer Night's Dream," "Twelfth Night," "The Tempest," "Henry V" and "Hamlet."

There will be music in harmony with the representative scenes, and marches and dances to make the situations more real and picturesque.

Tickets are 75 cents. The performance will be out of doors, and as April 23 is yet three weeks off, the weather will, in all probability, be warm enough to make the affair altogether comfortable and enjoyable.

truthfully, Isabel fairly flies. What Carrie lacks in speed is made up in endurance and determination.

Sub-Fresh, beware of those Sophs! The Juniors: What shall I say of them, except "better to have tried and lost, than never to have tried at all."

The Seniors ought to back up well those few who have rallied to the defense of their banner. Phyllis Jarrell and Lucile Cooper are recognized tennis stars and will do much to bring honor to their class. Myrtice McCaskill is a well-known baseball player. Birdie Coffin and Emma Barry will run.

The Normal School has many athletes of which to be proud. We all know from former Field Days what Emma Lee King can do. She bids fair to be the star of the Normal basketball team. Although the lineup has not been decided upon, it will probably be as follows: Minna Harris and Katherine Montgomery, forwards; Emma Lee King and Elbeth Mulholland, guards; Annie Pope Eagleton, jumping center. Elsie Hamlin has been doing good work in running and jumping. Emma Lee King, Elbeth Mulholland and Annie Pope Eagleton will run.

Who wants to be a hero and win honor for self and class? Now is your chance. Here's to the winning class, and may the others be good losers!

What is the matter with our girls? Is there no sense of personal responsibility to be found in school? Shall all responsibility of school affairs fall on three or four capable girls who are already overwhelmed with duties they must meet? Just at this busy season of the year we feel the need more than ever. Why is it that the girl who is needed to lead Y. W. C. A. is the girl rehearsals are waiting for, the girl who acting as track captain is the girl Glee Club practice is depending on? It is because we have only a limited number of girls who feel responsible for any duty assigned them, and who meet all requirements. Just a day or two ago a crowd of girls met in front of the Gymnasium for track meet practice, and because the track captain happened to be detained in a very personal and important interview with one of the home mothers, the crowd left without making any effort to practice. A rehearsal was called at 5:30 o'clock, the director returning from town was caught in a downpour of rain, and these girls, although all were together, although words were not even counted, and the only good the director could have done would have been to follow a reading of words, girls departed, only to be called later and found had accomplished nothing. Why do we have to depend on the instructor for response to rehearsals, or on one girl to always take the lead? We find the same trouble everywhere, a failure to respond quickly at rehearsals, track meets, serving on literary programs, Sunday night at homes, basket ball practice, etc. There is at school, one opportunity to make leaders out of ourselves; don't wait for everything to be done for you, for things to be passed on to you on silver waiters, but get the waiter and go after things for yourself. You say, we girls do accomplish things, good things, original things, things worth while to our school. That is true, but O, how one little girl's shoulders aches under the burden of it all. Let us help more, let us meet the duties that are heaped on us this very month of April, with courage and determination. Help us, girls, will you?

OUR CAMPUS.

Have you ever taken your mind from French verbs and tennis just long enough to notice that a change is really taking place on our Campus? The Campus in front of the Ad. building is set out in fine shape. The circle of green is even more attractive by its border of daisies. Young trees have been set out about the campus. While you were doing the mile-run, did you ever see the gorgeous mass of Cherokee roses back of East Hall? Mr. Steinfuhrer, the landscape gardener, is accomplishing this for us. He has established a horticultural society at the north of the Campus, in which he is raising thousands of rose sprouts for a hedge for our Campus. He is raising many other plants, among which are fancy grasses, cherry laurels, palms and japonicas. In the past year Mr. Steinfuhrer has done faithful work in putting the Campus in order, and we should do all we can to co-operate with him.

Now, girls, let's take advantage of the new library hours.

Miss Edna Ireland has suggested that the students refrain from using the Campus for a couch.

WAR BRIEFS

Trouble has once more broken out in Albania. Durazzo was bombarded toward the end of last week and it was stated that 60,000 Albanian rebels were engaged in an assault on the place.

The Russians are pressing forward in the Carpathians, and apparently are making steady progress despite obstinate resistance by the Austrian-German troops. The Russians are on the Hungarian side, both in Dukla and Lankow Passes, and, aided by reinforcements, they are gaining the heights which dominate Czech Pass.

Prince Von Bulow, the German ambassador to Italy, is very anxious to bring about a peaceful adjustment between Italy and Austria. It is understood that his latest proposal is that the territory which Austria might cede to Italy be occupied by Switzerland during the remainder of the war, and turned over to Italy when peace is concluded. This plan, however, is generally considered impracticable.

The United States has declined to admit the right or justification of an embargo on shipping by the governments of the allies. In the note to Great Britain, the legal phases of the blockade were reviewed, and the hope was expressed that England and France would avoid serious interruptions to American trade, or be prepared to make full reparation.

THE PRESIDENT SPEAKS BEFORE CONVENTION OF COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS

The annual convention of county superintendents and other officers of public instruction was held at Live Oak, from March 30 to April 1.

President E. Conrad discussed "Teachers' Summer Schools" before the convention on March 31. The other subjects taken up at the convention were:

"Compulsory Education," "Teacher Training," "A State Board of Examiners," "Eligibility for Candidacy for County and State Superintendent," "Uniform Course of Study," "Transportation and Consolidation," "Handling School Funds," "Abolishing the Seven-Mill Tax Limit," "Standardization of Rural Schools," "Diplomas and Certificates," "The Present Bonding Law," "School Terms," "County Superintendents," "Visits to School," and "Age Limit for Teachers."

Y. W. C. A. HOLDS EASTER SERVICE

One of the most impressive meetings of the year was the early morning Easter service. As we stood out on the campus and saw nature taking on new life, it made the truth of the Resurrection more real. We could realize, in some small measure, what must be the wonder to see our sin-cursed bodies raised pure and sinless. Miss Schwalmeyer's talk was especially suited to its who are soon to go out into the world, for, as the salutation of the disciples was, "The Lord is risen," so our lives should express the fact that we have a living Savior.

Sunday evening we had the second of our missionary programs. Miss Longmire, as well as those who assisted in the meeting, gave a clear understanding of Home Mission work. They showed us that even if we do not feel called to foreign mission work we have an opportunity to do mission work at our very door.

The Wednesday evening service was conducted by members of the social service and social committees. As reports were made of the work done by these committees we could see what a power the association is in our College.

NEWS FROM THE FRONT

Our new fire gongs were put into use Tuesday night last. Such a noise as they did make!

Bryan and Reynolds Halls were reported "All Safe" in six minutes. One girl was not safe, however. She slept through all the noise. Had this been a fire instead of a drill that girl would have been lost. Some failed to comply with the directions on the fire card; some forgot to close their windows. Girls, this requirement is not made to give you more work to do. In case of fire, the draft coming in through these forgotten windows would fan the blaze and make the fire burn twice as fast. Miss St. John and Miss Coffrin commanded the A No. 1 squads. Miss St. John reported to the chief three minutes after the first sound of the gong.

"What do you say, dear?" admonished his mother.

"I'll be back again later," said the boy.—Ladies' Home Journal.

A nervous young lawyer arose to make his first address, in a crowded courtroom. He began:

"Your honor, my unfortunate client—my honor, my unfortunate client—my unfortunate client—your—"

"Go on, sir!" shouted the exasperated judge, "as far as you have proceeded the court entirely agrees with you."

ANVIL TO MEET ON SATURDAY

At a recent meeting of the Anvil the members changed the date of meeting from Wednesday night back to Saturday night. Visitors are welcomed. The program to-night will be especially interesting.

TRAINING SCHOOL.

The stories this week were all about Easter—what Easter signifies and what resurrection means; how the rabbit became associated with this season and why we have Easter eggs. Then on Saturday, Mrs. N. M. Salley sent seven dozen beautifully colored eggs, and what a good time the little folks had at the hunt!

Then a committee from the 3rd and 4th hid seven eggs for the student-teachers, and they were so well hidden that only five were found, and the children thought it a good joke on the teachers—and it was.

Every one has been very much interested in the Temperance parade, and especially in the school float. Their float was decorated in white and green, with two banners, made by the 4th grade, which read "Training School" and "Save Us from the Evil." Dorothy Salley and Edith Swing have made a composite picture. They are to write stories about it, and whoever writes the better story is to have the picture for her composition book.

THE NEW RUG IS A BEAUTY

Our new rug is in place in Bryan Hall Lobby.

It is a Royal Wilton, beautiful in texture, color and design, and makes the lobby very much more attractive.

The house-mothers are to be congratulated upon their success in making this beautiful gift to our College home.

We girls certainly appreciate it.

CAMPUS NOTES

Mrs. Spears, one of our house-mothers, is spending a short vacation with her daughter, Miss Sara Spears, of Jacksonville.

Miss Andrews, house-mother of East Hall, has been in the infirmary for several days, but is well enough to be out again.

Miss Virginia Mays, who spent the Easter holidays at her home in Monticello, has been detained at home by illness.

Miss Mary Bailey Sloan returned Monday afternoon from an Easter holiday visit at her home in Monticello.

The College has been honored this week with frequent visits from many of the legislators, guests of the college girls. It is, indeed, a pleasure to have as our guests our distinguished representatives.

Miss Carrie Charles, who spent the week-end at her home in Chipley, returned Monday afternoon.

Miss Grace Julian has been called to her home in Lake City, by the illness of her mother.

Miss Elizabeth Parkhill and Miss Lilla Patterson were the house-party guests of Miss Sarah Fraleigh, at her home in Madison, for the Easter holidays.

Miss Ethel Evans and Miss Helen Vaughan were Easter holiday guests at their home in Thomasville, Georgia.

Miss Alice H. Corry spent Sunday at her home in Quincy. Are we quite sure it was for the holidays?

Miss Penile Maxwell returned Sunday afternoon from a week-end visit at her home in Calvary, Ga.

Miss Phoebe McMillan has returned from a week-end visit at her home in River Junction.

Miss Roberts and Miss Grace Owen were the house-party guests of Miss Harriett Brandon at her home in Thomasville, Ga., for the Easter holidays.

Miss Agnes Edwards is in Jacksonville for a short stay.

Miss Mary Frances Smith spent the Easter holidays at Monticello and returned Monday afternoon.

Miss Lizzie Shepherd of Greensboro spent the Easter holidays at home, returning Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Marie Ellis made a week-end visit at her home in Quincy this week.

Miss Katherine Ball returned from a week-end visit at her home in Quincy Monday afternoon.

Miss Cornelia Puleston left Tuesday afternoon for a week's visit at her home in Monticello.

Mrs. Johnson, who has been the guest of her daughter, Miss Lola Johnson, at the college, returned to her home in Pensacola, Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Freeman, of Starke, president of the W. C. T. U. in her home town,

SOCIETY

Miss Lillie Carr gave one of the most enjoyable parties of the week in her room at 225 Reynolds Hall, at 9 o'clock last Saturday night. Miss Dikes won the prize, a huge stick of red-striped stick candy, in a guessing contest. Fruit salad, chocolate and marshmallows were served.

Miss Ruby Leach gave a "feed" Monday night in honor of Mrs. C. R. Johnson of Pensacola, and Miss Y. E. Hull of Chicago. Because many of the guests were in training, the hostess was compelled to serve simple refreshments consisting of soda crackers and water.

Miss Puleston's auto party to Monticello Tuesday afternoon was another of the delightful motor trips enjoyed by many of the girls of late. In the party were: Misses Julia Combs, Estelle Marks, Cornelia Puleston, chaperoned by Miss Davidson.

The Chi Omega Fraternity hiked to a pine woods not far from town last Monday afternoon. A large fire was built and a supper of sandwiches, wienies, salad, fruit, coffee and cake was spread out. After plates were emptied and all had romped to their heart's content, they formed a circle around the fire, and the happiest of days ended with the college and fraternity songs. Those present were: Oakley St. John, Phyllis Jarrell, Cecil Jenkins, Belva Floyd, Angelica Younge, Florence Banger, Josephine Grasty, Grace and Frances Lothridge, Sara Burwell, Hattie Baird, Priscilla Major, Josephine Drane, Florence Conibear, Alice Corry, Kathryn Ball, Miss Longmire.

COUNTY JUDGE ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Sam J. Baron, County Judge of Dade County, addressed the students at chapel last Tuesday morning. He suggested that the girls should not neglect to take advantage of every opportunity the State is affording them. He also spoke of their extreme good fortune in having such an intelligent and capable faculty.

is a guest for the week of her daughter, Miss Lucile Freeman, at the college.

Mrs. Blake, mother of Miss Irma Blake, is a guest at the college for her daughter's recital.

Mrs. Taylor, of Quincy, is a guest for the week of her daughter, Miss Carrie Taylor, of the college.

Mr. Herman Bohmann of St. Joseph, was the guest of his sister, Miss Mary Bohmann, Sunday.

Mrs. C. R. Johnson, of Pensacola, left college Wednesday, after a two weeks' visit to her daughter, Miss Lola Johnson.

Miss Ella Seale Opperman was the guest of Miss Louise Isselhardt Friday at dinner.

THIS FIELD DAY THE BEST JUNIOR NORMALS CHAMPIONS

This Field Day represents the best one we've ever had. It represents the cleanest athletics, the keenest rivalry, and the truest sportsmanship.

The Junior Normals are in the height of their glory now. They have won their championship and their banner fairly, and they have also won the admiration and respect of the entire school. They entered each event eagerly, and with courage screwed to the sticking place. Misses Emma Lee King and Elbeth Mulholland were awarded letters.

This meet went smoothly enough. There were no mussy mixups, as there have been previously. In regard to Field Day, Dr. Conrad said: "I hope it will grow in interest and popularity and cultivate a fine spirit of play in God's great out of doors."

JUNIOR NORMALS DEFEAT SOPHOMORES

The Junior Normal-Sophomore basketball game, played last Monday morning, was not a good one. The Sophomores were not in good fighting trim, and their passes were poor. They were obviously out of practice. The Junior Normals played brilliantly. Misses Montgomery and Harris, forwards, were particularly fine. The score was 6 to 23 in the Junior Normals' favor.

SUB-FRESHMEN DEFEAT JUNIOR NORMALS IN BASKETBALL

The most closely contested basketball game of the year was played Tuesday morning, when the Sub-Freshmen defeated the Junior Normals with a score of 17 to 16. At the first of the game it looked as though the Sub-Freshmen would be pretty badly battered, but they fought stubbornly. The team work of the Junior Normal team was remarkably good. At the end of the first half the score stood 9 to 5 in the Normal's favor. Then the Sub-Fresh began to do some serious playing. They fought desperately and tenaciously and the Normals lost their complacent smiles and played nervously and inaccurately. When the whistle blew three minutes before end, the score stood 14 to 13—still in the Normal's favor. Then the Sub-Fresh threw 4 goals, and the Junior Normals threw 2, leaving the score 17 to 16.

The lineup for the Junior Normal team was: Katherine Montgomery and Minna Harris, forwards; Emma Lee King and Elbeth Mulholland, guards; Anna Pope Eagleton and Elsie Hainlin, centers.

The following was the lineup for the Sub-Freshmen: Hazel Johnson and Gladys Hamilton, forwards; Sara Sparkman and Ida Hester, guards, and Nancy Knight and Bernice Prevatt, centers.

Probably the most exciting event in the meet was the baseball game played Thursday afternoon, when the Sub-Freshmen lost to the Junior Normals with a score of 20 to 21. The bleacherites on both sides were wildly enthusiastic. Although the Sub-Fresh were weak in their pitching, they were particularly strong and certain in their batting. The pitching and catching on the Junior Normal side was in good form. Base running and fielding on both sides was good. Miss Birdie Coffrin fanned the first two in the first inning, and struck the last three out in the last inning. On the Junior Normal side, Misses Coffrin, Wingate and Mulholland played a remarkably good game, as did Misses Tatom, Evans and Hester, on the Sub-Fresh side.

The following was the lineup for the Sub-Freshmen:

The following was the lineup for the Junior Normals:

TENNIS MATCHES

For the second time, Phyllis Jarrell of the Senior Class won the tennis championship of the College by defeating Rose Evans of the Freshman Class in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3. Although Miss Evans showed splendid headwork, keen judgment and remarkable ability to cover the court, she was unable to cope with the overhead drives and effective service of Miss Jarrell.

In doubles, Rose Evans and Grace Lothridge of the Freshman Class defeated Phyllis Jarrell and Lucile Cooper of the Senior Class, 6-3, 6-4. The losing team put up a strong fight and kept the winners in doubt until almost the last moment of play.

TRACK EVENTS

One Trunk—Elbeth Mulholland (Junior Normal), first, 2 minutes and 17 seconds; Olivia Edna Owen (Elementary), second, 2 minutes and 19 seconds; Isabel Walker, third, 2 minutes and 20 seconds.

Distance Throw—Rose Evans (Freshman), first, 74 feet and 10 inches; Hulitt Gist (Sophomore), second, 71 feet and 5 inches; Isabel Walker (Sophomore), 68 feet and 5 inches.

Apparatus—Coris Shands (Sub-Fresh), first; Hazel Finney (Sophomore), second; Rose Evans (Freshman), third.

Pole Vault—Lois Tatom (Sub-Fresh), first, 6 feet; Emma Lee King (Junior Normal), second, 5 feet and 8 inches; Zella Wilson (Sub-Fresh), third.

Fifty-Yard Dash—Elbeth Mulholland (Junior Normal), first, 7 seconds; Emma Lee King (Junior Normal), second; Katherine Wychoff (Sub-Fresh), third.

Diving—Lois Tatom (Sub-Fresh), first; Birdie Coffrin (Senior), second; Annie Morehead (Sub-Fresh), third.

Rings—Mary Brundage (Elementary), first; Alta Grimm (Sophomore), second; Katherine Montgomery (Junior Normal), third.

High Jump—Elsie Hainlin (Junior Normal), first; Zella Wilson (Sub-Fresh), second; Alta Grimm (Sophomore), third.

Broad Jump—Katie May Galloway (Sophomore), first; Emma Lee King (Junior Normal), second; Bernice Prevatt (Sub-Fresh), third.

Relay Race—Elbeth Mulholland (Junior Normal), first, 1 minute and 40 seconds; Grace Owen (Freshman), second; Nancy Knight (Sub-Fresh), third.

Mary Brundage broke all records in work on the rings. She made nine double trips and finished by "skinning the cat."

In work on the apparatus, Coris Shands showed splendid form and wonderful muscular control.

Monday afternoon the various dancing classes gave an exhibition, showing very creditable progress.

WILL YOU BE THERE TO SEE BRILLIANT FETE

The grand pageant in honor of Shakespeare will take place on the campus on April 23, at 8 o'clock p. m. Of all the attractions of the year this promises to be the most beautiful and imposing. There will be a procession of all the characters, which means one hundred and fifty girls; but so picturesque in costume that you will think the real celebrities of the courts of Elizabeth and James will be walking before you.

The unity of the program will be such that the audience can enjoy the themes that inspired the great dramatist in his creations. The scenes from the different plays are carried out to represent the following:

Henry V.....The Soldier Merchant of Venice.....The Friend Julius Caesar.....Heroes of Old Hamlet.....The Son Midsummer Night's Dream.....The Fairies Twelfth Night.....The Jesters Taming of the Shrew.....Self Control The Tempest.....The Poet's Farewell Each play will be introduced by William Shakespeare and the players of the Globe Theater, while Elizabeth and James share the honors.

Between the different scenes there will be groups of dancers with interpretive dances for the parts. A large number of girls have been in training for this feature of the program.

The College Glee Club and the ensemble class are preparing fine music for the occasion. Indeed every department of the College is interested in this performance, for it is the greatest undertaking in the way of dramatic study that has been given.

The costumes have been ordered from Esser Brothers of Pittsburgh, Pa. The campus will be lighted with unusual brilliancy, and every arrangement is being made for the comfort and pleasure of the spectators.

Miss Elder, who has the pageant in charge, is working earnestly and continuously for its success. She is practicing every possible hour with individual actors, and is working the groups into the harmony of the whole program. Girls, don't fail to be in your place for practice. "Will you be there" to learn the adjustment of your part to the whole?

Visitors do not lose this opportunity to see a brilliant pageant. "Will you be there" to fill one of the comfortable seats prepared for you?

Tickets are 75 cents. They will be on sale at the College Saturday. The board will be in the Tallahassee Drug Store next week where friends in town may purchase tickets.

STUDENTS GIVE GRADUATION RECITAL

The series of evening Students' Concerts, to be given by the School of Music of the Florida State College for Women as a sequel to the Morning Musicals presented throughout the year, opened most auspiciously with the Graduation Recital on last Monday evening. The soloists, candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Music, were Miss Irma Blake, pianist, pupil of Ella Scoble Opperman, and Constance Cavell, mezzo-soprano, pupil of Marie Oakinwau Bishop.

Miss Blake opened the recital with a group by Scarlatti, Schumann and Von Bulow. She won immediate favor, and in a wonderful way kept her audience engrossed during her interpretation of the entire program. Miss Blake has great digital skill. There is a sureness and certainty in her playing rarely found except in artists of long experience. The Leschetizsky Tarantella was interpreted with much dash, the Carreno Teresita Waltz in fine rhythmic swing and the Rubinstein Staccato Etude with masterful climax. Her maturity of interpretation was best shown in the Mendelssohn G Minor Concerto, which she played in its entirety.

Miss Cavell was also greeted with storms of applause. She possesses a voice of rich, fine tone in the middle register of the mezzo-soprano. The delicate, trying, sustained work demanded by Hahn's "Si mes vers avaient des ailes" was met with particularly fine effect. She was also at her best in Cadman's "From the Land of the Sky-Blue Water." The aria from Mignon by Thomas was given with a good dramatic recitative, followed by charmingly delicate staccato work in the aria. Her program included selections from Bizet's Carmen and songs by Dudley Buck and Spross.

Miss Cavell wore a handsome blue accordeon-plaited hand-embroidered gown.

Miss Blake was attired in a dainty cream-colored net, with beautiful honiton applique.

VESPER SERVICE WELL ATTENDED

A very large audience attended the Vesper Service in the College Auditorium last Sunday afternoon. The regular audience was increased by the many visitors in Tallahassee attending upon the session of the Legislature.

The College Glee Club of fifty-five voice students sang Sealy's long and difficult anthem, "Thou, O God, Art Praised in Zion." The incidental solo and trio work was given by Misses Gladys Comforter, Constance Cavell, and Rose Evans. The students responded with accuracy to the baton of Miss Bishop.

Miss Rausch, violinist, played the Brahms Intermezzo with much feeling and purity of tone. Her delicate work in octaves was very effective.

Miss Bishop sang Hanscom's "The Day of Resurrection," with violin obligato. It was interpreted with much feeling and rich quality of voice.

The College Glee Club sang two choruses from Paul Bliss' cantata, "Pan on a Summer Day," at the prohibition mass meeting prior to the address of Ex-Gov. Patterson. The selections were beautiful and exceedingly well sung by the chorus.

CLASS SPIRIT ON FIELD DAY

Class Spirit in our school? Yes, although at our door has often been laid the accusation that we are sadly lacking in this necessary adjunct to the worth-while college life. That our girls possess something of this treasure was revealed very clearly on Field Day, when the esprit de corps of the classes was worthy the admiration of the most indifferent on-looker.

Aside from the unity of spirit of the classes on that day, there was an unusual lack of enmity for other classes, which this friendly rivalry almost invariably brings about, and this fact, in itself, is gratifying. It shows that the girls of our College are growing broader; that they are learning how to be good losers, as well as good winners. The excellent spirit felt among the students is a help not only to the individual and the class, but it permeates the whole school, making it stronger and better; for loyalty to class means a deeper and greater loyalty to our Alma Mater.

LACK OF INTEREST

With so much attention and interest directed to Field Day and other College activities, we are slowly but effectively pushing our literary societies into the background. Lack of interest is pure "rat-biscuit" to a literary society. It kills quickly and neatly.

When we stop to consider what our literary societies have meant to us in the past, and what they might mean to us in the future, we must realize that we cannot afford to neglect them. They have put individuality and "jeep" into many a timid and reserved student by placing her repeatedly upon their programs. They have brought out undreamed-of talent. They have represented, to the students, a circle of comrades where social cliques and class rivalry were put aside, with only good feeling left to prevail. They have mothered many a home-sick freshman by welcoming her and winning her friends. Lastly, and best of all, they have been of inestimable value in developing and encouraging the untalented along literary and oratorical lines.

BEN GREET PLAYERS DELIGHT AUDIENCES

College student and town patron alike received a long anticipated treat last Friday when the Ben Greet Woodland Players presented matinee and evening performances.

The public has enjoyed a three years' acquaintance with these famous exponents of Shakespeare's plays, and when the first announcement of their coming was made they knew that they were not to be disappointed. The plays given this time were, "Taming of the Shrew" and "The Merchant of Venice." The former was quite pleasing, due partly to the charming novelty and originality of the play itself, but more indeed to the clever interpretation of the role of the shrewish Katharina, by Elsie Herndon Kearns. George Sommes showed himself a true tamer, however, in succeeding so beautifully in the mammoth task of bringing the fair (?) "Kate" to utter subjection to his will. To say that the audience was entertained throughout the performance is to express it mildly.

Perhaps some of the enjoyment has been lost from "The Merchant of Venice," through having seen it played so often, but nevertheless it is hard to get too much of a really good thing, and when played by a company of such widely admitted talent it could not but be appreciated. As is their custom the parts were assigned according to the special fitness of the individual and the interest of the audience was held through admiration for the dignity and justice of the wise young judge and through contempt and pity for the vengeful spirit of the old Jew.

The enterprise was also a success financially, and the Juniors are to be congratulated upon their good management.

Y. W. C. A.

The Sunday evening address, entitled "Spiritual Muscle," was especially appropriate for preparing us for Field Day. Miss Nelson aptly treated the subject and showed us that, while we are engaged in developing ourselves physically, we must not neglect to develop ourselves spiritually.

We had the pleasure of meeting with the pastors from the city. These monthly services are helpful in bringing the pastors and students in closer touch.

WAR BRIEFS

The American note to Germany, regarding the sinking by the Prinz Eitel Frederick of the sailing ship William P. Frye, was made public Monday, April 5. It is confined principally to a recital of the legal aspects of the sinking of the Frye, and in diplomatic language suggests that Germany make "reparation" to the extent of $228-059.54.

The eruption of Bulgarian irregular troops, across the Servian frontier on April 3, is not without precedent since the beginning of the war, but is the most serious incident of the kind that has occurred. The Bulgarians, who are said to have been led by Austrian officers, compelled the Servian frontier guards to retreat and occupied the heights on the left bank of the Varda river, penetrating as far as Strumitza. With the arrival of Servian reinforcements the invaders were driven back beyond the frontier, with considerable loss to either side. A protest has been lodged by Servia with the Bulgarian government.

In pursuance of their orders "to sink everything," German submarines have, during the past week, added four British trawlers and a French fishing vessel to their list of victims. They have also sent to the bottom one Norwegian, one Russian, one French and eight British ships. A Dutch vessel was destroyed by a mine. In some cases the crews were able to save themselves. In others, lives were lost. The number of victims of these submarine exploits for the week which ended Tuesday, April 6, was thirty-four.

The note addressed to the British government by the United States in regard to the order in council constituting an embargo on German commerce was of a friendly nature. It amounts virtually to an assertion of the right of non-contraband shipments from the United States to be transported through neutral countries to belligerent territory.

INTERESTING UNION OF CLASSES

On Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock a joint meeting of the classes in mission study was held in the Art Gallery. This meeting was planned by Miss Longmire, who has been conducting one of the classes during the year, and upon her invitation all the classes gave cheerful co-operation. An hour's program, as given below, was carried out:

Song and Scripture Reading.
Prayer.
Words of Greeting by the Chairman.
.....Miss Longmire
Report of the Work of the Student Volunteer Band.....Rosa Walker
Some Important Leaders Among "The Servants of the King".....
.....Ruth Patterson
The Asiatic Renaissance.....Ruth Nelson
A Great Leader, Dr. Morrison, in China.....Mary Edna Owen Duet, "Galilee".....
.....Ruth Nelson and Kathleen Carro
The New Era in World Missions.....
.....Kate Montgomery

The Chairman stated: "We have now come to a very important part of the program. No study of missions is complete without it moves us to give some part of our substance, as well as our efforts, to this great world movement." The class had been preparing for this offering, and the result was indeed gratifying.

The Chairman then called upon Rev. Adecock for a few words of greeting, to which he responded in his usual sincere and delightful way. Dr. Conradi gave a few words of greeting and approval, showing his appreciation of the work of these classes. Besides the mission study classes and their leaders, there were invited to the meeting the pastors of Tallahassee and their wives; the principals of the dormitories and the president of the College, and the presidents of the missionary societies of the churches of the city. At the conclusion of the program, Rev. Adecock pronounced the benediction. A social hour followed, during which time all persons present enjoyed conversation and delicious refreshments.

During the year the classes have held their meetings on Sunday evenings after the Y. W. C. A. services. The studies have been as follows:

"The New Era in Asia," Miss Longmire's class.

"Servants of the King," Miss Schwalmeyer's class.

"The Cry of the World," Mrs. Garrett's class.

"A Study of Special Problems," Student Volunteer Band, led by Miss Mary Louise Seales.

It is hoped this work may grow and that the Christian work of this College may become a still greater contribution to the world's mission.

DR. BRAUTLECHT ADDRESSES THE PHILOSOPHICAL CLUB

At the last meeting of the Philosophical Club of the Florida State College for Women, Dr. Brautlecht addressed the members on "The Effects of Chemistry on War." War was defined and then the cost and effects of war on a country and on its inhabitants were considered in detail.

The conclusion of the address contained the following statements:

"Progress in many lines of industrial endeavor has been dependent upon chemistry, and various governments have exerted all of the means at their disposal to utilize to the maximum extent all available chemical knowledge for developing the efficiency of their navies and armies for defensive and offensive purposes with great benefit. In fact, governments, to maintain power, have been forced to employ these means.

"Chemical progress, by producing the greatest wealth, if not the greatest net profit, exposes a country to much envy and subjects it to militaristic and navalistic commercial wars. Chemistry, when applied, makes a country more prosperous and better able to defend itself; by increasing gold production it makes possible expensive wars; terrific means of destruction and construction are made possible, men engaged in war are better fed, clothed and transported, and the wounded have better chances of recovery.

"The evidence shows also that universal peace is an impossibility; that war is a necessity, being the last resort in money, commercial, territory, ambition and natural resource troubles which cannot be eliminated from the human nature of a number of individuals; navalists and militarists will always exist that governments cannot readily secure the complete control of the production of arms and ammunition; that having armies and navies they must be used, at least, occasionally, that the bulk of the people who must pay the bills, but who have little or no voice in determining if there is to be a war, will not readily repudiate war loans for conquest or rebel against a trouble-producing management; that bankers, for the enormous returns, will finance wars with the productive capacity of human beings as security; and that some influential people will always really want wars despite their feigned aversion for them.

"Wars are, therefore, as certain to occur as people are to be taxed and die; and we must always be prepared for wars of defense. Chemistry, in an inconspicuous manner, confers greater good during times of peace, in aiding health, happiness, protection and progress than it does harm in wars through destruction of life, enslavement through taxation, destruction of property and the creation of racial hate.

Letters, for the best all-around athletes, were awarded to Miss Elbeth Mulholland and Miss Emma Lee King. Miss Pearl Caldwell, president of the Senior Class, then presented the championship banner to the champions of '15. Upon presenting it Miss Caldwell said:

"We, too, have a banner which means much to us, but we cannot say that the device is strange. Our banner spells 'Championship,' and we have been acquainted, nay, on intimate terms with it for three years. I know of nothing which could better bring about loyal class spirit, also college spirit, than our annual Field Day, and I think our Miss Elder should have our deep and heartfelt thanks for bringing it about. Of course, she has had splendid co-operation from our faculty members and from the students, but she, as we know, was the pioneer in this movement in our college. Field Day has furnished us with a great deal of pleasure, also several tongue fights, and almost fist fights at times; it has also served to deny our eager palates the great pleasure of mince pie, which, to the exclusion of other good things to eat, has figured in the history of our Alma Mater from time immemorial.

Seniors, poor dears who have grown aged and feeble with the burdens of philosophy, English, history and education piled upon them without mercy by an unfeeling, though capable, faculty, could not hope to hold the banner against the young giants who were after their scalps.

A small girl had a puzzling look on her face, and finally the cause was made known by her asking: "Aunt Ethel, who was Shylock?" Aunt Ethel turned on the small creature in surprise and mortification as she answered: "Have you been going to Sunday school all these years and don't know who Shylock was?" Unlike the small girl, we are not in ignorance as to what our banner is, nor what it stands for, but as time goes on I trust our banner will come to mean a great deal more to us; not merely winning a victory to-day and forgetting it to-morrow; but that it will stand for the highest stands possible in the field of sports. And some sweet day, perhaps our College will win a State Championship for sport; I will go further than that and say Championship of the South.

"Junior Normals, in presenting you with this banner, in behalf of the Senior Class, in behalf of the faculty, in behalf of the whole school, I wish to thank you and to congratulate you on the strong, fair, hard fight you put up and to wish you much pleasure and joy in your possession of the coveted banner."

UNIVERSITY BOYS TO PLAY BALL AT TALLAHASSEE

One of the many "distractions of the coming week," according to Miss Elder, will be the baseball games. The University boys leave Gainesville Monday and play Quincy Wednesday. They reach here Wednesday midnight and play Auburn Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

MISS McLIN, READER IN PETER PAN

(OR THE BOY WHO WOULDN'T GROW UP)

J. M. BARRIE

Miss Ruby McLin, pupil of DuBois Elder, read J. M. Barrie's Peter Pan in the college auditorium, Saturday evening, April 17. It was a genuine treat to all lovers of artistic and delightful interpretation. Miss McLin's talent and grace found delightful freedom in the land of the fairies. She was attired in soft creation of accordion plaited chiffon, with a crisp Malline tunic, and a large nymph bow of green Malline on her shoulder. She was indeed a mate for Peter Pan. At once, the audience was wafted into the land of fairies by Miss McLin's interpretative "Thinker Bell Dance. Soon they saw the little elves in all the tiny tree-tops, and on the great pirate ship, and there stayed with them, until Miss McLin chose to bring them back again to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Darling. And if one did not believe in fairies at the end of the scene in the Tree Top, then he was the sadder. Miss McLin is to be commended especially on her noise and rhythm. She grasps the personalities of her characters with the spirit and agility of the artist. We predict for her a great future in this field, for she is in the truest sense a lyric reader.

Act I—Our Early Days—Inside the House—Miss McLin.

Impromptu, Op. 90, No. 4—Schubert. Miss Collins.

Act II—The Never, Never Land—Our Cave House Under the Ground.

Act III—On Board the Ship—Miss McLin.

Concerto in D Minor—Allegro—Mozart. (Orchestral part on second piano)—Miss Barber.

Act IV—Scene 1: Inside the House—We return to our deserted nother.

Scene 2: Outside the House.

Scene 3: The Tree Top—Miss McLin. Orchestral Parts—Miss Blake.

WAR BRIEFS.

It is reported that the Germans have lately been gaining on the west front. The Berlin official statement says that the Kaiser's troops penetrated the French positions and stormed and reoccupied the village of Embereuil.

The report comes from British East Africa that near Pangani, the British encountered a German force, and lost seven hundred men, among them four companies captured, besides many rifles and large store of ammunition. The German casualties were seven officers and thirteen men killed, fourteen officers and twenty-two men wounded.

German attempts to bring Austria and Italy to friendly terms have been of no use. According to the latest reports, the Austrians who were passing over Italian territory, actually fired upon Italian troops, who repulsed them and in turn penetrated Austrian territory.

A Greek steamer has been sunk off the Dutch coast by a German submarine. This is likely to bring friction between the Greek and German governments.

A British submarine was sunk in the Dardanelles on April 18. Three officers and twenty-one men of the crew of thirty-one were rescued by the Turks.

FLORIDA OUTHITS AUBURN BUT IS DEFEATED IN FIRST GAME

(By Fred H. Davis, Jr.)

The Florida boys got more hits than Auburn in the first game of the series here Thursday, but were defeated by the score of 7 to 2. A combination of circumstances, backed up by two timely home runs with men on bases, played havoc with Florida's chances of winning.

The University boys scored one run in the first when Schuyler struck out, Seymour singled to left, Von sacrificed, sending Seymour to second, and Embry brought him home with a corking single to center, but was out trying to stretch it into a double. This concluded all of Florida's chances until the seventh, when Seymour sent a hot one through third and Lotspeich reached first on Bonner's muff in left field. This made Florida two on bases and none out. Intense excitement prevailed, and it looked as if Florida were about to even things up with the Auburn boys, who were five runs ahead. Besore stalled and finally fooled Embry, who hit at three wide ones over the outer edge of the plate. Von sent up a high fly to second. Farrior ended the inning with a weak grounder to first, leaving two men on bases. Florida scored her second and last time in the eighth on a single to center by Merrin, a strikeout by Holland, who had been sent in to take the mound in place of Durrance, and a single through second by Schuyler, who scored Merrin on the play.

The Auburnites began theirs in the third with a home run down the third base line by Steed, with two men on. Ordinarily this would have been called a foul, but the ball hugged the right field lines and the umpire decided it was fair. Auburn scored three more in the fifth, when Louisell landed on one of Durrance's waist high outs for a three-bagger, scoring Collins ahead of him. Houston then proceeded to lift a long fly over Embry's head, and stretched it into a homer. This was one of the longest hits ever made on the local grounds. Auburn scored again in the eighth on an error by Florida's catcher in overthrowing second.

Durrance was replaced by Holland in the eighth, when the Florida coach saw that it was useless for him to remain in the box longer.

The box score follows:

MRS. McNIELL PASSES AWAY.

The sudden death of Mrs. Jerome McNiell, wife of Dr. McNiell, of the College faculty, was a terrible shock to the entire community. She was in usual health until within ten minutes of the end, which came at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon. While sitting by the window, sewing and talking with her daughter and one of her neighbors, she was seized with apoplexy. Physicians were summoned immediately and every possible effort made to restore her, but she passed beyond all restoration in a very few minutes.

Her life was quiet, but rich in the fulfillment of duties and activities as wife, mother, neighbor, friend, and a strong character in community life. She was born in Plymouth, Mass., and grew up in Boston, her family being one of the prominent families of New England. Even yet the old Alderson homestead, established by the family at the first Plymouth settlement, is in the hands of the Alderson descendants at Plymouth. Upon finishing her high school education Mrs. McNiell, then Mary Alderson, received her collegiate training at Antioch College and was a pupil of Edward Everett Hale. While at Antioch she met Dr. McNiell. After their marriage they lived in the middle west for some years and came to Tallahassee eleven years ago.

She was an active member of the Presbyterian Church in this city, where her presence and her consecrated service will be sadly missed. Her neighbors relied upon her for a cheerful greeting at all times, and often for kind assistance in a great many ways. She was interested in young people and enjoyed any work among them. She was a patroness of Chi Omega fraternity, and was particularly helpful in its initial work in the College. As a leader in the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, and in the Sunday School, she was respected and loved. Besides her husband she leaves six children, a son in Minnesota, a son and a daughter in Richmond, Ind., and two sons and one daughter at the home in our city, all of whom have the sincere regard and heartfelt sympathy of the community. Truly, "we know not what a day may bring forth." The morning brings its signs of life and its plans for active service, and the evening sees them stilled forever in that quiet rest of the final sleep. But a life that has met its high obligations and never faltered in the performance of every duty cannot be measured in years, but rather in good deeds—"which cannot die. They with the sun and moon renew their light, forever blessing those that look on them."

JUNIOR PROM TONIGHT

JUNIORS MAKING ELABORATE PLANS

MANY OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS

PROM TO BE HELD ON CAMPUS

The most elaborate Junior Prom that has ever been given at the College will be given tonight on the campus in front of Bryan Hall. The Juniors are not only planning to make this the usual success, but to make it so unusually delightful the guests will always remember it apart from other Junior Proms. The hostesses are preparing for 200 guests from other States as well as from different parts of Florida. An orchestra has been engaged to furnish music for the entertainment. Refreshments, consisting of three courses, will be served in Bryan Hall lobby.

This is the first Prom that has ever been held on the campus. The lights and fixtures set up for the pageant were left in place for this occasion.

GERMAN CLUB MEETS.

Dr. and Mrs. Claassen delightfully entertained the German Club last Monday evening. The program was the most interesting that the club has had this year and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Several songs were sung by the club, accompanied by Miss Rausch on the violin. Two scenes from the play, "Elegensinn," were delightfully presented. Those taking part were Misses Helen Farrington, Lucy Grier, Mary Orr and Emma Helseth. After partaking of delicious refreshments, consisting of salad, cake and tea, the members played German games until it was time to adjourn.

WELCOME!

We enthusiastically welcome our visitors from "Florida." Their visits on the campus and big ball games in sight always make up look forward with pleasure to the month of April. We are ready with new yells for Florida and to help "our boys" carry off the "one-over" this year!

PROSPERITY STATISTICS.

The following figures are quoted from a W. C. T. U. post card:
Missouri. Kansas.

Age of States	94	54
Population	3,300,000	1,630,000
Saloons	4,000
Per capita expenditure for liquor	$24.00	$1.48
Criminals to 3,000 population	10	1
Bank deposits per capita	$20.00	$140.00
Assessed property valuation per capita	$300.00	$1,700.00
Automobiles to every 100 farmers	1	20
In Kansas there are 131 towns of 1,000 population, which own electric light plants, water and sewer systems, splendid sidewalks and public schools without a single cent of revenue from the liquor traffic. In Missouri there are scores of towns of from 1,000 to 4,000 population with open saloons paying a high license, where they have no electric light plants, no water or sewer systems, and poor sidewalks.
In the panic of 1907 Missouri, with all her big banks, was unable to send one penny to the East. Kansas banks sent $50,000,000.
Kansas spends $38,000,000 less per year for intoxicants than does Missouri. This explains the prosperity of Kansas.

The question of equal suffrage very probably will not even be taken up at this session of the Legislature. Those advocating the measure have received little encouragement.

CIVIC PRIDE.

Is there a feeling of civic pride Miss Hilda Causey Tuesday at dinner, strangers who have visited our institution without becoming acquainted with the students might answer "no," and, perhaps, he would be justified in his convictions, for most of the girls are thoughtless when it comes to their responsibility in helping to keep the place attractive. They do not seem to realize that with a little care on the part of the individual student, the campus could be kept in much better order. If the student realized this she would put bits of trash and paper into the waste basket, instead of carelessly throwing them on the grass; she would walk on the pavement, even though it does not follow the line of least resistance, and thus do her part toward encouraging grass to spring up in the bare places. That the average student is extremely careless about this latter responsibility is emphasized by the fact that Mr. Allen had to put iron railings around the walks to keep us off the grass. He was justified in doing this for it seemed to him an impossibility to keep us off any other way. Still this measure should not have been necessary. The students' pride in the college should have enforced this regulation.

We do not feel with the stranger that there is no civic pride among our girls. On the contrary, we are quite sure it is there. If the visitor were to talk for a little while with members of the student body he would change his mind to agree with us; for every student loves the college and is anxious to see it improved in every possible way. The only fault is that she has not yet come to realize that she must have a little personal responsibility to add to the greater responsibilities which are necessary to the growth and strength of the institution. When she wakes up to this fact visitors can no longer suggest to us our lack of manifestation of civic pride. It will be self-evident.

BROUGHT TO TRIAL.

The trial of John Barleycorn, to be held in Chicago October, 1915, will be a unique setting forth of the temperance reform situation, and, according to Daniel A. Polling, temperance secretary of the Christian Endeavor Society, will be of as much value to this reform as was "The World in Chicago" to the missions.

This trial will follow as closely as possible correct legal procedure. The Hon. J. Frank Hanley has been retained to prosecute the case. An honored judge will preside over the court; some of the most prominent men and women of the country will give their testimony. Barleycorn himself will be defended by two distinguished liquor advocates. At the close of the trial the court record will be bound into a book by the United Society of Christian Endeavor.

ROSA WALKER TALKS BEFORE
Y. W. C. A.

Only one girl in five hundred goes to college! Then surely we college girls should be thankful for our privilege.

Miss Walker's talk on "A College Girl's Debts" made us see what we owe to girls not in college. But besides showing us our obligations she showed us how we might share our college life with others by establishing "The Eight Week Clubs" during the summer months. These clubs give the members an opportunity for pleasant social meetings, social service work, and mission and Bible study. At the close of the services a class of forty-eight girls was formed to study the organization of these clubs.

SIMPLIFIED SPELLING.

"Why did you take Elnora away from school, Aunt Mandy?" a lady asked her cook one day. Aunt Mandy sniffed scornfully. "Cause de teacher ain't satisfactory tuh me, Miss Mable. What do you reckon she tell dat chile yesterday? She 'low dat IV spell four, when even a idjut 'ud know it spell ivy."—Exchange.

KINDERGARTEN NOTES.

The children of the Kindergarten are very much interested in watering and caring for their garden which they planted last week.

Ernestine Blocker and Martha Seurs visited the county school kindergarten Monday morning.

The kindergarten department is very glad to have Althea Middleton as a new pupil.

Most of the games of the kindergarten are now conducted out-of-doors under the shades of our beautiful oaks.

Geneva Moseley has been directing the kindergarten for the past week. We all think she is a very promising kindergarten teacher.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

The pupils of the Training School enjoyed the privilege of hearing Senator Bryan speak in chapel on Tuesday and sent him a bunch of beautiful roses by Louise Conrad.

Horton Mabry and Will Cockrell are the attractive pages in Queen Elizabeth's court in the pageant.

The fourth grade girls have completed a pretty set of cardboard furniture, and the boys have built automobiles.

Wednesday was "tooth" day. Colgate sent each a tube of Dental Cream, and those who brought tooth brushes had a practical lesson in using them. The whole school had a lesson on the relation of tooth and health.

The first radish was brought from the garden on Wednesday and now every one is closely watching the one little spot that belongs to him or her for that next ripe vegetable.

MISS FREEMAN HOSTESS

Miss Lucile Freeman was hostess at a domestic science dinner at the College Friday at 6 p. m., in honor of her mother, Mrs. A. H. Freeman, of Starke, who is spending the month in the city.

The dining room was very attractive, by the artistic arrangement of wistaria, pansies and violets and a huge bowl of wistaria centered the table.

Covers were laid for twelve, and the five-course menu reflected the color motif of wistaria and green throughout the dinner, which was as palatable as pretty. The place cards were dainty Japanese lettering with wistaria borders.

The hostess presided with her usual charming manner and wore an empire gown of wistaria tissue over green, with butterfly sash of green. The honor guest was becomingly attired in nile green charmeuse with silver lace overdress. Other guests included Mayor and Mrs. D. M. Lowry, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lively, Edwin Alford, John Choate, Everett Yon, Mrs. Gorman, Ruby Adams, Jeanette Hopson.

MENU

Jellied Bouillon, Croutons.
Roast Chicken, Duchess Potatoes.
Corn, English Peas.
Clover Leaf Rolls, Butter.
Grape Ice.

Argyle Salad, Saltines.
Pistachio Bisque, Angel Food Cake.
Cafe Noir, Napoleons, Mints.

MRS. EDWARDS ENTERTAINS.

Mrs. John S. Edwards was hostess at a delightful reception on Wednesday afternoon in honor of her guest, Mrs. R. R. Sullivan, of Lakeland. Between the hours of 5 and 6:30 about 100 guests called and were introduced into the living room, which was artistically decorated with potted plants and cut flowers, by Miss Cobb and Mrs. West. Standing in line were Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Sullivan, Mrs. Park Trammell, Mrs. H. J. Drane, Mrs. J. G. Kellum and Mrs. O. K. Starlings. Mrs. Edwin Barnes then ushered the guests into the dining room, where delicious refreshments, consisting of neapolitan ice cream, cake and mints, were served. Here the color scheme of pink and green was effectively carried out. Serving Misses Irma Trammell, Evelyn Whitfield, McDonald, Mays and Peacock. On departing, delicious punch was served on the porch by Misses Margaret Pearce, Florence Conliver and Josephine Drane.

AMONG OTHER SCHOOLS.

Vassar College will establish a bureau of occupations for the purpose of studying the employments open to and desirable for women, and for assisting the graduates to select and advising them in preparation for chosen vocations. The wardens of the college halls are to be the agents of the plan who will, in conference, with each other and the college authorities and with the students, work out the details.

The University of Chicago has been awarded a prize by the authorities of the International Exhibition for the book industry and the Graphic Arts, which was held in Leipzig, Germany. The prize was awarded for an exhibit of publication issued by the University Press.

Governor Ferris, of Michigan, has expressed his willingness to sign a teachers' pension bill, if it is passed by the legislature. The governor says: "I would rather see teachers salaries advanced, but since that does not seem to be an immediate possibility, the least that the State can do is to recognize the debt which it owes to the faithful men and women who labor for years at a small pittance in the grades of our public schools."

Dean W. W. Charters, of the School of Education of the University of Missouri has recently published "A Course of Study in Grammar Based Upon the Grammatical Errors of School Children of Kansas City, Missouri." The work appears in the form of a University of Missouri bulletin and is particularly enlightening in the matter of directing supervisors to induce their special teachers to pay more attention to the essentials of good language.

The London Educational Committee is confronted by a singular dearth of school masters owing to the fact that 824 teachers in the public elementary schools of London have enlisted in the war. Throughout the country districts in England the scarcity of teachers is felt even more severely.

Lectures upon the war have become popular in many institutions. In the month of January Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia, lecturing at Hamilton College, upon the vital questions of the European war, was one of three speakers from various universities who contributed to the discussions of the general topic "The Economic Aspects of the War."

Over 300,000 school children in the United States have signed the petition to the rulers of the nations at war to use their efforts to bring about peace. The petition blanks were circulated by the Children's Petition Committee, of which Miss Katherine D. Blake, principal of Public School Number Six, Manhattan, was chairman.

A course of study in health and disease for general students is offered by the University of Wisconsin Medical School for the second semester. It is designed to cover the more important aspects of personal and public hygiene emphasizing the sources of infection and the methods of the spread of disease, together with the measures used to control these factors. The course is in no sense technical and is intended for all persons who desire a knowledge of the ways and means to promote their own health and that of the community.

University Plays Baseball at Quincy

The University of Florida defeated Quincy last Wednesday afternoon with a score of 9 to 4. The victory was easy and the gate receipts good.

FIRST ENGLISH NEWSPAPER.

The first English newspaper printed in the English language and with its quaint English type and its account of events in foreign countries, was a pamphlet issued in 1621. Its title, "Corrant, or Nevves From Italie, Germanie, France and Other Places," is as curious as its contents. For many years it had been supposed that no copy of The Corrant was in existence, but recently a copy of this interesting document was discovered. —Exchange.

HEALTH ON WHEELS

Conservation of Human Life the Vital Movement of the Century

Doctor Oscar Dowling, President of Louisiana State Board of Health, with his corps of attendants, Miss Agnes Morris, director of the car; Miss Fanny Nelken, demonstrator, and Mr. Cary Robertson, electrician and demonstrator, brought the "Gospel of Health on Wheels" to Tallahassee, Wednesday, April 14, remaining through the 15th and 16th. The "Health Train" was brought to Tallahassee at the request of Dr. Porter, Florida's State Health Officer, in the interest of bringing the Legislature in closer touch with the health conditions of Florida. This educational hygiene exhibit is the pioneer in this form of health education, Louisiana, under the leadership of Dr. Dowling, has made great advances in this new enterprise of health education. It is the only State in the Union that owns two cars; an administration car, used entirely for office work. This car saves a great deal of expense. The second car has three distinct divisions:

1. Prevention of disease.
2. Child hygiene.
3. Food, including water.

The exhibition car is complete in its electrical apparatus, placards, illustrations and miniature homes, dairies, etc., showing conditions and vital statistics in regard to the public health. A scythe descending by electricity every twenty seconds on the head of a "baby" showed the mortality rate among infants under one year. A striking feature of the disease prevention is a number of anatomical specimens in large jars and pathological tuberculosis specimens. In two large separate jars were two preserved rats—opened, showing the interior of the anatomy of a healthy rat, and one affected by the black plague. In other vessels were a normal heart with larger vessel, superficial muscles and arteries of the upper extremities, superficial muscles and vessels of the posterior region of the leg, adult healthy lungs, tuberculosis lungs, interior healthy lungs, all giving graphic impressions which are not soon to be forgotten. This great exhibit is too extensive to describe in detail. Its six essential principles of public and personal health, however, are:

- Care of the baby.
- School and home hygiene.
- Community hygiene.
- Pure food.
- Disease prevention.
- Health promotion.

In an interview, Miss Morris stated: "The main purpose of this exhibit is popular education in hygiene. Motion pictures are shown every evening. The car has traveled 26,000 miles, as far east as Washington and as far west as California. This is the eleventh interstate trip. The great popularity of this method of education is shown by the many requests for it and by the demands of those places to which it has come, to come again." Because of this train and his aggressive methods, Dr. Dowling is the most widely known health officer in the United States. Students of science, education, psychology and in the home economic department of the college, made quite a thorough inspection of the entire exhibit. It is the finest opportunity the college and citizens of Tallahassee have had in health education.

CAMPUS NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Beardsley, of Jacksonville, were in Tallahassee for a short visit with their daughter, Miss Estelle Beardsley, of the College. They returned to Jacksonville Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Lillian Glenn left for her home in Gretna Tuesday morning.

Miss Miona Rodda was called to her home in Palatka Wednesday afternoon by the illness of her grandmother.

Miss Mary Bannerman spent the week-end in town with her aunt, Mrs. Robertson, of Tallahassee.

Miss Annie McPherson took as her guest Miss Edith Peoples to her home in Quincy for the week-end.

Miss Susie McKeown and her house guest, Miss Eva Mae Thompson, spent the week-end at Miss McKeown's home in Gretna.

Miss Pearl Caldwell spent the week-end in Lake City, returning Monday afternoon.

Miss Blannie Warren left for her home in De Funiak Springs Saturday afternoon with her brother, Mr. Miles Warren, who has been attending the Legislature. Miss Warren returned Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Mary Brundage was a week-end guest at her home near Tallahassee this week.

Miss Josephine Grasty was a guest for the week-end of Mrs. W. G. Dodd, of Tallahassee.

Prof. W. N. Henderson, principal of the Bonifay schools, and Honorable E. L. Wartman, from Citra, who is a member of the Board of Control, visited the College Tuesday.

Some of the prominent educators of the State are in Tallahassee in behalf of legislation on education. These are Dr. J. A. Thackston, State high school inspector; Dr. J. L. Kelly, superintendent Alachua county; Supt. R. A. Hall, of Dade county, and Supt. Dixie M. Hollins, of Pinellas county.

Mr. Julian Harris, of Orlando, was the guest of his sister, Miss Minna Harris, Monday.

Through the courtesy of Senator N. P. Bryan the College is now in possession of an elegantly bound set of nineteen volumes called "Women and Child Wage-Earners in the United States." These volumes are a special report of Mr. Chas. Neill, commissioner of labor.

Mr. Robert Crawford was the guest of Miss Natalie Moffett Monday.

Mrs. O. Jacobie and her son, Master Lewis Jacobie, were the guests of Hilda Cansey Tuesday at dinner.

Miss Annell Ball was the guest of Miss Kathryn Ball Monday.

Mr. R. E. Macdonald, representative from Dade county, Dr. Hiram Byrd, of the State health department, and Mr. W. J. Krome, a prominent construction engineer who is in charge of the Over-Sea Railroad, were the guests of Miss Florence B. Stephens at supper Saturday.

The girls from Dade county took supper with them. These were Misses Oakley St. John, Dorothy Davies, Gussie Daugherty, Marie and Lucy Pitchford, Elsa Hainlin, Candace Puffer, Mary Ward Spruell, Birdie Coffrin and Hulett Gist.

Mr. C. R. Jordan was the guest of his daughter, Miss Ella Ready Jordan Saturday.

Judge W. E. Parrish, Supt. D. M. Trotman, Messrs. M. A. Warren, Charles H. Gordon and Miles Warren were the guests of Miss Winnie Warren at supper Thursday.

Misses Janet Byrd and Azalee More were the guests of Miss Harriet Brandon Saturday night.

Messrs. Holland, Sutton, Yon, Swanson, Farrier, McMullen, Wood and Ramsdale, from Gainesville, were the guests of the College at supper Tuesday.

Mrs. E. S. Hull, of Palmetto, is visiting her daughter, Miss Evora Hull.

Mr. C. B. Smith was the guest of his daughter, Miss Mary Frances Smith, at supper Saturday.

Uncle Toby was agitated at finding a strange darky with his arm around his daughter Mandy's waist.

"Mandy, tell dat niggah to take his ahm 'way from round yo' waist!" he indignantly commanded.

"Tell him yo'self," haughtily replied Mandy. "He's a puffed stranger to me."

Junior Prom a Scene of Enjoyment

"I never saw the campus look lovelier." "It must be nice to be an upper classman." "Wish it's a Junior." These were a few of the remarks some "prommers" overheard at the Prom last Saturday night as they were strolling through the sunken garden in front of Bryan Hall in quest of refreshments. The strollers promptly raised their eyes to find the source of such conversation. Many little noses were flattened against screens and many pairs of eyes were opened wide with envy. Neglected little under-classmen! From their rooms they were feasting their imagination upon the chicken salad and strawberry ice being served below. They were also feasting their eyes upon the picturesque and ever-shifting scene spread out before them. The Junior Prom was on at full tilt.

Under the soft lights of the Japanese lanterns the campus spread out invitingly. Beautifully dressed girls and blithesome young men strolled in and out among the pines. They were just happy young people "promming" in the various ways young people like to "prom"—some stepping lightly, others falteringly; some merrily, and others in wrapt and mutual admiration. Inviting and cozy seats were arranged in unexpected nooks, that those who did not care to stroll, nor to be merry, might sit and idly listen to the music. They were not permitted to enjoy this refuge alone, however, for when the orchestra stopped, at regular intervals, a signal was given for an exchange of partners. Then there was a hustle for the foot-lights, where dainty pink and gold programs were dubiously thumbed, and partners were lost, and apologies were made.

A color note of pink was used in the decorations. In the lobby, where the guests were received, the decorations included quantities of bamboo vines, potted plants and Spanish moss. The stairway was wound with bamboo vines. Spanish moss hung from the pink-shaded electric lights. Another pleasing scenic effect was produced by the arrangement of gaily decked tables in the sunken garden, where pink and white refreshments were served. Baskets of sweetpeas served for centerpieces.

The most popular retreat at all times was around the punch bowl. The punch table had a prominent position on the very platform to which Queen Elizabeth had led her court only the night before. Punch was served by members of the Freshmen class, as were the refreshments.

Florida Outhit Auburn in Every Game But Could Not Win

SECOND GAME A TIE

The score in the second game of the series between Auburn and Florida stood 4 to 1 in favor of Florida until the seventh inning, when Auburn started a rally which gained them one run in that inning and put them one run in the lead in the next. Pooser for Florida had pitched good ball, but gave way in the eighth and walked two men and gave up two long hits. Swanson, who took his place, was little better, and before three men were out, Auburn had three runs. Bad umpiring, to a large degree, contributed to Pooser's undoing. With the score 5 to 4 in favor of Auburn, Florida came back in the ninth and on a single by Holland and sacrifices by Swanson and Schuyler tied the score. Umpire Howard then called the game on account of darkness.

The following box score shows that Florida again outhit Auburn:

AUBURN WINS THIRD

Auburn scored first in the last game when Bonner was passed and Millstead brought him home on a single. Swanson pitcher air-tight ball until the eighth, when a series of errors allowed Auburn to add four runs to the four they already had, and win the game. Florida outhit Auburn and frequently had men on bases, but reckless base running killed all their chances of scoring. Price, for Auburn, appeared to be easy for the Florida boys, who hit him at will. On several occasions only remarkable fielding by his teammates saved him from serious embarrassment. The University coach recalled Swanson from the box in the last inning for failure to obey orders, Holland taking his place. The nine errors made by Florida were responsible for their defeat.

The box score follows:

Pageant Was a Brilliant Success

The most ambitious performance, and certainly one of the most successful ever presented on our campus was the pageant of Friday evening, April 23, given in honor of the three hundred fifty-first birthday of William Shakespeare. Participating were 150 students, the Glee Club of 50 voices, and the Ensemble Club, both of the latter of the School of Music. Enacted with real dramatic skill and power were scenes from "Henry V," "Merchant of Venice," "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "As You Like It," "Hamlet," "Twelfth Night," "Taming of the Shrew" and "The Tempest," and overlooking all, in all their royal splendor, were the courts of Elizabeth and James I. Interspersed were solos, choruses, ensembles for stringed instruments, and a wonderful variety of dances, interpretative of the spirit of the pageant. The spectacular effect will not soon be forgotten by those who were present. The greensward of the campus; the picturesque and many colored costumes characteristic of the people of Shakespeare's little world; the magnificent Greek dance; the stately minuet; the sometimes amusing but always graceful steps of the folk dances; the foresters of Arden with good yew bows and hounds in leash; the white-robed nuns bearing the bier of poor Ophelia, all heavily armed soldiers accompanying Henry V on horseback; the ethereal Ariel; proud Titania and her troop of fairy fairies; Orlando and his Rosalind; Portia and Shylock; Old Gobbo and son; the gravediggers; Viola and the sour Malvolio; the melancholy Hamlet; Petruchio and his shrew, as yet untamed; the elvish, mischievous Puck; Bottom and his company of artists—all, from the entrance of the prologue until Prospero proclaimed to the audience,

Our revels now are ended. These actors, As I foretold you, were all spirits, and Are melted into air, into thin air, presented one gorgeous pageant of color, light, motion and music.

The production was staged and directed by Miss DuBois Elder, of the School of Expression, assisted by Miss Roberts. The business side of the enterprise was managed by Miss Longmire, in the interests of the Alumnae Association, and was entirely successful. A very large audience, composed of students, residents of Tallahassee, members of the Legislature, and visitors from neighboring towns, enjoyed the performance and received with enthusiasm the many actors of the evening.

This great performance demonstrated one thing; that with the able leaders that are theirs, the students of the Florida State College for Women can do anything they set their hearts and minds upon doing. If a good beginning augurs well for the success of any enterprise, surely the success of celebrating annually at this College the birthday of Shakespeare will be worthily carried out in future years.

The following was the program: Greek Dance—Interpretative of the spirit of the Pageant.

Herads.
Entrance of Courts of Elizabeth and James I.—The period, 1558-1625, that covers the entire work of Shakespeare.

At Harvard, a plan has been adopted to give an extra "dose" of English to such students as are unable to express themselves intelligently in writing, after having "passed off" the requirements of the freshman year in that study. We wonder how that would work in our college.

"CRUSHES,"

A "crush," Websterially speaking, is a violent compression or collision. That isn't what it means in a girl's school, but probably Webster didn't know much about girls! Anyway, a "crush" occurs when you see some lonesome little underclassman, with sad brown eyes and down-curved lips, and you smile at her with an expression of sympathy in your eyes, and say "Hey" in girly tones, and she falls for it.

After that, the "love of a vase" on your study table is always filled with violets. When you're in a play you're always sure to receive flowers grown in Tampa or Jacksonville. Then Crush will also take you to the Tea Room for milk, and to the corner store for potted ham, and sometimes she takes you to the picture show in a taxi. When you're in a hurry she helps you dress. And because of these hundreds of acts of love, you begin to realize what a regular brick she is, and what a worthless specimen you are.

To be sure, you can to some degree compensate for the debt you owe by kissing her goodnight, and by giving her advice. But very often you stand indifferently before this person who watches your every act with adoring and dotting eyes. She has adopted you for her pattern. Are you a fit subject? Think it over.

Who will say, now, that our F. W. C. girl has no sense of personal responsibility? See how faithfully she co-operated with Miss Elder in making the poignant the biggest thing of its kind ever given in the State. She was on hand and in arms up to the very last minute. The poignant brought several hundred visitors to our College. Many formed their impressions of the College at that time. Our F. W. C. girl did her share in making those impressions creditable.

SOCIETY

Mrs. J. G. Kellum entertained at Auction Bridge, at her beautiful home on College Avenue, Monday afternoon. Mrs. R. B. Sullivan of Lakeland, guest of Mrs. J. S. Edwards, was honoree of the occasion. Four tables of guests enjoyed the game of auction. The house was a bower of flowers. Sweet peas predominated in the drawing room, dining room and study. The score cards, handpainted in the pastel shades, was the work of the hostess. The refreshments were carried out in sweet pea hints. Those enjoying Mrs. Kellum's charming hospitality were:

Mesdames R. B. Sullivan, J. S. Edwards, Camp of Ocala, H. J. Drane of Lakeland, Frank Whitrop, Alexander McDougal, David Curtis, Lowry, Browne, Ansley, Palmer, Jos. Edmundson, Chas. Gay, Lively and P. W. Wilson.

The Misses Sarah Fraleigh, Gertrude Lovell and Elizabeth Conradi, of the College, served.

The members of the Chi Omega fraternity enjoyed a delightful picnic at Bull Pond Monday. They left College at 11 o'clock and returned about 6. The day was spent in the usual picnic occupations and in feasting upon the picnic "feast"—sandwiches, pinonuts, nut and banana—of course—salad, ice cold ginger ale, boiled eggs, marmalade, cake, bananas, candy and pineapple.

Those present were Misses Margaret Willard, Angelica Yonge, Frances Lohridge, Oakley St. John, Josephine Drane, Mary and Betsy Floyd, Josephine Grasty, Kathryn Ball, Florence Binger, Sarah Burwell, Hattie Baird, Florence Conliffe, Lila Patterson, Cecile Jenkins, chaperoned by Mrs. Yonge and Mr. Francis Dodd.

Mrs. B. C. Whitfield was hostess to Kappa Alpha Chapter of Kappa Delta Fraternity, at her home on Calhoun Avenue, from 4 to 6 Monday afternoon. A lavin fete was the delightful occasion. Five winners in the "Modern Fiction" contest carried home large baskets of fresh sweet peas. Punch, cake, ice and candied nuts were served under the tall oak trees. The favors were roses and sweet peas. Mrs. Whitfield's charm as a hostess, and her attractive garden, made it the most delightful garden party of the year. Her guests were: Mesdames Geo. W. Owen, Barnes, Collins, and the Misses Constance Cavell, Stella Palmer, Mary Wilkinson, Cornelia Puleston, Mary Louise Seales, Virginia Mays, Mary Bailey Shum, Nellie Cooper, Edna Ireland, Mary Robertson, Mary Frances Smith, Elizabeth Anderson, Harriett Brandon, Grace Owen, Agnes Edwards, Norlie Sullivan, Natalie Moffett, Margaret Mays, Edith Epps, Evelyn Whitfield.

The members of the A. B. Club enjoyed a delightful feast of Waldorf salad, date sandwiches and chicken, Saturday night. Those present were Misses Gertrude Lovell, Laura Owen, Estelle Beardsley, Ida Hester, Marie Ellis, Grace Julian, Mildred Scott, Newell Walker and Sarah Fraleigh.

The members of the Alpha Kappa Psi Fraternity were entertained by their patronesses, Miss Sallie Blake and Mrs. J. C. Byars, Wednesday afternoon from 4:30 to 6 o'clock. Mrs. Byars' home was beautifully decorated with white ribbons and pansies. Delightful refreshments of lemon ice, strawberry ice-cream, angel cake, candies and stuffed dates were served. Those present were: Mrs. West, Misses Margaret Mays, Annie Lou Hardy, Lucile Cooper, Helen Vaughan, Ethel Evans, Emma Lee King, Adrienne Phillips, Dorothy Shennons, Corner Evans, Margaret Pearce, Mary Lou Leman, Elbeth Mulholland, Minna Harris, Emma Harris, Lucy Wood and Marie McMillan.

A delightful dinner was given in the Domestic Science dining room, Misses Josephine Drane and Mary Wilkinson, hostesses, Wednesday night at 6 o'clock. The dining room was lovely with bowls of purple, red and pink sweet peas. The center of the table was adorned with a mass of sweet peas, purple in the top, pink next, and red ones encircling the bottom. The guests were: Judge Boswell, Sonators Cooper, Drane, Himes, Igou, Stringer, Terrell; Messrs. Robson, Hanson, Stevens and Wilder.

The menu was the following:

Tomato Bouillon	Break Sticks
Salted Pecans	Olives Celery
Broiled Trout	Mushroom Sauce
Potato Balls
Baked Chicken	Orange Marmalade
Rice Gravy
Glazed Sweet Potatoes	Stuffed Peppers
Biscuit	Butter
Brazilian Salad
Nut Bread Sandwiches
Strawberry Bavarian Cream
Marshmallow Cake	Cheese Balls
Butter Tins	Cafe Noir
Cigars

Representative and Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mr. Scott Lofton, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnson, of Pensacola, were the supper guests of Misses Lola Johnson, Jeanette McMillan, Kathryn Monroe, Kathleen Morrison and Kathleen Caro, last Sunday night.

Miss Jeanette McMillan entertained the following young ladies at dinner in town last Monday noon: Misses Kathryn Monroe, Mary Deery Byrn, Kathleen Caro, Lola Johnson, Kathleen Morrison and Ruby Leach.

KINDERGARTEN NOTES.

A very interesting program was carried out last week on water and its various uses.

The Kindergarten garden already has many young radish and lettuce plants. The children enjoy very much spending a half hour each morning watering their plants and pulling the weeds.

An exciting excursion was enjoyed by the children to the pool in the gymnasium last Saturday morning. John Ward Henderson was the only one who was fortunate enough to get a bath.

The children and teachers are very glad to hear that Caroline Cockrell is rapidly improving after her severe case of fever. She has been greatly missed by us all, and we hope she will be with us again soon.

MISS EVANS' RECITAL.

A charming recital was given on last Monday evening by Miss Rose Evans, soprano pupil of Miss Sparkes, assisted by Miss Carmen Evans, violinist, pupil of Miss Raush and Miss Gladys Comforter, pianist, pupil of Miss Ophem.

These three young students gave exceedingly creditable work and show promise of becoming real artists in their respective subjects as their musicianship continues to advance.

Miss Rose Evans has a voice of very sweet quality, especially suited to the singing of ballads. Her staccato work and delicate high tones were a real pleasure. Her voice is well placed and she sings with ease and with clear enunciation.

Miss Carmen Evans has a broad tone and considerable style and temperament. She interpreted well the difficult Svendsen Romance.

Miss Gladys Comforter has developed a clean, sure technique. In addition, she possesses soul and deep feeling, as was evidenced in her playing of Kammerl Ostrów by Rubinstein. The accompaniments were most artistically played by Miss Iselhardt.

CERTIFICATE RECITAL MONDAY NIGHT

A Certificate Recital will be given in the College Auditorium on Monday evening, May 3, at 8:15 o'clock, by Miss Myrtle McCaskill, reader, pupil of Dubois Elder, and Miss Irma Blake, soprano, pupil of Marlen Oschuldan Bishop.

The following program will be given:

Miss Grace Godley was the week-end guest of Miss Edna Ireland.

Judge and Mrs. Clarence Boswell were the guests of Miss Jennie Carpenter at supper Wednesday.

Mr. R. C. McDavid was the guest of Miss Grace Godley at breakfast Sunday.

Misses Anna, Bessie, and Lucinae Smith, and Nell Magruder, of Baldwin, Ga., were the guests of Misses Leni and Helene Smith Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. George Owen, of Pensacola, was the guest of her daughter, Miss Grace Owen, during the past week.

Miss Norma Bunch, of Orlando, was the guest of Miss Minna Harris Friday and Saturday.

Mr. R. C. Blount, of Punta Gorda, was the guest of Miss Helen Farrington at supper Wednesday.

Mrs. R. R. Evans spent Monday and Tuesday here as the guest of her daughters, Misses Carmen and Rose Evans.

Mr. Tom Johnson of Pensacola, Mr. Robert Anderson, Representative of Escambia County, and Mrs. Robert Anderson, were the guests of Miss Lola Johnson Sunday.

H. L. De Wolf, Editor-in-Chief of the Florida Alligator, and a Senior in the University, visited the College last Saturday, and stayed over for the Prom.

Mrs. M. E. Gillette, of Tampa, is a guest of Miss Schwalmeyer at the College.

Mrs. Cora Sands Wilson, mother of Miss Zella Wilson, was a week-end guest at the College this week.

Miss Evelyn Edwards, former student of the College, and Miss Sadie Mae Adams, sister of Mrs. Rudy Adams, were the guests of Miss Adams for the week-end.

Mrs. Parsons of Jacksonville, was the week-end guest this week of her daughter, Miss Thelma Parsons, of the College.

Mrs. Una S. Hull, guest of her daughter, Miss Evora Hull, has entered as a regular student of the College.

Miss Annie Lou Hardy, of Senola, Ga., is the guest of Miss Lucile Cooper of the College.

Miss Irma Strange spent the week-end at her home in Quincy.

Miss Malile Edwards, who has been detained at her home in Gretna, has recovered and will soon return to resume her studies.

Miss Rudy Peoples left Saturday afternoon for Quincy, where she was called by the illness of her mother.

Miss Rulie McLin, of the College, was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter McLin of Tallahassee.

Miss Carrie Charles was the week-end guest at her home in Caryville this week.

MRS. GARRETT LEAVES.

Mrs. Paul Garrett, one of our college mothers, left for her home in Washington, D. C., Thursday afternoon. All those who know Mrs. Garrett, especially the college girls, sincerely regret that ill health takes her away before the close of the college term. Her comradeship, kindly care and little visits to the girls will, indeed, be missed. Her "little housekeepers" wish for her a speedy return to health, and will be anticipating her return next fall. Mildred and Ann Page also left with their mother not to return this term. We regret their departure and hope they will return to our Kindergarten next year.

"What is your name?" said the teacher.

"Tom," replied the boy. "You should always give your full name; you should have said, 'My name is Thomas.'" Turning to the next boy: "What is your name?" Quick to learn, he proudly replied: "My name is Jackas."

ANNUAL LUNCHEON OF FIRST YEAR DOMESTIC SCIENCE CLASS.

The first year Domestic Science Class entertained with a sweet pea luncheon at 11 o'clock, Thursday morning. Myriads of sweet peas gave a rainbow tint to the table. A centerpiece of sweet peas formed the hub of a ribboned wheel leading to each cover. Each little sweet pea plate-card held a riddle. After the guests had solved their riddles the ribbon spokes were pulled and each guest received a souvenir bouquet. The entire luncheon was complete in its fine service and artistic originality. Miss Allene Powell and Miss Grace Owen served as hostesses. Among the guests were Mrs. Geo. W. Owen, Miss Stella Palmer and Dr. Strong, the Misses Marie Mosley, Elizabeth Anderson, Bessie Michael, Frances Lothridge and Elth Larson.

The menu was as follows:

MENT.
Grapefruit and Strawberry Cocktail
Chicken and Mushroom Croquettes
Potatoes with Cream Sauce
Butter
Finger Rolls
Iced Tea
Asparagus Salad
Cheese Balls
Saltine Crackers
Apricot Ice
Angel Cake

FIRE DRILLS

East Hall girls are trying very hard to lead the halls in time to clear halls in fire drills. In the drill called last week the whole time, from the ringing of the gong to the blowing of the whistle to return was six minutes. Miss Coffin mans the No. A1 company. Miss Clayton feels sure she might have been nearer the head had not one girl failed to sign up.

Miss St. John, captain of Company C, in Bryan Hall, and Miss Godbey, captain of Company D, of Reynolds Hall, were leaders in these two halls.

There is a committee at work on a set of recommendations to be presented to the student body at an early date. We hope by these recommendations to make our fire drills a regular part of our student government; to have the election of fire chief and rules for fire drill incorporated in our constitution and by-laws.

MYRA McILVAINE, Chief.

A LITTLE MIXED.

The chairman of the school committee was addressing a meeting at a teachers' institute:

"My friends, the schoolwork is the bulhouse of civilization. I mean—ah—"

The chairman has a stage fright. "The bulhouse is the schoolwork of civ—"

A smile began to be felt. "The workhouse is the bulschool of—"

He was evidently twisted. "The schoolbul is the housework—"

An audible snicker spread over the audience. "The bulschool—"

He was getting wild. So were his hearers. He mopped perspiration, gritted his teeth and made a fresh effort.

"The schoolhouse, my friends—"

A sigh of relief went up. He has his feet under him again.

He eazed suavely around. The light of triumphant self-confidence was enthroned upon his brow.

"Is the woolbark—"

He gasped and sat down.—Grit.

"How's your brother, Jimmy?"

"Ill in bed, miss. He's hurt himself."

"How did he do that?"

"We were seeing who could lean farthest out of the window, and he won!"—Kindergarten-Primary Magazine.

INFIRMARY NOTES.

Miss Carrie Charles left college for her home, Caryville, Sunday on account of continued ill health.

Miss Grace Julian ran a splinter in her foot Wednesday from which she has suffered severely.

Additional Amendment Certificate Recital to the Constitution Was a Success

Miss Edna Ireland, President of Student Government, announced in Chapel Wednesday morning an admission of the position of Fire Chief into the annals of our Constitution.

It reads as follows:

Article V, Section 3.

(f) It shall be the duty of the Fire Chief to appoint Lieutenants, with the assistance of the Executive Committee, and to call for drills and to have general charge at drills or fire.

Article V, Section 1.

The Fire Chief shall be elected from the Senior or Junior Class of the College of Arts and Sciences.

By-Laws.

The office of Fire Chief shall count 3 points.

JUNIORS ELECT CLASS OFFICERS AND FLASTACOW STAFF

Miss Lucille Freeman was re-elected president of next year's Senior Class at an interesting meeting held last Monday afternoon. The methods used by the members of the class in re-electing Miss Freeman were rather unusual. While presiding over the meeting she was called from the room for a few minutes. The young ladies took advantage of her absence, put the vice president in charge and proceeded to re-elect her to the presidency.

"The election was out of order. It's got to be done all over again," said Miss Freeman, after her return. "Just to hear myself elected," she chuckled.

The other officers elected were:

Alice Corry, vice president.

Mary Hays, secretary.

Nellie Cooper, treasurer.

One of the most responsible offices in the College is that of editor in chief of the Flastacow, and the Junior Class made no mistake in electing Miss Mizpah Otto to that office. She is capable and conscientious, and with Mary Floyd as business manager, next year's annual will be a certain success.

The other members of the staff are: Literary Editor, Jeanette McMillan; Assistant Literary Editor, Margaret Carroll; Business Manager, Mary Floyd; Assistant Business Manager, Cornelia Puleston; Advertising Editor, Lucille Freeman; Assistant Advertising Editor, Hazel Hough.

Expression Editor, Nellie Cooper; Music Editor, Ollie Henderson; Athletic Editor, Katherine Smith; Home Economics, Marion Alford; Y. W. C. A. Editor, Pattie Marlin; Cuts and Girds, Mary Hays; Art Editor, Alice Corry.

DR. CONRADT ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Dr. Edward Conradt attended the Southern Conference for Education in Chattanooga from Monday until Friday. This conference is one of the most important educational meetings in this country, including representatives from all phases of educational work—elementary, secondary and collegiate. Dr. Conradt says: "The conference deals not only with education technically, but its aim is to connect education with all the various activities of life—such as the home, the farm, the factory, the church, the press, etc." The meeting place for next year will be determined by the directors of the conference. Two cities were mentioned—Tampa and New Orleans. It is hoped that Florida will be able to have this honor bestowed upon her.

Miss Myrtice McCaskill, pupil of DuBois Elder, interpreted Pauline Pavlona, readings from Kipling, and "The Dawn of a To-Morrow," in the College Auditorium last Monday night. Her Certificate Recital was the occasion. Miss McCaskill treated her hearers to a touch of genuinely artistic work. In the way of action and emotion, the depth of feeling with which she held her characters in their own personalities made one think, feel and live with them in every shade of their emotion and humor. Her change of characters was exceptionally fine. Miss McCaskill's interpretations of Pauline Pavlona, and of Tommy, Mandalay and Gunga Din were excellent, but she was at her best in her original arrangement of "The Dawn of a To-Morrow." She was especially appealing in the character of happy little "Glad," and equally as strong in the desperate character of the thief. Miss McCaskill is to be commended upon the very realistic manner in which she grasps her characters, and upon the strength and agility with which she enters into their personalities. She is well-known to us in her dramatic work of this year. Her fine portrayal of Katherine and Shylock, in the recent pageant on the campus, is not soon to be forgotten by lovers of dramatic art.

Miss McCaskill was attired in a white gown of satin sublime, over net, with crushed bodice and dainty circular skirt. Her only shoulder drapery was of silver lace. Under the quaint full skirt was a flounce of silver lace and accordion-pleated chiffon. French flowers were the only decoration.

Miss Irma Blake, who so recently proved her ability as a pianist in a Graduation Recital, gave in conjunction with Miss McCaskill her recital for a certificate in voice.

Miss Blake is a talented musician, possessing an excellent ear and remarkable memory. While piano is her stronger subject, she evidenced in her recital a knowledge of voice placing and voice control which was quite satisfactory. Her program opened with Wilson's "Phyllis Has Such Charming Graces," and closed with Massenet's "Il est doux, il est bon."

MISS CONSTANCE CAVELL TO GIVE RECITAL

Miss Constance Cavell will read in the role of Madame Butterfly in the College Auditorium at 8:15 o'clock Monday night.

Incidental music from Puccini's opera, "Madame Butterfly," will be given by Miss Carmene Evans, violinist, and Miss Rose Evans, soprano.

German Club Gave Play Friday Night

One of the most delightful plays ever staged here was the German play given Friday night in the College Auditorium. It was presented by the second year German class, under the able direction of Dr. P. A. Claassen.

It was truly the story of women's stubbornness and its consequent overthrow by masterful men. The pronunciation throughout the play was well-nigh perfect, and the music was thoroughly enjoyable. Miss Mary Orr as Emma was especially good in realistic acting and crying.

Miss Lucy Grier was especially successful in the role of the maid, Liesbeth. The entire Deutschen Abend showed marked ability on the parts of the students. Dr. Claassen is to be commended on having such a class.

The Program was as follows:

- Lieder:
O schöne Zeit, o selge Zeit!
Sah' ein Knab' ein Roeselein stehn.
Stille Nacht! Heilige Nacht!
Deutsche Anfangsklasse.
- Dialog: Sprachstunden
.....Frl. Naomi Grothaus,

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The Eight Week Club Training Class held its second meeting Sunday afternoon immediately after dinner, out under the trees. The girls spent a very interesting hour discussing the work that a community leader should do. Miss Katharine Montgomery led the discussion.

Miss Schwalbmeyer had charge of the Sunday night service. She chose "Courage" for her subject and told the story of Esther as an illustration of one of the biblical heroines who had courage.

The mid-week service was led by Miss Ruth Nelson. After the devotional exercises there was a short business meeting for the purpose of electing the girls who, with the president, will represent our association at the Blue Ridge conference this summer. The four girls nominated by the Cabinet were Misses Hulet Gist, Jeanette Hopson, Katherine Ball and Florence Conibear. Miss Gist and Miss Ball were elected, and they, with Miss Pattie Martin, will leave the first of June for Blue Ridge.

Alumnae Jubilee to Be Given June 8

The Alumnae of the College will hold festivities to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the present institution during commencement week, on June 8. All women graduates of State institutions existing prior to the Buckman bill, are part of the Alumnae, and are invited to rally to their interests in the occasion. The graduates of the College for Women are working up a lively correspondence preparatory to the jubilee. Much enthusiasm is manifest and the affair promises to be a great success. All graduates of the College in any department become alumnae on graduation, and this year a fine group will be added to the Alumnae Association.

The academic procession in the forenoon of June 8 will be one of general interest. All classes are preparing to march in groups and to wear some distinctive feature of dress to carry out their scheme of colors. Underclassmen of the College are invited to join in this movement.

The greatest feature of the day will be the addresses in the afternoon. Both United States Senators have been invited to speak, and it is earnestly hoped they may be able to accept. Late in the afternoon the classes and other organized groups of students will hold meetings in different places on the campus. A picnic supper will be served by the College. In the evening a grand reception will be held. This affair is in honor of guests and the graduates of 1915.

Letters have been mailed to all the alumnae and class leaders are now at work arranging for their respective functions. The College for Women has had a growth unparalleled in this part of the country, and when all its forces rally to this occasion there will be "something worth while" for us to do and to enjoy.

SOPHOMORE CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS

Miss Ruby Leach was elected president of next year's Junior Class at a Sophomore Class meeting last Wednesday night. The other officers elected were:

Miss Ruth Cook, vice president.
Miss Natalie Moffett, secretary and treasurer.

Miss Elizabeth Clayton, representative from the class to the Flambeau Board of Managers.

The class made many interesting plans for the remainder of this year and for next year's work. They voted not to put out an annual, but to make plans toward leaving some memorial to the school.

CO-OPERATION.

There is a movement on foot among the girls' literary societies at the University of Texas, to establish an inter-society council, consisting of the presidents of the societies. This council will have the power to deal with all matters concerning all societies. Such an organization in our college might banish the feeling of antagonism which seems to exist, and bring about a close co-operation among our literary societies, that they might become a stronger factor in the school.

NEW EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF STUDENT GOVERNMENT.

Officers of the Student Government Association for the coming year were elected Thursday, April 30, and will be formally installed in office on next Tuesday morning. The retiring committee have had a very successful year, due to the hearty co-operation of the student body as a whole, and they, together with the student body, hope that their successors will accomplish much for the Association during their term of office. The Flambeau wishes to extend congratulations and good wishes to the new committee.

A SPLENDID OFFICIAL.

And now, as Miss Ireland retires, and gives up to her successor, we find our thoughts turning back over the splendid year's service she has given us.

At no time is the position as President of Student Government a small one, or one to be considered lightly or pettily, and the past year, particularly, has the task been a difficult one. Student government was in the teething age, so to speak, when Miss Ireland took her office. It was at that period of its infancy when it was delicate to handle, when possible people were standing by with an "I told you so" on the tips of their tongues, and when one mouse action might have crippled its influence. Yet, with all this, it was a year full of promise and hope, wanting only a sagacious and far-seeing leader. Miss Ireland was just such a leader.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

The little folks had such a good time on their annual picnic. It happened that Helen Windham, Louise Conrad, Mirzaret Moor and Esther Holton had birthdays in May, so they decided to celebrate together on May Day in the woods. There was a big birthday cake with candles, fried chicken and many other good things. Mr. Lively very kindly furnished distilled water and delicious cold soda water. Every one had plenty to drink, more than enough to eat, and a fine time climbing trees and playing games.

One of the most enjoyable lessons of the year was the dramatization of Fountain of Beauty by pupils of the Third and Fourth grades. The pupils selected the lesson, assigned the parts, selected the paragraphs for reading, and acted the parts according to their own interpretation.

Evelyn Hill was a very dainty Queen of the Fairies, Edith Swing acted well the part of the pretty Princess, and Cecilia Wahnish was especially good as the Unhappy Princess. The others were fairies and court attendants. Not a cent was spent on the costumes, but the children looked really very pretty in their old fairy dresses, and with their gilded wands and court trappings.

We were so happy to have Elizabeth Williams and Robert Cockrell again in school, after an absence of ten days.

THE ANVIL.

"Loyalty to Aims and Ideals" was the subject of a paper read by Miss Candace Puffer before the Anvil last Saturday night. Miss Puffer spoke of fixed purposes and manifestations of firmness as the foundation of a strong character. "The greatest man is the one whose loyalty to aims and ideals is most unflinching," said Miss Puffer.

Miss Agnes Yonge submitted a paper to the club as an application for admission. The paper was especially good, and the Anvil welcomes her as a member.

AN HONEST CONFESSION

Dr. Gamie, who formerly taught the classics in a co-educational institution, was rendering a chapter from his past experience concerning the love affairs among his students. He concluded by saying that in that respect at least the girls of F. S. C. are mammoths. "Not mammoths, but quarantined," objected Miss Otto promptly. Dr. Gamie then explained that the term "quarantine" implies that the inmates themselves are affected. Miss Otto was so busy collecting herself that she ventured no further comment. The proverbial honest confessor in this case was indeed good for the complexion.

MR. HODGES TO SHOW EDUCATIONAL PICTURES

Mr. Hodges, Shell Fish Commissioner, will use the Daffin Theatre on May 2, for the exhibition of industrial films. The tar-pentine industry, the oyster industry and sponge industry will be some of the features of the films. The College students are invited to attend free of charge.

WAR BRIEFS.

Situation on Western battlefront remains unchanged. According to Berlin and Vienna, the German and Austrian armies have achieved a notable victory in West Gallien, smashing the Russian center along a front of many miles. If the Austro-German claims are correct, according to military observers, the Russian right flank is in danger of envelopment, the Russian left flank is threatened by strong Austro-German forces, and on the Stry-Munkacs line the position is so dangerous as to be likely to involve a general retreat. The general British comment concerning the battle is somewhat reserved, pending the Petrograd version of operations.

The relevance of the Russian official communication, though it may indicate that the battle is still unfinished, is considered in military circles to give considerable color to the Tentative claims.

The Story of Enoch Arden

"Long time of cliff breaking have left a chasm;
And in the chasm are foam and yellow sand;"

Here on this beach a hundred years ago,
Three children of three houses, Annie Lee,

The prettiest little damsel in the port,
And Philip Ray, the miller's only son,
And Enoch Arden, a rough sailor lad,
Played among the waste and lumber of the shore."

Thus began the friendship of these playmates, which grew stronger with the coming years. When Enoch and Annie were married, Philip remained the loyal friend of both, even after the mews came that Enoch was lost at sea. For ten years Annie mourned her husband, then listened to Philip's pleading and wed him for her children's sake.

When Enoch finally returned—for he had been shipwrecked upon a lonely island—he too was loyal to his wife and friend and Annie never knew. And a year later a love—but not forgotten—he passed to his reward.

"Our College Girl" will be shown again with Enoch Arden and regular show, which will be eight reels.

HOME ECONOMIC NOTES.

Miss Mae Wells returned to the College recently, after having conducted five community meetings in West Florida. Three of these meetings were held in Walton County, where Miss Myrtle Warren, the County Agent, planned them. There was a good attendance at all meetings. Later Miss Wells spent two days in Holmes County with Mrs. Nevada Reddick, the County Agent of that county. Meetings were held in Westville and Noma. Besides club girls being present, the parents and friends of the club girls came to the meetings.

Miss Wells left Thursday, April 20, for Jacksonville. On Friday and Saturday following, in Duval County, Mrs. Wellington arranged for two community lunches, one about five miles from Jacksonville at the Pickett's place, the other at Maxville. Not only club girls, but parents and friends attended these meetings. Miss Wells gave demonstrations in canning the surplus fruits and vegetables, jelly-making and bread-making.

Miss Harris returned to the college last week after spending a week in Osceola and Citrus Counties. In Osceola County Dr. M. N. Straughn accompanied her and gave demonstrations in jelly-making at all three meetings which Miss Carson had planned. On Monday, April 19, on the courthouse grounds in Kissimmee, Dr. Straughn demonstrated the making of sour orange jelly and marmalade. Misses Harris and Carson gave demonstrations in canning and cooking on the tireless cooker. On Tuesday a similar meeting was held at St. Cloud, and on Wednesday a party of twelve took an automobile trip 45 miles from Kissimmee, down to Whittier, Florida, and gave demonstrations and lectures in interesting to the farmers, their wives and daughters. Mr. A. P. Spencer, of the University Extension force, lectured at the Whittier meeting. Thursday a meeting was held at Floral City, Friday at Lecanto, and Saturday at Crystal River in Citrus County. Mr. A. P. Spencer was present at all the Citrus County meetings.

Dr. M. N. Straughn has returned to Florida to complete work on a number of recipes which he has developed, for making the best products from Florida fruits. His recipes for sour orange jelly and sour orange marmalade are now being used by a great many Florida people who have had sour oranges on their trees for years and have made little use of them. He spent Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at the College resting out the recipes which will be published in a bulletin to be issued soon from the Department of Home Economics.

Miss Verda Thompson, the County Agent of Polk County, spent a part of this week at the college assisting Dr. Straughn in his work in perfecting recipes for citrus fruit jellies and marmalades. She reports club work in Polk County in excellent condition. Girls are planting gardens, raising poultry and hiving bees. This is an extremely busy season for the club girls of South Florida, as strawberries are being canned and made into jelly, tomatoes are blooming and beginning to ripen.

Dr. M. N. Straughn and Miss Harris will go down to Dade County to hold meetings and investigate the manufacture of citrus marmalades and preserves on the East Coast this week. Meetings have been planned by Mrs. Lezh Monroe, the County Agent, and Miss Genevieve Crawford, the agents in charge of Girls Club work in Dade County, to be held in Homestead and Ojus.

Miss Stella Palmer will be head of the Department of Domestic Science at Summer Session, University of Alabama.

Dr. M. N. Straughn, U. S. Bureau of Chemistry, has been studying the use of the sour oranges. From his demonstrations the following notes were taken:

1st. Jelly Test.—Fill a tablespoon about one-fourth full of juice while cooking, wave in air until it cools, being careful not to let juice drop from spoon; turn spoon on side; when juice falls off in sheets, and does not drop off the jelly stage has been reached.

Sour Orange Jelly.

1 pound peeled oranges.
1 pound sugar.

Peel oranges, discard the peel. Pull oranges to pieces and fill a measuring cup full, pressing down to see that no space is left, but entire cup is full of fruit and juices; or else weigh fruit—this is more accurate. For each cup or pound of fruit, add two cups or pounds of water, and cook until it entirely disintegrates. Strain through a flannel jelly bag. To this juice add a cup of sugar for every cup of fruit, or a pound of sugar for every pound of fruit. Notice sugar is not added according to amount of juice, which varies in the method of making, but is added according to the weight or volume of fruit. Let juice boil, add sugar while hot and cook until it gives jelly test.

Sour Orange Marmalade.

1 pound peeled oranges.

One-fourth pound peel from oranges.
One and one-half pounds sugar.

Scrub oranges, peel and discard three-fourths of the peel. The other one-fourth of peel, cut in strips as fine as possible, cover with cold water, let come to a boil; repeat this process five times, unless you want a bitter marmalade. Prepare the juice just as in the jelly recipe, add the peel to juice, for every cup of fruit add one and one-half cups of sugar. Add peel to the juice, bring to the boiling point, add sugar and cook until it gives the jelly test.

Do not skim jelly while it is cooking. After removing from stove, jelly can be skimmed without waste.

Miss Maudie Clark, our Instructor in Domestic Art, will be head of the Department of Domestic Art at the Summer Session of the South University of Tennessee, Knoxville, this summer.

VESPER SERVICE.

There will be a Vesper Service in the College Auditorium, to which every one is cordially invited, on Sunday, May 9, at 4:30 o'clock.
The following special music will be given:

JUNIORS' THANKS.

The college Juniors are enjoying the contents of a monstrous box of delicious fudge, the gift of the Post-Graduate class, last Monday afternoon. They appreciate in terms of greatest "regard," the "sweet" thoughtfulness of their sister classmates. It would require a vision of their delighted countenances and agility in getting into it when the box was opened, to express in joy and appreciation what their words fall to.

Miss Mary Bannerman spent the week-end at her home near Tallahassee and took as her guest Miss Genevieve Matthews of the college.

Miss Grace Lucas, of the college, is now residing in town with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Lucas.

Miss Esther Snyder spent the week-end at her home in Quincy.

Miss Pearl Ladite spent the week-end at Lloyds, and took as her guest Miss Elfrida Caldwell.

Miss Ollie Henderson motored over to her home in Monticello, for the week-end.

Miss Sarah McMullen and her guest, Miss Juanita Pipkin, spent the week-end at Quincy as the guest of Miss McMullen's brother, E. W. McMullen, Principal of the Gadsden County High School.

Miss Marie Ellis was a week-end guest of her grandmother at her home in Quincy.

Miss Lulu Taylor was a week-end guest at her home near Live Oak.

Miss Myrtice McCaskill and Miss Ruby Adams motored over to Miss Adams' home in Perry for the week-end. They were the motor guests of Miss Adams' father, Mr. Adams of Perry.

We are happy to announce that Mrs. Arthur Williams, who has been ill for the past three days, is able to be out again.

Mrs. Lamar Taylor, nee Miss Ethel Humphreys, formerly a student of this college, was the spend-the-day guest of Miss Martha Lewis Monday.

Mrs. Jack Bagley and Miss Florence Moore were the guests of Miss Madge Kinney Saturday.

Miss Elinor Nixon was the spend-the-night guest of Miss Sarah Wood Saturday.

Miss Grace Urie of Palatka was the guest of Miss Margaret Willard Saturday.

Senator J. E. Calkins, and Representative H. Goldstein of Nassau County, were the guests of Miss Ila May Windgate at supper Saturday.

Mr. M. McCaskill, of Perry, Florida, was the guest of his daughter, Miss Myrtice McCaskill, Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. J. F. Jandon was the guest of Miss Dorothy Davies at supper Saturday.

Miss Nellie Cooper and Constance Cavell spent the week-end in Monticello, the guests of Miss Jessie Partridge.

Miss Irma Blake, her mother Mrs. Blake, and Mr. V. L. Hancock, made an auto trip to Quincy Monday.

Miss Annie Lou Hardy, the attractive guest of Miss Lucile Cooper, left Tuesday for Macon, where she will be one of a house party at the Country Club.

A moonlight picnic was given by the members of the Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity in honor of Miss Annie Lou Hardy. The party was chaperoned by Mrs. Cawthon, and an exceptionally good time was the result of this trip to Lake Bradford.

KINDERGARTEN NOTES.

The kindergarten children are finishing up the program on "water" this week. They have been very interested in the different ways it may be used.

A very interesting excursion was enjoyed by the kindergarten children and teachers last Thursday morning to the ice factory. Through the courtesy of Mr. Lively we all enjoyed a bottle of soda water, also a ride home.

The visit to the Fire Department last Tuesday morning was very interesting. The children were able to reproduce freely what they had seen.

We hope to have Anna and James Holton back again soon after their short illness.

The Senior kindergarten girls are wondering what Miss Wheeler was so interested in last Tuesday morning about 10:45.

SOCIETY

MRS. LIVELY ENTERTAINS CHI OMEGAS

The members of the Chi Omega Fraternity were entertained by their patroness, Mrs. Lewis Lively, Monday afternoon from 5 until 7 o'clock. The house was attractively decorated in red and yellow nasturtiums, red roses and calendulas. Mrs. Lively was assisted in receiving by Mrs. John Henderson, Mrs. T. M. Shackelford and Miss Mildred Scott. A delicious salad course of chicken salad, tomatoes and mayonnaise, pinquito cheese sandwiches and beaten biscuit was followed by frozen punch and cake. The afternoon was enjoyably spent in dancing. Those present were: Mrs. Claxton, Misses Josephine Drane, Margaret Willard, Phyllis Jarrell, Angelta Young, Cecil Jenkins, Josephine Grasty, Priscilla Major, Sara Burwell, Hattie Baird, Kathryn Ball, Oakley St. John, Alice Corry, Elizabeth Parkhill, Lilla Patterson, Florence Bunker, Florence Conibear, Mary and Betsy Floyd, Frances and Grace Lothridge.

DR. AND MRS. CONRADI GIVE DINNER

One of the most artistic dinners that has ever taken place in the Home Economics Department was given by Dr. and Mrs. Edward Conrad, Wednesday night at 6 o'clock. Covers were laid for twelve. The center of the table was covered by a mass of Duchess roses and asparagus fern. The heads of the roses formed a huge vase in which others were artistically arranged. The dining room was decorated in silver moon, Richmond and quaint old-fashioned roses. The place cards were charming replicas of the roses decorating the room. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Martin, Messrs. A. B. Newton, C. A. Hardee, W. T. Cash, N. C. Bryan, A. D. Penney and J. A. Hanson.

The menu was as follows:
Strawberry Cocktail
Bouchees Sautéed Almonds
Fried Chicken, Plain Rolls
Rice, Brown Gravy
Creamed Asparagus Lima Beans
Celery Olives Guava Jelly
Frozen Tomato Salad Saltines
Cassata Myra Cake
Cafe Noir Mints

NASTURTIIUM LUNCHEON

The girls of the first year cooking class served a nasturtium luncheon in the Domestic Science dining room at 11 o'clock Friday morning. The cozy dining room was suggestive of a spring garden in its arrangement and wealth of foliage. A large bowl of glorious lined nasturtiums formed the center piece. Delightful nasturtium place cards marked the selections of guests. The brilliant appearance of each tiny flower on the glistening white cover brought each guest rapidly to her place when luncheon was announced. The girls of the first year class are proving themselves both capable and charming hostesses. The nasturtium luncheon is a culmination of their success in their art this year. It was complete in its good service, artistic flower scheme and delightful menu.

Miss Mary Bailey Sloan served as host and Miss May Linton as hostess. Among the distinguished guests were: Misses Isabelle Davidson, Stella Palmer, Virginia Mays, Josephine Grasty, Tillie Hooker, Dot Davies and Lucille Cooper.

MENU

Miss Constance Cavell in Madame Butterfly

Miss Constance Cavell, pupil of DuBois Elder, read in the role of Madame Butterfly, in the College Auditorium, Monday night. Miss Cavell's reading comes as the culmination of a series of certificate recitals given during the year by pupils of the expression department. This original arrangement of Madame Butterfly by Miss Cavell was the most genuinely artistic reading ever given by any pupil in the college. It was, in its entirety, an artistic triumph. The stage setting, of vines and white chrysanthemums, was just suggestive enough of Japan.

It was for Miss Cavell's unparalleled dramatic instinct to bear her hearers off from America into the real home of Madame Butterfly, the Japan of Miss Cavell's reality. Her simplicity in the portrayal of this little Japanese maiden was, indeed, charming. The characters of Suzuki, the unimaginative, yet sympathetic, devoted little maid, of Mr. Sharpless, the big, kind American consul, Goro, the Mikado, Mrs. Pinkerton, the thoroughly American girl and Mr. "Benjamine Frankleone Pinkerton" himself, were interpreted in striking reality. Their individualities were genuine. But it was for Miss Cavell's entire dramatic power to find full freedom in the soul of Madame Butterfly. The supremely feminine little maiden, with her infinite charm, her whimsical delights and tragically pathetic happiness, found reality in Miss Cavell. Madame Butterfly's individuality was hers. The co-ordination of action, emotion, touch and color was complete. Her situations were vivid, appealing, the spirit real. The intermittent little lullaby "Rock-a-bye Baby off in Japan" to little "Trouble" with "the purple eyes and bald hairs" and the scene when Butterfly said that her ancestors had taught her how to live but, he, he had taught her how to die and to make life sweet—all were in the full grasp of Miss Cavell's artistic touch and genuine emotion. Nothing more can be said of Miss Cavell's achievement other than the artist caught the vision, and she was Madame Butterfly.

Her ultimate success was evidenced in the deep appreciation of the audience. They responded fully to the humor, pathos and artistic beauty of the tragedy. There were many among the audience who had seen Madame Butterfly in Grand Opera, with Farrar in the leading role, who said that it lost none of its artistic beauty in Miss Cavell's reading. The expression department and all those who have heard Miss Cavell on previous occasions are watching her future with eager interest. With Cavell has found her talent, and with such natural possibilities, her severest critics have predicted for her an eminent place in the world of dramatic art.

She was attired in an imported kimono of black, embroidered in large pink roses. Her only ornament were two large white chrysanthemums, characteristic of Japanese hair-dress. The music from Puccini's opera, Madame Butterfly, as given by Misses Carmen and Rose Evans, did much to create the atmosphere for the artistic evening. Before Madame Butterfly's first appearance, a Fantasy of the themes for violin and piano gave the musical thought of the drama. "One Fine Day," sung by Miss Rose Evans, with violin obligato, was an appropriate interlude and was given with much dramatic power as well as sweetness of tone. The organ and violin

Governor and Mrs. Trammell Entertain

A public reception was given by Governor and Mrs. Park Trammell in honor of the legislators and their families, at the Governor's mansion last Thursday night. The whole College was invited, but only the seniors and juniors were allowed to attend.

The reception lasted from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock. Because so many eminent men were present, the entertainment was a momentous one for many of the guests. Every one was received and treated with true Southern hospitality. Everything possible was done for the pleasure and comfort of the guests. The entire house was thrown open. Bowls of punch were placed in either end of the porch, where Misses Miriam McDonald, Irma Trammell, Lella Terry, Mrs. Frank Whitthrop, and Mrs. Lowry assisted in serving. Ice cream and cake were served in the dining room by Misses Lena Barber, Martha Hudson, Kate Byrd, Myrtle Cates, Ruth Child, Evelyn Whitfield, Theresa Yaezer and Mary Hays. The floral decorations, consisting of sweet peas and roses, were very attractive. Music was furnished throughout the evening by Misses Rose and Carmen Evans.

Several thousand people passed down the revolving line during the evening. The line was headed by Governor and Mrs. Trammell, and continued as follows: Senator and Mrs. Davis; Speaker Hardee, Live Oak; Honorable H. Clay Crawford; Honorable W. V. Knott and daughter, Mary Frank; Honorables and Mesdames J. C. Luning, Sheats, W. A. Melroe, and R. A. Gray; Governor and Mrs. Jennings, Jacksonville; Messrs. and Mesdames Park, of Tampa; Dexter, of Jacksonville; Ivey, and Mrs. J. D. Adcock, and Dr. and Mrs. Conrad.

BURCH ATTENDS PLANT BOARD MEETING

Mr. F. A. Burch, Business Manager of the College, attended the Plant Board meeting in Jacksonville, as Secretary of the Board. This Board recently created by the Legislature, met to use the appropriation made by the Legislature in fighting the citrus canker in the most effective way. It is hoped that within the next few years every vestige of this frightful disease that is threatening to destroy the citrus industry of Florida will be driven out.

gave a background for the tragedy of the last scene. Both the young ladies entered well into the spirit of the drama.

Legislators Guests of the College

Dined With the College Girls Saturday Evening

The Faculty and students of the Florida Woman's College entertained the members of the Florida Legislature and their friends at tea in the college dining hall, Saturday evening. It was the most festive occasion of the year. Many familiar faces and an "extra" the supper added good cheer to all and were first aid to the hostesses in making it a most delightful occasion. It was, indeed, a pleasure to have with us so many of our distinguished citizens and they shall always find the warmest welcome as guests of the college. The girls especially welcome them for their coming means not only a delightful social hour, but fare, far more fair. Between the third and fourth courses, Miss Edna Ireland proposed a toast to our guests: "In behalf of the Faculty and students of the Florida Woman's College, I propose a toast to the Legislators of Florida, their wives and their visiting friends. This is truly a red letter day at our college and we wish it may have many happy returns." This word of welcome was echoed in another toast by Dr. Conrad. They were responded to by the guests in words of warmest appreciation. After supper all stood and the girls' lusty voices rose in the college song. Especial thanks is due to Mrs. J. E. Yonge, whose charming hospitality and graceful management of the entire affair, as well as on other occasions, made it an occasion of pleasure long to be remembered. Mr. F. A. Burch's skillful arrangement of the plans for Monday evening added greatly in its success.

Mr. Goldstein Addresses Students

Representative Harry Goldstein, of Nassau County, addressed the students at chapel last Thursday morning. He said in part:

"The tax-payers and the rent-payers have provided this institution for you, and you will be held accountable for the proper use of it. It is what you do with yourself that counts—not what you think of yourself. The worst thing in the world is to be conceited. Bring yourself down to simplicity." Then he spoke of "education" and "self-education" in particular. He said that every one is self-educated, if he is educated at all; sending a boy or girl to school does not insure his or her education. "If there is any help or aid which I can give to your institution," he said in conclusion, "I am always at your command."

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED

The new officers of the Student Government were installed at a meeting of the student body last Wednesday morning. The old committee took its place on the platform, while Miss Agnes Edwards came forward to take the following pledge under the direction of Miss Edna Ireland.

"In view of the fact that Student Government is an established institution in this College, that it is the strongest and best known means to secure good government among the students, and since the duties of the president of this organization have, by the voice of a majority of the student body, devolved upon me, I do hereby affirm that I will discharge the duties of this office to the best of my ability; and I hereby pledge my continuous service to this undertaking, keeping in view the good of the governed and my obligations to all concerned."

Then the old committee retired from the rostrum, and the newly elected committee was called up. Their oath was as follows:

"Since the duties of the office of the Executive Committee of the Student Government Association of this College have, by the voice of a majority of the student body, devolved upon me, I do hereby affirm that I will discharge the duties of this office to the best of my ability, keeping in view the best interests of all persons concerned."

Miss Elizabeth Clayton was appointed President of East Hall for the remainder of the year. The committees will be appointed. The other members of the new committee are: Ruth Cook, Oakley St. John, Hewitt Gist, Clara Walker, Mary Orr, Ollie Henderson, Jennette Hopson, Ethel Mulholland and Ethel Evans.

Levy County—J. C. Weimer.
Hamilton County—L. A. Cribbs.

BOOST F. S. W. C.

It's painful to admit it, but it's true! There are people in some of the remote corners of our State who have never heard of the Florida State College for Women. Then there are others who have heard, in a general sort of way, about our College, but nothing especially—nothing they remember particularly. Chris, let's get out and boost F. S. W. C. Let's make it the best known College in the South.

What we need is an Ad Club. A club which has for its sole aim the advertising of our College, and the educating of the public to the value she is, and has been, to the State. An organized Ad Club, with regular meetings, to show at all times the true Florida spirit, would be a profitable movement on the part of the students. The club should be composed of representatives from each county, from the larger cities, from different classes, and from the societies—not excluding the Y. W. C. A. An advertising campaign should be planned and followed up by the club. Press notices sent occasionally to each county, relating the achievements of the different students from that county, would arouse interest and enthusiasm among the young women of the State who do not attend any college. Some schools send out column footers (short pithy statements about certain features of the school) to the State papers. The Publicity Committee on the Faculty sends out a great deal of newspaper material, but they reach only the big papers; the students are not brought into such intimacy with all the people, as they could be by county advertising.

There are many ways of advertising in your home county. We hear of college boys giving smokers for prospective students. When you girls go home, why don't you get together and give a pink tea for the high school girl graduates? Tell them all about our capable faculty, our splendid athletes, our beautiful campus, and our College activities. Then while they're sipping their last cup of tea, and nibbling their last saltine, sing the College song for them. If the girls in your county don't seem to have a weakness for pink teas, give them a dance. In some States, the students plan a program consisting of college songs and yells, and talks on the different activities and departments, to give before all the high schools of their county during the Christmas vacation. The idea is to get the high school seniors interested.

Boost our College.

WAR BRIEFS

It is understood, since the sinking of the Lusitania, that President Wilson will insist upon an explanation from the German government of the incidents involving destruction to American lives and property which have occurred since the proclamation of a War Zone around the British Isles.

A Turkish official communication announces that an Australian submarine has been sunk by Turkish submarines while trying to enter the Sea of Marmora, and that the crew of three officers and twenty-nine men were taken prisoners.

The Franco-British forces operating in the south of the Gallipoli Peninsula delivered a general attack on May 8, supported by the allied fleet, against the Turkish positions which already had been penetrated the day before. The allied forces carried, at the point of the bayonet, several lines of trenches on the heights in the neighborhood of Krithia. On May 9 they consolidated and fortified themselves on the ground conquered the previous day. The Turks have made no attempt to deliver a counter attack.

Germany, through Ambassador Gerard has notified the United States that submarine commanders have been specifically instructed not to harm neutral vessels not engaged in hostile acts, and that Germany will pay for damages to such ships in the War Zone. The German government justifies its submarine warfare on the grounds that England is threatening to starve the civilian population of Germany by prohibiting neutral commerce in foodstuffs and other necessities.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The members of the Eight Week Club Training Class met in the Recreation Hall on Sunday afternoon. The program was especially good, one feature being a talk by Miss Harris on "How the Eight Week Club Leaders and the Tomato Club Leaders Can Co-Operate."

The subject of the Sunday night service was "Missions," and after a very interesting talk by the leader, Miss Martha Livingston, Miss Schwalmyer told the girls a Bible story.

The monthly denominational meetings were held Thursday night, the pastors of the various town churches coming out to meet with the girls of their denominations. These informal services have been quite helpful and it is hoped that we will be able to continue them next year.

ANVIL TO HOLD OPEN MEETING

The Anvil Literary Society will have an open meeting to the Theta's and Minerva's, 7 o'clock, Saturday night. Refreshments will be served.

The following will be the program:
Remarks.....President of Anvil Lohengrin.....Mizpah Otto

"DOWN THE FIRE ESCAPE"

On Thursday morning at 5:30 the girls of East Hall responded to the fire bell by coming down the fire escapes. In this case the girls had been previously notified and asked to wear their gymnasium suits. Only two of the escapes were used, but the building was cleared in about six minutes.

Bryan Hall girls are to make the same experiment on Friday morning early. These drills are a fine method of training our girls to meet any situation with level heads.

OPEN COLUMN

Editor of The Flambeau:

A question has been revolving itself in my feeble brain for some time, but I seem unable to answer it satisfactorily; therefore, I appeal to you. It is this: Why does the voice of the Student Body fall at times to accomplish its end? I have in mind a certain case of last year. When we moved into the new dining room we were told that if the majority of students wished it we would have the order of meals rearranged, with dinner in the evening. This was promptly voted upon and the decision was overwhelmingly in favor of a change. We moved into the new building soon after, but no change was made in regard to meals; this was over a year ago, and the old order of things still exists.

Of course there is nothing fatal in having things stand as they were in the distant past; perhaps most of us would never notice the difference or even care; but the fact is that the students lost out in the deal. We voted for the change, but no effort was made to accomplish it for us. We do not wish to complain about it now. We realize, however, that the school term will soon be over, and that if we wish the change to be effected for next year now is the time to put it before "the powers that be." The advantages of such a change to both the girls who work in the dining room, the other students and the members of the faculty who live on the campus are self-evident. For the reason we hope that our vote may be reconsidered and that with the beginning of the next school year the proposed change will become a reality.

A STUDENT.

TRAINING SCHOOL

Despite the hard rain of Saturday an even dozen of students appeared at school for lessons.

The practice teachers awarded the prizes for third grade arithmetic, in one section, Dorothy Salley and Enid Elliott secured pretty books of fairy tales. In the other Pauline Swing secured the other book.

The pupils miss the all-day visits of the Seniors and wish they might begin again.

The most exciting event of the week was the preparation and cooking of beans that were grown in their own garden. These beans tasted better than any other beans ever tasted.

Miss Davidson sent down some old "Lifes," from which several nice pictures were secured for the school. The children always welcome pretty pictures.

LAST CALL FOR ANNUAL BILLS TO BE PAID

The following organizations have not paid the bills for their pictures in the Annual:

Sub-Freshman 1.
Sub-Freshman 11.
Junior Normal.
Normal Art Students.
Special Art Students.
Home Economics Club.
Flambeau Board.
Minerva Club.
French Club.
Company A.
Barbarians.
Dill Pickles.
Ninetette.
Alumnae Association.
Sophomore Class.
Tennis Club.
Athletic Association.

The Annals cannot be given out until these bills are paid. It isn't fair to keep the girls who have paid for their Annals waiting. Here is the everlasting circle—the same girls who have paid for their Annals and are impatiently demanding to see them are the same girls who "are broke" when somebody tries to collect dues for the Athletic Association or some other organization to which they belong, yet strangely do not feel the obligation to pay dues which they owe. Now, come on, girls; if you haven't the money when the collector comes around borrow it, or get it any way you can; but don't keep the rest of us waiting to see our Annals any longer!

COLLEGE HOUSEKEEPING

The best kept rooms for the past week were:

East Hall—Nos. 27, 41, 44, 53, 56.
Reynolds Hall—Nos. 12, 13, 103, 105, 110, 114, 115, 225.
Bryan Hall—Suites 8, 10, 102, 111, 202, 209, 210.

The College Home looked very attractive last Saturday evening when we had open house for our guests from the Legislature.

Some one remarked that the young ladies had done fine spring house cleaning. The House Mothers of the different halls are wishing for an inspection day oftener.

MISS JOSEPHINE DRANE TO BE ASSISTANT INSTRUCTOR

Miss Josephine Drane will be the assistant instructor in Domestic Art to Miss Marcia Clark, at the Summer School of the University of Tennessee at Knoxville.

Miss Drane graduated here last year with an A. B. degree, but is taking work in the Home Economics department this year. Although she has been equally successful in both kinds of work, she intends to teach Home Economics.

SONG SERVICE AT METHODIST CHURCH

Miss Opperman played the following organ solos at the Special Song Service at the Methodist Church last Saturday evening:

Prelude and Figure C Minor... Bach
Minuet... Beethoven
Celebrated Funeral March and Song of the Soraphs... Gullmant
Offertory... Lefebure-Wely

Mrs. Hudson sang a contralto solo by Rotoli, and Mrs. Edmondson played Wienlanski's Legendre for the violin. Two anthems were also given by the choir.

SHELL FISH IN THE "MOVIES"

Mr. T. R. Hodges, State Shell Fish Commissioner, presented the Shell Fish Industry in motion pictures at the theater last Tuesday evening. The theater was filled to its utmost capacity. Between the reels, music was given by two students from the College. Miss Carmen Evans played the Romance, Op. 26, for the violin, by Svendsen. Miss Rose Evans sang "Sunshine," by Goring Thomas. Both these young ladies have been making rapid strides in their respective subjects, and they were given a very hearty reception on this occasion.

GRAND REUNION OF THE COLLEGE ALUMNAE

Great preparations are being made for the tenth annual jubilee at the College on June 8, 1915. The members of the Alumnae Association are active in correspondence and in planning for the occasion; the day's program is full from 9 a. m. until 11:30 p. m. The academic procession, the addresses of the afternoon, and the reception of the evening are the principal features of the program.

A college of ten years' standing can make this a traditional affair, for the results of its work are now both prominent and permanent.

A distinguished citizen of Florida remarked to an alumnae, "This is the finest effort you can make to bring your forces together and make your alumnae association a power in the State." Another person said, "We feel sure the jubilee is the finest means of creating and fostering loyalty and enthusiasm for the College for Women." Many expressions of enthusiasm and interest are coming in from over the State.

Every class has an appointed leader to work up some interesting feature for her class. An ode will be ready and college songs will make the air merry. An opportunity to hear our distinguished United States Senators is to be appreciated not only by the alumnae, but by the people of the city.

All the alumnae girls will be entertained free of charge at the College from Saturday, June 5, through Wednesday, June 9. Let any one of them reading this message please notify Mr. J. G. Kellum, at the College office, if she intends being here. Be here! Of course you will not fail to be here. How can any girl afford to miss being here? Is not this institution destined to go down in history as a great Women's College? And we are members of it! Let us see to it that our parts are well carried out; that we "fall into line" in the academic procession; that we join in the choruses; that we attend the business meetings; and that we help to shape the policy of the Alumnae Association.

SMALL ATTENDANCE AT VESPER SERVICES

On account of the inclemency of the weather there was a very small attendance at the Vesper Service last Sunday afternoon. Miss Rausch and her pupil, Miss Carmen Evans, played softly the beautiful slow movement from the Bach Concerto for two violins.

Miss Opperman and Miss Rausch gave an artistic reading of the first movement of the Cesar Franck sonata for piano and violin. A vocal trio, "Lift Thine Eyes," from the Elijah by Mendelssohn, was well sung unaccompanied by the Misses Ethel, Rose and Carmen Evans, pupils of Miss Sparkes. Miss Sparkes sang with much expression Randegger's "Save Me, O God." This was the last Vesper Service of the year.

I cannot sing the old songs
I sang long years ago;
Because Maria takes me nights
To the Moving Picture Show.
I cannot take my fiddle,
And play the way I feel,
Because she trots me down-town
To see the latest reel.
I cannot play the old games
Of draughts or cards or chess;
Because the newest photoplay
I must see, I confess.
But what's the use of pining
For the sports of long ago?
The sports of days we didn't have The Motion Picture Show.
I cannot see the old reels
I saw long months ago;
Because they give me such a pain
In any Moving Picture Show.
I cannot take my evening meal
And then in bliss remain,
Because that Junk will not digest—
To scan it gives me pain.
I cannot stand those old reels
Of half-breed, sheriff, maid,
Because those chestnuts weary me—
I loathe those stunts, I said.
But what's the use of pining
Those reels of long ago?
Those reels of days we didn't have Mutual Master Pictures,
Or Duffin Theater you know.

Miss Zilpah Harris was the spend-the-night guest of Miss Verna Monroe Saturday.

Mrs. E. J. Parsons of New York was the week-end guest of Miss Ethel Evans.

Mr. Paul Gee of Jacksonville was the guest of Miss Bernice Simmons Friday and Sunday.

Hon. P. K. Yonge of Pensacola, chairman of the Board of Control, spent Sunday in the city on his way to Jacksonville to attend the meeting of the Plant Board.

Hon. T. B. King of Arcadia, a member of the Board of Control, is spending a few days in the city this week. Dr. Edward Conrad leaves for Carabelle Monday where he will make an address at the commencement exercises. He will return Friday.

Mr. William N. Reck of Sebring visited the College Tuesday. He was charmed with the institution and expects to send his daughter here next year. Miss Reck is a graduate of the High School of Rock Island, Ill., and has passed her entrance examinations for Wellesley, but she will attend the Florida State College for Women, as she has recently become a citizen of this State.

Miss Ethel Lanier of Jacksonville visited the College as the guest of Miss Jeannette Hopson Sunday.

Mr. W. L. Sams of Boca Grande was the guest of Miss Florence B. Stephens at supper Sunday.

Miss Emma Parkhill of Tampa spent the weekend here as the guest of her sister, Miss Elizabeth Parkhill.

Mrs. W. T. Cavell of Lake City arrived in Tallahassee Saturday. She will stay until the school closes as the guest of her daughter, Miss Constance Cavell.

Mr. John L. Branch visited the College Saturday, the guest of his daughter, Miss Juanita Branch.

Miss Lillian Glenn spent the weekend at her home in Gretna.

Miss Coris Shands was the guest of Mrs. Robertson of Tallahassee in a week-end motor trip to Thomasville, Ga., this week.

Miss Hazel Johnson was the guest of her father in town this week.

Miss Ethel Glidewell is in Jacksonville having her eyes treated.

Miss Gladys Comforter was the weekend guest of Miss Carrie Taylor at her home in Quincy this week. They motored through the country to Quincy, and on their return.

Mr. D. Sullivan is in Tallahassee visiting his daughters, the Misses Norine and Lorette Sullivan of the College.

Hon. J. L. Branch, an eminent citizen of Tampa, is visiting in Tallahassee as the guest of his daughter, Miss Juanita Branch, of the College.

Vice President Marshall will speak in the High School Auditorium under the auspices of the Chautauqua at 8 o'clock p. m. Monday.

There will be no Classical Club banquet this year on account of lack of time and money.

The Sub-Freshman and Freshman parties for their respective sister classes were postponed on account of the visit from the legislators Saturday night.

Miss Winnie Warren will teach domestic science and art in the High School at DeFuniak Springs next year.

Mesdames F. C. and W. L. Moor entertained the members of the Kappa Delta fraternity Monday afternoon from 4:30 to 6 o'clock. An interesting guessing contest of English and American authors was played. Miss Mary Louise Seales won the prize, a beautiful box of stationery. A delicious salad course of peach and cherry salad, beaten biscuit, olives and sandwiches was served.

Those present were Mesdames D. M. Lowry, Hawkins, and Garrett of Jacksonville, Misses Davidson, Theodora Roberts, Mary Frances Smith, Rose Evans, Nellie Cooper, Agnes Edwards, Natalie Moffett, Elizabeth Anderson, Grace Owen, Norine Sullivan, Virginia Mays, Mary Bailey Sloan, Harriet Brandon, Mary Louise Seales, Cornelia Puleston, Ruby and Janet Byrd, Azalea Moor, and Helen Saxon.

MR. DAFFIN ENTERTAINS SOPHOMORE CLASS

The first box party given at the Daffin theatre this year was given by Mr. Daffin to the Sophomore class, last Friday night. After the show, Mrs. Cawthon provided refreshments at the Tallahassee Drug Store. The following members of the class enjoyed Mr. Daffin's hospitality: Misses Oakley St. John, Penny Maxwell, Mary Louise Seales, Lula Hart, Hazel Finney, Ruby Leach, Lula Mae Green, Ruth Cook, Carrie Taylor, Natalie Moffett, Marie McMillan, Elizabeth Clayton, Hazel and Alta Grimm, Isabel Walker, and Tilley Hooker.

The members of the Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Frank Windthrop Monday afternoon from 4:30 to 6 o'clock. One of the most unique and charming features of the occasion was the manner in which the hostess conveyed her guests to and from the entertainment, by the Leon Hotel omnibuses, thus combining picnic and party. After the delicious refreshments of strawberry ice cream, chocolate and marshmallow cake, fudge and caramel candy and salted nuts, the guests left the attractive tables and adjourned to the drawing room where they danced to their heart's content. Those present were: Misses Carrie Brevard, Ethel Evans, Lucy Wood, DuBois Elder, Emma Lee King, Geneva Moseley, Helen Farrington, Dorothy Slemmons, Marie McMillan, Helen Vaughn, Minna Harris, Elbeth Mulholland, Lucile Cooper, Ollie Henderson, Emma Barris, Margaret Pearce, Zilpah Harris, and Mary Lou Leman, Mesdames Harris and Curtis.

The Seniors and Post graduates of the Home Economics Department were the delighted guests of Miss Palmer and Miss Clark at dinner Monday night, at the Leon Hotel. Dinner was served at a special table in one end of the large dining room, the color scheme being our college colors—garnet and gold. The places of the ladies were marked by attractive favors which were tiny fans with wrist bands attached. Dr. Conrad's, however, was a cigar which opened out into a fan.

At 6:30 o'clock the guests enjoyed the following menu:

Fruit Cocktail	Rice
Broiled Trout	Shoestring Potatoes
Hot Rolls	Butter
Broiled Spring Chicken
Asparagus Toast
Potatoes, Somerset Style
Olives	Gavay Jelly
Tomato Salad	Pickles
Strawberry Ice Cream	Saltines
Cafe Noir	Golden Cake

The guests were: Misses Robertson, Wilkinson, Drane, Barrs, Key, Ireland, Warren, Fryer, Martin, Coffrin, Cooper, Walker, Grochhaus, McValine, Harris, Clark, Palmer, Mrs. Conrad, Dr. Conrad.

Senator Drane entertained his friends at dinner Wednesday night in the Home Economics dining room. The dinner was prepared by the second year girls. It was a masterpiece of the golden dowers. The place cards were daintily painted masterpieces. The color scheme carried out was green and yellow.

Those enjoying the dinner were: Senator and Mrs. Fogarty, Mrs. Drane, Mrs. C. F. Johnson, Mr. Oliver, Mr. McWhorter, Misses Carpenter and Lewis, and the hostesses, Misses Coffrin and Fryer.

Menu.

Enthusiasm of Jubilee Increasing

The President of the Alumnae Association states that the enthusiasm for the Jubilee increases as the arrangements go forward. Miss Inga Helseth came back for a three weeks' stay at the college to work out some plans for her teaching work next year, and also to help carry out the Jubilee program. She is class leader for the class of 1914, and her plans are now being made for her group. Miss Helen Carter, class leader for 1913, has a novel scheme for her class, and the underclassmen of the present college year are arranging for some distinctive features in the academic procession. This procession will start at ten o'clock, march up College Avenue, down Monroe Street around the capitol, and back through College Avenue to the campus. A temporary platform will be made in the "cherry grove," where a short program will be carried out.

The principal features of the day will come in the addresses of the afternoon and the reception of the evening. The latter event is largely in honor of the graduating classes of 1915. We trust any student at the college, who communicates with any Alumnae members will not fail to help us keep this Jubilee continually before all former graduates.

The list of class leaders appointed by the President of the Alumnae is as follows:

1906—College—Bessie Damon, Tallahassee. Normal School—Sue Yent, Apalachicola.

Kindergarten—Lillie Bates (Mrs. Frank Coles, Tampa).

1907—College—Alice Corbett, Jacksonville. Normal School—Nora Weakley, Gonzalez.

Kindergarten—Susie Van Brunt, (Mrs. R. H. Bridges), Tallahassee.

1908—College—Fenton Davis, Fort Myers. Normal School—Mattie Hancock, Lake City.

Kindergarten—America Pillans, (Mrs. J. R. Durranco), Tarpon Springs.

1909—College—Elba Manning, Tallahassee. Normal School—Hallie Granberry, Lake City.

Kindergarten—Robin Graham, Tampa, Fla.

1910—College—Elise Partridge, Monticello. Normal School—Lula Giffin, Ocala. Kindergarten—Oscarla Chaires, (Mrs. J. R. Price), Pensacola.

1911—College—Loonie Landrum, Green Cove Springs. Normal School—Lilla Sims, Marianna.

Kindergarten—Lillian Pace, DeLand.

1912—College—Mary Mahon, Jacksonville. Normal School—Pearl Warren, Marietta.

Kindergarten—Orlena Lewis, Tallahassee.

1913—College—Helen Carter, Pensacola. Normal School—Elizabeth Musson, Sanford.

Kindergarten—Margaret de Medel, St. Augustine.

1914—College—Inga Helseth, Normal School—Ollie Henderson, Kindergarten—Albert Arnold.

Vice President Marshall Spoke Monday Night 1914-15 Flastacowo a Masterpiece

Vice President Thos. R. Marshall spoke in the Leon High School auditorium Monday night to a large audience of the leading citizens of Leon and adjoining counties. On the platform with the vice president sat Gov. Park Trammell, ex-Gov. Gilchrist, Hon. Chas. E. Davis, President of the Senate, Hon. Cary A. Hardee, Speaker of the House of Representatives, T. J. Appleyard and C. O. Andrews.

"National Tendencies" was the subject of his speech. He began by drawing from his early experience as an illustration of the crudeness of early history. Then Mr. Marshall went on to say "There is nothing new either in religion, statecraft or politics. The discoveries of today are but the uncovering of old things—of old things locked up in ancient history. True, there are clearly defined traces of the gradual evolving of crude ideas of our early forefathers, but they are evolutions nevertheless. Government is but the result of these same imperative laws of evolution. The attempt of our forefathers to make a deposition of power with a maximum of restraint has resulted in the democratic form of government we now enjoy. All history itself is but the record of unfoldings of evolution. For this attempt of our forefathers to deposit power with limits, there has come to us our present form of franchise.

Referring to the Lusitania catastrophe the vice president said: "Every man who stepped on that ship stepped on British soil and they had a right to do so." He thought that the affair was most unfortunate, but that the citizens of America who took passage on the British vessel did so at their own risk.

"My idea of fighting for the glory of my country," said Mr. Marshall, "have undergone a change since I was a boy. If the question of war or peace depends upon my vote, the world will have to do without war."

Mr. Marshall spoke in terms of highest praise of President Wilson, having recalled the leading figures in the histories of many of the great countries of Europe, he said, "but towering above them all in the grand gallery of fame and honor, history will write the name of our illustrious President, Woodrow Wilson."

"A new dawn had appeared in the world sky when Woodrow Wilson entered the clouded arena of politics," said the speaker. "Since that time new ideals have taken hold of the American business man and the American politician; and those ideals are destined to revolutionize the whole world, people and ultimately the whole world. Ideals are necessary, but only serviceable when crystallized into living examples."

Mr. Marshall went on to say that American citizens might be divided into three classes. "The first class obeys the law for fear of punishment. To the second class belongs the man who knows nothing of his obligations as a citizen, and does not want to know. The third class is the automatic citizen who does not let any man tell him what he can find out for himself."

In closing, Mr. Marshall said: "You say you have a new South—a new South. But I say unto you, for God's sake hold on to your old South. For the South there are still sixty per cent of your noble men who are not ashamed to name the name of the lowly Nazarene—on the Pacific coast there are only five per cent who will do so."

The Vice-President's style was plain, simple and direct, and this, together with his forceful statements, held the interest of his delighted audience throughout the evening. This speech will long be remembered in Tallahassee, and those who heard it will always be glad to welcome Mr. Marshall's return.

DON'T FORGET THE FRENCH PLAY

The French play entitled "La Cigale Chez les Fourmis" will be given in the Auditorium on Saturday evening at 8:15 o'clock. The Cast of Characters is as follows:

Young Noblemann, Paul de Vivendi—Agnes Edwards.
Pater familias, M. Chameroy—Zoe Manning.

Wife of M. Chameroy—Elizabeth Clayton.

Daughter of M. Chameroy, Henriette Julia Counts.

The Maid—Jeanette Hopson.

The scenes, costumes, etc., will be decidedly French-like, and it is a foregone conclusion that the program will be an enjoyable one. Dr. Classen is enthusiastic in his preparations and the students have reason to be pleased too, that their work in the French language justifies their giving this play.

No admission is charged.

MISS ORR ELECTED PRESIDENT OF NEXT YEAR'S SOPHOMORES

Miss Mary Orr was elected President for next year at a recent meeting of the Freshman class. The other officers elected are as follows: Miss Helen Farrington, vice-president; Miss Margaret Willard, secretary; Miss Elsie Hargrave, treasurer; Miss Josie Johnson, chapel monitor.

WEEKLY CALENDAR

Saturday—Alpha Kappa Psi, 4:30 o'clock; Chi Omega, 4:30 o'clock; Alpha Delta Pi, 4:30 o'clock; Kappa Delta, 5 o'clock; Thalian, Anvil, and Minerva, 7 o'clock.

Sunday—Union Morning Watch, 7:20 o'clock; Eight-Week Club Training Class, 2:30 o'clock; Y. W. C. A., 6:45 o'clock.

Monday—Glee Club Recital, 8:15 o'clock.

Tuesday—Executive Committee meeting, 5 o'clock.

Wednesday—Y. W. C. A., 6:45 o'clock.

GLEE CLUB TO GIVE RECITAL

A recital will be given by the College Glee Club in the College Auditorium on Monday night, May 24, at 8:15 o'clock. The principal feature of the evening will be a Cantata, "Pan on a Summer Day," by Paul Bliss, composer of the operetta produced last year. The Glee Club is directed again by Miss Bishop.

The program will include also a group of choruses, a Reading by Miss Elder, and a characteristic dance, "The Pipes of Pan," by the Misses Zella Wilson and Verna Monroe. Miss Elder will read "The Land of Hearts Desire," by Yeats.

The Seniors are proud of their Flastacowo; the students are proud of it; and the publishers have reason to be proud of it. It's something to be "fussy" over!

The annuals were given out from the Flambeau office last Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. For some time the student body has been waiting to see them, but they were held back because many of the bills had not been paid. Of course, the annual is better this year than it ever has been. Annuals are expected to improve each year. But especially after the bitter disappointment of last year's Flastacowo, does the 1914-15 production stand out as a masterpiece.

And it is a masterpiece. Its general appearance is pleasingly artistic. The cover is of semi-flexible, brown leather. Its only decoration is the title and date in blank letters. The Flastacowo is no larger this year, but it contains a greater number of pictures than it ever has before. These pictures are very clear. The photographer, H. Lee Bell, of Pensacola, is to be congratulated upon his work. All the engravings are especially fine. The pages are of India dotted Cumeo paper, 7 by 9 inches in size.

The frontispiece is a view of the front of the Administration Building. The book is dedicated to Miss DeLois Elder: "Here's to one who has shared alike our joys and our sorrows; who has ever been one with us. May her bright smile and sunny nature, which have been our inspiration all through our college days, cheer and encourage others who are striving to reach the goal. Here's to Miss Elder." Every department in the College is well represented—Art, Expression, Economics, the Normal School, and the College of Arts and Science. There are pictures illustrating life in and about the campus. There are interesting scenes of historical significance—the home of the "Tallahassee Girl," the grave of Prince and Princess Murat, the State Capitol, and the Governor's Mansion. There are wild and beautiful scenes of Nature about Tallahassee. The cuts and grinds are clever.

The Business Manager is sixteen copies short. There are probably many girls who do not wish to take the Annuals they signed up for, and in view of this, the girls hope to meet the demand. The following bills have not yet been settled: Barbarians, Flambeau Board, Normal Art Students, Kindergarten Club, Company A, and the Tennis Club.

The Flastacowo Staff has been working assiduously all the year, and we are all proud of the results. The Staff wishes to extend thanks to the following girls for their assistance in cartooning and decorating: Misses Naomi Grothaus, Coris Shands, Faye Hill, Kathryn Caro, Zella Wilson, Ivan Mayfield, and Hazel Finney.

Now that Commencement is upon us, and with it the terrible monster—examinations—we find that even those girls who had little or nothing to do earlier in the year—those who seemed to be in school "just to have fun"—are catching the spirit of "busyness." As for those who worked a little during the year, they also are busier and more industrious than ever. The spirit seems to pervade the whole atmosphere of the F. W. C., and one cannot but think upon its cause. Careful reflection is not needed to reveal the fact that at the bottom of his spirit is the prevailing sin of the individual of our college, as well as of the student body as a whole—that of putting things off until the last minute. The evil of this is constantly impressed upon us by those who are older and know better, but somehow it doesn't seem to "soak in." At least, we must turn over again every time, by cruel experience. If the student were more careful with her work as the year passes, she would find her lot much easier at the end of the year. She would not be so tired and worn out at Commencement, and she would be better prepared to enjoy the good things that come at that time.

There is a tendency to blame the teacher for a great deal of this extra work at the end of the school term. Perhaps the student is justified in feeling this way to some extent, for many of the instructors neglect giving parallel reading, etc., until very near the last, and this should not be so. However, if the students showed themselves anxious to get this work out of the way earlier, members of the faculty would be glad to co-operate with them in their work. The real fault lies with the students themselves, and it is only through them that the situation can be made better.

The situation between Italy and Austria seems to be more critical than it has been at all during the war. It has been announced by Italian newspapers that the German and Austrian ambassadors have demanded their passports and that the staffs of the German and Austrian consulates were to leave Rome on Tuesday, May 18.

TRAINING SCHOOL

There is always something especially interesting in our work, and this week it is Geography. The fourth grade are building continents of modeling wax on their six-inch globes, and are doing it remarkably well. The third grade are drawing in colors the different divisions of land and water, and the second grade have learned to put the dissected map of the U. S. together.

We miss the bright faces of Esther Holton and Mattie Rensy, and trust they will soon be well.

Miss Schwalmeyer registered names for desks next year, and already the first, second and fourth grades are full. Five of the present fourth grade insisted on putting their names down for a fifth grade next year and discussed ways and means of securing a teacher and more room, even going so far as to suggest that one of the lower grades be left off.

Frances Adeock secured a prize in Arithmetic, having received the required fifteen credits.

Y. W. C. A.

The Eight Week Club met out of doors Sunday afternoon. Florence Conhauer gave an interesting talk on "Planning Social and Recreation Life."

It was a great pleasure to have Dr. Conrad with us at our Sunday night services. He gave a very interesting talk on "Why we should belong to the Y. W. C. A."

The meetings of the Y. W. C. A. for the past week have been held on the campus in front of Bryan Hall. The piano has been moved to the lobby so that we may use it for out-door services; and a new light has been placed in front of Bryan Hall. This is a great help, for which we are very grateful to Dr. Conrad, the business manager.

DR. MURPHREE HERE MONDAY

Dr. A. C. Murphree of Gainesville was here Monday to attend a meeting of the Summer School Board. This Board is Supl. W. N. Shewels, Pres. A. C. Murphree, and Pres. Edward Conrad. This Board appoints the Faculty and plans the courses of study for the Summer Schools here and at Gainesville. Summer School will open June 14 and will remain in session eight weeks. In the future the Summer Schools may run as long as ten weeks if the students attending desire it. The outlook for a large attendance here is very flattering. The College has more room reservations than ever before for a summer term. A number of the regular students will remain for summer school to carry on studies for Normal and College credits. There will be a number of college courses offered.

FLAMBEAU OFFICERS ELECTED

The Board of Managers for the Flambeau for the coming year are as follows: Miss Naomi Grothans, Post-graduate class; Miss Margaret Carroll, Senior; Miss Elizabeth Clayton, Junior; Miss Candace Puffer, Sophomore; Miss Marie Moseley, Freshman; Miss Katherine Montgomery, Junior Normal; Miss Mary Edna Owen, Sub-Collegiate; Miss Mildred Sweeney, Elementary.

This year's Flambeau staff was re-elected in every case, with the exception of business manager, which office was filled by Miss Ruth Cook.

KINDERGARTEN NOTES

The program on "Bees" was very interesting this week. The dramatization of the bees and their lives was exceptionally good.

Caroline Cockrell is making frequent visits to the kindergarten since her illness.

Edna Mae Jones, dramatizing the song, "The Little Gardener," went into the yard and gathered some pebbles and a small stick. On returning she said, "Miss Ernestine, these pebbles are the gardener's seed." "I understand Edna Mae, but what is the small stick for?" "It is the needle the gardener used to sew (sow) his seed with."

PETITIONING KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

The following are petitioning Kappa Kappa Gamma and have every assurance of having the chapter installed here next winter: Ruby Adams, Marion Alford, Clara Brown, Pearl Caldwell, Will Gist, Naomi Grothans, Myrtle McCaskill, Myra Melvaine, Ethel Moughton, Claire Walker, Rosa Walker.

Patronesses are Mrs. W. V. Knott and Mrs. P. A. Claussen.

LAST MEETING OF THE PHILOSOPHICAL CLUB

The Philosophical Club held the last regular meeting of the year Thursday night at 7:45 in the Ethics room. A paper on "Study in Greek Tragedy" was given by Dr. J. B. Game. The officers elected for the coming year were: Dr. Edward Conrad, president; Dr. J. B. Game, vice-president; Dr. C. A. Brautlecht, secretary and treasurer.

MISS LEMAN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE SENIOR NORMAL CLASS OF '16

At a recent meeting of the Junior Normal Class, Miss Mary Lou Leman was re-elected president of the class. The other officers elected were: Miss Kathryn Ball, vice-president; Miss Minna Harris, secretary and treasurer.

The crisis between China and Japan was happily averted at the end of last week, after Japan had delivered an ultimatum to the Chinese government on May 7. The demands of Japan were modified in the ultimatum by the withholding for future discussion the whole of Group V, which contained those demands most objectionable to China. The government of China replied to the ultimatum with an unqualified acceptance of the demands in their modified form, and a treaty embodying the points upon which agreement has been reached will be signed by the two countries.

MISS FREEMAN GIVES STRAWBERRY FEAST

"Rah! rah! rah! Rah! rah! rah! Rah! rah! rah! Freeman! Freeman! Freeman!" Then there was a tinkling of glasses and spoons, a scramble for the strawberry bowls, for the powdered sugar and for the cream pitchers. Fifty guests were waiting to be served.

It was just a "light flash" party, and because there was but fifteen minutes, and because nobody cared to "lose out," everybody wanted to be served at the same time.

Those assisting in receiving the guests Tuesday night were Misses Alice Corry and Gladys Martin. Miss Viola Brinson served ice water. Misses Gertrude Lovell and Elizabeth Parkhill presided over the strawberry bowls. The next best feature of the entertainment was the grand march around the lobby and halls of Bryan Hall. The following was the order of the entertainment: Received, fed, grand marched, castle walked and "good nighted."

The guests were: Elizabeth Anderson, Mary Floyd, Agnes Edwards, Nellie Cooper, Elizabeth Parkhill, Hilda Paisey, Blannie Warren, Marion Alford, Mary Hays, Mizpah Otto, Margaret Carroll, Jeannette McMillan, Pattie Martin, Cornelia Puleston, Sallie Puleston, Hulet Gist, Ethel Mouton, Clara Walker, Estelle Marks, Carolyn Taylor, Gladys Comforter, Gladys Martin, Oakley St. John, Gertrude Lovell, Alice Corry, Katherine Ball, Natalie Moffett, Viola Brinson, Miss Roberts, Vernie Swindal, Tillie Hooker, Francis Tippetts, Naomi Grothaus, Rosa Walker, Pearl Caldwell, Myra Melvaine, Jeannette Matthews, Martha Livingstone, Sylvia Kynney, Annie Holmes, Nita Branch, Coris Shands, Annie Pope Englestone, Jeannette Hopson, Laura Chapman, Ruth Cook, Vera Monroe, Zella Wilson, Florence B. Stephens, Lonnie Landrum, Ruby Leach.

Others invited and not able to attend because of a party in town were: Ruby McClu, Ruby Adams, Myrtle McCaskill, Edna Ireland, Winnie Warren, Ollie Henderson, Irma Trammell, Irma Blake, Miss Elder.

There was a delightful feast given Saturday night, May 15, 1915, in Suite 10 to Bryan Hall, by Janie Herlong, Annie Laurie Long and Edith Peoples. They passed away the time in crocheting and playing games. Ice cream, lemonade and cake were served. Those present were: Vida and Pattie Mathis, Nora Andrews, Jessie Shortridge, Nettie Massie and Beulah Tidwell.

MRS. DODD HOSTESS

Mrs. Wm. G. Dodd gave a picnic to the members of Chi Omega Fraternity Monday afternoon. Miss Isabel Grasty, niece of Mrs. Dodd, was honoree of the occasion. The "picnicers" spent the afternoon in the beautiful woods near the Dodd home. A delightful picnic supper was served under the great oak trees. After supper all returned to Mrs. Dodd's, where, under the inspiration of Dr. Dodd's music, all danced in the most delightful picnic of the year. Miss Grasty is an F. W. C. girl of class of '14, and her visit to her alma mater is welcomed most heartily by all who knew her.

Those who participated in Mrs. Dodd's charming hospitality were: Misses Isabel Grasty, Josephine Grasty, Grace and Frances Lothridge, Frances Tippetts, Phyllis Jarrell, Florence Bunker, Florence Conibear, Josephine Drane, Hattie Baird, Angelica Yonce, Cecil Jenkins, Margaret Willard, Lonnie Landrum, Sue Nell Patterson, Lilla Patterson, Sarah Fraleigh, Bet Parkhill, Oakley St. John, Mary Dodd, Dorothy Dodd, Miss Longmire, Dr. Dodd and Francis Dodd.

SENIOR PICNIC

The young men of Tallahassee entertained the College Seniors with a most delightful picnic at Lake Bradford Saturday night. At 5:30 cars and a great wagon bore the merry crowd over to the lake. They arrived in time for the sunset. Immediately some went canoeing, some enjoyed a rest under the trees, while it is whispered that one courageous young swain donned a captured bathing suit and appeared as a typical "summer girl." A delicious lunch was served under the trees: Potato salad, ham, pimento and date sandwiches, olives, pickles, deviled eggs, ice cream, lady fingers and macaroons. The campus is still humming with the praises of "had a wonderful time," "grandest picnic I ever went to," "wasn't it more fun?" and the like. The town men of Tallahassee will ever be remembered as the most charming of hosts by the Seniors of '15.

Those on the picnic were: Mrs. Cawthon, Miss Elder, the Seniors, Dr. Kent Johnston, Messrs. Horace Van Brunt, Buck Peel, Theo. Proctor, Will Robertson, Frank Cochran, Commodore Avery, Sam Wahlish, Frank Wilson, Will Yon, Edwin Alford, Steve Yates, Ed Hopkins, Max Kwilecki, Williams, Marion Pelot, Russell Mickler, Newt Mabry.

GERMAN-FRENCH CLUB'S PICNIC

The German and French Clubs picnicked in the woods back of Dr. Claassen's residence last Monday night. The lunch consisted of almost everything from sizzling hot coffee and iced tea to Claassen baked beans and jellyed chicken. After lunch the picnickers were entertained with a vaudeville sketch by Misses Harriet Brandon and Grace Owen. Several German songs were rendered by the German students. After three cheers for Dr. Claassen, three cheers for Mrs. Claassen, and three merry cheers for Frankie, the horse, the picnic was broken up and the young people returned.

JUNIOR FRESHMAN PICNIC

The College Freshmen entertained the Juniors to the treat of the year in a picnic at the picnic grove Saturday evening at 4:30 o'clock. In middles and "sneakers," and with cushions and glasses, they set out with Mr. "P" and Dr. and Mrs. Claassen as chaperones.

On arriving, all gathered under the great oak trees and "mine host" greeted their guests with "yells" and welcomes that would fill the hearts of Seniors, Post Graduates, nay, even Sophomores, with pride.

Lucille Freeman toasted and the Juniors cheered the class of '15, whose charming hospitality afforded them the treat of the year. All gave nine raps for the Freshmen, nine for the P. G.'s, nine for "P," nine for Claassen, and fifteen for the "cats."

The word was passed and all filed direct to the picture show. Mr. Daffin, famous for his courtesies to the College girls, welcomed them all in a body, and the picnic culminated in a delightful evening's entertainment. If the wisdom of the Juniors may be relied upon surely the Junior-Freshman picnic of '15 was the finest ever "picnicked" at old F. W. C. It will ever be among the fondest memories of their college days.

MOTOR PARTY

Mr. Drysdale entertained a number of the College girls with a tour to Quincy and back Sunday afternoon. The woods were beautiful, the drive delightful. The girls report their visit to Quincy a genuine treat and Mr. Drysdale a charming host. They returned at 8 o'clock Sunday night and dined at the cafe before returning home.

Mr. Drysdale's guests were: Sarah Fraleigh, Bet Parkhill, Hattie Baird, Dot Davies and Oakley St. John.

MAYPOLE SUPPER

The girls of the first-year Domestic Science Class served a Maypole Supper in their cozy dining room at 5 o'clock Thursday evening. The refreshing color scheme of pink and white was carried out most artistically on the glistening white cover. In the center of the table a maypole rose from a nest of Dorothy Perkins roses. A vine of these roses crept up to the

CAMPUS NOTES

Senator and Mrs. J. N. Fogarty, of Key West, Monroe County, were the guests of Miss Ruby Leach at supper Tuesday evening.

Misses Alice Corry and Katherine Ball spent the week-end at their home in Quincy. They took as their house-party guests Misses Gertrude Lovell, Grace Julian, Sara Burwell and Priscilla Major.

Misses Mary and Helva Floyd were the week-end guests of Miss Mariette Davis, of Quincy.

"Pat Murphy, Esquire," entertained the college girls with an interesting repertoire of original poems and Irish Melodies, Friday evening.

Miss Lucile Collins spent the week-end at Camplenotem.

Miss Thelma Hogan, who was called to her home in Waile, by the illness of her father, has returned to college, owing to his recovery.

Miss Ora Odum was the week-end guest of relatives in Bainbridge this week.

Miss Leatha Sasser has returned to her home in Starke.

Miss Mildred Vining spent the week-end at her home in Macclenny for the occasion of her sister's wedding.

Miss Etta Whiddon and Eva Schir-macher were the week-end guests of Mrs. McDonald at Havana.

The College Girls are happy in welcoming Miss Louie Landrum, Class of '11, back to her alma mater. Miss Landrum is a sister of Mrs. Cawthon, and will remain with us during the remainder of the term. She is leader for the Class of '11 in preparations for the great "Ladies," which will celebrate our tenth birthday in June.

Miss Mary Bannerman spent the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. Robertson, of Tallahassee.

The three Literary Societies will meet together the Saturday in Commencement week.

On account of the Summer School Board meeting, Dr. Edward Conrad was unable to go to Carabelle to deliver the Commencement address at the public school there. Prof. N. M. Sallee went in his place.

When the legislators came out to College for supper, Mayor Lowry arranged the schedule for the automobiles to bring them out to the College and procured the automobiles, the use of which the citizens gave freely. The College wishes to thank Mayor Lowry and the citizens of Tallahassee for their loyal co-operation.

Honorable John Neel was the guest of Miss Carrie Charles Saturday at dinner.

Representative Crosby was the guest of Miss Ella Burleson at supper Saturday.

Miss Allie Dezell was the guest of her niece, Miss Alice Shepherd Monday. Representative Crosby of Marion County was the guest of Miss Blannie Warren Sunday at supper.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wilder were the guests of Miss Martha Lewis at supper Sunday.

Mr. A. Wilson, Representative from Manatee county, was the guest of Miss Evora Hull at supper Sunday.

Mr. S. E. Sparkman of Plant City, who has been a visitor to Tallahassee for the past few days, visited the College as the guest of his daughter, Miss Sarah Sparkman, Sunday.

Miss Lois Oldness was the spend-the-night guest of Miss Eleanor Moseley Saturday.

Miss Sallie Puleston is the guest of her sister, Miss Camelia Puleston, for a week, after which she will visit in Tallahassee until the end of school.

Mr. A. A. Lotspeich was Mrs. Cawthon's guest at supper Sunday.

Hon. Hudson Burr, Chairman of the Florida Railroad Commission, brought two distinguished visitors to the College Tuesday. These were Dr. Brossier and Mr. Baker, two prominent citizens from Duval County.

SOCIETY

top, around the alternating pink and white ribbons. In true maypole style the pink and white ribbons lead from the top to each cover, tying dainty pink and white baskets, each with its little place card and filling of salted nuts. The pretty May atmosphere, charming originality and graceful service of the entire affair made it the most successful of the year. The Domestic Science girls are to be commended upon their ability and charm as hostesses. With the aid of Tallahassee's wealth of flowers they have been able to carry out many artistic and original dinner schemes this term. The maypole supper, however, is a culmination in these delightful affairs. The guests were: Dr. Edward Conrad, Miss Stella Palmer, Misses Rose Evans, Jeannette Mathews, Effrieda Colwell, Etelle Reed, Margaret Wenner, Miss Gladys Martin served as host and Miss Norine Sullivan as hostess. Misses Florida Ferrill, Ann Pope, Eagleston and Mary Frances Smith served.

The members of the A. B. and Kewpie Clubs gave a bathing party in the gym Saturday night. Afterwards they danced and feasted on fruit salad, punch and sandwiches. The chaperones were Mrs. Spears and Miss Florence Stephens. Those present were: Misses Marie Ellis, Mildred Scott, Ida Hester, Laura Owen, Estelle Beardsley, Sarah Fraleigh, Zella Wilson, Harriette Crane, Fearn Hubbard, Verna Monroe, Margaret Mitchell, Christy Paulson, Maude Renaker, Thelma Parsons, Hazel Johnson, Mildred Sweeney, Dorothy Tutt and Lois Taton.

SENIOR CLASS ENTERTAINED

Mr. Russell Mickler was at home to some of his friends of the Senior Class of the College Tuesday evening. The Mickler home on North Monroe street was artistically decorated with cut flowers for the occasion.

The guests began to arrive about 8:30, and when the clock struck 9 about twenty couples had arrived.

A very interesting game was played in which questions were asked, and the answers to these questions brought in the names of the guests present. Miss Ollie Henderson of Monticello won the prize by answering the greatest number of questions.

Miss Rose Evans furnished the music, which was enjoyed very much, as every one knows her ability as a musician.

About 10:30 refreshments were served—strawberry ice, with whipped cream and cake. Misses Hudson, Cates and Child in their dainty way served the refreshments.

Those present were: Misses McCaskill, Key, Trammell, Cooper, Moseley, Henderson, Ireland, Warren, Barrs, McLin, Adams, Proctor, Temple, Blake, Cavell, Evans, Elder, Andrews, and Messrs. Proctor, E. Yon, Van Brunt, Kelly, Barber, Polot, Wilson, Turnbull, Mays, Dr. Johnson, Rawls Johnson, Robertson, T. F. Jones, Max Kwilecki and Lotspeich. Mr. and Mrs. McRae were present to add to the occasion.

About 11 o'clock the horns of automobiles began to blow, which was the signal that the hour had come when the jolly crowd had to depart. It was the expression of all present that the evening was spent in a most joyous way and many were the thanks and good wishes that were showered on Mr. Mickler, the host, for the good time he had given his many friends.

SYNOPSIS OF PAN ON A SUMMER DAY

Pan is Nature in Sound.
On this Summer day Pan plays his pipes as the world awakes, now humming softly, now with bird-calls.

The sunbeams steal over the hills to draw up dewdrops (the diamonds which Night has dropped), resting on the downy pillows of gossamer webs, which are little bits of Night's trailing garments, torn off as she fled.

A Summer shower ends abruptly.
At noon, Pan, in the reeds by the river, bids the world to sleep with the song of the bees.

In the afternoon, during a great storm, Pan flies from the Wind and Rain.

After the storm, returning through the forest, Pan laments over a mighty oak tree, fallen.

In the twilight, Pan pipes a serenade to the myriad of dancing stars—only to hide in terror at the sight of the slow-rising moon.

All sounds of Nature (Pan) hush in breathless adoration to hearken to the music of the spheres in praise of Night.

Dr. Classen's Students Present French Play

Everybody enjoyed the French play last Saturday night—even those who didn't understand French.

The stage was attractively and appropriately arranged, showing the interior of a French home. The action at all times was quick and interesting. The actors threw themselves into their parts easily and gracefully. Miss Edwards, as a stylish spendthrift, was a most likable hero. Miss Coombs was an adorable heroine, in spite of her efforts to appear "awkward." Miss Manning, as the heroine's father, and Miss Clayton, as the mother, were very delightful old people, but they just couldn't help being stingy, and they did desire so very much to learn how to spend their money. And, of course, the hero, being a spendthrift, was only too delighted to teach them something of his own art in that line. He was also willing to teach the heroine how to appear a little less awkward, because she wanted to know. He also taught her something else; but, of course, that "something else" was what made her the heroine and him the hero. The French pronunciation was quite as good as the acting.

The following was the program:

1. Cantique—"Pour moi l'aurore"..... Cesar Melan
Océette de la deuxième classe française.
2. Fable—"La Cigale chez les Fourmis"..... LaFontaine
Mlle. Grace Owen
3. Chanson—"Ma Normandie"..... Océette
4. Comédie—"La Cigale chez les Fourmis," 1 Act, 2 Scenes (Legouve et Labiche).
M. Chameroir, Mlle. Zoe Manning; Mme. Chameroir, Mlle. Elizabeth Clayton; Mlle. Henriette, leur fille, Mlle. Julia Coombs; M. Paul de Vigneul, Mlle. Agnes Edwards; La Domestique, Mlle. Jeannette Hopson.
5. Cantique—"Reste avec nous"..... Océette

MISS FLORA RAUSCH RECEIVES FELLOWSHIP

Miss Flora Rausch, sister of Miss Isabella Rausch, instructor of violin in our College, has just received a fellowship from Leland Stanford University. This news comes to us from Key West, where Miss Rausch has been instructor of Greek in the Targrove Institute during the past year. Miss Rausch is a former student of the Florida State College for Women. She received her A.B. degree from Leland Stanford in June, 1914. All of her friends in this College are delighted to learn of this honor which has been bestowed upon one of their fellow-students.

BACCALAURÉATE SERMON JUNE 6

Dr. C. A. Stankey, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Montgomery, Ala., will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon June 6th, and will address the Y. W. C. A. in the evening on the same day.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Carroll will give a reception to the Seniors Friday, June 4th, at 8 o'clock.

Hon. N. C. Shaffer, who is and has been for many years State Superintendent of Public Instruction of Pennsylvania, will deliver the Commencement address here Wednesday, June 9th.

Florida College Graduate Wins Laurels in Artist Recital at Cincinnati

Miss Carol Perrenot, pianist, a native Floridian, made a signal success in her Artist Recital in Cincinnati on May 15. Miss Perrenot took her Bachelor of Music Degree at the Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee, under the Director, Ella Scobie Opperman, and has been for the past two years a member of the Faculty of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

Miss Bertha Bauer, Director of the Cincinnati Conservatory, writes of the occasion as follows:

"The performance was an exquisite one and was enjoyed by not only a splendid audience, but also by the teaching force of the Conservatory who were present. It was a most interesting Recital from the beautiful arrangement of the programme to its splendid rendition, and there was nothing but pleasure on the part of all of us who are so thoroughly interested in her progress.

"M. Bohlmann was overjoyed and so enthusiastic that he is already planning splendid things for next year. I wish you could have seen Miss Perrenot, she looked like a dainty bit of Dresden, and played with such style and poise as to command the admiration from the very beginning."

The following press notices are from the Cincinnati papers. The Cincinnati Enquirer and the Commercial Tribune. "Carol Perrenot's pianoforte recital attracted a brilliant audience to the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music last Saturday evening. Miss Perrenot is a pupil of Theodor Bohlmann, and her studies under this distinguished pedagogue have developed her into a young pianist of decided capability. She disclosed the fact that she has grace and style, both in mental conception of the compositions under consideration, and in presenting these in public. She presented a brilliant program, comprised of a number of works not often heard, and was very good in her interpretation. Of particular interest was the Bach concerto for two pianos, with string orchestra accompaniments, in which she was joined by Lucie Gill. The Chopin-Nicole "Allergro de Concert" proved a delightful vehicle for her graceful manner of playing, and brought the recital to a very satisfactory close."

"A pianoforte recital of much merit was given at the Conservatory of Music last Saturday evening, when Mr. Theodor Bohlmann presented his pupil, Miss Carol Perrenot, a pianist who has been well schooled in technical and musical study, but her state department and personal appearance at the piano will always count much towards successful public work. Grace, refinement and genuine musical expression adorned her efforts throughout the program. She was assisted by Miss Lucie Gill, and strings in a very satisfying presentation of the Beach Concerto for two pianos, which she followed with the Grieg Ballade, two groups of soli, and, as a brilliant closing number, Chopin's "Allergro de Concert" for piano and orchestra. She was much applauded by a large audience."

Miss Perrenot was the first student to get a Bachelor of Music Degree, in the Florida Woman's College. She was a graduate of 1912. Her Alma Mater welcomes with pride the news of her distinguished success, and is watchful with keenest interest the rapid development of those musical possibilities which are destined to place her among the distinguished artists in the world of music.

Enthusiastic Audience At Glee Club Recital

The announcement that the Florida College Glee Club will appear on any occasion always brings a large and enthusiastic audience. The recital of last Monday evening was another testimony to the work of the young ladies. The Glee Club consists of fifty students of voice in the School of Music, and is under the direction of Miss Bishop.

The principal number on this occasion was the cantata "Pan on a Summer Day," by Paul Bliss, composer of the operetta presented by the club last season. Pan is a cleverly written cantata produced for the first time in Cincinnati last Christmas.

The club met well the various moods of the day from the awakening of nature, the morning song, the noontide rest, the storm, the dirge over the fallen oak, to the serenade and the night song. The delicate staccato work in the summer shower was exquisitely given and the singers responded alertly throughout the evening to the baton of the leader.

Misses Zella Wilson and Verna Monroe, in characteristic costume, gave as a prologue a dance—Pipes of Pan. Their dancing is always artistic and on this occasion was especially happy in presenting the mood of the scenes to follow.

The recital opened with three choruses, those by Cadman and Nevin being unaccompanied. They were sung with assurance, accurate attack and good pitch throughout.

Miss Bishop is to be congratulated on the effective work of the club.

Miss Irma Blake was a strong and artistic support as accompanist.

One of the greatest treats of the year was offered last Monday night when Miss Elder, the director of the School of Expression, gave an impersonation of Yeats' "Land of Heart's Desire." This play deals with the superstition of the Irish peasants. A fairy child enters the cottage of simple country folk and steals away Mary Bruin, a newly married bride, in spite of the pleadings of her young husband and the presence of a bold priest.

Miss Elder's interpretation was ideal and imaginative. In the character of Mary Bruin, the reader was at her best, but as the fairy child she held her audience spellbound.

Miss Elder possesses a wonderful personality, a well modulated voice, but it is her face which expresses all the delicate shades of feeling, and carries her hearers with her to the land of fancy.

Will Your Place Be Filled Only By You

All the active Alumnae are making every possible effort to have a large reunion of all the alumnae on June 8, and we hope you will be here to fill the place that belongs to you. The day will be full of inspiration for you, and you can carry its benefits and its memories into whatever community you may go. Other colleges have gained considerable impetus by such reunions, and we feel assured that ours will be one to derive all the benefits of such an occasion. What does it mean to meet on this great day? Is it worth while to see the improvement of Alma Mater since you graduated? Will it give any pleasure to meet friends and classmates and talk of the good old times, and exchange thought as to plans for the hopeful future? Does it mean anything to join your forces with other alumna members and work together for the good of the order? Try it and see. You will receive a cordial welcome from everybody on "College Hill."

SENIOR AND JUNIOR ORATORICAL CONTEST

The Annual Senior and Junior Oratorical Contest will be given in the College Auditorium 8 o'clock Saturday night, June 5. These annual contests for the Board of Control medal, are among the most interesting entertainments of the College year. Their value is inestimable in inspiring literary achievement in the students and in bringing the public in touch with their ability and advancement. They are always looked forward to with the keenest pleasure by the public, if their success of previous occasions may be relied upon. Last year's contest was a genuine literary and oratorical triumph. As much is anticipated of this year's contest, as this year's contestants are among the very finest literary talent in the College. Miss Inga Helseth was last year's Senior champion. Her literary power and fine delivery in "Seeking Poise," easily found first honors. Miss Pearl Caldwell won first place among the Juniors in her forceful delivery of "The Work of the Women of the South during the Civil War." This year's contestants are:

Senior Orators.

Miss Pearl Caldwell—Tax Reform in Florida.

Miss Emma Helseth—Whom Seek Ye?

Miss Maudie Wilkinson—Optimism versus Pessimism.

Junior Orators.

Miss Margaret Carroll—Conservation of the Natural Resources of Florida.

Miss Agnes Edwards—Equality of Opportunity.

Miss Lucille Freeman—Pageantry.

Miss Pattle Martin—America's Opportunity for Ocean Trade Extension.

Miss Cornelia Puleston—What English Literature Owes to Greece.

SIGHT-SEEING AUTO TRIP

The Social Committee of the Y. W. C. A., with the kind assistance of Mr. Lively, entertained in a most unique way Thursday afternoon all the girls who have not seen their Capital City. At 4 o'clock the cars left the Campus on the mapped-out tour, and a delightful drive over the beautiful Tallahassee hills and to places of interest, followed. Delightful cold drinks were served. The girls, besides falling in love with Tallahassee, pronounced it the most delightful affair of the year.

THE JUBILEE

Home-coming Week!

What it must mean to come back to your Alma Mater after having been away even as short a time as a year!

But the Alumnae will find many strange faces here, and many changes about the campus; and in order that they may not at any time feel the least bit like a stranger, let us do our best to give them a jolly welcome.

In honor of the occasion the Flambeau will put out an eight-page edition. This will be the last to be published this year.

The edition will feature the Home-coming Week.

THE QUESTION OF PRIVILEGES

This is a woman's college. However, we are often confronted with the question: Are we treated as women? The answer is obvious.

The question of personal responsibility has been brought before the students in many ways during this year, and that is a good thing. But a college girl is a human being. One great failing of human nature is its proneness to be dependent when possible. The deduction is self-evident: So long as the young women of our College are treated as responsible creatures they will not have, and cannot be expected to have, the proper sense of responsibility. Whose fault is this? Certainly we cannot blame the girls. They would be willing to accept this responsibility. They would live up to what is expected of them, but they don't have the chance.

What every student of College rank needs is greater responsibility for her own conduct. If this were given to her, every student would feel that she were really a member of the student government association—something that is not true now—and she would be far more careful than she is now. Why is she not so responsible now? Why? Just because there is always someone too ready to be responsible for her; it grows into a perverted system of "don't's" that every young woman ought to be able to answer for herself. It would seem that it were time for us to "get out of the rut." The Executive Committee would grow stronger through the more hearty co-operation of the student body, and the student body would grow stronger through a government by the student body and for the student body. Give the girls of College rank more privileges and watch the development of personal responsibility among them.

GRADUATES RETURN

"THIRD HOUSE" A CLEVER ENTERTAINMENT

The attaches were very successful in their attempt to ape the legislators at the annual session of the Third House Friday night, May 21. And the legislators, in their turn, were no less ridiculous in their mimicry of the attaches. The affair was decidedly clever. The attaches showed eminent ability in carrying on affairs of state. All business—installing officers, appointing standing committees, reading bills—was brought up, discussed, disputed and disagreed with in as impressive a manner as the legislators themselves have ever effected. Prominent statesmen made adept "flunkies."

R. A. Green acted as temporary chairman and called for nominations for Speaker of the Third House. E. M. Yon responded with a brilliant and easy speech, nominating Eli Futch of Alachua. Jone Hawkins, "the gentleman from Nassau," seconded this nomination with a ludicrous and "taking" imitation of Mr. Goldstein's own style of oratory. And the Speaker, Hon. Eli Futch, was escorted with due ceremony to his new position.

The House then proceeded with the election of the attaches, which was as follows:

Chief Clerk, Forrest Lake, Reading Clerk, J. B. Johnson, Assistant Reading Clerk, S. C. Harrison, Jr., Bill Clerk, J. G. Sharon, Sergeant at Arms, R. H. Anderson, Messenger, Harry Goldstein, Doorkeeper, Amos Lewis, Jaulitor, N. C. Bryan, Water Boy, W. T. Martin, Pages, Dr. Fogarty, F. M. Cooper, F. A. Wood, C. V. Varnadore and Reid Robson

Chaplain, John W. Davis, Chaplodian, W. C. Rouse, General Roundabout, A. S. Wells, Mr. Wood was the most efficient page, although Reid Robson was a close second.

The Representatives who distinguished themselves were: Lanier, Yon, Lotspeich, Claude Johnson, Sutton, Walsh, O. M. Johnson, Mays, Unstead, Green, Turnbull, Bolenfield, Hawkins, Cravy and Leslie.

The following were some of the standing committees:

Committee on General Antagonism—Chairman, Amos Lewis of Jackson County.

Committee on Foolish Questions—Chairman, Representative Henderson of Lee County.

Committee on Inconsistency—Chairman, W. F. Himes of Hillsborough.

Committee on Rules on Florida State College for Women—Chairman, Buck Lanier of Arizona.

Committee on "Big I's and Little U's"—Chairman, Claude L'Engle from the State at Large.

ELABORATE PREPARATIONS FOR ALUMNAE JUBILEE

For the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the Florida State College for Women, elaborate preparations are being made. A program which will fill the entire day and evening has been arranged. Among the speakers of note who will appear on it are Governor Trammell and United States Senators Fletcher and Bryan.

The Jubilee promises to be a most happy means of bringing together the loyal daughters of the College. The members of the different classes are writing most enthusiastically of their "Home-coming." Among those who have already arrived and will assist in preparations are Misses Inga Helseth, Isabel Grady, and Louise Clark of the Class of '14.

All Alumnae girls are cordially urged to be back and participate in the exercises. Those who register ahead at the office will be entertained, free of charge, in the dormitories, from June 5th to the 10th.

One especially attractive part of the program will be the special features arranged by the Class Presidents for their respective classes, and equally enjoyable will be the hour for the reunion of the classes in groups on the Campus.

The program is as follows:

10 a. m.—Academic Procession, 11 to 12:30, on the Campus—College Song.

Greeting by the President of the Alumnae Association, Miss Myrtle Warren.

Welcome to Alumnae and the Glowing Prospects of the College, Dr. D. M. Lowery, Mayor of Tallahassee.

Address—Hon. Park Trammell, Governor of Florida, and Chairman of the State Board of Education.

Chorus—College Glee Club, 1 p. m.—Dinner in College Dining Hall.

2:30 to 4:00 p. m. in College Auditorium—

Chorus—College Glee Club, United States Senators Duncan U. Fletcher and N. P. Bryan, have been invited to give addresses at this hour.

Reading of College Ode, 4:00 to 5:00 p. m.—Business Meeting of Alumnae.

5:00 to 6:00 p. m.—Reunion of Classes in Class groups on Campus.

6:00 to 7:00 p. m.—Picnic Supper on Campus.

Mr. J. F. Jaudon, of Miami, was the guest of Miss Dorothy Davies at supper Monday.

Mr. S. D. Futch was the guest of his daughter, Miss Wilma Futch, at supper Tuesday.

Mr. C. A. Landrum, Mr. J. M. Oliver, and Mrs. B. H. Lindsey, were the guests of Mrs. Cawthon at dinner Sunday.

Miss Agnes Ellen Harris is in Live Oak and McClenney this week, conducting canning demonstrations and neighborhood meetings. She will be at College next week.

Miss Mae L. Wells left for Live Oak Wednesday. She will return Sunday. Mr. W. M. Propper, of the Pepper Publishing Company, Gainesville, was here Wednesday making arrangements for the publication of the next bulletin of the College.

Summer School opens June 14th. The number of reservations for rooms is increasing daily.

Miss Schofield of Ohio, who has been teaching at Carrabelle, is now pursuing her studies at the College.

Miss Alma Griffin, of Kissimmee, one of our former schoolmates, was a guest at the College Wednesday afternoon, and a spend-the-night guest of Miss Mary Floyd Thursday night.

Miss Margaret Willard was a week-end guest of friends in Havana this week.

Mrs. G. E. Ireland of Fort Myers, is the guest of her daughter, Miss Edna Ireland. Mrs. Ireland will remain two weeks at the College to be here for the graduation exercises of her daughter.

Many of the Spring review girls are returning home this week to take the teachers' examinations. They have been such excellent students, and have conducted themselves in such an approved college way. It is with regret that we see them go. They have made many warm friends here who will miss their companionship, and who wish for their return next year.

Mrs. E. F. Davies of Miami, is a guest of her daughter, Miss Dot Davies of the College.

Germany has declared war on Italy as the result of the declaration of war made by Italy on Austria. Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador at Rome, has been recalled, and diplomatic negotiations between the two countries have been severed.

SOCIETY

EXAMINATION DINNER.

As examinations seem to be "all the go" now, the second year cooking class gave an Examination dinner Wednesday night at 6 o'clock in the Home Economics dining room. Covers were laid for eleven. The center of the table was a mass of Easter lilies and asparagus fern. Pale green candles stood at each end of the center piece, and at each place lily-like Easter lilies held salted almonds.

Those present were: Dr. and Mrs. Edward Conrad, Misses Elizabeth and Louise Conrad, Misses Stella Palmer, Katie Mae Galloway, Lula Mae Green, Lula Hart, Mary Robertson, Alta Grimm and Hazel Flumey.

The Menu was as follows:

Fish	Yellow Sauce	Potato Apples
Salted Almonds	Cold Slaw
Planked Chicken	Mushrooms
Cucumbers	Mint Ice
String Beans	Macaroni
Finger Rolls	Butter
Argyle Salad	Saltines
Irish Cream	Golden Cake
Cafe Noir
Cheese Balls	Butter Tubs

BIOLOGY CLASS PICNIC.

Prof. Barber and his Biology class picnicked at Lake Bradford Tuesday afternoon. The great wagon, heavily laden with a merry crowd and loads of good "eats" left the Campus at 4 o'clock. Lake Bradford was beautiful. Some went canoeing on the lake, some went swimming—all had a real "picnic time". Apples, oranges, sandwiches, cold soda, olives and pickles came in welcome fashion at six. It was rumored about by certain of those who really saw it, that the girls hypnotized Professor Barber and had him dance on the green and cut all the characteristic capers of the hypnotized. If the biologists are the best picnic judges, it was the merriest picnic of the year. Those who were there were: Prof. Barber, Misses Sylvia Kinney, Bessie Milton, Louise Narsenworthy, Alleen Knight, Nancy Kufzin, Gertrude Lovell, Mary Edna Owen, Louise Nash, Grace Julian, Ora Odum, Thelma Vent, Bernice Prevatt, Edna Williams, Marian Hall, Verna Monroe, Zella Wilson, Addie Johnson, Harriett Crane, Margaret Mitchell, Mary Ward Sprull, and Margaret May.

KAPPA DELTAS AT HOME.

The members of Kappa Alpha Chapter of Kappa Delta fraternity were at home in their chapter room to their patronesses and town members, from 5 to 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Delightful lemon ice and cakes were served. The characteristic charm of the Kappa Delta girls as hostesses made the at home a most delightful hour. The guests were: Mesdames T. B. Byrd, Wm. Van Brunt, Joe Edmondson, Fred Moor, W. T. Cavell, W. L. Moor, and Misses Sarah Puleston, Louise Clark, Helen Saxon, Ruby Byrd and Marie Henderson.

COLLEGE HOUSEKEEPING

The Housekeeping in the dormitories by the students has so much improved and become so generally good, it is almost impossible to find an untidy room.

Following is a list of the rooms best kept. The length of the list speaks volumes:

1914 Graduates Return For Jubilee Week

The Class of 1914 represented by sixteen girls, is again enjoying the hospitality of its Alma Mater. It may be of interest to our absent members to hear something of the way our girls have spent the past year.

Our president, Inga Helseth, has been here for three weeks, and in this time, as our class leader, has been planning our part in the Jubilee Celebration. For the past year Inga has been teaching in the High School at Fort Pierce. She has accepted a position as Principal of the St. Lucie County High School for the coming year.

Josephine Drane, Mary Wilkinson, and Mary Robertson, have been taking special work in Education and Home Economics in the College. Josephine will assist Miss Marcha Clark in Home Economics at the University of Tennessee this summer. Blanche Glenn is teaching in Punta Gorda, and Annie Mae Williams has taught in Fort Lauderdale. Ruth Ottwell taught Home Economics and English in the Dunellen High School. Louise Clark was an instructor in Latin and French in Kissimmee High School. She will return next year.

Olga Larson and Lucie Grier have been doing graduate work in the College. Olga has been offered a fellowship at the University of Chicago. Lucy has accepted a fellowship at Cornell.

Lude Fryer will receive a bachelor of Science degree this year. Mozelle Hurst has been interested in Canning Club work.

Felicia Williams is now teaching English and History in the Arcadia High School.

Two of our girls, Marjorie Leach and Clara McDonald, were instructors in the Harris High School at Key West.

Kate Webb taught in Caryville in Alachua County.

Among the girls who enjoyed a year at home are: Doris Knight, Adele Boyd, Ruby Bird, and Elizabeth Spears.

Juel Wilkinson did successful grade work in Apopka.

Corinne Patterson assisted in Home Economics in St. Petersburg.

Isabel Grasty, Catherine Martin, and Irene Smith, taught in other States. Isabel is now here at the Reunion.

Jennie Chapelle was head of a Home Economics Department in a college at Belton, Texas. Lucille Bellinger taught at Chattahoochee.

Frances Long will probably be here for Summer School. She has been teaching in Tennessee.

Belle Crawford did not carry out the course prophesied for her, but taught near Sanford.

Grace Godley specialized in Expression and Gymnasium work in the University of Chicago last summer. For the past year she has been teaching primary work in DeFuniak Springs.

From our large class we have two brides, Mrs. M. H. Avery (Eva Child), who is living in Miami. Mrs. David visiting in Tallahassee. Mrs. David Fleming (Katherine Meres), is keeping house at Tarpon Springs.

The presence of Miss Lonnie Landrum, who has taken Mrs. Garrett's place for the last month, has been greatly appreciated. She is a very popular and successful chaperon among the younger girls.

Vires, Artes, Mores--Femina Perfecta

I.

Vires—A fame with garlands bound,
Housed once thy worship, hero god;
Olympian poise, glad bloom, the Greek
Won of the contest thou didst found.
Divine thy valorous might whose face
On peril glowed without distress,
And potent thy unwearied grace,
Man's heart to cheer and bless.
Thy awful toil, thy great avail,
Thy brother love, O Herakles.
For conflict or for sacrifice,
Environ us in these.

II.

Artes—How far above the seas
Doth rise her columned citadel—
That Athens of the violet crown
That reigneth by her memories
Of proudest deed, of deathless sing,
Of noblest thought and earnest art,
Her glory's praise through time is ringing.
That stayed it on her arm and heart.
Before thy spear, thy aegis shield,
Mars yieldeth, skill and leisure reign.
O Pallas, spread thy law, thy lore,
Through all the noised earth again.

III.

Mores—O, as a lily clad,
Thou shining god whose garments breathe
Of cassia, aloes, frankincense,
Wherewith the nations make thee glad.
Meek is the beauty that thou wearest,
And of thy train our least may be.
Yet who in Israel comparest
Anointed Christ, to thee?
The false, the dark, before thee fled,
On earth thy righteous kingdom won.
How of their perfect, risen Lord
His people ask a benison.

IV.

Mother, thy daughters trust to thee
Their three-fold torch to keep afire,
Their faith to guard the worship these
Have treasured as thy destiny.
Be thou the strength that cannot tire,
The beautiful that may not fail,
And type the dream of our desire
That honor shall prevail.
So may with years our visioning
Become a radiance of good
To light for you her onward quest
And crown thee in beatitude.

Seniors Burn Books Without Interference

In stealth and in darkness, save for the necessary bonfire, the Class of 1915 on Saturday night disposed of their books. The time-honored event—the burning of the Seniors' books—has come and gone and without interference from the Juniors.

Invited by Miss Marlea Oskihau Bishop and Miss DuBois Elder to a farewell cap and gown party on Saturday evening, the Seniors spent the hours following the oratorical contest in an eventful manner. The black-robed figures left East Hall at a late hour and marched about the Campus slinging the cap and gown song and others of the college songs which met their fancy.

Of course, the Juniors were not without their suspicions and sent out. It is said, a number of scouts. Whether it was faulty work among the Juniors or adroit management on the part of the rival class; at any rate, headed by Miss Elder the graduates of this year stole away and undisturbed gathered about the bonfire for the cremation.

As a result, some of the robes smelled strongly of smoke the next day, and one Senior was noticed at the bonfire table to stealthily wipe away a smudge un-moved in her rush for the table.

Rumor has it that the class has safely preserved the ashes.

JOINT MEETING OF LITERARY SOCIETIES

The Joint Annual Meeting of Thalian Literary Society, Minerva Club, and the Anyll, took place on Thursday, June 3, at 8 p. m., in the Auditorium.

Miss Irma Trammell, President of the Thalian Literary Society, presided. After an address by the Chairman, the minutes of the last meeting were read by Miss Emma Helseth.

The piano solo, "Rustling of Spring," by Lindsey, was artistically rendered by Miss Mary Orr. The original paper, "The Real Woman Question," clearly showed Miss Margaret Carroll's literary ability. It brought the question vividly before the audience.

Miss Gladys Martin's beautiful rich voice was admirably suited by "The Flower Song," Helen Hatch.

Miss Ruby Adams held her audience's attention throughout. Her selection was a dramatic scene from "The Lion and the Mouse," by Klein.

"The Tale of the Oyster Kingdom" was a little fairy story of absorbing interest. It proves that its author, Miss Louise Nash, possesses a vivid imagination and exceptional literary ability. It was well read by Miss Josie Johnson.

That Miss Bernice Simmons possessed a fine voice was already known to the audience, but her rendition of "June-time," by Oley Speaks, was exceptionally good.

The ever-popular violin ensemble class, led by Miss Rausch, gave the Schubert-Wels "Military March." The violin students composing the class are Misses Carmen Evans, Loretta Sullivan, Marie Mosley, Juanita Pipkin, and Ruth Bartlett. Miss Rose Evans was the able accompanist.

These joint meetings grow better every year.

Misses Hulet Gest and Katherine Ball left last Thursday morning for Blue Ridge, N. C., to attend the Y. W. C. H. Conference. Miss Pattie Martin will join them later.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. CONRAD ENTERTAIN

The finest, and certainly the most appreciated of all the entertainments, was that given to the Seniors of the Normal and the College by Dr. and Mrs. Conrad last Friday night at 8.30 o'clock. The house was decorated with flowers and great quantities of asparagus fern which was sent to Mrs. Conrad by Miss Jessie Burton of Crescent City. Garden seats were arranged conveniently about the lawn.

In the receiving line were: President and Mrs. Conrad; Mrs. Trammell, wife of Governor Trammell; Dr. and Mrs. Sheets, Mr. Luning, Professor and Mrs. Williams; Dr. and Mrs. Dodd; Mrs. Salley, wife of Dean Salley; Dr. Yokum and Clark Smith.

Mesdames, Palmer, Clark, Davidson and Kellum, greeted the guests at the door. Miss Longstre introduced the guests to the receiving line. Mrs. Luning and Mrs. Game, assisted by Miss Sparks and Miss Stephens, served ice cream and cake in the dining room. Misses Isselhardt and Williams served punch in the library. Mrs. Barber poured coffee on the veranda.

Music was furnished by the Ensemble Class, directed by Miss Hansch. The members of the class are: Misses Carmen Evans, Marie Mosley, Loretta Sullivan, Juanita Pipkin, and Ruth Bartlett.

Young men in town, selected by the College girls, were invited. They were: Bill Hertenbach, Bascom Barber, Russell Mickler, Barton Turndull, Danette Mays, Everett You, Charlie Kelley, Oscar Johnson, O. C. Collins, Sam Wainish, Frank Wilson, Theodore Proctor, Horace Van Brunt, Steve Yates, Max Wylliecki, Ed Hopkins, Ed W. Alford, Will You, Graham Miller, Wm. Bass, Wm. Robertson, Marion Pelot, Frank Cochran, Kent Johnson, Glover Johnson, Rawls Johnson, John Sutton, Arthur McGeachy, Henry Haines, Fred Choate, Peck Green, Guy Mr. Falmie, and Harry George Martin.

The State Board of Education was also invited, as were the parents of the Seniors and visiting alumnae. Mr. and Mrs. Frame, and Mr. and Mrs. Wood were also invited.

DR. STAKLEY ADDRESSES Y. W. C. A.

Dr. Stakley addressed the Y. W. C. A. in the College Auditorium at 8 o'clock Sunday night. The large audience was treated to a sermon of genuine beauty and Christian thought, his subject being "The Ministry of Christian Women." He gave entirely new beauty in picturing the devotion of women who accompanied Jesus as he went about his work. Their ministry has three aspects, said Dr. Stakley. The divine authority for religious service of the women in all generations of the church, with the example of Mary of Bethany; the recognized effective service on the part of the women; and, lastly, the needful service of women. Jesus and his disciples found valuable allies in these sister hearts and lives. In her work woman-kind has stood the test of devotion in many cases to her Savior. The story of the resurrection was entrusted to a woman. Dr. Stakley closed with the thought that the women can carry a world of love, sympathy, gentleness and grace—a task impossible for men. Therefore, "Go to all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature," said Dr. Stakley. "God bless the women and the Young Women's Christian Association."

After the masterful discourse of the morning his precious message to the young women came with the balm of evening. It shall be cherished long in the hearts of the young women of the College, and the heart of the great audience, whose privilege it was to hear him.

Her Business.

GOOD-BYE

My very dear College Daughters:

The time to say good-bye to you has come, and it makes the mother-heart heavy to part with you, my dear, lovely daughters!

In looking back over the year just drawing to a close, I have only happy, sweet memories. There were acts of thoughtlessness, sometimes on the part of my daughters, but I have always felt it was of the head and not of the heart; for I can not recall one act of wilful disobedience, and I feel that is a splendid record in a family of 400.

I have tried hard to mother you just as the dear mother at home would wish me to do, and I have always felt that you understood and believed in me.

Thank you, dear girls, for your love and confidence. I am happy beyond words that I have you to love, pet and spoil. If I have helped you in the slightest degree in your growth towards the stature of a fine, capable woman, I count myself fortunate indeed.

I have many little surprises planned for you for next year, and in the excitement of them this summer I expect to be very busy and happy.

I wish for you the happiest, most restful vacation, and shall look forward to your return to us in the fall.

Your devoted College Mother,
MRS. S. L. CAWTHON.

WHAT THE ART DEPARTMENT HAS BEEN DOING

Suppose we take a glimpse at the art department of our College. The Minerva Room, with its walls lined with copies of famous pictures, is, perhaps, of the most interest. There the art student becomes familiar with buildings of every type of architecture, with sculpture, with portraits, landscapes; the works of artists from every school—Italian, Flemish, Dutch, German, Spanish, French, English and American.

The large studio has many desks, evidence of large classes. There is a cabinet full of roses of every description, which one used as studies. Well-known casts, heads, fruit, conventional designs, hang about the walls. It is here that the classes from the Normal and elementary departments are held. They take up art in every phase, drawing of cubes, cones, making booklets, borders, pencil sketches, nature, still life and character studies. Here, too, clay molding is taught. In these large classes decided talent is discovered, developed and encouraged into broader fields of study.

The designing department has done extensive work, using conventional flower motifs, studies in black and white, original designs in colors, and copies of famous pictures.

The smaller studio is fitted out with easels. Here some of the special art work is done. It is a cozy little place for quiet study.

The special art students take up every variety of the work. A great Banners were carried by the leaders of the respective classes. The parade started from the Campus, up College Avenue to Adams Street. It then turned to the left, and passed the Post Office, turning again on Monroe Street. From there it went to the Capitol, which it circled, and returned to Adams Street, and back to College Hill. The classes were all dressed in some characteristic costume, the 1915 Seniors alone wearing the caps and gowns. The members of the Class of '16 were very dainty Greek maidens. Behind them, somewhat less dignified, but for all that more charming, came many still-life studies are sketched in charcoal, using various methods in finishing. Both still life and nature studies in water color are taken up. Sketches in pencil are made. When casts are drawn, the pupils strive for the delineation of character, the true effect of light and shade.

A trip to the woods, where the students sketch scenes direct from nature, is a very pleasant side of the course.

History of Art is an important feature of the art department. The Normal classes study this as a foundation for later study. The College classes studies in detail art from the prehistoric ages on through the architecture and sculpture of Greece and Rome, the Renaissance down to the great masters. Their lives, characteristics and pictures are studied. Thus, by becoming familiar with the famous artists and their works, the student gains a true appreciation of art.

In the absence of Miss Abernethy, who is in New York, Miss Irma Williams has very ably conducted this department. She is a graduate of class '13, F. S. C. Last year she spent in study at Columbia University, New York. After leaving here she expects to continue her studies at the university. Miss Williams, as the director, has proven herself more than able to handle the situation. She has taught every branch thoroughly and well.

the Class of '17, dressed in sunbonnets and sleeved aprons. Middies and skirts, with the generous dashes of green, were the official garb of the Freshman Class. The Junior Normals wore lavender and purple hats, with dresses trimmed similar colors.

The Sub-Fresh wore red, white, and purple skirts and middie blouses.

DRESS PARADE A BIG HIT

Quite the prettiest and one of the most interesting features of the entire Home Economics display was shown in the Auditorium Monday from 11 to 12 a. m. This consisted of sixty very attractive girls attired in the costumes made in the Domestic Art Department during the year.

Miss Edna Ireland presided over the program, explaining to the audience the style and making of each costume, as the girls, two at a time, stepped toward the front of the stage, which was tastefully arranged with ferns and flowers. Soft music from the piano during the program added greatly to the effectiveness and charm.

The Program was as follows:

- Group 1.—Coat Suits.
- Group 2.—Afternoon Dresses.
- Group 3.—Coat Suits.
- Group 4.—Afternoon Dresses.
- Group 5.—Afternoon Dresses.
- Group 6.—Lingerie Dresses.
- Group 7.—Evening Dresses with Coats.
- Group 8.—Evening Dresses, with Coats.

First the unlined coat suits were shown. These were made of Palm Beach cloth. Of these, one made by Miss Naomi Grothaus was especially attractive. The contrasting trimming of a red patent leather belt and red ball buttons was very pretty.

The afternoon dresses were made from materials of silks, taffets, crepe metcors, crepe de chinos and silk poplins. One of blue charmeuse, trimmed in crepe tissue and velvet, having the over jacket effect was quite pretty. Another of changeable green taffeta, trimmed in ruffles and lace, was very charming, made by Miss Connibear.

The next group showed the lined coat suits, which were made from worsted materials. One of these, made of shepherd plain and lined with bright green, was unusually attractive. Miss Rosa Walker designed this. With the coat-suits the hats were worn, which also were made and trimmed by the Domestic Art classes. The lingerie dresses were of light materials, such as organizes, voiles and batistes. These were especially dainty and summery-looking, with lace and embroidery trimmings. Some were made with sheer ruffles, some with embroidery flouncings.

Before the seventh group, the evening dresses appeared, the curtain was dropped and all lights on the stage were turned on. Then the curtain was raised and many charming gowns made from charmeuse, taffeta, crepe metcor and crepe de chine, were then shown. Over these the girls wore evening wraps, which Miss Ireland removed for the full dress to be removed. The wraps were mostly of a dark colored round cloth with bright colored linings. Miss Emma Barr's white taffeta gown, made empire, with a pink outline girdle, was very handsome. Miss Ireland's was light blue crepe de chine, empire waist and accordion and pleated skirt. The trimming was lace and dainty pink roses, which made it a very dainty evening dress.

This ending the program, the whole procession marched up the aisles of the Auditorium and downstairs to the exhibit, to where the audience followed.

JUNIORS HAVE GREAT TIME

The Junior Class entertained in honor of the Junior orators, in the Sun Parlor of Bryan Hall, Saturday evening after the Junior-Senior oratorical contest. Class songs, college songs and yells formed a large part of the programme, after which lemon ice with cherries, on sliced pineapple, lady fingers and macaroons were served the guests. Those present, besides the Juniors, were: Mrs. Gawthorn, Miss Roberts and Nancy Dowdell. After the party everyone accompanied Miss Freeman, president of the Junior class, to her room where she donned her traveling suit and hat preparatory to leaving on the early morning train. Our worthy president was ushered off amidst farewells and many wishes for a pleasant summer.

The Juniors were entirely aware of the mystic hour at which the books of the Seniors would rise in smoke. They also knew how great would be the disappointment of the Seniors if there was no interference on their part. The wisdom of the Juniors in their foreknowledge of the approaching event made it unnecessary to send out any scouts. The time, the place, were known; and considering the occasion not of enough importance to warrant any loss of sleep, the Juniors retired to their several rooms immediately after the departure of their president.

"PEEKULAR" NAMES FOUND IN STUDENT DIRECTORY

Various and peculiar names are found among the students enrolled in the College. Schwalmeyer and Schirmacker head the list with the greatest number of letters, and Raa, May, Yon and Orr end it with the smallest number.

Leman affords the most fruitful name upon which to expound, but we must pass on to more unusual names, such as Smith, of which there is but one variety; Greens, two shades of them; one Brown, two Williams, four Johnsons, three Walkers, three Evans, one Phillips, one Holmes, one Andrews and one Linton.

We have Knott space to mention Younge Miss Godbold, but we Otto Puffer (Cheer up, we won't attempt another pun). Then we have many descendants and relatives of famous people, among whom are Clark, Nelson, Adams (two of them), Hale, Patterson, Trammell, Wilson, Willard, Lanier, Monroe, two Coopers, Milton, Reynolds, Livingston, Lewis, Edwards, Freeman, Carlyle, Morgan, Harris, Hutchinson, Martin, Pearce, Hamilton, Bryan, Byrne, Spencer, Drane, Charles, Underwood, Morrison, Moffett, Karo (the syrup man), Sloan (the liniment man), Cooley, Hodges, Clayton, Julian, Fraleigh, Snyder (the pork and beans man), Michael, Owens (four of them), and Prevatt.

Speaking of animals, we have a Byrd, a Leach, a Crane, a Hart, a Weaver and a Partridge.

Names of fictitious characters are also popular. We have Mitchell, Ellis, McBeath, Collins, Hawkins, Lawrie, Carroll, Hester, Swindal and Sullivans twice.

Many classes of Peoples are also found, among whom are Bowman, Carpenter, Barber, Bishop, King, two Knights, Major, Swain, Cook, Palmer, Shepherd, Blocker, Fryer, Hooker, Parsons and three Taylors.

Trinkets and sundries consist of Barrs, Coombs, Ball, Scales, Carr, Nikeles, Comforter, Buckles, Key and Windgate.

Nor is Nature obscure, for there is a Hill, a Glenn, Webbs and Nettles, Elder and Reed, a Mayfield, a Shortridge, a Branch and a Parkhill. Wells, Barnes, Garretts and a Hall are found close by. We have one Hull and a Shells.

There's quite a bunch of highbrows in school: McDavid (triplets), McKeown, McPherson, St. John, McCaskill, DeShong, Melvaine, McLin, Norsworthy, McNeill, McCanley, LaFitte, LeHardy, McGuire, McMillan (two of them), McMullen and McLain.

Some of the names even represent geographical locations: Jackson, Ireland, Brundage, Maxwell, Marks, Mannings, Henderson, Anderson, Blake, Bartlett, Thompson, Kennedy, Thomson and Bradwell. There are some other names in school which are decidedly unromantic. Some of them are: Conibear, Tidewell, Hainlain, Pipkin, Alfred, Nolsworthy, Galloway, Bannerman, Burleson, Beardsly, Bunker, Brandon, Hargrave, Heleath, Hogan, Hubbard, Hopson, Chapman, Daugherty, Eagleston, Pinney, Floyd, Gist, Gildwell, Greer, Grasty, Burwell, Caldwell, Kinney, Colwell, Cavell, Gausey, Coffrin, Russell, Jarrel, Corry, Davies, Farrington, Gambo, Guice, Killbee, Strange, Lindsey, Mathis, Mays, Moseley, Moughton, Moorehead, Mahoney, Murrell, Myer, Nahm, Nash, Watson, Wilkinson, Whidden, Odum, Powell, Pitchford, Paulson, Renaker, Ronton, Roberts, Slemmons, Sikes, Sparkman, Shands, Sprull, Slemmons, Vaughn, Vining, Warren, Singleton and Tutt.

There are also names which one pronounces with great difficulty, but which one never attempts to spell correctly: Grothaus, Whekoff, Unstead, Mullholand, WILKINSON and Puleston.

His Walking War Record.

The Dundee Courier has this laconic war note:

"Soldiers can be as laconic as sailors. The late Sir George Groves used to tell of an old soldier who went about begging, bearing a placard: 'Actions, 7; wounds, 9; children, 8; total, 24.'"

ART EXHIBIT A CREDIT TO THE DEPARTMENT

What a wonderful variety of color, beauty and form met our eyes as we stepped into the studios of the art department yesterday. Rows and rows of very excellent work were arranged in an orderly way around the walls. Numbers of gay flower borders were especially pretty. The conventional work of this order showed much care. The sketches in black of various of our girls were very true to life. Those by Katherine Montgomery, Margaret Weaver and Dot Tutt were especially graceful. Flowers by Etta Whidden, Kenie Murrell and Helen Vaughn were fine. Mary Bannerman and Dorothy Slemmons had many pretty pencil sketches. The row of dainty little booklets illustrating Summer, Spring, Flowers, Trees, Sunset, etc., were worthy of close attention. There were all-over patterns in bright harmonious colors.

The neat printing, done with a stick, in colors, was very good. Then there were flowers and flowers—a veritable garden—all pretty and so real! Jack O'Lanterns lent an air of festivity to the occasion. The clay modeling on display called forth much favorable comment. There were candlesticks, apples, bottles, trays and a sweet little elephant with big ears.

In the other room the work of the designing class and the specials was displayed. The designing class must have been composed entirely of good artists, judging from the faultless samples on display. It would be hard to pick out any few who surpass the others. However, the work of Laura Chapman, Adrienne Phillips, Hazel Pinney, Josephine Grasty and Lucile Cooper deserve mention.

The special art students—Mildred Sweeney, Jennie Carpenter, Mildred Scott, Kathleen Caro—had water colors from nature, still life in charcoal, sketches from the casts on display.

Altogether the exhibit was one of which both teacher and pupils can be justly proud.

MISS MONROE ENTERTAINS

A most elite and high-class entertainment was given by Miss Kathlyn Monroe to a number of her friends last Wednesday afternoon. The special feature of the entertainment was a mock student government meeting, in which Miss Naomi Grothaus acted as president and the other guests as members of the executive committee. Many innocent little Sub-Freshmen were jerked up tremblingly to stand in line until they could be admitted into the committee room for trial. Their faces were blanched with fear.

Miss Grothaus, with great difficulty, succeeded in calling the meeting to order. "Madam Doorkeeper," she said, "will you please proceed to bring in the first victim?"

An underclassman was brought in, and sworn in the following manner: Placing her left hand on Dr. C. A. Brautlecht's Laboratory Manual, she repeated: "I do solemnly swear by all that is obscure that I will not tell the truth, the whole truth, nor anything like the truth, so help me Salley." Then the members of the executive committee were obliged to take the following oath: "I will discard all justice, and deal with the victim as I have been ordered."

Then the accusation was taken up, and the defendant was questioned by the committee. "Now," said Miss Grothaus in conclusion, "the committee will please overlook any evidence which might prove the defendant not guilty. Be kind, loving, affectionate and obliging in overlooking her innocence. This I say unto you that ye take it to your hearts and ponder on it. Will the defendant now retire while the committee makes the decision?"

Then the culprit retired, while the committee took a chicken salad course before bringing in the next victim.

TO THE SENIORS

Why should Commencement days be overspread with melancholy? Why should the termination of school life bring forth any sort of mental pain? You Seniors who are going out, if this were your final adieu to your Alma Mater, if there was no bond to hold you hand-in-hand with familiar friends, then you might have cause to grieve. But there is a binding power holding you to your College and your comrades. It is the Alumnae Association.

Having the opportunity, as you have, of observing the happy—even painfully happy—homecomers, after their first year out in the cold and unfeeling world, you should realize what happiness is in store for you. Next year you will be a chirping Alumna, returning for the festive gathering of your classmates.

The Jubilee celebration for homecomers is something new here. The Alumnae Association, stimulated with an ambition to create a stronger feeling of good will among the Alumnae, and between the College and the Alumnae, that they might be of more assistance to each other, conceived this plan. We are all proud of the successful issue of their effort.

THE END OF A DECADE—1905-1915

The measure of the influence of a college lies in its increasing number of graduates from year to year; in the increasing length of residence for the average college student; in its increasing tendency to send more and more of its graduates to the great Universities; in the increasing number of those of the women who are making teaching a real profession.

The College is a very fine place to go to in order to receive and accumulate; it is equally as fine a place to come from in order to give and distribute. It is a constant source of joy to all the officers and teachers of our College to see that the greater the increase of scholarship and power in its students the greater the increase of responsibility and civic activity in all those who go out from its halls.

College women belong to the elite, not because of any snobbish self-consciousness, but because of the realization that they are expected to stand out as real and useful leaders in all the various phases of life in the State, that the State may be justified in a continuously increasing expenditure of money on those of her daughters who really devote themselves to a higher culture.

The return of the Alumnae is like unto the return of a conquering army. They are accorded a triumph for being loyal to collegiate ideals and for being progressive in their demands for a more cosmopolitan service by their Alma Mater rendered to the increasing complex needs of a new Florida; that Florida which is becoming conscious of her possibilities of const line, of geographical position, of variety of products, of fruitfulness of resources, of advantage of climate and weather; Florida, the wistful, the expectant, the crescent, the efflorescent, the triumphant.

The end of a decade; the beginning of usefulness.

SCHOLARSHIP FOR MISS LARSON

It is gratifying to the College and its friends that both of our graduate students have gotten recognition as possible candidates for University training. It is now announced that Miss Olga Larson, who has Majored in Education, has received a library scholarship in the graduate school of the University of Chicago. Wherever Miss Larson goes, her fellow students will look to her to make good.

Office hours of the Flambeau—12 a. m. to 12 p. m.

A new swing, sufficiently strong for three, is needed badly for the north-west corner of the campus.

While appreciations are being bestowed upon all individuals and organizations that have been boosting our College, and since during the year we have at all times tried to show our appreciation of what our dear "house-mothers" have done for us, we should move a vote of thanks for the loyal services our dear "mum fathers" have rendered us. Let's give three cheers for Mr. Carroll, Mr. Steinberg, and Mr. Prince!

Found a pale yellow pup of diminutive size. Owner will find same by calling at the Mess Hall during meals, or at the Auditorium during concert hours.

A most important discovery was made by the student body last Wednesday night at about the time for Thursday to begin, viz.: that the Seniors can sing. However, the Juniors were abroad, and the class as a whole was so nervous that their songs were not so highly appreciated as they might have been under more amiable circumstances.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL

The Training School closed the most successful year of its history, May 29. It registered eight more pupils than it has ever had before, and fifteen were refused admission for lack of room. Already every desk has been taken for the coming year. Of the forty pupils, only two dropped out, and they were removed from the neighborhood. The school course ran parallel to that of the State Public Schools, but on account of small classes, pupils were enabled to go much farther in reading, spelling, and geography than is required for the respective grades. The garden was a delight, and the beans, radishes and corn that matured were most heartily enjoyed. Weekly gymnasium lessons were conducted by the regular teacher. Dramatization was a new feature, and plans are being formed whereby the pupils will enjoy the advantages of some other departments of the college.

The entire annual exhibit was in the hands of the Senior Normalists, who developed and mounted the work. Each member of the Normal Class has charge of a group of children for eight weeks, and their whole training school for a day, thus giving the best practical knowledge of conducting a school.

THIS WEEK MOTHERS' WEEK AT THE COLLEGE

This is the week for mothers at Tallahassee. Quite a number of the graduating class are this week entertaining their parents, who have arrived for commencement.

Mrs. G. F. Ireland of Fort Myers is here to witness the graduation of her daughter, Miss Edna Ireland. Mrs. Ireland paid to Mrs. S. D. Cawthon, popularly known to the girls as "Our College Mother," a true compliment when she said: "I do wish that I had spent a week in Tallahassee when my daughter first took up her work at this institution; then I should have spent a happy two years in the knowledge that Edna was as well cared for here as at home."

Others of the mothers have expressed their appreciation of the true worth of the school and the care given to the students by the dean. One and all are enthusiastic over the beauties of the buildings and the grounds, and are all heartily in sympathy with the desires of the students and faculty to make the school the leading institution for women in the State. Mrs. M. L. Adams of Perry, who is visiting Miss Ruby Adams, her daughter, said to-day that the school could not help but grow under the watchful care given to the girls by Mrs. Cawthon.

Mrs. Julia Barrs of Jacksonville is visiting her daughter Miss Emma Barrs, another popular graduate of this year. Mrs. Barrs is from Jacksonville, and states that she finds the school ideal in all respects.

Mrs. H. H. Brown arrived Saturday from Dothan, Ala., to visit Miss Clara Brown. Miss Brown is also expecting her father, H. H. Brown, and Prof. J. V. Brown, superintendent of the city schools of Dothan. They are expected to arrive on Tuesday. Prof. Brown comes to Tallahassee to witness the graduation of Miss Brown and Miss Rosa Walker, both young women having finished high school under his tutelage.

Mrs. J. S. Walker is already here from Dothan, having come for commencement week. She is expecting Mr. Walker in a day or two.

Mrs. M. A. Warren and Miss Gertrude Warren and Miss Mary Lou Cawthon, all of Dothan Springs, are among the visitors here this week. Mrs. Warren and Miss Warren are visiting Miss Winnie Warren, a member of the Class of 1915.

Miss Phyllis Jarrell has as her guest her mother, Mrs. A. B. Jarrell, of Kissimmee. Miss Jarrell also expects Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Jarrell of Thomasville, Ga.

Mrs. R. D. Gulce is another Kissimmee visitor, having arrived a day or so ago to visit her daughter, Miss Elton Gulce.

Mrs. M. McCaskill of Perry, Fla., and little daughter, Miss Lucy Lee McCaskill, arrived on Saturday to spend the week of commencement with Miss Myrtice McCaskill. Mrs. McCaskill is so enthusiastic over the school that she has written home of her desire to return next year for a special study course.

Miss Constance Cavell is entertaining this week her mother, Mrs. Cavell, who came to spend commencement here.

Among the graduates who live in town, but who are popularly included in the events at the College, are Miss Louise Clark, Miss Mary Robertson and Miss Eva Childs (Mrs. Melrose Avery). Mrs. Avery is a bride of only a few months, and makes her home in Miami. She came to Tallahassee to spend the month of June with her parents and to attend the week of festivities at the College.

Miss Irene Johnson of Lake Wells is the guest of Miss Martha Lewis for commencement, and Miss Claude Barton, Miss Sue Pope and Miss Ruth McIlvaine are other visitors for the week. Miss Barton is being entertained by Miss Mizpah Otto, and Miss McIlvaine and Miss Pope are guests of Miss Myra McIlvaine and Miss Pearl Caldwell.

Among the visitors in Tallahassee are Miss Elizabeth Corbett, the house guest of Mrs. George Lewis, Jr. (Sarah Davis of the Class of '11), and Miss Dorris Knight, '14, who is visiting Mrs. Shackelford. Both young women have come to Tallahassee to attend the commencement exercises of the College.

Miss Carry Dean is among the visitors at the College this week, having come to spend commencement with Miss Josie Johnson.

Miss Olive Ruge of Apalachicola has arrived to spend several days as the guest of Miss Julia Coombs.

Another College girl who is entertaining visitors this week is Miss Faye Hill, who has as her guests her mother, Mrs. Hill, and a friend, Miss Nora Hart.

Miss Gladys Martin has as her guest this week her mother, Mrs. Martin, who recently arrived to spend commencement week.

Miss Whitney Hibbard, little sister of Miss Fern Hibbard, is spending a pleasant several days here, having come over from New Smyrna, her home.

An auto party expected to arrive in Tallahassee shortly is one coming from Dothan, Ala., for the commencement exercises. The list includes Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Flowers and daughter and Miss Estelle and Miss Nell Green. The Misses Green will visit the Misses McDavid.

"I have never before seen so many 'old girls' at a commencement." This is an expression heard on every hand during the last several days, when the influx of visitors has been at its height.

Numbers of the Alumnae have poured in, attracted by the full week of events planned for commencement. Tuesday, as Alumnae Day, has, it is said, brought even more of the girls who are anxious to celebrate the end of the first decade in the history of the present institution.

Iris Watson is here from Bartow as the guest of Ruby McLin, and Jessie Key and Pearl McLin, of the Classes of '10 and '13, was expected to arrive in time for today's festivities.

The College has been so good as to invite the Alumnae to attend the commencement exercises as its guests, and among the large number responding to this cordial invitation are: Elizabeth Spears, Clara McDonald, Adele Boyd, Blanche Glenn, Jael Wilkinson and Ruth Ottwell of the Class of 1914; Helen Carter, Inga Helseth, Bertha Langley, Alma Parlin, Lola Snyder, all graduates in 1913; and Myrtle Warren, Nora Hart, Maude Wilkinson, Cedora Pritch, Alice Corbett, Mary Woodbury, Marie Henderson, Nancy Dowell, Sarah Wilkinson, Miss Baird (Mrs. Turner), Elise Partridge, Nancy Choate and Caddabelle Farr (Mrs. J. J. Beeson).

PICNIC AT LAKE BRADFORD

A number of College girls enjoyed a picnic to Lake Bradford last Friday afternoon under the chaperonage of Dr. and Mrs. Classen. The following men took the crowd out in automobiles: Messrs. Lively, Max Killeck, Edwin Alford, Frank, Wilson, Knott and Steve Yates.

Those present were: Naomi Grothaus, Myrtice McCaskill, Ruby Adams, Ruby Leach, Rosa Walker, Kathleen Monroe, Lola Johnson, Lucille Freeman, Claire Walker, Ethel Moughton, Marion Alford, Mary Orr, Mary Hayes, Clara Brown, Mary Frank Knott, Myra McIlvaine, Pearl Caldwell and Gladys Comforter.

The Editor-in-Chief entertained the Staff with a Jubilee "writing bee" in the Y. W. C. A. kitchen from Sunday 12 p. m. to Monday 7 a. m., after which time they adjourned for breakfast. Those present were the Editor-in-Chief.

ALUMNAE ODE

Chaste be the star that smiled upon our birth,
Calm be the sea whose freighted bosom bears
Our launched bark. Who knows before the worth
Or import of a plan? Who sees the end,
And setting out can tell the future trend,
Or chart the unknown voyage down
the years.

O God of pence, whose peace doth e'er abide
In men's affairs, when they Thy will observe,
Thy peace encompass him who strove to guide
The destinies of State in ways secure,
Her youth uplift, their every path insure 'Gainst ill. Thy righteousness thus to conserve.

Blest be the man whose acts look for beyond Himself. In whom the love of native land
Outweighs ambition or aught else; no bond
Can draw more strong, or swerve his steadfast course,
No purpose dominate, save that whose source
His country yields; his law is her demand.

Unfettered by intrigue, thus have we sprung
Of purpose high, no mark of guilt to wear;
Assailed by none, no jealousies have clung
Like slimy tentacles, to scar and maim,
Pollute the life, obscure the view and aim,
The joy and sweetness of the morn-are here.

Where stand we then, a decade passed apace?
How stand accounts? The balance leans which way?
Have we been recreant, usurped a place
In life's economy? What fruit appears?
Does Heaven's ledger show us in arrears?
Shall it be heard "Well done?" Let Justice say.

Look then within. Let us with searching thought
Pass in review ourselves. Co-workers all,
'Become the fabric of the State, each brought
As thread to weave into a single whole,
Each week, each may the common strength enroll
For larger work. Hear ye! The Call!
The Call!

No bugle's blast floats o'er the tented field,
No martial strain inspires the leaden
soul,
But silent whispers come, in them concealed
The pent up measures. Full loud they swell
On sympathetic ear; forever dwell
In hearts attuned. Mark ye their onward roll.

From heath and hamlet, city, countryside,
From human kind goes out the wavering plea,
Life's measure full has never been supplied,
Here is the field, world-wide, where stinted life
Looks hopeful up, but quails before the strife.
Take up the task; let life be full and free.

Where childhood's dreams grow dim and ever fall,
Or youth's ambition springs to a sure decay,
Where ignorance and vice all ill detail,
A quickening power must come, which none may bring

But those who drink from yon Castilian spring,
Go! Heal the land, and usher in the day.

Shun not that tattered form. Sweet
Charity
May ne'er have seen the unresponsive face.
Let dawn break there in flaming verity.
The squalid hut may house the regal
soul,
The haunts of vice may yield a priceless toll;
Fame's tenant here may fill the lowliest place.

Where desolation chills, breathe living fire,
Where civic virtue wanes, breathe
civic pride,
Wherever man's downtrod, new life inspire,
As far as love can love or hate can hate,
As far as flutted thought can penetrate,
Thy influence spread, thy soul's income divide.

Prepare! Insistent is the call! Beware
Indifference! Look to thy country's need.
And her rewards, if they thou choose to share,
Are richer far than would but compensate.
But spurn reward! Let service to the State
Be e'er thy watchword. Forward!
Then, God-speed!
E. R. SMITH.

KINDERGARTEN DEPARTMENT
GIVES EXHIBIT

The Kindergarten Exhibit was held Monday, 10 to 12 a. m., in Miss Wheeler's class room. The girls of both the Junior and Senior Kindergarten classes were present assisting in receiving the visitors.

There were gifts arranged in various original ways. The garage, by John Ward Henderson was especially good.
The teachers also displayed block gifts.
Some of those worthy of attention were: locomotive, by Fay Hill; Bird House, Geneva Moseley; Kindergarten,
Martha Lewis; House, Fay Hill; Boat,
Randle Warren.

There was construction work by the teachers. The automobile, by Reine
Marrell, train and house by Edwina
Macbeth, were unusually good.

The Juniors displayed raffia work.
That of Elbeth Mulholland was very pretty.

The cutting and manual work by the children showed fine training.
The Normals had on exhibition a great deal of weaving, which was proof of careful work.

The walls were covered by drawings, paintings and cut work by the children. Among these were several pretty original posters.

On the whole the exhibition was a credit to the entire department.

TAX REFORM IN FLORIDA

(Senior Oration by Pearl Caldwell.)

The question of taxation and its proper adjustment is one that has puzzled master minds for centuries. It has called for profound study in the various countries of our hemisphere, and for the last several years has received great attention in all the States of our Union. Florida is not content to remain behind in the matter of participating in those things that will increase and extend the welfare of her people, and consequently in the last few years has been more alive on the question of taxation than ever before.

You, Mr. Taxpayer, if you are not interested in a subject which vitally concerns your financial interest, you ought to be. The problem of taxation is a serious one, and if you are not up on the question as to what taxes you pay and why, and if you do not know how the money you pay in for taxes is expended—you are not living up to your duty and to a proper ideal of the term "citizenship."

The majority of American commonwealths rely mainly upon the general property tax as the chief source of State revenue, and the State tax levy is based upon the assessment made by local officials in our counties. This naturally makes for undervaluation. The office of tax assessor is elective, and this means that he is going to pursue the policy which will insure his reelection. I am not accusing men in our public offices of playing politics, but we must admit that they sometimes do. Let me cite you one instance. In a certain county in our State a man who should have paid in a great deal of taxes, paid hardly anything. He was rather an influential man and owned a great deal of property. A corner lot in town with a good house on it was returned at $3,000; a big business in the same town which brought this man in a great deal of money, was not assessed at all. WHY? The tax assessor thought, and he was probably right, that his holding his position depended on this great property holder, and he wished to remain in his good graces. This case can be multiplied hundreds of times over. If we get down to the root of the matter, however, we are probably to blame because by our laxity, carelessness and indifference, we create the very conditions which place temptation in the way of some of our public officials and in this case make it all too easy for them.

What is the status of taxation in our State, and what are some of the wrongs that a long-suffering public is enduring? When our Tax Commission, appointed in 1913, started their investigations, these are some of the things they found and we will have to admit that the conditions they met with were extremely bad and chaotic. To begin with, there were no two counties in the State assessing property on the same basis of valuation, the percentage of values varying from as low as ten per cent of the true value, to true value; same classes of property in the same county were not assessed on an equal basis of valuation; real estate was assessed much higher in some sections than others; cattle ranged from $2 to $10 per head; banks were assessed anywhere from 10 to 100 per cent on capital stock, surplus and undivided profits; and worse than all—a great deal of property in this State was escaping taxation altogether. And all this despite the fact that the law is very clear and emphatic when it says: "All property shall be returned at its true cash value."

If the above state of affairs exists—and it does—and if it is a direct violation of the law—which it is—why do we, law-abiding citizens that we all want to be, allow such conditions to continue? The truth of the matter is that this state of affairs has been running on so long that it has actually become a custom and our people seemingly take no notice of it. Our tax assessors, following a precedent set up long ago and expecting other assessors to assess below true value, did likewise. Furthermore, our county commissioners, constituting an equalizing board, approved such action on the part of assessors; and our various tax levying bodies, cognizant of low assessments, fixed a millage in keeping with such low valuations.

What is the effect of present conditions on people who come to our State for the purpose of investing? Upon inquiry they may consider purchase prices reasonable enough, but they are astounded on further inquiry to find our tax rates so high. There's quite a difference they think, in paying 12 and 13 mills in their home States and having to pay 40 and above down here. That does not look well for Florida, and has a tendency to cause investors to fight shy of our State. What prospective investors fail to realize is that while their property is assessed at its true cash value elsewhere, property in this State is assessed from 10 to 50 per cent.

What can be done under such circumstances? If property were assessed at full cash value at once in accordance with the law it would greatly increase the amount of taxes and entail great hardships unless the millage were immediately reduced. The trouble for a long time has been caused by our having no one to give definite and specific attention to this matter; by the fact that one county had no knowledge of existing affairs in another county—in other words, the trouble has been in the administration of the law rather than in the law itself. The law as far as it goes is fairly good and compares favorably with those in other States. But in all fairness and as a matter of common sense, is it right for some people to pay taxes and for others to escape? No one should escape taxation, and all property should be assessed at its true cash value. Do you know what they do in New Zealand? The State has the right there to step in and buy in property at the price at which the owner returns the same to the tax assessor. They do what is right in the matter there in consequence. It is hard to convince the average taxpayer, however, that higher assessments do not mean more taxes. As values are increased in that same proportion the millage will be correspondingly lower. Another trouble is, the let-well-enough-alone attitude held by the great majority of taxpayers. Get to work, examine the tax books and bring a few inconsistencies to light, and conditions will improve. The more honest we are with ourselves and the more we study and learn about those things which concern us so vitally, the more economical and efficient will our public servants be.

Did not Florida take a great step forward when our Tax Commission was appointed in 1913? We hope that the move was a wise one, and we are awaiting results. I am a firm believer in Tax Commissions and in the majority of the States that have them they have proved themselves a blessing. In the State of Ohio some years ago there was the strongest kind of opposition to the Tax Commission. The Tax Commission had to be given great powers in order for them to perform their duties efficiently. The people of that State would not do without a Tax Commission now, and the persons who opposed them most strongly found out later that they really paid less for taxes after the appointment and work of the Commission than formerly. Tax matters were not systematized or uniform in this State when the Tax Commission took charge; they did not have the sympathy and co-operation from local headquarters that were their due, because of the great confusion which naturally followed, but so far they have made every effort possible towards getting tax matters on a fair, uniform and just basis in this State. I think that general public interest has been aroused in the matter of taxation; that people are beginning to realize that it is a question of great importance not only from a local standpoint but from the standpoint of State-wide interest and uniformity.

It is necessary for a tax commission to have authority along certain lines if they are to carry out the policy of equalizing property. A strong central board with authority to supervise assessments would tend to bring about justice; would place matters on a fair basis, and would cause the burden of taxation to be equally distributed.

This is not the place for me to go into the various theories of taxation; many of you are probably better up on those things than I am. As I said before, Florida's law is all right; it is the law that is prevalent in the majority of our States. The administration of the law is at fault, but with a strong central board with proper powers I believe that would soon be remedied—and as a citizen and an ardent lover of my native State, I long to see Florida FIRST in all that pertains to the welfare of the WHOLE PEOPLE.

EQUATORIAL ECUADOR.

Land of Earthquakes Nearly All a Mile Above Sea Level.

The traveler arrives in Guayaquil laden with quinine pills, but he learns that in a journey of a day he can reach the temperate zone. He brings summer clothing for a country crossed by the equator and nearly perishes on the frozen slopes of high mountains. He finds a government as unstable as the volcano-shaken soil. He notes important industries that thrive upon these turbulent shores. Ecuador is a land of contradictions.

It is the land where the Incas ruled after they came into Peru. It was the birthplace of Atahualpa, who fell before Pizarro. It was from his capital at Quito along the mountains that Gonzalo Pizarro rode out with Orellana to discover the Amazon.

The land which bears the name of the equator rivals her sister republics in variety of scenery and climate. Her feet rest on the dazzling chrome green shore of a tropic river; her head wears the fleecy crown of eternal snows. With one hand she points to the wide Pacific; with the other, to the matted jungle of the Amazonian valley. Colombia, Brazil and Peru are her neighbors, but who can say where the territory of the one actually begins and the other ends? Two-thirds of the people of Ecuador are Indians, pure and simple. Nine-tenths of the population live a mile above the sea. Her territory is three times as large as Pennsylvania. Her domain is practically unexplored, but commercially she is forging ahead.—National Magazine.

EDUCATING THE INDIAN.

Difficulties the Student Faces After He Has Left College.

The conditions to which most Indian students return are hard, far harder than the average easterner can realize. Many of the reservations are long distances from railroads, so that supplies are hard to get as well as expensive, while in places water is a real luxury. The standards of the community must also be taken into consideration, and in all too many localities the white people living near are not of a type to prove either helpful or elevating. With all these difficulties, and many, many more, we expect far more of the Indian than we would of a white student who had enjoyed equal advantages.

A white boy who has been in school until he is perhaps twenty and in that time has had to master in addition to the usual studies a new language and accept an entirely strange system of living is not expected to raise the standards of his home community to any very great extent. The Indian is He must not only have acquired a trade and be able to do skillful work, but he must speak English well enough to act as interpreter, understand the Bible and teach in Sunday school, as well as be prepared to advise in the councils of his people regarding various phases of their legal standing and land questions.

And when he is unable to fulfill all these requirements we hear that Indian education is a failure.—Southern Workman.

By Proxy Perhaps.

A well known metropolitan choral conductor was once holding voice trials preliminary to the organization of a colored choral club of jubilee singers. One of the soprano applicants was extremely reticent when asked to sing a scale. Finally the director, becoming impatient, asked, "What's the matter—don't you sing?" "Well," she hesitatingly replied, "not puhsonality."—Argonaut.

Contrary Efforts.

"The man who forged the indorsement of his friend went to the bank to cash the check."

"Well?"

"The friend went immediately after him to check the cash."—Baltimore American.

A Great Principle.

"Forgive your enemies," said the earnest man. "That's good religion." "Yes," replied Senator Sorghum, "and sometimes it's good politics too."—Washington Star.

Wonderful Earthworms.

As Darwin long ago showed, the earthworm is the farmer's friend. Its burrows drain and aerate the soil, while the earth which has passed through its body is finely divided and is constantly being brought to the surface from lower levels. Its body is adapted to the burrowing habit. The pointed head end is devoid of feelers and eyes, and the foot stumps are only represented by rows of bristles, which can be felt if the finger be passed along the body from back to front. There are no jaws, but the muscular part of the digestive tube acts as a kind of pump for taking in food. This includes plants and animals. It has a small gizzard, which contains many stones, and these are used instead of teeth to grind the food.—Chicago Herald.

A Lesson in Politeness.

Armed with a subpoena a deputy sheriff went out to serve it on a wealthy and extremely snobbish manufacturer, whom he met at the gate of the manufacturer's country home. The great man was in an automobile, accompanied by two ladies, and as the process server handed over the papers he politely raised his hat. The other assumed a democratic manner. "You don't need to take off your hat to me, young man," he said. "I took off my hat not to you, sir," was the answer. "But to the ladies with you."—Argonaut.

A Word to Parents.

Never amuse your children at the expense of other people. Never allow your children to ridicule other people. Neglect this advice and the time will assuredly come when these children will amuse themselves with your follies and ridicule your authority.—Exchange.

MUTTON, MONEY AND DRESS.

Eccentric Henry Cavendish and Some of His Quaker Ways.

Whenever Henry Cavendish, the famous English chemist and physicist, entertained his guests he would always give them the same fare—a leg of mutton. A story goes that one day when four friends were coming it was asked him what should be ordered for dinner. He answered, "A leg of mutton." "Sir," was the reply, "that will not be enough for five." Well, then, get two," said the host.

When this eccentric gentleman died he was the largest holder of bank stock in England. He owned £1,157,000 in different public funds, besides freehold property of £8,000 a year and a balance of £50,000 on account. This large income was allowed to accumulate without attention. On one occasion, when the bankers had in hand a balance of £80,000, they thought it well to acquaint Mr. Cavendish with the fact.

"If it is any trouble to you I will take it out of your hands. Do not come here to plague me."

"Not the least trouble to us, sir, but we thought you might like some of it to be invested."

"Well, what do you want to do?"

"Perhaps you would like half of it invested?"

"Do so, do so, and do not come here to bother me or I'll remove it," was the chirlish finale of the interview.

Cavendish was seventy-eight years of age when he died in 1810, and he had never changed the fashion of his dress for sixty years.—London Graphic.

ODDITIES IN NAMES.

The Old English Puritans Indulged in Some Curious Freaks.

Referring to an article on the unusual Christian name as an aid to fame, a correspondent kindly submits some specimen names for perplexed parents.

In 1878 a London journal announced the marriage of a lady whose first name was—take a deep breath—Tetuanthreintermediate, but it omitted to mention what she was called in the bosom of the family. Among the Dublin marriage licenses, too, the name Athenandiolagora occurs. And as lately as 1895 a Dorinda Cassandra appeared in the London Times. With such names one could hardly fail to get into the papers.

Odd combinations of names resulted from the system of nomenclature followed by the Puritans. James Brome in his "Travels Over England, Scotland and Wales," published in 1700, gives a copy of a "Jury Return Made at Rye, Sussex, in the Late Rebellious, Troublesome Times." The names of the twelve good men and true were Meek Brewer, Graceful Harding, Kill-sin Pimple, Earth Adams, Weep-not Billing, More Fruit Fowler, Hope-for Bending, Return Spelman, Fly Debate Roberts, Stand Fast on High Stringer, Be Faithful Joiner and Fight the Good Fight of Faith White.

How a present day justice would enjoy himself if a jury named in this style were called before him!—London Chronicle.

Eager For Revenge.

Stage Manager—You are to hit the hero with this club in the last act. Villain—I don't think I can wait that long. He called me a ham.—Rocky Mountain News.

The Difficulty.

"Tom out of work again? Why, I thought he had a steady job."

"Oh, the job was steady. The trouble is Tom wasn't."—Boston Transcript.

MRS. CAWTHON ENTERTAINS

"Upstairs and downstairs, and in my lady's chamber," the Seniors were led by Miss Lennie Landrum on last Wednesday evening when Miss Landrum assisted Mrs. S. L. Cawthon in entertaining for the graduating class at a kinoma party.

The guests included Miss Eleanor Gunn and Miss Cecelia Milligan, popular little visitors at the college. One and all alike were asked to bring a towel, and each was blindfolded and led by divers routes to the roof of Bryan Hall for a spread.

Given second sight by the removal of the blindfolds, the Seniors beheld the coziness of lounging rooms arranged for their comfort. Rugs and cushions were spread in profusion, and the victrola furnished popular music. Here, under twinkling stars, the merry group lingered, loth to depart, and it was not until light flash that the class descended.

The group went to the gym for dancing, and several members of the party, more adventurous than the rest, enjoyed a splash in the pool. The hours were wee and small before good-nights were said, and there was not a member of the party who could find adjectives sufficient to express her appreciation to Mrs. Cawthon and her assistants for the jolly occasion afforded them.

Y. W. C. A. BECOMES STRONGER

The public service of the Y. W. C. A. Sunday evening closed one of the most successful years the organization has ever enjoyed. A keener sense of the opportunities for work in our own school seems to have come to the girls this year than ever before. The Committee work has been especially strong. The Religious Service Committee has carefully planned appropriate topics for each meeting. Most of the meetings have been conducted by members of the organization, but we have been fortunate in having the various ministers with us once each month. This has brought the girls in a much closer relation with the minister of their denominations, and has permitted the ministers to become better acquainted with their girls.

The Social Committee has been one of the strongest of the organization. The plan has been adopted of relieving the dining room waitresses one Sunday evening each month. This has meant much to those girls, and has put all on a surer footing.

It has especially been the object of this Committee to bring sunshine and cheer in to the lives of girls who seemed to lack it. In this they have been wonderfully successful.

Through the profits of the tea room, established the latter part of the year, it was possible to send three delegates to the Sweet Briar Convention. Nothing brings more inspiration than the reports from this Convention, and there is little doubt that next year will be even more successful than this, due to the fine suggestions brought in by these delegates.

The Y. W. C. A. is without doubt the strongest organization on the Campus, and through the sincere co-operation of students and faculty it is yearly becoming stronger.

GREETINGS TO THE ABSENTEES OF '11

Just a few extracts from letters to the girls of "11" who cannot be here for the Jubilee:

Pearl Long writes from Tavares, Fla.: "You certainly have my best wishes for a grand success. Nothing would give me more pleasure than to meet all the girls again."

And doesn't this sound like Iva (Mrs. Henry Sprinkle): "I had planned and hoped to be in Tallahassee during our Jubilee, but I find I must go to Baltimore. How much I regret this you may very well know, for nothing would please me so much as to see our old girls just once, any how, again. Just have an glorious time. I know I shall miss something that holds the promise of being one of the most memorable events in our short history."

From the following you can see that dear Olivia (Mrs. Karl E. Whitaker) is an economic little housekeeper and homemaker: "Am sorry I can't be there. If I felt I could afford it, and if my baby was a little larger I should certainly be there. I am glad you who are to be there will be dressed just alike. I like your designs. Hope you will have a good percentage of '11 there. Lucile Gregory Linn will hardly be there—her husband is on the verge of a second typhoid attack."

This comes from New York City—anybody would know Estelle wrote it: "I can't possibly come to class reunion, though God knows I would love to. I have one suggestion to make: For the sake of the absent members, get out a detailed account of the reunion."

Evidently four years and getting married have not changed sweet Bess (Mrs. Arthur Webb). She writes: "How I would love to be in Tallahassee with the 'old girls' once more. I can hardly realize it has been four years since we have seen one another. Mrs. Shackelford has invited me to come and be her guest, but it will be impossible for me to go this spring. You must have a big old time for me, too, and you may know that I will be with you in thought, if not in person."

Omara and Essie have not been heard from, we are sorry to say. Nora expected to come, but at the last minute her brother decided to get married that day, so she stayed home for the wedding.

Irene's plans were knocked in the head too. She writes: "I am indeed sorry to have to miss commencement, and it simply makes me sick to even think of it. 'Sister Kate' gets her A.B. from Palmer that day, and I wouldn't even think of not being with her. Remember me to all the girls, and although I'll not be there in person I shall think and wish to be with you all."

Elizabeth, Caddobelle, Sarah and I will represent '11 in the parade.

Love to you all. LONNY.

F. S. C. W. CATALOGUE ISSUED

The Catalogues of the Florida State College for Women have just been distributed to the students. This year's catalogue gives a much clearer, more vivid and broader idea of our College and the various courses. To begin with, it is more attractive. We need an attractive catalogue such as this to arouse the people to the wonderful institution of learning they have at their very doors. A glance through its pages is only equaled by a trip to the College itself.

The State Seal, printed on the cover, the photographs of the buildings, the seal of the College, all add artistic finish.

In the list of College organizations there are included numerous influential little intellectual groups, such as Cercle Francais, Classical Club, Deutsche Verein. The Florida Flambeau is given special notice. The Society for Scientific Students of Education, founded in February by the co-operation of Dean Sailey, is mentioned.

The infirmity fee has been raised to $5.00. This fee covers all expenses in cases of sickness except major operations, consulting physician and special nursing, and prescriptions made by the College physician such as cannot be filled at the infirmary.

During the past year the following gifts were made to the College: Miss Mary E. Lewis bequeathed (a) a collection of books—many rare and valuable; (b) a collection of pictures and statuary; (c) articles for museum.

The Experiment Station at Gainesville sent the College trees, shrubs, etc. for the Campus. These were secured through the courtesy of Director P. H. Rolfs.

Hon. P. R. Younge of Pensacola made presents of live stock.

The papers of the State are thanked for copies sent regularly to the College.

Much more definite items are written on equipment, location, etc.

Next year there will be five new members to the faculty.

There is a department devoted to the College Summer School.

Y. W. C. A. Reception

The Y. W. C. A. held its annual reception in the Recreation Hall on Saturday evening, October 9. Although the affair was in honor of the year's new arrivals at the College, everyone was invited and both faculty and students were well represented.

The hall was prettily decorated in green and pink, carrying out in detail the color scheme of the evening. When the guests had arrived they were asked to form in line, two abreast. This accomplished, they marched around the hall, at one end of which they were intercepted by a committee, who presented each young lady with a large square of tissue paper—those on the right receiving pink squares; those on the left green ones. Each guest was given pins and asked to make a hat of her paper to wear for the evening. After the hats were made there was another march around the hall, in order that the judges might the more readily single out the most attractive piece of millinery of each color. Prizes were then awarded to the successful ones.

After this contest, those who espoused the cause of the pink hats withdrew to one side of the hall, those of the green to the other, and the real contest of the evening was begun. There was great enthusiasm and excitement over the track meet, high jumping, steeplechase and other contests, for each was anxious to claim the banner of victory. The contest resulted in a score of 15 to 20 in favor of the green hats. The announcement of this was followed by great cheering on the part of the winners.

After the contest, refreshments of ice cream and cakes were served. The evening's entertainment closed with the grand march, in which every one participated.

The splendid success of the evening was due in great part to the enthusiastic efforts of the social committee, Miss Anne Pope Engleton, chairman, Misses Schwalmyer and Puleston acted as judges of the contests. The music was furnished by Miss Mary George Adams.

ATHLETICS.

In a few weeks the Physical Culture department will begin work, with prospects for an unusually good year. This year the department will offer a Normal course in gymnastics. The students of this course will have practice teaching in the High School every week. The usual dancing and Swedish gymnastic classes will be continued this year.

Under the leadership of Marie McMillan, the Athletic Association expects to accomplish great things. Plans are being made to attain a higher standard in athletics, and many changes will be made for the better. One new tennis court and two new basketball courts will soon be ready for use. The Athletic Association has purchased new basketballs, volleyballs, tennis nets and apparatus for the gymnasium. Indoor basketball and volleyball will be added to our list of sports.

The Tennis Club has started out with a membership of about seventy. A committee of three, Grace Lofthridge, Coris Shands, and Emma Lee King, has been appointed to classify the players.

School of Music

The School of Music reports a large attendance, showing a growth over that of last year. There are three new members of the Music Faculty, Miss Etta Mastin, Instructor in Voice, and the Misses Lela Niles and Jessie Buchanan, Instructors in Piano.

Miss Mastin is an Artist Graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, and has been coaching for several years for Dr. Luleh, the eminent Viennese Baritone. She has concertized with great success throughout Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama. At the Lexington May Festival in 1914, Miss Mastin appeared as the soprano soloist with the Metropolitan tenor Riccardo Martin. Last April, she sang the role of Manon in Massenet's opera of that name at the Emory Auditorium, Cincinnati.

Miss Mastin and Miss Niles will be presented in a Recital in the near future.

Miss Niles is a pupil of Klum in Munich and Liebhine in Berlin. She has had several years of successful teaching in Southwestern College School of Music, and Cornell College Conservatory.

Miss Buchanan received her education in music at Mt. Holyoke and at Wellesley College. She is a pupil of Hamilton and Macdonald.

Miss Isabel Sparkes, who has so often delighted the Tallahassee audience with her wonderful lyric soprano voice, begins her third year's work in the College. She has been coaching this summer with David Davis, the great Welsh singer and pedagogue, noted also for his work as critic in the Welsh Elstedsfods.

Miss Isabella Rausch, who has been established for a number of years in her violin work in the College, did some study during the summer with Kuzlo, the Ayrer representative, in New York City.

Miss Opperman, the Director, visited a number of institutions in the West, looking into the work and plans of their various schools of music.

WEEKLY CALENDAR.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI DINNER PARTY.

The members of the Alpha Kappa Psi Sorority entertained at dinner in the Leon hotel at 6:30 on Saturday evening. The tables were attractively decorated in baskets of pink roses, and the place-cards and individual flowers carried out the dainty color scheme. Covers were laid for twenty-one.

Those present were: Misses Nan Henderson, Nettie Winn, Mercer Virginia Gale, Miriam White, Dorothy Johnson, Lorena Walker, Ella Taylor Simons, Jane Hollinshead, Helen Vaughan, Lucy Wood, Helen Farrington, Marie McMillan, Eva Hester, Gladys Comforter, Ethel Evans, Margaret Pearce, Louise Alford, Dorothy Simons, Mary Lou Leman, Ollie Henderson and Marie Rich.

Alumnae Notes

October brings the college girls together again, but the "old girls," the dignified Seniors of 1915, have gone into the "wide, wide world" to take their places in some of its activities. But cheering messages come from them and from a number of graduates of former years as well.

Phyllis Jarrell, A. B. of 1915, and the first business manager of "The Flambeau," is teaching in the Gainesville High School. In addition to her classroom duties, she has charge of Athletics among the girls of the school. Phyllis was a most successful business manager, and a capable manager of tennis games at college, as well as a splendid welder of racquet and ball. So it is a foregone conclusion that she will have a successful year in the University City.

Pearl Caldwell, the president of last year's Senior Class, has a position at the College this year in the capacity of manager of the book-room and post-office. She is also the Publicity Secretary, and will keep the news of the college in the various State papers. Pearl's record for accuracy and responsible service is an enviable one, and her work still bears out this good record.

Elon Gulice, and Mrs. Raa are taking graduate courses this year at the College.

Lucie Cooper is assisting in teaching in the Home Economics Department, in both cooking and sewing; besides this work, she is carrying a graduate course in science, leading to an M. S. degree.

Zoe Manning, one of the A. B. graduates of last year, is teaching in the City Schools of Tallahassee. She has begun the year's work with every promise of making splendid success.

Ruth Reynolds, a former graduate, and teacher of the State College for Women, and two years president of the Alumnae Association, is steadily advancing in the teaching profession of New York City. She has met all the qualifications for a full rank teacher in the high schools of that city, and is in line for promotion year by year.

Fine reports come to the College of the successful work of Louise Clark at Kissimmee. Louise taught there last year, but she has additional responsibilities in the Kissimmee High School this year, which shows she is steadily gaining in influence as a teacher.

The Home Economics Department has increased its corps of workers this year in adding Myrtle Warren to the list. Myrtle taught Mathematics in DeFuniak Springs High School for two years, but later resigned that position to accept the agency in club work of Walton county. Last August she was appointed assistant to Miss Harris, and is now engaged in State-wide work. Her services are greatly appreciated here, not only in the Faculty, but in the presidency of the Alumnae.

Irma Williams, a former graduate, and last year the teacher in the Art Department while the Art Director was absent on leave, is now studying Art in New York, at Columbia University. Irma was one of the fine workers in the Alumnae Association, and she will be greatly missed.

Miss Edie Doane Pettit of Waldo, Florida, is now an efficient teacher in the English department of the College for Women. She graduated here in 1900 with an A. B. degree, and carried the first honors of her class. Two years of teaching in the high school at Waldo followed, and in 1911 she

Seniors Entertained

In the lobby of Bryan Hall, at 8:30 Friday evening, Mrs. Cawthon entertained the Seniors with a most delightful party. The lobby was very attractive in orange and black, the colors under which the Seniors have fought and won all their battles. Hugo ferns were banked everywhere, and especially at the back of the lobby around some large paper black-eyed Susans. When the guests arrived, each girl was given one-half of a quotation, the other half of which was held by a gentleman. Amid much laughter, the partners were found and progressive games begun, in which each time the girl not only changed the kind of game she was playing, but also her partner. Mrs. Cawthon then presented to them "the most beautiful bunch of Black-eyed Susans they had ever had." And the centers to each large paper flower fell away, disclosing the face of a girl. These accomplished "Susans" sang, "Can't You Hear Me Calling Caroline" much to everyone's delight. When encored, the young ladies were found to be Misses Gladys Comforter, Ethel Evans, Emma Lee King, and Gladys Martin.

Mrs. Cawthon was assisted in entertaining by Misses Mamie Andrews and Sallie Puleston.

Among those present were Misses Lucile Cooper, Elon Gulice, Helen Richle, Lucile Freeman, Nellie Cooper, Ollie Henderson, Marion Alford, Mary Floyd, Mizpah Otto, Mary Hayes, Margaret Carroll, Ione Hough, Agnes Edwards, Cornelia Puleston, Catherine Smith, Pattie Martin, Catherine Harper, Marie McMillan, Ella Jean McDavid, Messrs. Horace Van Brunt, Steve Yates, Theo Proctor, Edwin Alford, Raymond Cochran, Guy Haines, Willis Quinn, Marion Pelot, Willie Byrd, William Bass, Hubert Slickman, Bernard Byrd, Frank Barber, Glover Johnson, Frank Wilson, Roy Callahan, Russell Miekler, Buck Lanier, Max Kwiecki, Frank Davis, and Dr. Kent Johnson.

MRS. CAWTHON AT HOME.

Mrs. Cawthon was at home to teachers and friends in Bryan Hall lobby, from 5 to 6, Wednesday afternoon. This year our college mother is inviting the girls to participate by twenties. Today the first set was present. All had a very happy afternoon.

came back to college and studied a year. At this time she served as assistant teacher in the department of Chemistry, and carried graduate work for her M. A. degree. In 1913 Miss Pettit went to Clarke University and studied Philosophy under G. Stanley Hall. Last year she taught English in the Hillsboro High School. Her record has always been of the highest character as to scholarship, and all womanly attainments. She has the confidence of all the people in the college and is succeeding admirably in her work in her Alma Mater.

Another Alumna of the College, Miss Olga Larson, is now a member of the Faculty. Miss Larson was a student here for three years, and secured her Bachelor's degree in June, 1914. Last year she returned and secured the Master's degree, making one of the finest records in the institution. Her gifts in Mathematics and Philosophy are of the highest order. Last June she was awarded a scholarship in the University of Chicago, but gave it up to become a teacher in the College for Women. Her work gives every promise of success.

"GO 'HEAD, IKE, AND 'SPRESS YOURSELF!"

The Flambeau greets you another season in the spirit of Mirandy to her bashful lover: 'Spress yourself and 'spress it in The Flambeau! The new staff enters enthusiastically upon its duties. We enter with the kindest co-operation of student, faculty and patron. To the many "new girls," especially, may we give welcome this year, that they may give attention and voice to our paper. To those who know us we say: "It is good to be here." We have "hitched our wagon" to ole' Florida's ideals, and in the spirit of success which has ever characterized her in all activities—scholastic, athletic and otherwise—we are here. We are here with bright prospects for our Flambeau and College.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT.

It has been both interesting and gratifying to observe how cheerfully our new girls are accepting student government rules and regulations. For, unless appearances are deceitful, they have been very "good" indeed. Yet, we want something more than mere obedience to and acceptance of rules. We wish the girls to realize that each one is an important factor in the Association; that the committee is not a group of strange beings ready to swoop down and report them, but a number of girls elected by ourselves to assist in maintaining the order without which we could not carry on our work; that all these seemingly petty rules were not invented to try our souls, but were made to preserve the dignity and refinement of our college life. In short, we desire each girl to feel herself an interested and responsible member of our organization, which is of the students, for the students, by the students.

OF THE TYRANNY OF PAGE ONE.

Why are students so often appalled at assignments in parallel? Isn't it because they suppose they must always begin with page one, with chapter one, and with volume one? Isn't it a release to the human spirit to realize that there is no inherent virtue in page one, no inherent necessity in chapter one, and no inherent knowledge in volume one?

Indeed, to stand aghast at whole piles of books arrayed in endless stacks is to carry the world on one's shoulders. Now this is a job for Atlas, and no wonder we microscopic human beings cringe and wince when the shade of knowledge points to bookish sky-scrapers and says "There begin." But where? Where the author says begin? Surely not; for that is page one, chapter one, volume one.

Novels and mathematical treatises and possibly all pure-science books set up the intrinsic page-one demand. But the genius snaps his fingers even at such logic as this. It is said, for instance, that the great French philosopher Pascal (not Pascal) used at times to begin reading some advanced book in mathematics right in the middle, reading first one side and then the other, and so finishing the book absolutely contrary to the dogma of logic.

Where then begin? Why of course where the professor says; for he knows. Certainly, where to begin for himself; but where every other human soul shall take hold of a book should be determined by that soul's previous experience, and not by the dictum of any college or university professor. Of course, it is mighty well to have professors in a purely advisory capacity to tell you what not to do, and so avoid countless needless errors, but to tell you what to do, that is a right reserved to each earthly spirit since the days of Martin Luther. One of the most precious human rights is the right to learn by making mistakes. This is simply putting the old phrase, to learn to do by doing, into other friendlier words.

Not only is it correct to begin with that chapter in a book that most appeals to you, and so thereby unlocks its contents to you, but it is equally right to begin with whatever division, or section, or paragraph of that chapter that catches the inner eye and so sends tingling through your nervous system a message that otherwise would have fallen on deaf ears. God bless the Irish; they do give us such liberties with the English.

And now, how shall we make a book give up its riches? By looking carefully through the table of contents, and by not paying too much attention to the title of a book; for a title is often but an ugly mask to hide the really beautiful face of some author's great creation. To illustrate, who on looking at Prof. James' "The Will to Believe," from the outside would not feel rather like this: "The will to believe, huh? Well, I don't will to believe anything just now," and so pass on and miss the glorious chapter on "Great Men and Their Environment," and the valuable chapter on "The Importance of Individuals." Or, who on beholding the face of Robert Kennedy Duncan's "Chemical Problems of To-day" would ever imagine that by waving his magic wand of common-sense over its table of contents he could make it give up a wondrous tale of the University of Wisconsin? Perhaps the great chemist thought that this university had found the proper popular precipitate educationally, and so hastened to include his great report on the University of Wisconsin.

Most readers are either too conscientious, fearing to skip as they fear telling a lie, or they are conscienceless and fear not to skip lest they tell the truth to an overly ambitious professor who piles on parallel as the giants piled Pelion on Ossa. The gentle art of skipping. Ah! there you have it, but not the ungentle art of neglecting, caused by some heartless professor who imagines that all life's vacant spaces should be filled up with parallel, and that finally all good souls fly abreast to a heaven where students perform on parallel bars all the day long.

Bye-the-bye, why can't all parallel be put inside of regular recitation periods? Wouldn't this produce in students a sense of justice? And wouldn't professors in the long run really get more and better work out of the now overworked undergraduates? Let all college and university professors who have a real answer to this question stand up, or forever after hold their peace. Peace! peace! As Grant said, "Let us have peace." Yes, peace with honor, and with necessary liberal leisure and without so much parallel.

Note—Please put this on page one.

UMBRELLAS.

Rainy days bring us thoughts of umbrellas—umbrellas big and little, silk and cotton, with smooth handles, with knobby handles, with curly silver handles. All of which we have owned and lost after brief but strenuous games of hide-and-seek. Age, however, has brought us wisdom. No longer do we carry a modest little parasol and attempt to conceal it behind the door in the hope of finding it again. We have possessed ourself of a most ornate gold and pearl handled, silk affair, which we leave boldly in the open. So far, no one has shown any desire to make off with it. Our plan, therefore, might be considered successful, but we are, nevertheless, looking forward to a time when the morals of this college shall be raised to such a plane that we shall once more be able to own a simple little black cotton umbrella.

A RECTANGULAR PARALLELOGRAM:

Or, The Parallelogram of Forces.

Mr. Salley has put his parallel reading on a rectangular basis of fifteen minutes per period per week. For example, if a student is taking a three-hour course with him, she owes him forty-five minutes of library reading, definitely assigned at a particular hour on a particular day of the week. On this day at her particular hour she reads her assignment and gets it off her mind (she really ought to keep it in her mind). Mr. Salley is requesting all students to pay off their parallel debts by the week (on the installment plan) and so keep abreast of the times, and at the examination inquest there will be no old scores to pay off. By having a special hour for doing reference work a student is not then tempted to hide the book or to sit on it or to carry it unlawfully away, or to do any other thing unto the book. By this plan a teacher may assign an important reference in one volume to even a class of fifty without any inconvenience to the students and without any anxiety to himself.

Too! Too! X. Y. Z.

DR. CONRADI TO ATTEND MEETING.

Dr. Conradi will leave the first part of the week for Nashville, where he will attend the meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. At this time several high schools from Florida will make application for admission. Twenty-five have already been admitted. The committee from Florida on accredited schools is Dr. John A. Thackston, High School Inspector of Florida, Dr. Edward Conradi, and Prof. E. L. Robinson of Tampa.

JOKES.

Ella Taylor, on passing the lobby and seeing the tea table, Wednesday afternoon: "Oh! Do they serve tea at the meetings of the Executive Committee?"

Katy Jackson doesn't like the soft-boiled eggs and hominy which the doctor thinks good for her. She was fussing about having to eat it, when along came May Daniels, who asked: "If you don't like it, Katy, why do you eat it? Is it because you're cramped?"

AN INNOVATION BY THE CLASS OF 1916.

Already the senior class of the College of Arts and Sciences is holding meetings to make plans for a busy year. There will be no annual; but wait—there will be something far better! The annual has served an appropriate and happy purpose for several years, but a larger consideration for both present and future has influenced the seniors to make a gift to the college—a gift that will stand for a full generation and perpetuate the memory and affection of all the graduates for their alma mater. A gate will be erected at the entrance to the college grounds and presented by the class of 1916. With the addition of handsome posts, to be placed by the college, a beautiful and imposing entrance will be formed.

Long after the annual would have grown yellow with age and its memories kept sacred by only the group of graduates, the Seniors' Gate will stand firm and strong, inviting all to pass through the portals to the temple of wisdom.

DR. STRAUGHN TO WORK IN FLORIDA.

It seems now very probable that Dr. Straughn, the expert chemist in jellies and preserves, of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, will come to Florida for a year's investigation work. The chief aim is to investigate technically as to the uses that can be made of the by-products of Florida fruits. When he comes, he will make his headquarters at the College, where a laboratory will be equipped for him. Dr. Straughn spent six weeks in Florida last year and worked out a number of valuable recipes for jellies and preserves made from Florida fruits.

FACULTY NOTES.

Absent on Leave.

Dr. Jerome McNeill, the professor of Botany in the College, has given up his work for the present on a year's leave of absence. Dr. McNeill has had some difficulty in hearing, and is now being treated by ear specialists. It is with the hope of some permanent relief that he gives up his duties for the term. No more scholarly man has ever been on the Faculty than Dr. McNeill. His record at Leland Stanford University as candidate for his Doctor's degree, and his long, successful service here as professor of Botany, show his splendid ability as scholar, teacher and gentleman. The best wishes of the faculty and students for his speedy and permanent improvement go with him.

Dr. William J. Dodd read an interesting paper on "The College Education of Young Women for Social Service" before the Woman's Club of Tallahassee, Thursday afternoon. It was the last meeting of the year for the club. Some one very appropriately remarked that they had saved the best for the last. It was voted that Dr. Dodd's paper should be published in the Times-Union.

SOME PLANS OF SENIORS.

To the girls of the Florida State College let us say, first, we want your co-operation this year in our many activities. We are going to put forth every effort to make a success of our great project and we want to count on every one of you standing by us. First, we intend having the big carnival before Christmas, on a larger scale than ever before. Then, possibly, after Semester "exams" the vandeville enthusiasts will ask your help in presenting an attractive program. In the spring there will be a senior play. Several other affairs are being planned. Announcements will be made later. Prospects are brilliant and we are all looking forward to a happy, busy and successful year. Are you with us? If you aren't, we want your interest and support.

Yours for the Gate,
CLASS OF '16.

CAMPUS NOTES.

Mrs. Cawthon recently motored to Quincy.

Sara McMullen spent the week-end in Quincy.

Miss Andrews spent Sunday in the country with relatives.

Louise Landrum spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Cawthon.

Eleanor Brewer spent the week-end at her home in Newport.

Sara and Helen Fraleigh visited Mrs. Cobb in town the past Sunday.

Miss Margaret Brandon spent the week-end at her home in Thomasville, Ga.

Mr. Joe Bartleson of Jacksonville was the guest of Miss Juliet Gibbons Sunday.

Mr. West Hobson was the guest of his sister, Miss Janet Hobson, at supper Sunday.

Esther Hale returned Monday, after spending the week-end at her home in Monticello.

Miss Caroline Kirby, the assistant director of the training school, spent the week-end in Jacksonville.

Miss Emma Lee King spent the week-end in Thomasville, Ga., as the guest of Miss Carmen Evans.

Mr. Emmett Anderson, of Lake City, was the guest of his sister, Miss Muriel Anderson, Wednesday evening.

Messrs. Leigh Newell of Orlando, Louis Robinson, Grady Burton of Arcadia, Fletcher Martin, Altman and Warren of Jacksonville are in Tallahassee taking the bar examinations.

Last week Mr. Wilson delighted the hearts of the girls by sending out to college a large number of pillow covers. Many have already been embroidered and put into use, and the girls wish hereby to express their appreciation of his kindness.

Mr. W. A. Edwards, the architect for the Board of Control, was here last week, when final plans were accepted for the gate-way entrance to the campus. The materials for the posts have been ordered and the work will begin as soon as they arrive.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

The Training School had a more auspicious opening than it has ever had in its history. Every desk is taken, and a waiting list started. Miss Schwalmeier has an able assistant in the new teacher added to the regular faculty. Miss Kirby is a Normal trained teacher of several years experience. This splendid efficiency, with a very attractive personality, will give to the school a long step to a higher standard than it has been able to attain.

The studios of the 4th Grade paralleled those of the city schools, but those of the lower grades provide more for observation, activities and thoroughness, without a defined limit of several texts.

The pupils of the 4th Grade have a weekly lesson in Domestic Science. Pupils of 3rd and 4th Grades have two lessons a week in French.

The work will be upon a basis as scientific as possible.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

The dormitories are looking particularly attractive this year with fresh walls and new shades, and the rule, "No pennants on the walls," will add much to the appearance of the rooms. Our college mother made this regulation for two reasons; first, because it is more sanitary, and second, because it will teach the girls to have more tastefully arranged rooms. The rooms will be inspected each day. Miss Puleston, Mrs. Cawthon's assistant, has worked out a card system to be used in grading the rooms: G, for good taste; W, for well-kept; E, for excellent, and the same letters in circles, with just opposite meanings, are to be used in marking. The girls who have no circles around their letters will find their names in The Flambeau at the end of each month. So, girls, do your best to keep your rooms tidy and liveable, and thereby make the dormitories more attractive than ever.

COLLEGE GIRLS WELCOME DIXIE HIGHWAY OFFICIALS.

The student body of the Woman's College greeted the Dixie Highway officials, on Monroe Street, 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. This group, four hundred strong, lined the long avenue of live oaks on Monroe, beginning at the stately floral arch at the entrance to the city. By the arch, the College Seniors, in cap and gown, cheered the cars and showered the dusty tourists with bouquets as they entered the city. The avenue resounded with lusty cheers and showed a great array of flowers. On the side of the street opposite the college girls the public schools and citizens of Tallahassee hailed the tourists in similar fashion. Just before the entrance of the official car, the students sang the college song. The Florida Woman's College welcomes the Dixie Highway Association with hearty cheer. This is one of the material benefactors of our fair State.

Y. W. C. A. SERVICE.

A very interesting Y. W. C. A. service was held on Sunday evening, October 10. Miss Wood, missionary to China, was with us, and she gave a very interesting talk on the manners, customs and religion of the Middle Kingdom. She wore the native costume, which made her talk seem even more impressive. Her words were emphasized also by the number of interesting and curious things she showed us from the Orient.

Miss Wood is taking her vacation in America. Later in the year she will return to her work in the East.

REPORT OF FIRE CHIEF.

The Captains of the different halls met October 15th in the Den of Bryan Hall, where the rules of the fire drills were explained and discussed.

The fire drill on the evening of October 15th proved to be very encouraging, as it was quite a success for the first drill of the year. The time taken to empty Bryan and Reynolds Halls, 8 minutes; East Hall, 10 minutes.

The following companies were the first to report to the fire chief:

Reynolds Hall, Company D, 11-2 minutes.

Bryan Hall, Company E, 3 minutes.

East Hall, Company A, 3 minutes.

EXTENSION DEPARTMENT.

The Home Demonstration Agents of Florida held their State meeting at the University at Gainesville, October 12th, 13th and 14th, for the purpose of studying particularly the agricultural side of their work.

The first day, Dr. Conradi was present and delivered a short talk in the chapel of the University, and if the girls could have seen the ovation given our president by the boys at Gainesville, they would have been delighted; and, if they could have heard the talk that our president gave, they would have been charmed.

Mr. O. B. Martin, whose inspiring talks always mean so much to the County Agents, was down from Washington to attend the meeting. With him came Dr. Straughn, the "Jelly Man" from the Bureau of Chemistry, and Mrs. McKinnon, the State Agent of North Carolina. Various members of the faculty of the University, gave talks on such subjects as Fall Gardening, Poultry Clubs, Plant Diseases and their Control, Dairying, Landscape Gardening, etc.; so that our days were quite filled with work. But there was a pleasurable side to our meeting in Gainesville also. The Club Women of Gainesville carried us all for a long automobile ride over the city and out on some of the beautiful drives. Dr. Murphree, president of the University, and his wife, entertained most beautifully for us at an afternoon reception at their home.

We were very cordially welcomed and entertained, both by the people of Gainesville and the University folk.

FRESHMAN CLASS NOTES.

Officers—President, Helen Coulbear; Vice-President, May McCormick; Secretary, Catherine Bitzer; Treasurer, Dorothy Manchester.

Outlook for Coming Year.

Since the organization of the Freshman Class, there have been many meetings called by the president. The thing of most importance seems to be Athletics in general, and Basket Ball in particular. It was thought best to have an Athletic Association within the Freshman Class so that material for Field Day could be more easily found. Coris Shands was elected president, and Hazel Johnson secretary-treasurer. Ella Slomons has been selected temporary Basket-Ball manager, and she has been busy getting the girls interested so that we may have an "all-star" team.

Miss Gladys Comforter was elected representative to the Board of Managers of the Flambeau, and Miss Dorothy Johnson class reporter to the paper.

ELECTION OF CLASS OFFICERS FOR JUNIOR COLLEGE.

President, Frances Tippetts; Vice-President, Hazel Grimm; Secretary and Treasurer, Natalie Moffett; Chapel Monitor, Lulu Hart; Athletic Manager, Alta Grimm; Class Reporter for Flambeau, Marie Pitchford.

PHILOSOPHICAL CLUB.

The Philosophical Club of the Faculty met at the home of Dr. Edward Conradi on College Avenue Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Dr. William G. Dodd read a paper on "Teaching Shakespeare to College Students."

This club meets every three or four weeks throughout the college year. At each meeting a paper is presented by some member of the club.

DRAMATIC CLUB.

The Dramatic Club has very bright prospects for the coming year. Miss Elder, the director, is planning to present a number of short farces throughout the year, and Oscar Wilde's play, "The Importance of Being in Earnest," will be produced before Christmas. The officers of the club are: Helen Farrington, president; Verna Monroe, business manager, and Lucille Freeman, secretary.

College Athletics

THE Athletic Association already has many plans for the year, and expects to make our records on field-day compete with the records of other colleges. There has been organized an Athletic Board, composed of representatives from each class and the officers of the Athletic Association. The Board is at present hard at work planning the work for the year. The world's records in all field-day events have been written for and will be published in The Flambeau. They expect to give a silver loving cup to the class which is victorious on field-day, and the Championship Banner will be given to the best class basketball team. Get to work. All the practice done now for the Thanksgiving game will help toward winning the banner. Then, for the best all-around athlete there will be a garnet spaulding sweater with a big gold F. Everybody must work hard, for who does not want to win the sweater? And the basketball girls will not be left out. The varsity team—for perhaps we may have a varsity team yet—or at least those who would play on varsity, will get F's slightly smaller than the F of the best all-around athlete. Of course, this means there can be no other letters worn on the campus.

Thanksgiving Day is one month off. That means the big game of the year, between the odd and even classes. The basketball courts are ready; so, classes, organize your teams at once and be ready for practice at the very first call, so no time will be lost. There will be plenty of coaches this year, so practice will not have to be put off on that account. Get your teams ready and go in to win. Last year great enthusiasm was shown over the Thanksgiving game, and much excitement prevailed. After a hard fight at the first game the odd classes came out ahead, and at the second they were again victorious, this time over the Normal students, thus winning the championship of the college. It's up to you to take it away from them this year. Go in and win!

The High School gymnasium classes started last Thursday, to be taught by the girls of the Normal Gym class, under the direction of Miss Elder. Miss Verna Monroe taught the class last Thursday and succeeded beautifully.

WEEKLY CALENDAR.

Saturday—Fraternity meetings, 4:30 and 5 o'clock. Anvil Literary Society, Thalinn Literary Society and Minerva Club meetings at 7:15 o'clock. Fancy Dress Dance, 8:30 o'clock.

THE annual reception of the faculty was held in Bryan Hall at 8:30, on Friday evening. The atrium and parlors were decorated with ferns, roses and autumn flowers—scarlet sage, gorgeous dahlias and chrysanthemums. Those in the receiving line were: Governor and Mrs. Park Trammell, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Conradi, Supt. and Mrs. W. N. Sheets, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams, Dean and Mrs. W. G. Dodd, Mrs. S. L. Cawthon, Dr. and Mrs. Hayden, Dr. and Mrs. Brantle, Misses Green, Niles, Henderson, Buchanan, Mastin, Warren, Kirby, Pettit and Larson.

Refreshments were served in the Y. W. C. A. lobby, which was decorated very effectively in red and white, while the guests seated at small tables, eating ices and cakes served by pretty college girls, was a charming sight.

Misses Virginia Holland, Lucy Buckles, Dorothy Reed and Gladys Comforter furnished delightful instrumental music throughout the evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Conradi, with their attractive and popular faculty, together with their many friends, and the students, made the occasion truly delightful.

Y. W. C. A. SERVICE.

The Y. W. C. A. service held on Wednesday, October 27, was conducted by the Seniors. Miss Lucile Freeman, the president of the class, presided. She addressed the meeting in an earnest, businesslike manner concerning college duties, emphasizing especially our thoughtfulness for others. She spoke in detail about keeping Student Government rules as a point of honor, and helping those who are weaker.

A Senior quartette, composed of Misses Margaret Carroll, Agnes Edwards, Mary Floyd and Mary Hayes sang "Face to Face."

Mrs. Cawthon expressed her gratification at the lead taken by the Seniors. At her suggestion the assembly unanimously voted that the Senior Class direct the Y. W. C. A. meetings once each month.

The members of the Y. W. C. A. were called to a business meeting immediately after the service. Miss Florence Coulbear and Mrs. Adams were elected to fill the vacancies of vice president and secretary, respectively, of the Association.

The department of Sociology and Psychology is expecting some new apparatus within a short time. Some experiments in Psychology are arousing much interest in the class.

Have you noticed the Y. W. Lobby? If you haven't, you must go and take a look at it. There's a rug and small tables and chairs to use when the games are played. It looks fine.

The Innovation Commended

THE Class of 1916 is to be congratulated that they have set a fine precedent in college life—the precedent of daring to be different, righteously different, from other Senior classes of other colleges. Any class that can put aside its Vanity Fair for the sake of the common good and do away with the usual, an Annual, to do the unusual, directing their funds into an everlasting, useful contribution to the life of their Dear Mother—I say that class deserves to be commended. Surely 1916 has been reading:

"Lift up your heads, O ye gates;
And be ye lift up, ye ancient doors."

What more fitting monument to 1916 than the Eastern Gate, the approach?

AN INNOCENT BYSTANDER.

THE MODEL SCHOOL.

This has been a week of birthdays. Mattie Reedy had a nice sponge cake for the second and third grades, and Dorothy Sulley had a pretty cake with green candles and fancy icing for the third and fourth grades. Their com-pans enjoyed the little parties very much.

The pupils in the first grade have their new books, and they are so intensely interested that they will soon be good readers.

We were glad to welcome Miriam Terrell back to school.

OUR FLAMBEAU ATTITUDE.

Every Saturday, when the Flambeau appears, most of us read its contents, pass judgment: "Not so bad," "good," "think that our college paper ought to be," then forget all about its very existence until next Saturday afternoon when it appears again. Now, what do you think of that, girls? Or don't you think? Be critical! Our critics are the sustenance whereby we live and move and have our being. They are the essentials to our progress. But as Prof. Baker of Harvard, in lecturing on the "Experimental Theater," suggested, "a critic must meet a drama half-way." Here is the chance for you to become a part of the community life, which you have adopted in college, to use your ability and develop your ideals. Our forum for the expression of college opinion is open to you. Why not make use of it to tell the editor and college what you think, rather than "gossip" about it to your small coterie of friends? The Flambeau anticipates your kind co-operation. Wake up! and strengthen the voice of our college, one of its most vital organs. Give it power, the power which comes only through the unabated forces of the girls' contributions.

ARE YOU "MAD" ABOUT IT, TOO?

"I hope not another one is added to the number of students in this old school; the larger it gets, the worse they treat us. Here we are to have only ten days vacation Christmas; classes eight to four on Mondays; and I do believe they would keep us here until July if they could!"

Such is the wall which comes to our not altogether unsympathetic ears, for it does seem, from one point of view, that the faculty is piling up our work. They have shortened our Christmas vacation, and have taken away our free Mondays. When we come to consider the matter more thoughtfully, however, we find it not nearly so bad as it appears. The student quoted, exaggerated slightly, of course. We have nearer twelve days of Christmas, and very few students have so many classes on Monday. Those who do, have them in order that they may be free more desirable hours on other days. Certainly these things were not made to work a hardship on anybody but rather to add to our welfare. However, from several years' experience and observation, which has given us great confidence in our faculty's judgment, we are sure that these matters will eventually be arranged satisfactorily to all.

SQUEALING.

Is all this ear-racking, nerve-torturing squealing which shatters the peace of the campus and dormitory really necessary to the life, liberty and happiness of the student? Surely no one could consider it agreeable or attractive. Then why is it done? If a girl, like a pig, had only two ways of expressing herself vocally—squealing and grunting—a few squeals might be excused once in a while for the sake of variety. But, with such an infinite number of far more graceful modes of expression at her command, it seems that the squeal would be chosen only as a last resort. If, however, it adds greatly to her pleasure, if it is the only way by which she can show herself "alive and kicking," by all means let her continue.

All visitors to the College, and new girls, when they first see the campus, remark upon the general attractiveness of our buildings, trees, grass and flowers. The campus is beautiful now more so than it will be for many days to come. Look around you; pretend that you're a little bit of kin to Mr. Wordsworth, and enjoy the beauties of our college campus.

KINDERGARTEN NOTES.

All of the Kindergarten seniors of last year have obtained good positions doing kindergarten or primary work. Geneva Moseley is teaching in the primary grades in Tampa. Elsie Muhlolland is teaching in Ocala. Marguerite Simmons is a kindergarten in Havana, Cuba. Ernestine Blocker is teaching, and Martha Lewis has a kindergarten, at Fort Meade. Blunney Warren is teaching at home, in DeFuniak Springs. Faye Hill is "keeping house" with Naomi Grouthouse at Dayton, and both are delighted with their work. Nella Wells has a primary grade at Graceville.

Thirty-six children were enrolled when kindergarten started. This is the largest number the school has ever had at the beginning of the year.

Margaret Pearce, Gem Pickert, and Kathleen Morrison are practicing with Miss Napper at the county kindergarten.

HOUSEKEEPING NOTES—BRYAN HALL.

The beautiful housekeeping of the girls of Bryan Hall is a source of great gratification to those in charge and has excited favorable comment from the girls of other halls and from visitors without.

When the present system of grading rooms was adopted, gold and silver stars were chosen to show varying degrees of excellence in keep of room. When for a month the keep of a room has been good and only grades hall calling well-kept, good taste, or excellent have been secured silver stars will be given to the keepers. The gold stars will be given each month to the girls occupying the best kept suite on each floor.

Just now it is hard to say to whom the honors for October will go, but Suite No. 6, first floor, occupied by Emma Hoffman, Edith Kern, Tillie and Ruth Hooker; Suite No. 104, second floor, occupied by Lucile Kibler, Marie Grumbler, Illah Hines and Joe Johnson, and Suite No. 201, third floor, occupied by Nellie Cooper, Lois Tatum, Vera Monroe and Zella Wilson, are perhaps in the lead.

One of the many attractive features of the library now is a new librarian's desk. It is of beautifully finished mission and is made with trays for cards, and other equipment, especially for this work.

MAGISTER SUI DISCIPULIS DE LIBRIS.

SETTINGS

(A great library at one of the ancient universities, where there are miles and miles of bookshelves lined with narrow aisles, where the drowsing students and real disciples, led by their master, look up at towers of flowing books.)

And the Master was leading his disciples beside the still books, and he said unto them: Ye see, my children, these great phylacteries of books, heaped up for your delectation and supposed conquest. Observe, my children, how your Master doth lead you through the labyrinthine aisles of this great book-house as a needle doth lead the lingering thread through a parti-colored fabric; and as the needle doth sometimes hasten and yet again doth loiter, touching betimes warp and woof and betimes skipping,—so your Master doth linger long beside some books and yet again doth quickly enter you past others, according to their worth and according to your blind need. Therefore, my children, be not disheartened at the number, or the size, or the weight of these never-ending books; for all these characters are in inverse proportion to life's real importance.

Pluck up your courage, then. On to the conquest, fearing naught; for ye are more precious unto me than many books, and I say unto you that not a book shall be taken from these shelves but your Master shall know, and not a book worthy or unworthy shall by you be read but the world shall know; for your face doth unflinchingly, yet doth certainly, to the world proclaim its soul's possessions or its soul's poverty. Again go forward; arm your selves for the conquest; forget not infantry, cavalry, or artillery, and ye shall conquer, but not by books; for your streets of victory shall be through the City of Life.

Man was not made to be ruled over by books or bookish things—but, my children, man was made manly and woman womanly, that they might dominate time and circumstance; that they might bring The Book to the world and not the world to the book. Up then, my children, and go to school—but not books; for they are extraneous, ornamental things which do often tell but of life's Vanity Fair. Then rather go to school in life's real pageant and learn truth in actual service at the foundry, at the forge, at the loom, in the workshop, in the field, round the hearth, and other things shall be added unto you; for only in life's homely activities doth Truth reveal herself to real disciples.

(Signed) THE MASTER.

MRS. CAWTHON AT HOME.

One of the most entertaining "At Homes" which has ever been given, was that of last Thursday evening. A musical program, in which Miss Isabella Rausch played, made the occasion a memorable one. Five new Hawaiian Victrola records were played for the first time. Three of these were given by Mrs. Cawthon, and the other two by Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Parsons of Jacksonville. The popular "Black-Eyed Susans" sang delightfully. Mrs. Cawthon has planned a series of helpful and interesting talks to be given in the "At Homes" this year. The initial number of this series, "The Home Beautiful," was given by Miss Bulbois Elder, Director of the Department of Physical Training. Miss Elder was heard, as she always is, with a great deal of interest and profit by her audiences. "At Homes" are always a treat, but this was a special one.

Y. W. C. A. SERVICES.

Captain Verlan, who has charge of this division of the Salvation Army relief work, gave a very interesting talk Sunday evening, October 24th. She gave a brief history of the Salvation Army and explained how their work is carried on. She told of the rescue work done by the Army in the cities, and of the horrors of slum life. It was a very interesting as well as an instructive talk.

CAMPUS NOTES.

Miss Harriet Brandon spent the week-end with her parents in Thomasville and had as her guests Misses Grace Owen and Bessie Milton.

Miss Lula Taylor was the attractive guest Saturday and Sunday of Mrs. C. W. Cooper of Thomasville.

Misses Ella Jean, Myrtle, and Annie Boone McDavid visited their parents at Hinson Saturday, Sunday and Monday. They were accompanied by Misses Nell Green, Daisy Bell, Rosaleen Powell, and Frances Rounton.

Mrs. D. P. Hinson of Hinson had as week-end guests Misses Emma Peacock, Marie Mixson, and Ila Morgan of the College.

Miss Estelle Eldredge, on her way from North Carolina to Pensacola where she will enter school, visited her sister, Miss Barbara Eldredge of the college for the week-end.

Miss Carrie Charles visited Miss Minnie Roberts of Lloyd last week.

Miss Julia Coombs was delightfully surprised Friday by a visit from her brother, Mr. Chauncey Coombs of Apalachicola, Fla.

Dr. R. E. Gilbert and Mr. Rollin Alford of Lloyd visited friends at the College Monday.

Mr. W. S. Morrow of Jasper was a pleasant visitor at the College Monday and was the dinner guest of Miss Pearl Caldwell.

Mrs. H. H. Simmons of Jacksonville visited at the College for a few days last week and was the guest of her daughter, Miss Viola Simmons.

Miss Mary Bannerman was a week-end visitor at her home in Bechtou, Ga.

Miss Katherine Ball spent Sunday and Monday with her parents in Quincy.

Mrs. Harper spent Sunday at the College with her daughter, Miss Katherine Harper.

Miss Mildred Scott spent the week-end with her parents in Quincy.

Several parties from the College went Monday evening to see M. G. Field's Minstrels at the Daffin Theatre. Those who enjoyed this privilege were: Misses Katie Mae Galloway, Ethel Evans, Emma Lee King, Jane Hollinshead, Margaret Brandon, Minna Harris, Helen Vaughan, Muriel Anderson, Mary Bannerman, Ida Hester, Coris and Velma Shands, Starr Cheaney, Eloise Reed, Gladys Garren, Lillian McChesney, Anna C. Day, Naomi Margus, Maude Smith, Bess Milton, Rowena Marsh, Grace Julian, Valerie Reese, Estelle Beardsley, Laura Downs, Frances Reynolds, Imogene Reynolds, Margaret Carroll, Theresa Yeager, Augusta Martin, Idella Holloway, accompanied by Misses Isabel Sparks and Maude Andrews.

Miss Caroline Brevard was the guest of Miss Marie McMillan at supper Monday.

Miss Evelyn Whitfield was the spend-the-night guest of Miss Valerie Reese Saturday.

Messrs. Dick Mitchell, Robert Winberry, Brown Cooper, and James Griffiths of Thomasville visited at the College Sunday.

Mr. Robert McPherson and Mr. B. D. Adams of Quincy visited Miss Annie McPherson at the College Monday. Both were on their way to Gainesville to enter the University. Mr. McPherson takes a Post-Graduate course in Agriculture this year, and Mr. Adams is a member of the Senior Class of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Mr. and Mrs. Ethel Shepherd and Miss Ruby Inman of Greensboro visited Miss Hattie Inman Sunday afternoon.

Miss Margaret Willard of Palatka returned Wednesday from a delightful visit with her parents. She was accompanied by Miss Mary Evans who has entered the Freshman class of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Miss Maude Yates left Monday for Madison to attend a wedding, and will return in a few days.

Miss Noble McLenon had a pleasant visit in Jacksonville several days last week.

Miss Sue D. McConnell, on account of ill health, returned last week to her home in DeFuniak Springs. We trust that her health will rapidly improve so she can return to her friends and work in the college.

Mr. H. Lee Bell of Pensacola visited the College Tuesday for the purpose of showing the college girls samples of his work in photography. Mr. Bell had the contract last year for making the Annual pictures, and his work was very artistic and attractive, and highly satisfactory.

Miss Ethel Crosby was delightfully surprised last Sunday with a visit from her parents, Hon. and Mrs. W. J. Crosby of Citra, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Evans of Island Grove. The party motored over Sunday to Tallahassee and remained until Tuesday. Mr. Crosby was a member of the Legislature at its last session and was an ardent supporter of all bills furthering the educational interests of the State.

Mrs. Nathaniel Brewer, Jr., motored over Tuesday to see her daughter, Miss Eleanor Brewer.

Miss Caroline Brevard was the guest of Miss Lucile Cooper Saturday.

Mr. Walter J. Murphy of the D. L. and Company, and Mr. Howarth Earle Bonis of the Burr-Patterson Company were at the College Tuesday showing their samples in the way of fraternity and class rings, pins and bracelets.

Misses Hattie Baird and Mary Groover spent Tuesday with Governor and Mrs. Trammell.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

The members of Chi Omega Fraternity entertained at a Halloween party Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Kellum. The rooms were attractively decorated with pumpkins and constables. Several ghosts haunted the vicinity of the house, but hostesses and guests finally made their entrance by the back door. Once within, merriment reigned supreme. Every kind of Halloween amusement, such as bobbing for apples, and telling fortunes, was exhausted. The evening ended happily with an old-fashioned Virginia reel.

Those present were: Katherine Bitzer, Helen Conlhear, Bessie Fulton, Mary Groover, Sarah Fraleigh, Jeanette Hobson, Virginia Holland, Carolyn Ray, Willie Igon, Isabel King, Dorothy Manchester, Ruth Sisson, May McCormick, Oakley St. John, Priscilla Major, Katherine Ball, Grace Lotheridge, Frances Lotheridge, Cecil Jenkins, Margaret Willard, Hattie Baled, Florence Conlhear, Lila Patterson, Bevia Floyd, Mary Floyd, Florence Bunker, Frances Thipetts, Miss Longmire, Mr. and Mrs. Kellum, Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, and Miss Mastin.

AND YET ANOTHER.

A most unique and charming Halloween party was given by Misses Emma Lee King, Margaret Pearce, Minna Harris, and Helen Vaughn at 8:30 last Saturday night. The walls of the room were hung with sheets on which black cats and witches danced before your very eyes. From the center of the ceiling garlands of witches, cats, pumpkins, and broomsticks chased each other madly to the four corners of the room. The Halloween covers, placecards, favors and plates made the party realistic; while oysters, salad and ice cream made it thoroughly enjoyable. Among the fortunate girls who were present were: Misses Helen Farrington, Lucile Cooper, Du Bois Elder, Caroline Brevard, Dorothy Simons, Katy Mae Galloway, Louise Alford, Ella Taylor Simons, Lorena Walker, Dorothy Johnson, Marie Rich, Nettie Whinn, Eva Hester, Ollie Henderson, Myrlam White, Marie McMillan, Lucile Wood, Ethel Evans, Margaret Brandon, Jane Hollinshead, and Mary Lou Lemm.

Miss Elder Addresses Girls

Miss Elder talked to the girls on The House Beautiful, at the At Home, Thursday evening.

The following article quotes freely from the talk given by Miss Elder. It has had wonderful effect upon the girls in their daily lives.

"It is a privilege to talk upon the subject nearest and dearest to my heart. I wish to help the girls fit themselves for full, rich and useful lives, so that when the time comes for them to grasp the bigger responsibilities of earning their own living, or making homes for themselves and others, they will be equipped and eager for the task. Armed with the sharp tool of knowledge, they will carve their own path in the rock of practical achievement; buoyed up with hope and courage, they will face hardships and disappointments with a valiant spirit filled with desire for the highest personal development and zeal for the great common good, they will help to build up the health and vigor of the nation. It is our purpose to develop the mind, body and soul as a harmonious whole.

"Sentiment has changed in regard to woman. She is no longer a weak, helpless creature for man to shield and protect. She has come into her birth right, that of being helpmate for man to share his joys and sorrows equally with him. She must be prepared to do her share of life's work. Health does not depend on any one thing, but on several—food, exercise, oxygen, clothing and clothing.

"Dr. Giesel once told us a story of an automobile that wouldn't run simply because it was being fed too much gasoline and being fed continually. In just the same way, our girls feed your stomachs not only three times a day, but between meals. Do not eat between meals—wait until the next meal and eat wholesome grists, macaroni and beans.

"The exercise required for an average person should be five miles walking a day. The value of outdoor games can not be overestimated.

"You should breathe from your diaphragm. Nine-tenths of the people in the world breathe only half enough to live. There is no excuse for having a cold. It is a sin against yourself. Colds weaken the vital organs. Avoid cooling off too suddenly after exercise, especially such as dancing and basket ball. If you feel yourself getting a cold, breathe it off! Take a cold plunge and a walk before breakfast, breathe deeply, and very likely you will have no cold.

"The chewing of your food is very important. The way in which nourishment in the form of medicine, is made for you is that a dog is given apple seed meat. This dog has a hole cut in his throat and the juice is gotten in this way. Now, why not do your own chewing?

"The clothing in this part of the country does not bother us much. It is simply to wear your heavy coat and high shoes in cold weather.

"Take your cold plunge in the morning and rub down hard. Never take a very hot bath, and take warm ones only before going to bed. Never take medicine for headaches. Exercise or sleep will be a more lasting cure.

"Some girls seem to take no pride in the way they stand. The spine should be kept straight and the collar bone carried high. If you had an automobile and some part of the frame-work had dropped so that it interfered with

F. S. C. W. Member of S. A. of C.

At the recent meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools the College for Women was admitted as a member into the Association. Only colleges with good equipment, strong faculties and high standards are admitted, and therefore the rating of this Association is accepted the country over as to the standing of the colleges that are members.

The University of Florida and the College for Women are the only colleges in Florida that belong to the Association. The University was admitted two years ago. The College did not make application until this year. It is a matter of satisfaction to the people of the State that the two great State institutions of higher learning in Florida are taking rank amongst the very best colleges and universities in the South.

Florida also ranks high in the standing of its high schools. She ranks amongst the very best. The list of high schools accredited to the Southern Association is not quite complete at this time, but will be complete before January 1. When the list is complete there will be probably thirty-five high schools accredited. Any high school that is accredited to this Association can have its graduates enter any college or university in the country on certificate, that is, without examination. If the college or university accepts any certificates at all.

GERMAN CLUB.

The German Club met at the charming home of Dr. P. A. Claassen at 8:15 Monday evening. The occasion was the opening meeting of the year. All proceedings were carried on in German. The following officers were elected: President, Natalie Moffett; vice-president, Dorothy Osgood; secretary, Elizabeth Clayton; treasurer, Hazel Grimm. Prospects of the club's work and social activities for the coming term were enthusiastically discussed. Delicious refreshments, consisting of salad, tea and the real German pretzels were then served. The club enjoyed with added pleasure the charming hospitality of Dr. and Mrs. Claassen, of which they were the recipients so often, last year.

the working of the machine, you would spend time and money getting it readjusted. Yet you deliberately stoop your shoulders and let the mechanism of your glorious bodies be crippled.

From our possibilities and bravely prepare to meet the demands of the future as prepared women, strong, wholesome and worth-while to our families and future generations."

Concerning Literary Clubs

Madame Editor—Grant to me a place on any page of your journal, just so I do not land in the waste basket, you may put me anywhere.

As I reflect, I see I have been thinking—yes, actually thinking—and it happened that in this thoughtful stage the curtain rang up, the spotlight began to dance, and suddenly three graces (not Faith, Hope and Charity), but Thalia, Minerva and Melpomene, clad in summer gowns of relaxation and leisure stood forth in ghost-like silhouette, frightened, but not enlightened. Truth is, anxiety was plainly written on each brow, and I could clearly discern that each fair one was in a dilemma; she seemed not to know whether to advance or to recede or to vanish.

Shall I not, Madame Editor, take this phantasm as really a bold, brave, growing out of a sort of divina madness, and after all, not fantastic but symbolic, rather, of actual conditions in college literary societies? Permit me to say, before the bricks begin to fly, that there is nothing in college life dearer to my heart than our literary societies, unless it is The Flambeau. And I am eager to see them become real, live, human institutions where young women are trained to meet each other in genuine debate on real questions; where they learn to speak absolutely without notes; where they learn to tell stories with Homer-like fascination; where they learn to read essays and other literary products to an audience desirous of being entertained, enlightened and instructed; where they learn to be useful citizens. Madame Editor (I came very nearly saying Mr. President), here in our literary societies, we have the actual, the present audience situation exactly what is needed to whet the desire of those who would become masters of the art of persuasion. We all know, of course, Pericles' estimate of this art. Then all else that we need is to implant into the hearts of the society members genuine motives to action, and I believe we all shall get such results in our literary societies as will make even the literary societies of our best male colleges commend us.

Now do not misunderstand me. These literary societies—ours—do not remind me of the desert and the solitary place, but rather do they remind me of vast power-sites where great resources of human energy run away unconserved because not yet electrified.

Forgive a mere layman for suggesting several things for these societies to consider. Of all human beings, I am the most unceremonious on unceremonious occasions, but when I come into the sacred precincts of literary society halls, I feel that I have come into the presence of stately convention and appropriate ceremony. The dramatic instinct begins to tingle within me, and I feel that it would be appropriate to see the president of each literary society wearing an Elizabethan silk robe, of sable hue or purple, and seated, high and lifted up, on a dais underneath an imposing canopy; the secretary at her desk at the foot of the dais; and the officers of the society, the censors and the critics sitting in quiet dignity on the right and on the left of their president; the sergeant-at-arms at the door to receive all rightful members and visitors.

A Delightful Hallowe'en Dance

A real college girls' dance was given Saturday evening in the Recreation hall. The room was beautifully and tastefully arranged in Hallowe'en decorations. The lights were covered with orange crepe paper and jack-o'-lanterns were happily grinning from every direction.

The dance began with the grand march, led by Misses Bessie Milton and Valerie Reese as Piroet and Proctre, but owing to the great number taking part was soon given up.

Mrs. Townsend and Miss Elder, of the college, and Mrs. West, from town, were chosen to watch the grand march and award prizes to the two best dressed couples. Miss Grace Lofthouse, as a Scotch lad, and her partner, Miss Coris Shands, as a little girl, received first prize, and Misses Sylvia Kinney and Zella Wilson, as Turkish ladies, received second prize.

The costumes were well gotten up, and among them were representatives of nations, advertisements and various other pleasing and comic characters. Among those to attract great attention were the two "red devils" and Happy Hooligan.

Many town girls were "spend-the-night guests" at the college in order to attend the dance. Many town ladies also were present to witness the evening's fun.

BOOSTERS ORGANIZED.

The Flambeau Boosters Club held its first meeting last Thursday morning. Miss Lucile Freeman called the meeting and presided. In a few words she stated the purpose of the organization: To make our paper the best of its kind; to bring it before the public.

Miss Ollie Henderson and Miss Verna Monroe, the next speakers, urged us to co-operate with the staff in achieving this end.

Miss Ruth Cook then presented the business side of the paper. "Advertisements," she said, "are one of our most important financial supports; but we can't expect the business men of Tallahassee to give us their ads through charity. Therefore, it is up to us to read the ads and 'patronize those who patronize us.'"

The merits of our advertisers were set forth most attractively by Misses St. John, King, Daniels and Tippetts. Don't let the speakers monopolize all the enthusiasm. Be a booster yourself, every one of you. Read the ads in this issue!

PLAY.

The students are entering upon their athletic activities this fall with an energy that is quite commendable. Taking present interest and enthusiasm as an index, we may look forward to the best year in athletics that we have ever had. This is as it should be. There is nothing that keeps our spirits fresh and our youth healthy as does play. Play is deeply rooted in our life. It is an expression of a motor heredity that biologically harks back even to the earliest history of the race; it is the poetry of motor activity. There is nothing that keeps youths young, that keeps the body vigorous and graceful as does play.

Therefore let us play during our leisure hours. Let us play the plays that give to the body vigor and flexibility, to the mind freshness and exhilaration, and to the soul a joyous outlook upon life. Let us play, so that our bodies may be a living index of the beauty of the soul within.

ARE YOU A "DEAD ONE?"

The meeting of the Flambeau Booster Club last Thursday morning made two things perfectly plain to us. First, our girls can speak well and interest fully on a subject which they like. Of the eight speakers of that occasion, there was not one who did not put into her little talk marked charm and individuality. Some of the speeches, of course, were better than others; but each was in its own way very attractive. With capabilities like this in our student body, there would seem to be no excuse for such conditions as exist, for instance, in our literary societies. The second thing we observed, however, makes this clear—that is an abominable indifference. We were about as responsive as posts. Why can't we put some life and "zing" into things, into common everyday life things like this meeting? There would be plenty left for Thanksgiving!

What have you Thallans, Minervans and "Anvilans" to say in answer to "A Layman?"

AUTOMOBILES, ATTENTION!

"Our birth is but a sleep and a—
'hunk, hunk.'"
"The soul that rises with us, our life's star, hath had elsewhere its—"
The remainder is drowned out by the crash and grind of shifting gears of the passing car.

Mr. Automobile Driver, have you ever tried to conduct an English class under such circumstances? Surely not! or you would be more considerate. Had as is the reflection on your manners, however, we think that it is even worse on your car; for, it is a pretty poor sort of machine that can't take those slight grades on high. Anything that isn't an old rattle-trap ought to be able to coast around here, silently and swiftly as a bird. And why do you use your car out? The extra power gained by the open muffler is, as any one who knows anything about automobiles will tell you, purely imaginary.
It is whispered that all this unnecessary tooting of horns and popping of exhausts in the campus is simply to attract attention. But we have a better opinion of you than that.
We attribute it to thoughtlessness, and trust that it will be remedied. Cars which can't possibly restrain themselves will please take the other road round.

QUERIES FOR REAL DEBATING CLUBS.

Resolved: That subscriptions to The Flambeau be made seventy-five cents per year; that all members of the literary societies be required to take The Flambeau; and that the subscription price of The Flambeau be published in the college catalogue as a part of the required expenses of college students.

Resolved: That all students of collegiate rank be required to join a literary society; that each student be assigned to a literary society by casting lots; that all fines and fees be collectible on pain of expulsion from the society; that initiation fees of the several literary societies be published in the catalogue as a regular part of the expenses of a student at college.

Resolved: That one hour per week say 3 to 4 on Saturdays on the college schedule be set apart as an hour sanctured to the meetings of the college literary societies; that one-fourth credit be given for this work in the freshman year; one-half credit in the Sophomore year; three-fourths credit in Junior year; and one whole credit in the senior year.

Resolved: That when fraternities have a Charles they need a Cronwell.
(Say, Madame Editor, do you get me?)
Resolved: That when fraternities have broken into the big top they should be confined to one ring.

Resolved: That one of the college towers, or both, be made into observatories that seniors may study the stars and that Freshmen may look back to where they came from.

Resolved: That Socialism is an ancient disease of society; and that the whole socialistic program is made up entirely of stale ideas and principles that have often, in ancient, medieval, and modern times, proven inadequate to society's needs.

Resolved: That the disease, Socialism, from which the body politic is suffering, is fast on the wane, and that one bite of capitalism makes every member of the body politic immune to recurrent attacks.

Resolved: That a loving cup should be presented by the College to the literary societies for purpose of annual contest; that this cup should be held for one year by the society winning in annual joint debate; and that similar loving cups be offered to the societies on similar conditions for the society making the most points during the year on essays and declamations.

Resolved: That the societies should organize moot courts at times to take the place of a regular meeting. (Student government might furnish outfit and jury.)

Resolved: That the societies should form an inter-society organization for the purpose of establishing a bureau of inquiry and information as to what other literary societies are doing, and for the purpose of directing all joint undertakings of the student body.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

The Georgia-Florida game, one of the biggest of the season, will be played November 6, in Jacksonville.
In order to arouse as much enthusiasm as possible, and to provide a record attendance, Mayor Bowden of Jackso-ville has issued a proclamation designating November 6 as "College Day," and asking that all business be suspended on that afternoon. Jackso-ville has at last realized that we have a State University of which to be proud, and is proceeding to be proud in a thorough manner. We of the State College for Women have long been proud of the University's football record, and wish them all success.
Here's to Florida!

Dr. Edward Breck, the noted lecturer, journalist, author and naturalist, will lecture at the University November 17, on the subject of "Our Navy and What It Means."

We hear that the University has a twenty-seven piece band, which can "make just lots of good music." That sounds good to us. Bring it over!

T. B. CLUB ORGANIZED.

The Misses Marion Howard, Erma Drayer and Juanita Kennedy were hostesses at a most enjoyable feast last Sunday night. The occasion was the organization of the T. B. Club.
Hallowe'en colors were most effectively carried out in the decoration of the room. Plans for the future of the new club were discussed. The following officers were elected: Marion Howard, president; Erma Drayer, vice president; Frances Ragsdale, treasurer, and Juanita Kennedy, secretary.
After a pleasant social hour, delicious refreshments were served. Those enjoying the hospitality of the evening were: Misses May Daniels, Frances Ragsdale, Glovinia Holtzendorf, Rennie
Marrell, Muriel Anderson, Maude
Yates and Lula Martin.

LIGHT-FLASH FEAST.

Misses Nellie Cooper and Verma
Monroe entertained at a delightful feast, in their suite at 9:45 Wednesday night. The occasion was the birthdays of the hostesses.

The table was artistically arranged on steamer trunks, while the guests sat around on pillows. Turkish fashion refreshments consisted of "real" chicken salad and sandwiches, followed by "real" whipped cream on fruit jello. Salted peanuts were served in tiny flower-cup place cards. Those who enjoyed the eats were: Misses Elder, Miss Roberts, "Tide," Misses
Rex Todd, Emma Lee King, Hazel
Johnson, Cornelia Paleston, Grace
Owen, Elizabeth Anderson, Marie Mc-Millan, Marion Howard, Lula Tutinn,
Nell Cooper, Verma Monroe and Zella
Wilson.

TALLAHASSEE, FLORIDA

You see at once that I am suggesting a little, just a little of sentimental usage, but surely I am providing for dignified and imposing form. Latin students all know that worth begins dignity and that dignity suggests worthiness.

So much for statistics and convention. Now as to the modus operandi. We already have one open hour on the weekly college schedule. Why can't we have another, say three to four on Saturday afternoons, devoted entirely to the spontaneous activities of all the academic organizations of the college? (Madame editor, fraternities are not academic; I speak by the card, being a Pharisee of the Pharisees of the tribe of Benjamin; I know.) Glee clubs, language clubs, education clubs, all clubs of serious purpose, might meet at this hour. This time might be given credit in the regular college course, according to its determined and proportionate worth. For example, one-fourth credit might be given for Freshman work; one-half credit for Sophomore work; three-fourths credit for Junior work; and one whole credit for Senior work—making a possible total of two college credits in four years stamped with the approval and supervision of college authorities.

If all society dues were printed in the college catalogue as a regular part of college expenses for students of collegiate rank; if all students were required to join a literary society, by casting lots, after the first two months of college life and not before. (The process of casting lots and its purpose will be explained later. If you have your wits about you, why, you can see through it at once; if provision were made for continuous actual service in debate, declamation, story-telling, and essaying; if dues for failure to perform duty were made collectible on pain of expulsion, after a right of appeal; if the initiation of new members were made a beautiful public ceremony; if ballots were always taken by roll call on all questions and elections, thus avoiding self-seeking nominations; if the prominent offices of college life were made to rotate from year to year among the literary societies, (for example one year, Thalian might be head of student government; Minerva the editor-in-chief of the Flambeau; and Anvil the Chief Marshal); if graduation from the societies were made an imposing public function where real diplomas, indented in Latin, were handed to those Seniors who had received a vote of confidence from the faculty and from their society as being worthy to receive this great honor because of faithfulness to duty and by reason of constancy in attendance; if provision were made for the automatic distribution of honors within each society according to the proportionate size of the frat and non-frat groups—the frats deciding on their slate and the non-frats deciding on their slate; if college marshals, assistants, and chief, were elected by the societies to serve as ushers at all public functions in the chapel; if provision were made for a gradual advance in possibilities of office-holding according to the age and experience of the student; if all these things were done, and many more, real and fine and wholesome civic motives would be implanted into the hearts of real red-blooded human beings, thorough-breds, the power would be turned on and the power-sites would begin to generate electricity to be used for heat, light and energy in the commonwealth of the college.

Madame editor, forgive me. You see, like Tennyson's brook, I have been going on forever, but really I must stop for I see the sun is past the meridian and perforce one must dine. So I say farewell, and I ask that you present these few thoughts to your subscribers for their consideration and possible assimilation or dissimulation.

Respectfully,

A LAYMAN.

Florida Educational Association Coming

The Florida Educational Association will hold its annual meeting in Tallahassee, beginning December 28, and closing December 30, 1915. The State College for Women is making arrangements to contribute in large measure to this convention. The boarding department has offered to take care of three hundred members, and the students have generously consented to leave their rooms in readiness for use during their absence in the holidays. All the departmental meetings of the Association, as well as the Wednesday evening program, will be held at the College.

On Wednesday evening a grand concert by the members of the music faculty will be given in the auditorium, after which a general reception will be held in Bryan Hall. The Training School and Kindergarten will each give demonstrations of their work, and the Home Economics Department will hold an exhibit of such part of its work as is possible so early in the term. Miss Lounsbury, a member of the executive committee of this Association, is in correspondence with Professor C. M. Jones, the chairman of said committee, in regard to further details of the meeting.

The City of Tallahassee and the Leon County High School are both arranging to contribute to the success and spirit of the Association. The opening session and the Wednesday morning program will be held in the high school auditorium. Tallahassee is planning to give the visiting teachers and other members of the convention a grand automobile trip over the hills and surrounding country of the Capital City. The students are asked to inform friends and teachers in their respective homes and communities, of what a fine session of the F. E. A. is in prospect. This is one of the best ways, girls, to let your Florida friends know what our college is doing. The Association is a body of eight hundred people. Can you help to bring the attendance up to this maximum? Suppose you try.

SUB-FRESH II.

At a recent meeting of Sub-Fresh I the following officers were elected: President, Mary Louise Nahm; vice president, Edith Cheney; secretary and treasurer, Star Cheney; athletic representative, Velma Shands; Flambeau representative, Ella Ready Jordan; chapel monitor, Dorothy Reed.

Now, all you Sub-Fresh I girls who can play basketball, get out and practice, so that you can make the Freshmen and Juniors glad that they have you on their side Thanksgiving Day.

ADDED EQUIPMENT TO PSYCHOLOGICAL LABORATORY.

A large order for psychological apparatus has been placed, and the goods are expected to arrive before the holidays. Already six new laboratory tables have come. This new apparatus will make the department of psychology one of the best equipped throughout the entire South.

Read about the Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, British Minister of Munitions, and keep in touch with great men who are doing things. "E's the bloke wot they gets to do wot no other bloke can't, or else is 'fraid to,'" said a Cockney "publicist" of him. Read about him in the Review of Reviews.

Senior Basketball

The Senior class of the college, Sophomore and Sub-Fresh II classes held an enthusiastic meeting on Wednesday morning for the purpose of arranging details of the Thanksgiving game. It was decided that a challenge be sent to the Junior, Fresh and Sub I classes to play on the aforesaid day. After nine tabs for the team, meeting stood adjourned.

The Team.

It is going to be a great team when the players get in trim again after so long an absence from the athletic work. Mercer Virginia Gale and Harriett Seymour are working hard and successfully at forward. Lois Tatum, of Field Day fame, has decided to study the science of basketball, and already she is some scientist at throwing for goal. Azalea Moore and Lucille Freeman, who met defeat bravely for the good old green and gold last year, were playing "forward" Tuesday with a smile that does not mean defeat. Of Ida Hester and Grace Lothridge as guards—what can be said? Just watch "em—that's sufficient. Gertrude Lovell, with that iron-like muscle, is hard at work, and everyone knows what that means for Gertrude.

Marie McMillan has found her place in the game as running centre—and what she misses Elizabeth Benton, as her opponent, quickly appropriates. Others who are "trying out" for the team and playing a good game are Pattie Martin, Katherine Smith, forwards; Hooker and Jenkins as guards; Addie Johnstone, Verna Monroe and Dorothy Osgood, centre; Frances Lothridge and Florence Binger, forwards, and several others whom we watch with interest. Let's make it a great game—a game with what is called, in baseball, "pep" and "ginger." Thanksgiving Day is only two weeks off. Come out, girls, and try for the team. Take a chance; you'll never get anywhere if you don't. Show your spirit!

GYMNASIUM IMPROVEMENT.

At a recent meeting, the Board of Control authorized a thorough repairing of the gymnasium. The repairs will include a new roof, replastering the interior, and the whole building will be put in first-class condition.

The Director will be furnished with a large desk in a private room, where she can keep physical records of all the students. It is hoped that a shower bath can be added to the equipment. The material has been ordered and is on the way. The work is expected to be completed before the holidays.

SUB-FRESH II NOTES.

The Sub-Fresh II held a very important meeting and elected the following officers for 1915-16: President, Gertrude Lovell; vice president, Verna Monroe; secretary, Grace Julian; monitor, Laura Owens; class reporter, Lois Tatum; field manager, Ida Hester. The Sub-Fresh class stands a good chance for Field Day as well as being well in line for basketball champions for the year.

WEEKLY CALENDAR.

Saturday—Fraternity Meetings: 4:30 and 5 o'clock. Anvil Literary Society, Thulian Literary Society; Minerva Club, 6:45 o'clock.

Sunday—Y. W. C. A., 6:45 o'clock.

Tuesday—Executive Committee meeting, 5 o'clock.

Wednesday—Y. W. C. A., 6:45 o'clock.

The B. S. E. Again

On Thursday at the open hour, Mr. Salley called together all his college classes for a renascence of the Education Society, which has been in summer quarters since its last meeting.

Each class was asked to elect one member of the steering committee, which will have charge of all meetings and programs. There will likely be six meetings during the year. Hints have been dropped by those high in the councils of the Scientific Society for the Study of Education that the following subjects will be treated: "A Study of Robert's Rules of Order" (two meetings or more); "An Evening With the Famous Educational Organizations of the United States"; "The Bible as the Great Seminary Influence in the Literary and Educational History of Typical Nations" (one meeting); "The Sources of Educational Material"; "Florida School History and School Law."

Mr. Salley announced that he thinks the club idea may be so overdone that "the sideshows will swallow up the circus;" that college life may be clubbed to death. So to avoid too great a load being unnecessarily thrust upon over-ambitious girls, he will permit each meeting of the society to be substituted for one week's parallel reading on request of any member.

The steering committee will have a report next week.

Y. W. C. A. SERVICES.

Dean Salley addressed the association at the meeting held on Sunday evening, November 7. He spoke on the subject of prayer and the part it should play in the life of the college girl. Dean Salley is an able and earnest speaker and the girls always derive much pleasure and profit from his talks.

The Wednesday evening service was postponed until Thursday evening, when the ministers of the city churches met and addressed the girls of their respective denominations.

The initiation service of the Y. W. C. A. was held Wednesday night, November 3. At the opening of the service the would-be members marched into the hall bearing lighted candles, whose light was to be strengthened and sustained by the light from the three candles in the front of the hall—a representation of the light which the soul receives from its communion with the Trinity. After a short Scripture reading, the girls were welcomed into the Association, and received its vows. Sixty-six new members were added to the roll of the Association.

FRENCH CLUB.

The first meeting of the club was held at the home of Dr. P. A. Claassen, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The following officers were elected: President, Julia Connors; vice-president, Frances Ragsdale; secretary and treasurer, Grace Owen. The business meeting was followed by a short program consisting of songs by the club, a recitation by Miss Green; a duet by Gladys Comforter and Margaret Carroll; and a dialogue by Grace and Frances Lothridge. Dr. Claassen gave an informal talk about the plans for the year. Delicious refreshments were then served, after which the club adjourned, much indebted to the cordial and charming hospitality of Dr. and Mrs. Claassen.

Faculty Recital At Florida State College

A very interesting and artistic program will be given Thursday evening, November 18, at 8:15 o'clock, introducing two added members to the faculty of the School of Music—Miss Henrietta Spragins Mastin and Miss Lela M. Niles. Miss Mastin, mezzo soprano, has had great success in her concert appearances and has many flattering press notices. The New York Musical Courier, in writing of her appearance as Manon, says: "Miss Mastin acquitted herself in an excellent manner, both histrionically and vocally, of her difficult task. She is not only highly gifted as to voice, but seems to have also the necessary equipment in the way of stage talent and presence for a successful career." The Musical Courier also states: "Henrietta Mastin sang the aria 'Connais tu le Pays,' from Mignon, with ease, delighting her auditors with the warmth and color of her lovely voice." Miss Mastin has consented to close her program with "Prince Charming," by Lehman, with which she created such a furor in her singing of same with the orchestra in Cincinnati and at the Lexington music festival.

Miss Niles, pianist, returned at the outbreak of the war from Berlin, where she had been studying with Lhevinne, having been prior to that in Munich as a student of Klum. The music lovers are looking forward with much pleasure to the interesting program she will offer.

The recital is open to the public, and everyone is invited to attend.

JUNIOR-FRESH-SUB-FRESH MEETING AN ENTHUSIASTIC ONE.

At a called meeting of the Junior, Freshman and Sub-Fresh I classes, the members planned enthusiastically for the winning of the basketball game on Thanksgiving day. Miss Frances Tippetts, president of the Junior class, presided. Miss Florence Conibear's "pepp" and "ginger" won her the place of cheer leader. A committee of three was appointed to get some brand-new songs that would put all others out of sight. Those appointed were Dorothy Johnson, Mary Louise Nahm and Florence Conibear. Colors, red, white and purple, were decided upon, the same colors under which the classes last year won the Thanksgiving game. Every member of these classes is urged to come out on the basketball field and be a true sport.

THE BRAVERY OF THE COMMON PLACE.

How many theories concerning the effects of civilization upon human nature have been torn to shreds by the carnage which is now engulfing Europe? It was held that civilization had made man effeminate—had robbed him of the stalwart qualities which his savage ancestors once possessed. It was also believed that it were necessary to hark back to ancient history for shining examples of bravery and self-sacrifice in the wars that made and remade the maps of ancient empire. But much to the surprise of theorists who held that war was necessary to restore the ancient vigor, men whose vocations were very peaceful and accordingly enervating—clerks, professional men of various ranks—have taken their place in the trenches, side by side with others, and performed deeds of heroism unsurpassed in the annals of war. If there is one supreme moral lesson brought home by the developments of the present conflict, it is this: that war is unnecessary to the physical, mental and moral vigor of mankind. And could it be otherwise, when war creates nothing, but merely devours that which mankind has taken untold generations of toilsome, weary endeavor to fabricate? It is a perverted and distorted spiritual vision that sees heroism only in the valorous deeds of war, and is unmindful of the silent courage and devotion, self-sacrifice and renunciation enacted in the daily lives of the toiling masses since civil order began. Courage has as many forms and shades as there are phases of human life. Every moral situation offers opportunity for the exhibition of courage, that is indispensable to spiritual growth. Is not the man who openly defies and attacks corruption in high places as finely courageous as he who faces the enemy on a battle field? Was ever soldier braver than that true soldier of the Cross, St. Paul, when, after his wonderful vision, he renounced Judaism and became the apostle to the Gentiles, carrying to the western world strange doctrines that brought him into antagonism with the temporal and spiritual authorities in every sphere of life? And what shall be said of his courage when later he gave up his life—willingly, gladly—for the faith that was in him?

OH, FOR RELIEF!

There is always a good deal of talk about a college student's lack of general information. In fact, we are often denounced most violently because we do not know who is king of Rudillbria, or author of the "Approach of Dawn," or governor of Idaho, or because we cannot explain the budget system or the "Curve of Probability." Undoubtedly it would be very pleasant and convenient to know all this, but it has come to us that we are even more in need of knowledge concerning things closer home. One would really be surprised at the number of things we don't know. Someone is always asking, for instance, if it is against the rules to dance between five and six; what time to get permits Sunday night; which direction is south; when the administration building was put up; what is the domestic science teacher's name? If anyone can suggest a method for spreading such information we would accept it most joyfully, if it could bring us relief from some of the foolish questions with which we are pestered every day. If they could answer such as the following: "Won't you help me find a book? I don't know the name of it, but it is a small blue book," or "I have taken Lath two years, but I don't know anything about it. Would you advise to take first year over again, or to try Cleore?"

BANQUO'S GHOST. (Chapter II)

Madame Editor—You see how I haunt your pages. But you are patient and I know I am granted absolution even before I ask. No, it will not down—the literary club idea has become a sort of obsession with me, and sleeping or waking, it will not leave me.

You recall that I was to explain my literary plan. It is briefly this: After the first two months of each college year, let three members of the faculty under the direction of the president of the college, put all the names of the new students into two boxes, and the non-frats in one and the frats in another. Then beginning with the non-frat box, draw out one name at a time, and assign names to each literary club in regular rotation, beginning always with the oldest club, thus: Mary Ann Jones—Minerva; Elizabeth Smith—Thaliam; Julia Rowe—Anvil, and so until the names in the non-frat box are all duly assigned. Next proceed with the frat box in a similar manner. This drawing contest may be made a public event of very great interest.

Now as to the limited size of literary clubs. No literary club should have more than about eighty members. Provision therefore should be made for automatically making a new society as soon as each of the already formed societies has gone beyond a certain number. To illustrate, a standard size in numbers may be adopted, say eighty, and as soon as all the societies have accumulated a grand total of extra members beyond the standard size to make another standard sized society, then a new society should be formed by drawing class—nonfrat-frat lots from each society to make the new club. To illustrate, suppose Minerva, Thaliam, and Anvil had each reached one hundred and seven members; by drawing class nonfrat-frat lots of twenty-seven members from each society, the old societies would be reduced to normal size, and a new club would be automatically made of valuable, well trained material.

The new society should have the right to give itself a name, and it would not be amiss to start the beautiful custom of naming new clubs after famous women. For example, there might be an Elizabeth Barrett, Brownhug club, or a George Eliot club or an Emma Willard club.

In your next issue I shall have something to say as to literary club programs, and as to the possibilities in forming a society on the English ministry plan or on the initiative-referendum plan, and as to the law of diminishing returns when people undertake too many uncorrelated social activities.

Respectfully,

A LAYMAN.

The Retreat, Nov. 10, 1915.

AN ANSWER TO A LAYMAN.

Madame Editor—The article by the "Layman" has penetrated the sacred precincts of my brain, and has caused my mind to go through with that very unusual process—that of thinking. But since there is absolutely nothing to be said in answer to the aforesaid article—so squarely has the writer hit the nail on the head—that I beg permission to add a few remarks, more or less sensible, as you may find them, along the same line of thought.

What is the matter with our literary societies? Something, surely? That was evident when poor Minerva was so very low that she was expected to pass away at any time, and we were almost on the point of putting her out of her misery. In fact, all three of the fair ones—Minerva, Thaliam, and Anvil—excuse me for imitating "a Layman"—all are suffering so much from lack of attention that they are quite liable to raise a funeral pyre and cast themselves thereon, in the manner of the most beautiful queen of Carthage, purely on account of the dissection of their loved ones.

Now why are our societies so neglected? There must be some reason. It is this: we are too busy. We have no time to put to literary societies. But a professor of Yale says that "the human mind has an infinite capacity for resisting knowledge." Are we, of the Florida State College for Women, so entirely different from Yale students that we cannot cease pursuing knowledge long enough to listen to an interesting program, and to help a little in the preparation of it? No. Please do not mistake me in thinking that we are too busy with Latin, Psychology and Home Economics. There are other things that claim our attention, par exemple, dances, picture shows and Frats. These, with Saturday night dinners to boot, manage to fill all the hours left vacant by classroom duties.

It does seem a bit too bad when there is so much that might be done in the literary line, that we do so little. Now, debates, for instance. Horrors! Who wants a debate? And yet, there is hardly anything that will so broaden our minds and develop our powers as much as a good debate, and there isn't much that is more interesting when a little enthusiasm is put into the work. Inter-society debates, where there is a lively spirit of friendly rivalry, are almost as exciting as the movies. We do not need to be limited to staid and solemn subjects. A little nonsense introduced now and then makes a most delightful variety, and those of us who are not sage enough to contribute to the fun can surely see the point and be willing to let the corners of our mouths act accordingly.

None of these things can be done unless a little more interest is taken. To be sure, there are a few who are apparently interested somewhat, and every Saturday night there is a gathering of the faithful, a meager band, around their respective shrines. A little handful of officers can not make a society, but they CAN make one if they have the attendance and co-operation of the membership body. As a student to students, I make this appeal. Let us not permit our literary societies to become a sacrifice on the altar of useless pleasure, but let us, please, take a little more time from our Frats and our dances, and make our societies stand for something that is really worth while.

CAMPUS NOTES.

Miss Thelma Parsons spent the week-end with her parents in Jacksonville.

Miss Julia Coombs was the week-end guest of her brother at Carrabelle. Misses Lula Taylor and Miriam White spent several days of last week at their homes in Live Oak.

Dr. Game delighted the girls in his classes with a "cane party" at his home Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Hattie Luman spent the week-end at her home in Greensboro.

Miss Parrie Johnson spent several days of last week in Hawthorne.

Miss Dykes, the assistant nurse, has returned, much improved in health, after a visit of two weeks at her home in Woodville.

Miss Agnes Edwards spent the week-end at her home in Lloyd.

Miss Marion Campbell spent several days at her home in Chipley.

Mrs. Wynne spent several hours at the college on Monday, as the guest of her daughter, Miss Nettie Wynne.

Miss Juanita Kennedy spent the week-end in Jacksonville.

Misses Oakley St. Johns and Alice Corry spent Sunday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis at Goose Creek.

Misses Pearl Laffitte and Julia Gilbert were the dinner guests on Sunday of Mrs. R. M. McKinnon.

Misses Katherine Wyckoff and Elita Burleson were the guests for the week-end of Miss Mary Brundidge, at her home in Havana.

Mr. Donk, who graduated from the college when it was a co-educational institution, was a pleasant visitor here this week.

Misses Schwalmeyer, Green, Clarke, Abernethy, Davidson, Roberts, Buchanan and Warren are pleasantly located in the two attractive cottages on the campus.

Quite a number of the students attended Hall Caine's "The Eternal City" at the theatre Monday matinee and night.

Mr. Morgan Groover, of Lakeland, was the guest of his sister, Miss Mary Groover, at the college for several days this week.

Mr. Ossian Drane, of Lakeland, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Kellum, Monday and Tuesday.

METHODIST RECEPTION.

The ladies of the Methodist church of Tallahassee entertained the College girls at a delightful reception at the home of Mrs. C. A. Ansley, from 3:30 to 6 o'clock, Monday afternoon. The entire lower floor of the house was beautifully decorated with a profusion of multi-colored chrysanthemums, roses and dahlias. In the course of the afternoon, Miss Sparkes and Miss Rausch delightfully rendered several vocal and violin solos.

Delicious refreshments, consisting of chicken salad, saltines, beaten biscuits, olives, coffee and whipped cream were served. The girls who attended, enjoyed the afternoon thoroughly and wish to express their appreciation of the kind hospitality shown them.

EPISCOPAL RECEPTION.

Monday afternoon, Nov. 8, at the home of Mrs. McNair, the ladies of St. John's P. E. church entertained at a reception. The college girls who are members of the Episcopal church and many of the teachers were invited. The rooms were attractively decorated with ferns, chrysanthemums and scarlet sage. Delicious refreshments, consisting of a salad course, an ice and coffee, were served. Mr. and Mrs. Yarnall, the new rector and his wife, were present, and both teachers and students were very glad of the opportunity of meeting them. The afternoon passed delightfully, and the college girls wish to express their appreciation of the charming hospitality shown them.

PHILOSOPHICAL CLUB.

The Philosophical Club will meet next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Dr. Conrad. Professor Garnaud will read a paper.

MRS. CAWTHON'S "AT HOME."

At Mrs. Cawthon's At Home Thursday evening the following program was greatly enjoyed: Dances by Zella Wilson; Recitations, Miss Roberts; Violin Solos, Miss Rausch. Much to the regret of all, the last number, a short talk, illustrated with lantern slides, by Dr. Game, had to be postponed. These little "At Homes" are much appreciated and enjoyed by the College girls, and they wish to thank their College Mother, as well as those who perform, for the interest which brings about these social hours.

A Bc ENTERTAIN.

The A. B. Club entertained Saturday night with a Halloween party. Delicious refreshments, consisting of apple salad and sandwiches, were served. Those present were: Gertrude Lovell, Ida Hester, Grace Julian, Juliet Gibbons, Estelle Beardsley, Laura Owen, Mildred Scott, Marie Ellis, Newell Walker, Dorothy Colburn, Valerie Reese, Rowena Marsh, Cornelia Brown, Catherine Calhoun, Miss Stevens, and a guest, Eleanor Brewer.

DINNER PARTY.

Mrs. Spears, chaperoned a jolly crowd to the Leon Hotel on Saturday evening. The party enjoyed an excellent dinner, and later attended the moving picture show and the ice cream parlor. Those in the party were: Frances and Imogene Reynolds, Augusta Martin, Theresa Yaecker, Willie Leon, Jennette Matthews, and Juanita Branch.

Mary Lou Luman has resigned her position of local editor on the Flambeau staff because her work in other lines has grown too heavy for her strength. She has been an efficient editor, being always alert and quick to get the news, and careful and accurate in writing. We regret to lose her helpful service.

A HIKE.

Monday afternoon a number of girls went on a hike. After rambling through the fields until dusk they built a fire and gathered around it to enjoy a delicious picnic supper of chicken salad, sandwiches, cake, pie and fruit. After toasting marshmallows, telling ghost stories and singing, the hikers returned home.

Those present were: Cecil Jenkins, Florence Burger, Hazel and Ione Hough, Frances and Grace Lothridge, Mizpah Otto and Miss Roberts.

STORY-TELLING HOUR.

The Story-Telling Hour, held Sunday evening in the lobby of Bryan Hall, drew an interested group of listeners. The following contributed to the fund of tales: Miss Elder, with "The Legend of the Palm Tree," Miss Roberts with "The Other Wise Man," Mary Louise Scales with the story of "Hansel and Gretel," and Helen Pike with an extract from "Little Citizens."

GLEE CLUB.

The Florida College Glee Club re-organized last week. The work of the club is a part of the requirements for the students of voice. All other members of the student body interested in choral work will please meet Miss Mastlin, conductor of the chorus, relative to enrollment. The work of the Glee Club is well-known through the excellent public work presented in the past few years. Interesting plans are formed for the coming season.

FIRE DRILL.

The fourth fire drill of the year took place on Tuesday night at 11 o'clock. Nellie Cooper, fire chief, reports good order and steady improvement in the conduct of the girls. Bryan, Reynolds, and East Halls reported within 41-2 minutes. Squad D of Reynolds reported in 1 minute; Squad F, of Bryan, in 1-1-2 minutes, and Squad B, of East, in 3 minutes.

Notice: Do not molest little owl which attended chapel Wednesday morning. Mary Louise Scales says the Byrd is hers and she doesn't want anyone to have anything to do with it.

HOUSEKEEPING NOTES.

Bryan Hall.

The first of each month there will be published in The Flambeau the names of those who have secured gold and silver stars for superior and generally excellent house-keeping for the previous month. This list will constitute the Honor Roll for that month.

Honor Roll, Bryan Hall, October, 1915.

Gold Stars—Emma Rotham, Edith Kern, Ruth Hooker, Tillie Hooker, Nellie Cooper, Zella Wilson, Lois Tatum, Verna Monroe, Lucille Kilder, Marie Grumbles, Joe Johnson, Hilah Hines.

Silver Stars—Bessie Fulton, Edith Cheney, Helen Craig, Wilma Futch, Edwin Odum, Juliette Odum, Mae Lois Stroup, Mary M. Monroe, Marie Mixon, Emma Peacock, Gladys Martin, Hattie Lou Trammell, Florie Lu Enzor, Irene Hammond, Emma Nichols, Annie Mae Nettles, Sue McConnell, Baya Chue, Maude Bonaker, Nole Greene, Hattie Imman, Gladys Garren, Marie Rich, Isabella Williams, Frances Ragdale, Beatrix McMasters, Margaret Weaver, Gertrude Lovell, Oakley St. John, Priscilla Major, Ruth Cook, Beth Walton, Marie Moseley, Gladys Moseley, Marie Louise Nahu, Sylvia Kinney, Elsie Kilgore, Sara McMullen, Alma White, Grace Herrick, Sarah Fraleigh, Helen Fraleigh, Grace Julian, Lilla Patterson, Zillah Hutchison, Elie Phillips, Mildred Essex, Mary Bannerman, Alice Rhodes, Dorothy Davies, Ethel Reid, May Danells, Star Cheney, Naomi Marquis, Gloria Holzhendorf, Lillian McChesney, Maude Smith, Anna C. Day, Lucy Buckles, Perry Johnson, Jewell Gaskin, Katharine Mahoney, Elton Mahoney, Augusta Holloway, Mattie Lee Parker, Vida Mathis, Irene Dees, Mae Dees, Edou Guile, Cleola Bradwell, Lois Terry, Ida Lee Roberts, Sybil Martin, Minnie Mitchell, Hattie Southwick, Gertrude Bishop, Corlune Barker, Annie Jernigan, Irene Ezell.

Reynolds Hall.

Almost every room is neat and pretty this year. The absence of pennants makes a great improvement.

Room 7, first floor, occupied by Florence and Helen Conbair, and 12, occupied by Mary Louise Seales and Esther Haile, show taste as well as neatness. Second floor has many neat, pretty rooms, but 122, where Marie MacMillan and Lucy Wood live, and 123, the home of Emma Lee King and Margaret Pearce, are particularly attractive. Third floor is also well kept. No. 217, occupied by Kathleen Monroe and Mary D. Byrne, and 223, occupied by Mary Lou Leman and Gladys Comforter, are probably the best kept.

East Hall.

Practically every girl in East Hall has a well kept room, and not only well kept, but attractive and pretty. The girls with banner rooms, however, are: Edelma Rivero, Margaret Stue, Gladys Gardiner, Helen Richie, Benlah Pipkin, Myrtle Keen, Edna Gardner and Ruth Sisson.

TO THE EARLY RISERS.

You girls who get up early in the morning to play tennis, run around the campus and play basketball, please be considerate of the other girls who are asleep. Walk lightly and do not run down the corridors; do not talk in the halls; do not turn on the tubs till rising bell; do not sling your racks on the floor, and above all, do not slam all the doors you open.

By one whose slumbers are disturbed every morning by just such thoughtless girls.

A VISIT TO PRINCE MURAT'S HOME.

On Sunday afternoon a number of girls, with a teacher, made a pilgrimage to the interesting little house which was once the home of Prince Murat. It is a low, rambling frame house, with a porch nestling under the main roof. But for the fact that it was the abode of royalty, one would give it only a passing glance. However, as "once upon a time" a real prince and princess lived there, the house is invested with great interest to all visitors to Tallahassee. The fact that Princess Murat was, before her marriage, a member of the aristocratic Boyd family of Virginia, heightened the interest.

The afternoon proved to be one of great profit to the girls, for it recalled much more vividly to their minds the history of Napoleon and his reign.

Faculty Recital

Recital Introducing Miss Mastin and Miss Niles Captivated Audience.

The Recital presented last Thursday evening by Henrietta Spragins Mastin and Lela M. Niles, of the Faculty of the School of Music, was an artistic triumph. The program was opened by Miss Niles, who gave a scholarly performance of Saint Saens' arrangement of the Bach Gavotte in B minor, followed by the Brahms Rhapsody op. 79, No. 1. Her other groups included Compositions by Schumann, Chopin, Moszkowski and Rachmaninoff. Miss Niles' playing was distinguished by its poise, thorough musicianship and scope of tone color. The last attribute was especially evidenced in her interpretation of the G minor Prelude by Rachmaninoff and the Brahms Rhapsody.

Miss Mastin gave a group of German Lieder, an Aria from "Samson et Dalila" and closed with a number of English songs. She is gifted with a superb voice, a rich mezzo soprano, full of resonance. This, together with her charming personality and stage presence, captivated the audience at once. Her beautiful shading and nuance showed a masterly voice control. Miss Mastin interpreted well the various moods expressed by her songs—the intensity of Wagner's "Traume," the delicate lightness of Grieg's "Lied der Vag," the dynamics of Roger's "The Star" and the spirit of Lehmann's "Prince Charming."

Isabella Rausch played beautifully the violin obligato to Alhtsen's "Unto Thy Heart."

Ella Seible Opperman was the accompanist for the evening.

GERMAN CLUB.

The German Club held its regular meeting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. P. A. Claassen at eight o'clock Tuesday night. The regular program and a completion of the plans for the picnic furnished the entertainment of the evening. During the social hour Mrs. Claassen served two courses of delightful refreshments. The members of the club always find especial delight in the evenings spent at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Claassen and in enjoying their splendid German hospitality.

KEWPIE A. B. PARTY.

Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, in the Gymnasium, the A. B.'s and Kewpies gave a joint party. Dancing and swimming were much enjoyed. Delicious refreshments consisting of punch, sandwiches, cake, ice cream, and fruit, were served. Those present were the members of the A. B. and Kewpie clubs.

File your opinions in the magic tin box on the bulletin board. They are worth something.

Junior, Fresh and Sub-Fresh

Yes, they are right there! Why, you can't get ahead of the Junior-Fresh and Sub-Fresh I, because they are here to win again this Thanksgiving. For instance:

Hulet Gist. Gist is one of our forwards. It just seems that we haven't a team, without her on it. This is her third year at it in F. W. C., and she has won herself an enviable reputation. "Hulet is right there!"

Hazel Johnson. Hazel is our other forward. Her playing last year speaks for her. She was on both champion teams. We're all betting on her. Here's to Hazel, may she and Hulet hold down our championship on Thanksgiving.

Anita Allyn. Anita is new to us, but we find her excellent in centre. If you don't believe she's alright, just watch her play.

Virginia Holland. Bartow? Why, yes, we've heard of Bartow. Virginia played basket ball there for four years. She stars in running centre. With Anita and Virginia we have a couple in centre that are hard to beat.

Ella Shemons. "Slem" played position of Guard on Cathedral School Team at Orlando for three years. She has upheld her former record so far, and promises even beating it in the Thanksgiving game.

Eva Hester. Guard, did you say? She's all you could ask for in quickness, and the way she handles the ball outsmarts us all. What more could we wish for in those positions, with Ella and Eva's team work?

What for the "Subs?"

Everyone knows Frances Tippetts. She was a "sub" last year, and always shows her "get in the game" spirit for her class. Helen Fraleigh, though a new girl, is alert and quick. Anyone who sees Louise Alford play will never doubt her determination.

Now, who said that we were not in the race? Come out Thanksgiving, girls, and show your team that you are proud of them!

SENIOR DEMONSTRATION.

The Seniors held a big demonstration in chapel Saturday morning prior to the Thanksgiving game. Colors were everywhere in evidence—green, gold and black—meaning Senior, Sophomore and Sub II. All formed in line and marched in singing the team song: "Three Cheers for the Even Classes." Misses Freeman and Edwards led, carrying the banner of 16, 18 and 20. Nine Rals were given: For the Team, the Seniors, Dr. Conrad, our President, Dean Salley, our Patron, Miss Roberts, our Patroness, and the Juniors, our opponents. Enthusiasm and college spirit were in the air. Every one is looking forward with great eagerness to the game of next Thursday morning.

DRAMATIC CLUB.

"The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde, is the play which will be staged in December, under the direction of Misses Roberts and Elder. Parts have been assigned and all are eagerly working for the same results which the Expression Department usually have in any attempt. Assignment of characters and cuts of some of the characters will be given in an early edition of the Flambeau. Watch for news of this clever comedy. It will be quite worth your while!

The Last Lay Of the Minstrel

Madame Editor—You see from the title of my letter that I know there are limits even to patience such as yours. But when one has begun consulting that most ancient and most baffling of all oracles, the Ink pot, he never knows when he is answered, and will stake his last fair coin for just one more word that may mean so much or so little, according to reader.

Permit me then to sum up in one brief paragraph the main points of my recent epistles. My arguments for bigger and better literary societies provide for standardizing and apportioning membership, stabilizing finances, stressing parliamentary practice, emphasizing necessary form and decorum, granting a regular schedule hour, supervising work for credits, graduating by a vote of confidence, and for final power of the societies, through the recognition and backing of college authorities.

Now as to some of the vital considerations:

A permanent separate home for each society in the form of a hall dedicated to the inviolate use of the membership should be provided from some source. This hall, by furniture, paintings, sculptures, plaques, musical instruments, tapestry and archives, should become the centre of the traditions of each society. The hall of a literary society, owned in fee simple, as long as the order shall last and friendly occupancy continue, challenges the power of each literary group. It says into its membership: "My walls are naked; clothe them. My precincts are silent; make them with sense resound. My life is but a sleep and a forgetting; establish traditions; accumulate archives; make history by your acts; record it on your sacred tablets. In future years, when my windows are half drawn, lead in each Freshman; say naught to her; let her meditate while my silence is eloquent for me. Let my slowly garnered prestige cry aloud for me. Quietly leave. Say, significantly, 'Don't you hope your lot will fall in our midst?' Look the pride you feel in your alma mater parva."

Madam Editor, you see that I am not forgetting property. "To have and to hold." Ah! there you have the elemental woman. This exclusive home develops self-respect; it provides tangible evidence of progress; it makes room for property-sense; it brings out a wholesome literary class-consciousness.

How arrive at these things? Through a sound financial policy, subject to no guessing, and through an assured membership, subject to no social whims. By orderliness and by evolution, there will gradually be accumulated through the years to come the aforementioned finer evidences of culture and scholarship. The pursuit of perfection is the only legitimate mode of culture. The girls will have the pride and the joy of ownership. They will have constant constructive opportunity to furnish in good taste and elegance halls devoted to the Muses; halls that are to be made more and more in keeping with the worthy display of scholarly activities in academic contests of those who would rightly come into their Saxon inheritance.

I am, Madam Editor, as usual,

A LAYMAN.

The Retreat, Nov. 15, 1915.

The Education Society

The classes of Prof. N. M. Salley have all elected their members to the Steering Committee, which shall be the ministry to the Society for Scientific Students of Education. The committee is as follows:

Education I. Miss Esther Halle.
Education II. Miss Mary Lou Lemon.
Education III. Miss Minna Harris.
Education IV. Miss Adia Law.
Education V. Miss Cornelia Pules-ton.

Education VII. Miss Clare Bowen.
There will be a seventh member elected at large at the first general convocation of the society.

The ministry is responsible for having good, clean, valuable, timely programs for the general convocations of the society, and after each program has been presented, the ministry shall at each meeting move a vote of confidence on their work. If this vote of confidence fails, then the ministry is failing, and a general election is called as before.

At each meeting there shall be chosen a presiding officer who shall be the Speaker of the House of Commons at the next general convocation of the society. Only such persons shall be eligible to the speakership as shall register as students of parliamentary law.

The following shall constitute the ministry:

The Prime Minister.
The Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.
The Home Secretary.
The Secretary for the Colonies.
The Chancellor of Exchequer.
The Secretary of Posts.
The Secretary of War.

No member of the ministry shall be eligible for the speakership, as the ministry are supposed to be above the speakership.

The Head of the Department of Education shall be consulting speaker at all general convocations of the society.

The first general convocation of the society shall be devoted to general questions of programs.

WEEKLY CALENDAR.

Saturday. Fraternity meetings, 4:30 and 5:00 o'clock. Thalian Literary Society 7:15 o'clock.

Sunday. Y. W. C. A. service, 6:45 o'clock. Story-Telling Hour in Bryan Hall Lobby, 8:30 o'clock.

THANKSGIVING.

Thanksgiving, Thursday! The "game," the "dinner," Florida's November weather—almost all the good things come on Thanksgiving. Truly, it is a day to be thankful. But has the season of thanksgiving so recently come? Thanksgiving is not a day of thanksgiving at all; it is rather a day upon which we may catalogue our blessings, and our gratitude for them, during the past year; it is rather the day upon which we may renew the spirit of the "gladness of the May" and prepare to meet our coming blessings. We see brave men and women, daily, meeting the responsibilities, the tasks and cares of life with the fortitude of the Master. But who are meeting the joys of life, prosperity and contentment with the humility of the Publican, or the strength and activity of a Paul? Have we not, then, as college girls with that richest of blessings—opportunity—been selling our birthright? Thursday? No, today of all days is the day of thanksgiving; this very hour is the hour for which to be most truly thankful. And if this be treason to Thanksgiving Day—"make the most of it." As Americans our very lives should vibrate, this season, that God has spared us from the carnage of Europe. Let us be appropriately thankful for this peace, not peace restored, but peace preserved.

An editorial in the Ladies' Home Journal has suggested that Thanksgiving day be changed from Thursday to Saturday. "Our lives are more strenuous and we need all the breathing spaces in our busy lives that are possible. To change Thanksgiving day to Saturday would give thousands a week-end holiday, a rest from Friday to Monday. It would in no wise affect the day. Why shouldn't we have a week-end day when there is no specific reason why it should have been made a middle-of-the-week holiday? A petition to Congress would bring the change." We co-operate heartily with this plan. It is but another way in which we may utilize the blessing of the day. We do not dare to hope with Mrs. Wiggs to count "our many blessings, count them one by one," this Thanksgiving. But we can be thankful for the faith and courage that is within us, for the salvation of our souls in our duty toward ourselves, our fellow-man, and our God. We can be thankful that Thursday morning we may usher in another Thanksgiving year with our hearts in tune with Wordsworth's as he said:

Preserve, O Lord! Within our hearts
The memory of thy favour,
That else insensibly departs.
And loses its sweet savour!
Lodge it within us!—as the power of light

Gives inexhaustibly in precious gems
Fixed on the front of Eastern diadems,
So shine our thankfulness forever
Bright!
What offering, what transcendent moment
Shall our sincerity to Thee present?
Not work of hands; but trophies that may reach
To highest Heaven—the labour of the soul
That builds as thy unerring precepts teach,
Upon the eternal conquests made by each,
Her hope of lasting glory for the whole.

CLUBS, CLUBS, CLUBS, CLUBS!

No one can question the value of the various departmental clubs already organized, nor the good intentions of the various professors who freely give of their time and effort to these enterprises. These clubs give opportunities for presenting to advantage certain phases of interest which are not usually given consideration in class. Then the social possibilities may be of some importance.

However, before we go very much further in this making of Clubs, may we not with profit look the whole question full in the face and estimate its probable outcome? Thus far about half of the departments have organized clubs in the interest of their own work. Those not yet organized may do so at any moment, according to the wish of the instructors.

Suppose a student at present takes the following common combination: German, Latin, Home Economics, Education, Expression, English. She is hard and fast in at least five clubs. She can vary a little and get caught in several others. How does it work out? She may have to meet with these clubs five times a month. If they meet weekly, she may have anywhere from five evenings minimum up to ten or fifteen a month given over to these extra class activities of her departments. If she is assigned to duty on the programs, and somebody must be, away go hours and hours which she can hardly spare, and for which she has no credit on her course of study.

The student's classification card allows a maximum of eighteen hours. Certain departments are assigned three hours a week. By means of these organizations one or more hours are taken up without any accounting. The unmorgized departments will be forced to organize in order to keep fast hold on their due proportion of the students' time.

Now, students ought to have some time for student enterprises and activities outside of class-room demands. Then, too, they ought to have a little time of their very own. How can this time be safeguarded?

Could not the departments limit their demands to the hours allotted by the schedule? If these interests conserved by these clubs are important, can they not be promoted at certain of the hours already occupied, in place of something new given?

Is there some better way?

IN VOGUE.

About the first thing to strike a visitor at the College these days would be the remarkable industry of the students. Indeed, on the whole campus it is difficult to find a single pair of idle hands. Everywhere—in the dormitories, class-rooms, and even in the chapel, we find the girls busily engaged in that fascinating occupation known as "tut-tut-tut." Although the writer knows little of this work, which seems to consist mainly in ninking long strings of little circles of pink, blue, or white thread, nevertheless, we cannot doubt but that it is both beautiful and useful.

It grieves us to learn that a few backward students have not yet taken up this delightful employment, but we expect that we shall very soon see a titling shuttle in every hand.

YOUR OWN—WILL YOU MASTER IT?

Every American, as well as every Englishman, loves the English language. It is his own. It is his legacy from his ancestors. Nor has he failed to study and improve this legacy until it has grown in efficiency and beauty. The American colleges and the American schools in general have both a popular and a fairly sincere appreciation of the mother-tongue; so that almost all of them have broadened the scope of their English departments. It is commendable in the State College for Women that it has kept pace with other good colleges in this particular; that it has broadened and strengthened its English department, until almost every one of the four hundred matriculates is pursuing some course in English.

For seven years two teachers handled all the class-work in this subject; for the two years following a reader of themes was added to this force, and at the present time three teachers are devoting their entire time, and a fourth teacher is devoting at least one-third of her time to the same subject. This splendid growth is, of course, largely the result of the great growth of the college; but, nevertheless, it bears its inspiration to the entire student body as well as to the instructors of the subject.

Surely, so great an interest is a source of pride to every girl. But no girl can fall to see the added responsibility of working and living up to her ideals in the English-speaking world. Great numbers of students, numbers of teachers, variety of courses and hours of study are of little avail unless one's every-day speech and use of the mother-tongue bear testimony of all these assets. Purity of speech, both oral and written, constitutes the warp and woof of English. There are four avenues here, by means of which students may express themselves: the class-room, the society, the Flambeau, and the social life. Is it worth while for a girl to apply her knowledge of the vernacular in all of these ways? Speech, next to thought, is the highest attribute of men. It is one of the great endowments from God to lift man above the lower creatures. Will you improve it? Does your appreciation of your own heritage go far enough to make you master, in practice as well as in theory, the great power and beauty of the English language?

COMING! SENIOR CARNIVAL!

Monday, December 6th.

At a meeting of the presidents of all classes in the college on Tuesday morning the date was fixed for the annual carnival. A great deal of interest and a strong co-operative spirit was manifest throughout the meeting. It is now a sure thing, so we can safely save our dimes and quarters, with a guarantee that the opportunity for spending them will be forthcoming.

It is rumored that Al. G. Fields' minstrels will come down for the occasion, to say nothing of New York's most attractive delicatessans with their French cafe. One great, grand, glorious evening. Give your heartiest support to the Seniors and it will be one of the many "howling successes" produced by F. S. C. girls.

The college mothers were at home to a number of the girls in Bryan Hall Wednesday afternoon. Delicious tea and sandwiches were served and the afternoon was spent in pleasant conversation.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Miss Birdie Coffrin, a graduate of June, 1914, is teaching Domestic Science and Algebra in the schools of Homestead, Fla. She writes enthusiastically of her work. I wonder whom the P. O.'s will have to take Birdie's place on the baseball team.

Miss Gracia Saunders, a graduate in kindergarten in 1909, is teaching in the city schools of Prescott, Arizona. Miss Saunders was born in the West and though she loved Florida and did successful work in this State in the schools of Palm Beach and Jacksonville, she is happy to be in the Rocky mountains once more. The reports from her superintendent show that she is doing splendid work there.

Miss Josephine Drame, a graduate of 1914, is teaching home economics in the Cathedral School of Orlando. Last year Miss Drame did post-graduate work in Domestic Science and Art at the College, and during the past summer taught Domestic Art in the Summer School of the South at Knoxville, Tenn. Her record shows that she makes a great success of her work wherever she is located.

One of the girls of the class of last June, Miss Maudie Godbey, is engaged in Horticulture with her father at Waldo. She specialized in the natural sciences while in college, and was a bright pupil in Horticulture. She now has abundant opportunity to use her knowledge.

Miss Elizabeth Corbett, one of the vice-presidents of the Alumnae last year, made the trip to San Francisco last August. She represented Kappa Delta Sorority in National Pan-Hellenic, and reported a grand time at the convention and in seeing the West.

Miss Hallie Denton, whose marriage in the summer to Mr. John Choate of Tallahassee, brings her to this city to live, was one of the guests of honor at a reception given by Mrs. Kellum early in October.

Miss Elise Partridge is teaching in the Primary department of the Monticello schools. Miss Partridge has been urged by school boards several times to teach, but not until the right opening in Primary work came has she been inclined to do so. She is highly pleased with the work and is succeeding admirably.

Miss Beth Walton of Pensacola, has the honor of holding the Alumnae scholarship for this year, and she gives promise of splendid work.

Miss Elma Ireland, '15, is teaching Home Economics and German in the High School at her home town, Fort Myers.

Miss Winnie Warren, '15, is teaching Home Economics at the High School in DeFuniak Springs. She does this work two days in the week and the Home Demonstration Work in Walton County the rest of each week.

Miss Alma Parlin, '13, and Miss Marl Wilkinson, '14, are engaged in similar work in Washington and Palm Beach counties respectively.

Miss Lanny Landrum, '11, and Miss Eloise McGriff, '11, are Home Demonstration Agents in Escambia and Manatee counties.

Miss Myra McIlvaine, '15, is in charge of the Domestic Science and Art Department in one of Tampa's new Junior high schools.

CAMPUS NOTES.

Misses Sarah and Helen Frutlich spent the week-end at their home in Madison.

Miss Bess Milton spent several days of last week at her home in Marianna.

Mr. Steve Yates was the guest of Miss Lucille Freeman at supper Sunday evening.

Miss Grace Julian spent the week-end at her home in Lake City.

Miss Julia Gilbert was the guest for the week-end of her parents near Monticello.

Miss Emma Peacock was the guest of Miss Madge Conrsey, of Jacksonville, for several days last week.

Misses Sara Burwell and Ella Reynolds have returned to take up their work in the College. Their many friends are delighted to see them again.

Miss Juanita Branch spent the week-end in Madison as the guest of Mrs. Livingston.

Dr. Witherspoon, of Kissimmee, was a pleasant visitor at the College last week.

Miss Margaret Cathcart returned on Friday from a delightful visit to the Exposition at San Francisco.

Mrs. Cawthorne spent several days of last week at her home in DeFuniak Springs.

Miss Ollie Henderson was the guest of her parents at Monticello for the week-end.

Miss Sarah Wood spent several days as the guest of Miss Inez Jones, in Lake City.

Dr. McKinnon, of Orlando, was a pleasant visit here last week.

Misses Alice Corry and Katherine Ball spent several days at their home in Quincy.

A number of the seniors attended the performance of "A Fool There Was" at the theatre Monday evening.

Misses Gladys and Theo Wallis were the dinner guests Sunday evening of their uncle, Mr. Acosta, of Bahbridge.

Miss Muriel Anderson spent the week-end at her home in Lake City.

Miss Alice Shepard spent several days in Mount Pleasant.

ART EXHIBIT.

The director of the art department received a request last week from the Federation of Women's Clubs of Florida to place an exhibit before their convention at Deland. This exhibit was not to be so much a display of imposing pictures as a representation of the lines of work that are carried on in the training school of the present day.

Notwithstanding the difficulty of getting hold of specimens so early in the school year, Miss Abernethy responded to the request by sending a most attractive and representative exhibit from the department. It consisted of sketches from nature, still life, flowers, etc., in oil, water colors and charcoal. Besides, there were posters, specimens of book making, and beautiful designs of interior decoration for homes. The last were indeed artistic in both the designing and color schemes. There were small pieces of furniture, footstools, trays, etc., showing some of the latest ways and means of applying art in making articles for home use. Of no small value were the examples of design for wall paper and stenciling for curtains.

All of this collection was carefully marked, thereby explaining for itself the practical and beautiful work that is carried on in the art department of the college. To say that correctness and accuracy of drawing is the foundation for the whole, means that students here master, first of all, the principles of form, then the best ways of presenting these forms in composition, design and color.

The Federation of Women's Clubs is making an effort to raise the appreciation of drawing and art in the State of Florida, and the College for Women most cheerfully co-operates with the members in trying to place an exhibit before the convention.

Misses Ella Remy Jordan and Dorothy Reed entertained a large number of their friends at a feast 9:45 o'clock Monday night. The guests in kinous and boudoir cups grouped around, on the floor, beds and window seats, Bohemian fashion, and received dainty trays of salad, sabbies and olives. All had a "wonderful" time 'til the lights blinked at ten.

THE TATTING BRIGADE.

(By a Member of the 300.)

Half a stitch, Half a stitch,
Half a stitch onward,
Down in the Chapel Hall
Tat the Three Hundred.
"Hurry, you tatting brigade,
Make another ring," they said,
Tat the Three Hundred,
Down in the Chapel Hall

"Hurry, the Tatting brigade!"
Was there a girl dismayed?
Not tho' the girls knew
Her thread had blunder'd.
Hers not to make reply,
Hers not to reason why,
Hers but to tat or die,
Down in the Chapel Hall
Tat the Three Hundred.

Shuttles to the right of them,
Shuttles to the left of them,
Shuttles in front of them,
The line ne'er is smundered.
Tatting with pink and blue,
Some using white thread, too,
Tatting they're bound to do,
Tireless Three Hundred.

Flashed all their shuttles bare,
Flashed as they turned in air,
Seniors are tatting there,
Making another ring, while
All the school wondered.
Plunged in with valiant stroke,
Pop! there a thread is broke,
Seniors and Juniors
(Heard not the man who spoke)
Tatted, some blunder'd,
Then they took it out, but not,
Not the Three Hundred.

Tatting to the right of them,
Tatting to the left of them,
Tatting in front of them,
Some one has wondered,
"Were all the lessons said,
Was all the parallel read?"
Tatting they do instead
HISY! Three Hundred.

THE SELF-IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.

Recently an interesting movement on the part of students below college rank has resulted in the formation of a literary society for purposes of self-culture and social culture. This movement is of especial interest because it began with the students themselves. They were moved to action because of a felt need. The name adopted is as above.

The purpose of this society is to have constant practice in debate, declamation, story-telling and in both oral and written essays.

The organization of the society is to be simplicity itself in government, law, and control. Plans are afoot to study the constitutions of other high school literary clubs to get as many good features as possible to be embodied in its own constitution. This constitution is to be flexible, and is ready to be constantly changed and readjusted to suit the growing needs of the order.

The members of this association intend to be centripetal and centrifugal in their conduct of the club. Centripetal in the sense of getting together as many good ideas as possible for the club itself, and for each member of the club; centrifugal in the sense of desiring to distribute new information to its members and to other high school clubs when this club has made any sociological discovery by the process of trial and error or by the process of trial and success.

Any student below college rank may become a member of this society if she agrees to take the work seriously and with a right good will.

A roster of the members will be published in the near future when the organization is complete.

Watch this club. It will do things for the common good. —X. Y. Z.

An interesting student body meeting was held Thursday morning in the open hour after chapel. Mary Louise Seales made a short talk on "Honesty Is the Best Policy," and Alice Corry gave the students some advice about the use and abuse of privileges.

PHILOSOPHIC CLUB.

The Philosophic Club of the Faculty met Thursday evening at the home of Dr. Conradt. Professor Gurnaud read a paper on "The Reform Movement in Teaching Modern Languages," which was followed by a general discussion.

College Avenue To Be Paved

City Fathers Have Taken Action.

Attention, girls, to what the city fathers have in store for you! At a recent meeting the city council of Tallahassee passed a resolution asking the city attorney to draw up an ordinance calling for a bond election. The council wishes to secure funds, amounting to $4,000, by means of which College avenue can be paved. The plan of the council is to pave this avenue with a form of asphalt which has been widely used for residence streets. Peachtree street, in Atlanta, beyond the business section, is paved with this material. This kind of paving will cost probably but half of what brick would cost, and, moreover, will make a much neater and a quieter street.

Ought we not, as students of the Florida State College for Women, feel justly grateful to the council for the action it has taken? The State has striven earnestly to give us an attractive campus, to make our college surroundings beautiful. Even now, materials are ordered and plans drawn up for the erection of brick gates at the beginning of the driveway in front of the Administration building. These will form a very dignified entrance to the campus. What, then, could be more fitting than that the citizens of Tallahassee should cooperate with the State in providing an impressive approach to the college? Nothing adds more to the appearance of a city than well-paved, well-kept streets. How much, then, the paving of College avenue, one of the most frequented streets in Tallahassee, will add to the appearance of the city. There is another side to the matter. Every visitor to the capital of Florida travels over College avenue at least once during his stay here. Will not his impressions of the beauty of our college be greatly enhanced by the splendid approach to the campus? And good impressions make for the growth of every city and of every college.

The student body wishes to express through these columns their appreciation of the city council's action—an action which will add much to the attractiveness of the city and which will lend dignity to the college entrance.

Junior Fresh-Sub-Fresh I Vs. Senior Soph-Sub-Fresh II

Odd Team Hold Even By Great Team Work

Final Score 12 to 3, Victory Clean and Decisive

Say, that wasn't a game of basketball, Thursday, was it? It was just that great, big fight both teams have been preparing for the last six weeks. At nine-thirty the great line of the red, purple and white and the snake-line of green, black and gold, met from opposite sides of the campus, and to the Sheesley band's tune of "Dixie" took their teams on the field. Lusty cheers and songs started the biggest game of the season. The large crowd stood breathless at the wonderful team-work of the odd classes. The even numbers put up a good fight, but could not get over the swift passing of the odd numbers' guards. Hester and Slemmons never let the ball cross their box to the basket. Their alertness, and team-work together, outclasses everything that has been attempted in basket ball on the campus. Hester and Hooker, of the even team, kept their forwards covered. When it comes to guarding, they put up a quick, efficient fight. Lathbridge and Holland are to be commended on their brisk, keen work as side centre. Both teams put up a clean, brisk game. After the game the even team gave fifteen ralls for the victors. A big parade and demonstration followed over the campus and through the city. The enthusiasm and spirit of good sportsmanship has made the game one of the greatest in the history of Old Florida! Here's to the Odd Team! For their clean, strong fight and their well-earned victory!

BRYAN HALL NOTES.

Interest in the housekeeping continues to increase. Pennants are coming down and are being replaced by pictures, which show taste both in selection and in hanging.

Suites Nos. 6, 9 and 11 are leading for honors on the first floor; Nos. 102 and 104 on second floor, and Nos. 201, 209, 211 and 212 on third floor. Many suites show marked improvement, and in another month, at the present rate, will place themselves in the gold-star brigade. Among these are Nos. 3 and 8, all of the second floor suites, and Nos. 202, 205 and 207. In fact, it seems that Bryan Hall will soon be ALL-STAR.

Finger Nails Show Health.

Our finger nails are made of a horny material that is in some ways like the material that makes our skin. But it is more like the material that makes our hair. It is after all different from either of these and is more like horn than any other part of our bodies. The special cells at the base of the nails form the material for our nails and therefore the health of our finger nails depends on these cells. If you are not in good health or if you do not take good care of your skin your finger nails will show that they are not healthy. If your blood is out of order the cells that make the finger nails will not do their work properly and then little white spots will appear on the nails. So you see those little white spots are a sign of bad health.—Kansas City Star.

Could Lift a Ton and a Half.

A Scotchman, said to be the last of the Stuarts, was possessed with an extraordinary strength, from which circumstance he got the byname of Jemmy Strength. Among other feats, he could carry a twenty-four pounder cannon and had been known to lift a cart-load of hay weighing a ton and a half upon his back. Many a time he took up a jackass and, carrying it on his shoulders, walked through the tolgate.

Handicapped.

"A rich woman misses much in life."

"As to how?"

"She can't run out to the back fence when she gets hold of a choice bit of gossip. She has to get up a tea or reception, and by that time the news is stale."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Junior-Senior Pageant

Odd and Even Teams Give Great Demonstration.

"Oh! Who's going to win? Oh! Who's going to win?" Singing these words and marching to lively music, the long file of Juniors, Freshmen and Sub-Fresh I's entered chapel on Wednesday morning. The ranks of the even classes answered by whistling the march, keeping time and cheering their opponents. The occasion of this unusual outburst of enthusiasm was the Thanksgiving Basketball Game—the big game of the season.

The Odd Classes formed their procession at one of the side entrances to the chapel, and as the music began they marched down the right side, up one center and down the other, and up the left side, forming the letter W. After this figure had been completed the marching continued around the front and down one of the middle aisles to their seats. The march was ended by nine lusty ralls for the Juniors, Freshmen and Sub-Fresh I, and in turn, nine for the party of the opposition.

The Even Classes responded with fifteen ralls for their opponents, fifteen for "16, 18, 20," and fifteen for Conrad.

After the chapel service the college song was sung with that spirit which seems to get into the student body never so much as just before the "big game." The response to this was cheering from the Odd Classes. Nine ralls for Dodd.

After a short Student Body meeting the procession resumed its course, marching out through the rear of the auditorium, down the main corridors of the Administration building and on out of doors.

On the campus the lines of the red, white and purple performed an unusually pretty ceremony. They marched up and down the walks and formed themselves at length into a great spiral at the front of Bryan Hall.

In the meantime the Seniors, Sophomores and Sub-Fresh II's—those who fight under the standard of green, black and gold—having finished a very important meeting, formed a procession and marched out at the front of the auditorium, through the music department, performing a snake dance on the campus.

At this juncture the dinner bell rang, the spiral of the Odd Classes unwound itself and marched to dinner. Then they formed a double line at each door and there waved their colors and cheered as the ranks of "16, 18, 20" entered the dining room. Inside, the snake dance of the Even Classes was resumed. It ended at length with three cheers for their patroness, Miss Roberts, and for Mrs. Yonge, who is an ardent supporter of the colors.

The most pronounced feature of this bit of pageantry was the unusually fine spirit displayed by both sides. Each was delightfully enthusiastic for its own cause, but it was a spirit of friendly rivalry rather than of the class enmity which too often becomes a part of contests.

On account of the unusual amount of enthusiasm and of fine class spirit manifested by the student body as a whole, this Thanksgiving has been voted the best ever.

ON TO VICTORY.

True sportsmanship and college spirit, good-fellowship and fair play have been the motto in evidence, of the week. Girls! Girls! We are proud of you! Never has Ole Florida been so wrapped in wild enthusiasm and never has her true sportsmanship been so true. The championship game of the season has emphasized a growth in the two strongest factors in the wholeness of our college life, namely: fair play and college spirit. For weeks, intense enthusiasm has been brooding. In the past few days night choruses, secret meetings, daily alarms and demonstrations, banners and colors on every pillar and turret have intensified the excitement. And with it, good fellowship, fair play have dominated. The victors took their honors like champions, and the losers took their defeat like victors. It takes most splendid generosity to brave defeat, to prepare for a new conquest in the face of it. Our teams are doing this.

Surely, we are approximating Ole Florida's ideals. This great enthusiasm, this great spirit, which has dominated our activities, this Thanksgiving, is but an evidence of the training, the development, the type of young women that our Alma Mater is giving to her State, young women who possess one of the deep outgoing principles of life, activity, activity which will take its course through the channels of civic leadership and domestic sufficiency.

"Randolph-Macon, Ward-Belmont and Sophie Newcomb, the three leading colleges for women in the South, open this year with the largest enrollments in their history."—Orange and Blue.

Do you notice the omission of the Florida State College for Women? It strikes as just a bit odd, when we have been told so often by chapel speakers and others—correctly, we believe—that we rank with the best women's college of the South. But we are sure that the failure to include us was not an intentional slight on the part of the Orange and Blue. It must, therefore, have been due to lack of information.

If that is so, if we have a college up here to be proud of, it is up to us to make it known. Let us spread all over the country what a big progressive institution we have down here, what a splendid faculty and student body, what a high rating.

WOMAN'S PLACE IN SOCIETY.

"There are two bores in society, the man who knows too much and the man who knows too little."—Punch.

Note—The aforesaid query is not a question of Woman's Rights.

SPARKS FROM HIGH POWER CURRENTS.

Query: Resolved, That the heads of departments at all colleges should publish in college catalogues the amount of reference parallel work required with each of their courses, in order that students may make their calling and election sure.

Query: Resolved, That 3 to 5 p. m. should be kept by students and teachers as an unassigned reading hour by students and teachers, sacred to general, periodical, and leisure reading.

Query: Resolved, That each student be furnished with a weekly blank schedule, accounting by measured space for each of the twenty-four hours of the seven days of the week; that on said schedule a student make out an exactly planned chromatic chart, showing different colors for different studies and activities, of all her work for the seven days of the week, vacant leisure hours showing up in white, to be enabled to see exactly her greatest leisure time, exactly where she needs to prepare several days ahead, thereby being empowered to proportion the week's work evenly and foresightedly, and go to bed each night with the sweet consciousness of the ready conquest of tomorrow's tasks; thus living evermore in the pleasure economy of "one day ahead with my work" and nevermore in the pain economy of "tomorrow I shall get ready for my work between times;" the former modes being providential, far-sighted, joyful; the latter mode being a retrospect of regret and a prospect of anxiety.

(With apologies to DeQuincy, by the author.)

THE LIBRARY.

The library, from all appearances, is one of the busiest departments of the college. At all hours we find it full of girls, industriously working away, their heads bent over some book or magazine. Curiosity to see just what they are doing takes possession of us; and so, strolling around, we glance casually over their shoulders. Here one is frantically doing some history reference at the last minute, another laboriously taking notes on parallel. At the next table one is translating a Latin lesson, one reading Ladies' Home Journal, one Life. Several are stirring up the newspapers.

All this is, of course, good and necessary, but we feel that the students who use the library simply for a study of required reading or for a study hall are missing one of the most important and vital parts of their education—that is, to make friends with all the good books and periodicals possible.

The shelves are lined with books, patiently inviting our attention, ready to give us everything in return for a little interest. What wonderful half-hours one can spend just exploring the book shelves, taking an odd volume here and there! What fascinating discoveries! Who would have guessed, for instance, that "The History of English Romanticism in the XIX Century" was so full of delightful humor? Or that—but it is not fair to tell; we must leave it to you to find for yourselves.

And the magazine shelf! What a host of friends await you there! Some are read, as we know, until the covers fall off, but it is the neglected ones which go up the shelf as unread, looking as when they came on, that attract us most. If only you would once open the Scientific Monthly—you would scarcely put it down until you had read at least one of the splendid articles. How many have read those charming little articles in the English Journal?

Important, also, are those magazines which connect us with the outside world. Here we are shut off from big, active affairs, living a life very different from most of the world's. Through the Review of Reviews, the Outlook, the World's Work, however, we can keep in touch with, and keep ourselves informed of what is going on.

RESULTS OF WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

In Southern California the extension of the ballot to women has expressed itself in the following ways: "It has resulted in the enactment of laws concerning health, morals, child welfare, and female civil rights for which the women, while unfranchised, had for years pleaded in vain.

"It has not resulted in a scramble for office on the part of women; on the contrary, the women, as a class, recognizing their lack of political training, have so far deliberately refrained from seeking office.

"It has not resulted in corrupting the women; it has resulted in bettering the men, precisely as men are always uplifted and strengthened in any field of endeavor in which women are permitted to share with them their labors and problems.

"It has not resulted in breaking up the home; it has strengthened the home ties by reason of a broader mutuality of interests.

"It has not caused the women to neglect their duties; both as citizens and as mothers it has enabled them to meet their responsibilities with greater intelligence and efficiency."—Exchange.

Chains on All Four Wheels.

When one places chains on the rear wheels of an automobile only, as is so often done, he overlooks the fact that it is the forward pair of wheels that give the car its direction and that it is if anything more important to insure these against skidding than the rear wheels. The only way to be safe is to put chains on all four wheels in slippery weather. The slight trouble involved is in no way commensurate to the danger which is always present where skidding is a possibility. A driver who is too lazy and shiftless to take this simple precaution should be deprived of his license.—Outing.

JOKES TO LET.

(But, mind you, we are not running a joke-smith shop.)

Scene: A certain professor's classroom. The air tense with excitement over the discussion of the influence of training on inheritance, the class having gotten to the point of view "that you can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear," the professor having made the point that you can't make a genius out of common clay.

Professor: For instance, young ladies, you cannot make a blonde out of a brunette.

Class, in quick chorus: Oh, yes, you can, professor.

Professor: Well, young ladies, you certainly have one on me.

(The solution of this joke is said to be hydrogen peroxide. It may be bought at any drug store.)

Emma—Well, you see the relation between heredity and environment is—

Ada—Now, don't you spring any of your zoology on me.

Esther (hearing a bell tolling): "I guess that's for a funeral. They toll faster for a wedding."

Harriet: "Sure they do; that's two souls lost instead of one."

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

The chapel service on last Saturday morning was planned by the Y. W. C. A. The Y. W. C. A. cabinet and choir, composed of the Juniors, occupied the rostrum. Mary Louise Scales conducted the service. The scripture lesson was Genesis xlii:1-5. Miss Scales spoke of the first Thanksgiving day and of the many things for which we should be thankful. She told also of the purpose of the week of prayer and of the splendid work which the association is doing in almost every country of the globe. A delightful feature of the service was the solo by Miss Mastin.

The Y. W. C. A. service Wednesday evening was conducted by Marie McMillan. Her subject was "Laying the Game." Her talk was brief and to the point. She showed how the terms of basketball apply to our game of life. In this game, as in all others, we must "face our goal." The game of life is to be played, not for the glory of the individual player, but for the welfare of the whole "team." Miss McMillan closed her talk by saying that, above all things, we should strengthen our team work and play fair.

BADGES FOR OUR FIRE OFFICERS

The Fire Captains held a very interesting meeting in the Den of Bryan Hall, Nov. 23.

Mrs. Cawthon talked to the girls on various things concerning fire drills, which were necessary for us to practice in order to bring our drills up to the best standard.

A small package was produced and proved to be a regular surprise box; for it contained badges for our fire chief, fire captains and their lieutenants.

The badge of the chief is a silver button with an emblem of fire bugles, the captains buttons have three bugles, while the lieutenants' buttons have two bugles.

These badges were procured by Mr. Lewis Lively while in Atlanta, from the Chief of the Fire Department of that city. So you see, girls, they are buttons like REAL firemen wear.

Mr. Lively had heard all about our department in the Florida State College for Women, and has shown his usual interest in all things pertaining to the College by securing these pretty buttons for us.

The buttons will be pinned on the respective officers at an early date, with an appropriate ceremony.

Here's to our good friend, Mr. Lively!

NELLIE COOPER, Fire Chief.

CHI OMEGAS ENTERTAINED.

Saturday evening at 7:30 a group of pledges conducted a group of nuptial ex-pledges out the winding road back of the College. After an enchanting walk in the moonlight, the guests were brought back to a roaring fire, a huge box of marshmallows, an immense pile of sandwiches and an enormous box of fruit—all of which, together with songs and stories, made up a never-to-be-forgotten evening. Those present were: May McCormack, Priscilla Major, Jeannette Hopson, Virginia Holland, Grace Lothridge, Sara Burwell, Mary Evans, Helen and Florence Coulbaur, Kathryn Ball, Margaret Willard, Florence Banger, Carolyn Day, Katherine Bitzer, Frances Lothridge, Isabel King, Mary Groover, Sara Fraleigh, Cecil Jenkins, Mary and Helen Floyd, Dorothy Manchester, Ruth Sisson, Lilla Patterson, Bessie Fulton, Oakley St. John, Miss Longmire.

ALPHA DELTA PI'S ENTERTAINED

The Pledges of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority entertained the Chapter members and guests in Suite 212 8 o'clock Saturday night. The study was transformed into a cozy Bohemia of pillowed couches, violets and rollicking girls in vari-colored kimono and caps. All sat around Turkish fashion for the feast, which consisted of fruit salad, saltines, date and nut sandwiches, olives, hot chocolate, fruit and nut gelatine with whipped cream, and cake.

ALUMNAE BULLETIN.

Good news from different members of the alumnae comes to the college from time to time. Recently a message came from Mrs. H. Lester Smith, formerly Johnnie Rutland, of the class of 1908. Johnnie taught in the high school of Tampa for several years and studied in Columbia University in the summer sessions. She secured her master's degree in 1914 and was married to Dr. Smith a year later. Dr. Smith was recently appointed superintendent of the city schools of Minneapolis.

Inga Helseth is principal of the high school at Fort Pierce, Fla. She has fourteen teachers under her direction and an enrollment of four hundred pupils. Emma Hulseth has charge of the primary department, and together the "Hulseth Sisters" are accomplishing a great work in the public schools. Inga was a graduate of 1913 and Emma of 1914. Both of them made most excellent records in the College for Women.

Felicia Williams has charge of the English department in the high school at Arcadia, Fla., and is making a splendid success of her work. Felicia is remembered as one of our finest students. She graduated in 1914 and has been teaching at Arcadia since that time.

Hallie Granberry has charge of the music department in Columbia College at Lake City. During her years of study in the college she was one of the leading students in music.

Alice Corbett, a graduate of 1907, was married last week to Dr. Cordes, of Jacksonville. She studied music for some time after graduating here, and for several years was organist of the Church of the Good Shepherd in Riverside. The alumnae send congratulations.

Genevieve Crawford is making a great success of the county agency for girls' clubs in Dade county.

Lola Sinder is again teaching home economics in the city schools of Tampa. Lola's record is an enviable one, for excellent reports of her work come to the alumnae.

Mattie Hancock, an L. I. graduate of 1908, is principal of the high school at Archer, Fla., and writes enthusiastically about her work. Mattie always was a great worker and her success shows she still keeps up her great energy.

Naomi Grothaus is succeeding finely in teaching home economics and German in the Daytona high school. She will visit the college the last of December, during the Florida Educational Association.

Beautiful Blue Lake.

Perhaps the most striking instance to be seen in the whole world of the wonderful apparent coloring of bodies of water is the marvelously beautiful Blue lake in Switzerland. Encompassed on all sides by lofty mountains, their lower ranges luxuriantly clothed with verdure down to the edge of the water and adorned with many fine forest trees, while their higher acclivities are garbed in a mantle of eternal snow, the little lake, nestling in its deep hollow basin, is quite startling in its singular and strange beauty. The water, although really pure and colorless, appears to be of a most intense sky blue. And its transparency is so remarkable that a small coin dropped into the water in the center of the lake can be seen until it reaches the bottom, apparently more than a hundred feet beneath.

Senior Carnival of 1915

Monday Evening, December 6th, at 8 O'Clock—Bryan Hall Lobby.

Don't forget the time, the place and the great big attractions which will welcome your presence.

Classes participating and their exhibits are as follows:

Senior Normal Class.

Minstrel Show.

Black face comedy, singing, dancing, joking.

Junior College.

Old Maids Re-Made.

To see it is to love it.

Sophomore College.

The Follies of 1915.

A show of spectacular beauty.

Freshman College.

A Big Surprise.

Don't fail to see it.

Sub-Fresh II.

French Cafe.

Attractive menu, pretty waitresses, Parisian talent. Who could miss this chance to see, taste and hear the real thing?

Sub-Fresh I.

Cold Drinks.

"Nuff Said."

Second Year Elementary.

Fortune-Telling Booths.

Past, present, future, name and address, all given.

Junior Normals are undecided yet as to what they shall give, but 'twill be a classy show, we are quite sure.

Student Body Meeting on Saturday.

Queen of the Carnival.

Saturday morning the student body voted on nominees for Queen of the 1915 Carnival. Much interest and excitement prevailed and many speculations are being made as to which Senior was paid the honor.

The Queen will choose her maid and four ladies in waiting. They in turn will choose the Lords in attendance.

The prime minister, pages and court fool will constitute the rest of the court.

The entrance of the court and crowning of the Queen will take place at 9:15, during which time all shows will close.

Never before have such elaborate plans been made for a carnival. Not only the Seniors, but every class and each girl in school are working for a big success, and we can safely guarantee that we'll have it. All the old faces are with us again, to say nothing of the many new ones, making one grand combination of talent, brains, genius, cleverness and beauty.

The money goes for the big gate, so be loyal, girls, and take in the shows!

To our friends in the city: You know who you are and you know we want you. Gentlemen who have no lady friend to bring with them, we beg to say that the lady on the silver dollar will be a welcome visitor and we hope permanent guest at the SENIOR CARNIVAL.

Monday Evening, December 6th, at 8 O'Clock.

MR. A. P. SPENCER VISITS COLLEGE.

Mr. A. P. Spencer, of the University of Florida Extension Division, spent Wednesday in Tallahassee. He came from Gainesville to lecture to the canning club girls on poultry. Mr. Spencer wrote a bulletin last year entitled "Poultry Raising in Florida."

After listening to the lecture of Wednesday afternoon the girls became most enthusiastic and organized an All-Star Poultry Club.

Thanksgiving Dinner

Annual Turkey Feast Culmination of the Day's Gladness.

Never in the history of F. W. C. has there been more rejoicing at the festive board, never has our dining hall been so resplendent with decorations, feasting and good cheer as at our Thanksgiving dinner Thursday. At 2 o'clock the voice of the faithful ole bell called the prospective feasters from the campus. All rejoined to the hall, a bower of green, black and gold within, decorated with red, white and purple without, colors of the rival classes of the morning's game. There victor and vanquished met again in college spirit. The thirty-nine tables groaned with the bounty of autumn, bright flowers, a mountain of fruit and glistening covers. As a prelude to the prevailing good cheer, the defeated even team gracefully handed the palm to the old team, champions of the annual game. Between courses, the feasters drank to the toasts. Mrs. Yenze, our hostess of such affairs, to whose grace and charm as a hostess is due the success of the dinner, acted as toastmistress. Dr. Conrad toasted, and our glasses clinked to our "Royal Sportsmanship." Miss Elder toasted to those who made the day, and the dinner, one of gladness. Many other toasts were called for. Mizpah Otto responded with a toast from the Senior class to their farewell Thanksgiving at college. Toasts from the Odd and Even classes followed. Florence Conibear, cheer leader of the Odd classes, arose and led the siren yell for "college." At the last course came the call for the college song. All arose, and lusty voices raised in the dear ole song that shall reverberate in our hearts long after the cheers of this great Thanksgiving day has ceased.

After dinner all repaired to the recreation hall for the Thanksgiving dance.

Contest For the Bell of the School

Three Attractive Prizes Offered.

The Flambeau has inaugurated a contest for the purpose of naming the college bell. Three big prizes will be awarded to the three best suggestions. This contest is open to all students and we hope that all will participate.

Conditions.

1. Each contestant may submit as many as three names.

2. These names must be plainly written on good paper and bear the signature of the contestant.

3. All names must be in on or before December 14.

4. All names must be filed in the Flambeau office.

Winners will be announced in the issue of December 18. Prizes will be awarded December 21.

The Flambeau was moved to start this contest by a serious and careful consideration of long, faithful, but unrequited services of an old college bell. For many years it has awakened us each morning, called us to breakfast, dinner and supper with its hearty, if unmelodious, tones. Where electric gongs have failed, it has remained true to its duty. Yet we have never recognized its services by so much as identifying it with a name. The rising bell, the dinner bell, Bah! Randolph Macon has its Conway, Vassar its Disturber, Cornell its Hortense, F. W. C. its—?

See our next issue for details concerning prizes and judges.

FORMER STUDENT MEETS WITH FATAL ACCIDENT.

A pall was thrown over the entire college Friday morning, when the news came of the sudden death of Edith Hildreth, one of our former students, who was killed instantly in an auto wreck near Americus, Ga., at noon Thursday. The accident resulted from a tire bursting while the heavy car was at a point near Boyle, on the Americus-Columbus Highway, causing it to skid and overturn upon the occupants.

The catastrophe has cast a gloom over both faculty and student body, for Edith will ever be remembered as one of our most charming girls. She attended college here in 1913-14. Her natural aptitude in scholarship, with her unusual personality, won the hearts of her teachers. And her personal magnetism and grace, her beauty of face and manner, made her a general favorite among her college mates. None knew her but to love her. Faculty and college friends wish to convey their deepest sympathy to the bereaved mother and to the entire family in the loss of their daughter, our former student and comrade.

"THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING ERNEST."

Girls! Remember, the Dramatic Club presents "The Importance of Being Ernest" Monday night, December 20th. This play is intensely interesting and amusing. "Forewarned is forearmed." So, girls, we are telling you now, in order that you may stay away from the "corner store" and spend your money for something worth while. Every one should attend this play, as the proceeds are for something to which we all belong—the Athletic Association. The Athletic Association will use the money to purchase a silver loving cup for the winning class on field day.

Prize-Winners Short Course

Twenty-One Champion Canning Club Girls Enrolled.

In twenty-one of the twenty-three counties in which there was organized canning club work last year, the first prize was a gold watch and all expenses paid for two weeks spent at this college. The department of "Home Economics" offered a regular course of study for the two weeks.

Ten girls arrived at noon Monday and Miss Warren arrived, chaperoning fifteen. Monday night, twenty-one of these girls are champion canning club girls, and have made splendid records in the club work in the past year.

Eula Trantham, of Duval County, produced two crops of tomatoes on her one-tenth acre plot, and made $111. Gladys Givens, of Laurel Hill, produced 3,320 pounds of tomatoes and canned 1,056 no. 2 cans of tomatoes from her plot. Many others made equally good records.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING!

So is the Florida Educational Association.

The Florida Educational Association which meets in Tallahassee December 28-30, promises to be a most enjoyable one. The railways have granted reduced rates, and many teachers have already said they will be here. The program, under the management of Professor Charles M. Jones, of Lakeland, is about ready for distribution. It has subjects of vital interest to Florida teachers and gives the names of a number of leading educators of the State who will discuss these questions.

The College will contribute to the success of the meeting in very many ways: The college dormitories will be open and prepared to care for three hundred guests; the music faculty will give a fine concert on Wednesday evening; and a general reception will be held at Bryan Hall. All departments of the institution will be ready to serve in any possible way. All the girls have generously consented to leave their rooms in order, and it is hoped they will continue to co-operate with the movement in urging all the teachers in their respective communities to attend the convention.

INFIRMARY NOTES.

Miss Schwalmeyer, while going from Reynolds Hall to the "bungalette" Monday night, tripped and fell, fracturing her shoulder. The accident was extremely painful, though not serious. She is now in the infirmary, resting quietly, and her many friends hope for her a speedy recovery.

Miss Andrews is in the infirmary with a sprained ankle, to the regret of her many friends.

Miss Myrtle Warren has been suffering with a slight attack of grippe for the last few days.

Jennie Carpenter, Catherine Bitzer and Myrtle Keen have been ill in the infirmary for several days.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT.

The College Glee Club, conducted by Miss Mastin, began its work last week with an enrollment of seventy-eight. Some new Christmas music has arrived and several choral numbers will be sung at the Christmas vespers to be held on Sunday afternoon, December eighteenth.

WE PAUSE FOR A REPLY.

After Bernard Shaw, in his own whimsical fashion, we may best translate the editorial of the week on this split of tyranny—compulsion.

"There is, on the whole, nothing on earth intended for innocent people so horrible as a school. To begin with, it is a prison. But it is in some respects more cruel than a prison. In a prison, for instance, you are not forced to read books written by the wardens and the governor (who, of course, would not be wardens and governors if they could write readable books), and are therefore beaten or otherwise tormented if you cannot remember their utterly immemorable contents. In the prison you are not forced to sit, listening to turnkeys discoursing without charm or interest on subjects that they don't understand and don't care about, and are therefore incapable of making you understand or care about. In a prison they may torture your body, but they do not torture your brains; and they protect you against violence and outrage from your fellow prisoners. In a school you have none of these advantages. With the world's bookshelves loaded with fascinating and inspired books—the very manna sent down from heaven to feed your souls—you are forced to read a hideous imposture called a school book, written by a man who cannot write; a book from which no human being can learn anything; a book which, though you may decipher it, you cannot in any fruitful sense read, though the enforced attempt will make you loathe the sight of a book all the rest of your life. It is a ghastly business, quite beyond words, this schooling."

ENGAGED!

A little sign like this on a girl's door may mean one of three things—she is very busy cramming for a test; she is engrossed in writing a theme, or she is having a feast. Whatever it is, your company—not yours especially, but everybody's—is at that time undesirable. Now, would a girl with any pride walk over a sign like this, go in where she isn't wanted? Of course not, but you just don't think. That, however, is no excuse, for our attention has been called to this matter any number of times, and we have been asked again and again to respect the engaged or busy signs. The next time some one comes in over your sign, just study those inexpressible, or rather not-to-be-expressed feelings you have, remember that probably anyone else would feel the same way, and you will hesitate a long time before you again disregard an engaged sign, even at the expense of a little inconvenience to yourself.

SHALL WE NOT KEEP THIS CUSTOM.

"Have you noticed that board with the college seal hanging in the hall by the auditorium?"

"Um—m yes, I guess so. A sort of bluish seal? Well, what's it for?"

That is just what we are wondering. If you look closely at the board you will see three copper plates, and looking more closely still you will see on these plates names reminiscent of the old Star and Crescent basketball teams. Each year, for three years, the names of the members of the winning team were scratched on a little copper plate and fastened to the board bearing the college seal. A quaint and pretty custom, was it not? Because we now have the Odd and Even teams instead of Stars and Crescents, there is no reason we should discontinue the practice. So far as we know, the matter has not been brought before the student body for the last two years. Can't we take it up again? You have no idea how much better looking that board would be, clothed in a few more copper plates!

A PLEA FOR RECOGNITION.

The idea that the work of all college organizations should be standardized and due credit given therefor, voiced in the Flambeau for November 27, appeals strongly, and seems particularly applicable in a Woman's College to the work done in the Home Department in the keeping of rooms.

The need of stimulating interest in this phase of college work is too well recognized to need comment.

Two methods of standardizing the work in this department might be suggested: (1) Through the addition of a course of instruction in Housekeeping to the work done in our efficient Home Economic Department, using the Dormitories as laboratories for working out ideas suggested in a weekly lecture, requiring that a specified time be given daily to this work, and records kept to show quality of daily work done; or (2) through the Home Department entirely the same course being pursued under the supervision of an Assistant in the Home Department. Recognition and stimulation of interest in this particular college activity would be far-reaching in their effects, and their need is too pressing to be ignored. It might be suggested that this recognition be given and credits for creditable work here be granted even though it necessitated raising the number of credits required for securing a degree.

—S. P.

IT WOULD NOT COST YOU MUCH.

Everyone seems to be making or planning Christmas presents. All over the dormitories we come upon girls working with pretty ribbons, fluffy towels and "toddies. Here are guest towels for mother, a "bondy" cap for sister, a work bag for Aunt Alice. Other girls we find disconsolately turning through catalogues and complaining that "it is so hard to find anything suitable for a man!" With all this gift-making going on, don't you think it would be nice for us to remember our faithful old friend, the old friend who has given us so many pleasant hours on dull Sunday afternoons, the Y. W. C. A. library? "The very thing!" we hear you say, "and what shall we give?" Well, what could be more appropriate for a library than a book? Suppose each one of us gives a book, that would be over four hundred volumes. Wouldn't the little library be pleased! Then, consider how we would profit, for our one book we would have the use of three hundred ninety-nine. Won't you take this up? It is not impracticable, we are sure.

THE FLAMBEAU POPULAR.

"In the waste baskets of the dormitories may be found discarded articles of every description, with one exception—never a discarded copy of the Flambeau anywhere. The Flambeau is so cherished and treasured that it is next to impossible to get an extra copy."

"After the Flambeau makes its appearance, nearly every letter going from the college carries an enclosed copy of the Flambeau to the home folks and friends, for it teems with college news and views and is as interesting to the friends at home as it is to the college girls."

The above speech was made by one who lives in the dormitories and knows whereof she speaks, so that it is a telling tribute to our college publication—the Flambeau.

The Flambeau begs to acknowledge its receipt of a revised Deskbook of the School of Journalism, The University of Missouri Bulletin. It is the gift of Miss Ruby Leach, former Editor-in-Chief. The book, needless to say, is the most valuable acquisition of the staff.

CAMPUS NOTES.

Miss Juanita Kennedy spent the week-end at her home in Jacksonville. Miss Muriel Anderson left Saturday for her home in Lake City. She expects to remain at home until after the Christmas holidays, when she will again enter college.

Miss Julia Gilbert was the guest of Miss Pearl LaFitte at her home in Lloyd for the week-end.

Miss Mary Bailey Sloan left on Saturday for her home in Monticello. She was accompanied by Misses Azalee Moore, Helen Fialeigh and Gertrude Love'l, who were her guests for the week-end.

Miss Margaret Merchant, of Gainesville, a graduate of the college, spent several days last week as the guest of Misses Mary and Berta Floyd.

Miss Grace Julian spent Thanksgiving at her home in Lake City.

Misses Callie and Louline Unstead spent several days as the guests of Mrs. Burns at her home eight miles from town.

Miss Evelyn Whitfield spent the week-end as the guest of Miss Virginia Mays at her home in Monticello. Misses Jessie Partridge, Lucille Bellinger and Adaline Haile, who have been visiting at the college, returned Saturday to their home in Monticello.

Miss Mary Bannerman, accompanied by her roommate, Miss Alice Rhodes, spent the week-end at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Davies, of Miami, spent the Thanksgiving holidays as the guest.

Misses Oakley St. John, Alice Corry and Katherine Ball spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis at Goose Creek.

A crowd of girls, chaperoned by Mrs. Cawthon, enjoyed a cane-grinding at the home of Mrs. Whitehead, at Bradfordville, on Tuesday afternoon.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Guyte McCord entertained at a reception in honor of Mrs. James Macgibbon, of Pensacola. The Pensacola girls and a number of other girls were invited to serve at this delightful function.

The Post-Graduates were the guests of Miss Elder for dinner at the Leon Saturday evening.

A party composed of Misses Lucille Cooper and Mima Harris, Messrs. Frank Wilson and Russell Mickler, and chaperoned by Miss Kirby, enjoyed a cane-grinding Wednesday afternoon.

Quite a number of the girls had dinner at the Presbyterian bazaar Thursday.

Misses Rowena Marsh and Valerie Reese entertained at a theater party Saturday evening, honoring Miss Jane Dunham, of Pensacola, the guest of Mrs. Grace Owen. Those present were: Misses Roberts, Jane Dunham, Grace Owen, Elizabeth Anderson, Miss Milton, Rowena Marsh, Valerie Reese and Cornelia Brown.

Miss Carrie Charles spent several days of last week with friends at Lloyd.

Miss Kathryn Montgomery, who was a student at the college last year, is back again, to the delight of her many friends.

Mr. J. D. Hamm, of Valdosta, was a pleasant visitor to the college on Sunday and Monday. While here Mr. Hamm presented the college with a beautiful Victrola record, which has been greatly enjoyed by the girls.

Quite a number of the prize-winners in the Tomato Club contest are at the college for the short course offered by the Home Economics Department. Some of the girls enrolled are: Carlissa Colburn, Sara and Margaret Henry, Effie Owens and Annie Laurie Simmon, from Columbia county; Mattie Baisden and Feree Faulser, of Osceola; Bessie Bailey, of Pasco; Vesta Crews and Jennie Rogers, of DeSoto; Bessie Elliot, of Holmes; Gladys Givens, of Walton; Cora Landrum, of Citrus; Olive Richardson, of Madison; Lora Rich, of St. Johns; Lottie Register, of Volusia; Beatrice Sanchez, of Alachua; Effie Sweat, of Baker; Ruth Shirley and Margaret Viers, of Hillsborough; Yvonne Slickinger and Eula Trantam, of Duval; Olive Wright, of Putnam, and Margaret Young, of Leon.

Miss Vivian Futch, of Lake City, has arrived and expects to take up work in the college.

Mr. Jones, of Fort Pierce, was a pleasant visitor to the college Sunday. On Monday evening he entertained Misses Esther Brown and Lily Carr at a delightful dinner at the Leon.

Miss Isabel Williams entertained several of her friends at dinner Tuesday. Mr. Williams, who has been on a hunt in this county, sent her some fine wild geese and ducks, which were greatly enjoyed by her friends. Those present were: Mrs. Cawthon, Mrs. Yonge, Misses Agnes Edwards, Frances Ragsdale, Julia Coombs, Mary Louise Scales, Natalie Moffett, Esther Haile and Nellie Cooper.

WANTED—Eight copies of last week's Flambeau. If the girls can find eight copies in fairly good condition, I shall be glad to pay 5c a copy for them.—Rowena Longmire.

The Place Where

THE DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

One of the chief dangers attendant upon the higher education of women in the past was that of cultivating her intellectual side at the expense of the physical. Happily, modern educational system takes every precaution against such an evil by balancing the intellectual training with a careful safeguarding of the health and by up-building, through training and exercise, the physical vitality of the student. At the Florida State College for Women the students are under the care of instructors and the college physician, who make it their business to give individual attention to the needs of the student. Their first step in this work is a thorough physical examination. These examinations, conducted by Director of Physical Education twice during scholastic year, include every girl registered in the college. These examinations have been held for the past two years with gratifying results. They consist of principal girth measurements, strength test, heart rate, lung capacity, etc. Information is sought for the sole purpose of interesting the individual to raise herself to a higher standard of health and efficiency; hence, any departure from the normal is recorded, particular attention is given to development or readjustment, as the case may call for. The most important features of past records show:

1. The high percentage of lack of development.
2. The high percentage of constipation.
3. The high percentage of anemia.
4. The high percentage of nervousness.
5. The high percentage of curvature of the spine.
6. The large percentage of errors in diet and personal hygiene.

The casual observer seldom realizes how far below her attainable or normal condition the average able-bodied girl is, and with the knowledge of her physical condition the department seeks to supervise her daily exercise, give courage and confidence that future development may mean to her greater power to endure and strength to meet life's demands.

At present all gymnasium classes and outdoor games are in full progress. Between 200 and 250 girls will be found each afternoon between 3 and 5 o'clock at work either at gymnasium or at different games. Five tennis courts, two basket ball courts, volley ball, dredge ball and baseball courts are provided by school and used to full capacity every day. The vital interest each girl is showing in her prescribed and supervised exercise is unusual and very beautiful.

STATE CONTEST AND PAINTER WATCH DAY.

The State Contest and Painter Watch Day exercises will be held in the College Auditorium, Thursday, Mrs. Okie Painter Williams, who presents a prize to the first prize winner in each county canning club, will make her annual visit to the college, spend the day with the champion girls, presenting the gold watches to those prize winners attending the short course. The $100 prize, offered jointly by the State Bankers Association and the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, will be awarded to the canning club girl who has made the highest score in the club work this year. The judging of the essays, record books, and canned products is being conducted this week, and the decision will be announced Thursday.

FROM OUR FORMER EDITOR.

The Flambeau received recently a note from our former editor-in-chief, Miss Ruby Leach, commending our paper of this year and expressing felicitations of its still greater achievement. Miss Leach, who is now pursuing her course in Journalism at the University of Missouri, will be remembered as the devoted member of the staff to whose efforts the success of

The Flambeau's first year's existence is due.

But not only in the editorial circle is Miss Leach to be remembered. Her smile and clever phrase are missed by both college mates and faculty, all to whom she endeared herself. We are watching with eager interest her success in her chosen profession of Journalism, and with her possibilities as an index, predict for her an eminent achievement in this work. We anticipate from time to time notes of criticism and suggestions from Miss Leach's pen. We shall always note with keenest pleasure any news of her.

COLLEGE BRANCH OF WOMAN'S AUXILIARY ORGANIZED.

The girls of the Episcopal church met at the parish house Monday afternoon to organize a college branch of the Woman's Auxiliary. Mr. Yarnall and Miss Weed acting president and traveling secretary of the Auxiliary of the Diocese of Florida, spoke of the purpose of the auxiliary and of the work in the church mission. The following officers were elected: Vice presidents, Misses Margaret Pearce, Helen Vaughan and Alice Corry; secretary, Julia Coombs; treasurer, Sara Barwell. After the organization the members adjourned to the home of Mrs. S. A. Lewis for a social hour.

MISS LONGMIRE VISITS ARCADIA.

Miss Longmire, of the English department of the college, was invited to Arcadia last week, to take part in the program of the bi-county Institute of Polk and DeSoto counties. She spent Friday and Saturday there, filling two engagements on Friday's program, and one on Saturday. Miss Longmire reports that the Institute was a most successful one; that these counties have united their educational forces to a very marked degree, and that the teachers were enthusiastic in all lines of school work.

The Education Society Annual Carnival Gala

An Evening With the Bible.

At the call of the Steering Committee, Tuesday night, November 30th, there gathered in Thallian Hall the hosts of the Society for Scientific Students of Education.

The chairs of the hall were rearranged for the evening in double tiers, tier facing tier. The students were divided into two groups, according to their voices. The desk of the speaker was placed at the front of the lobby between the two tiers of seats. The steering committee, as a ministry for the Society, sat on the treasury bench close to the speaker's stand.

The first business of the evening was the election of a speaker to preside over the session's deliberations. A roster of the one hundred twenty members of the society was handed to every member of the society, that each may know the names of all. The students were then asked to consider the question, "Which one of the members of the society shall be given the honor of presiding over the evening's councils?"

Tellers were appointed; the roll was called in due form, the fates decreeing that for the occasion the secretary begin calling at the letter "E."

Miss Agnes Edwards, '16, was elected speaker for the evening. She was invested with the speaker's robes and conducted to the speaker's stand.

The next matter of business was the election of a member at large to membership on the Steering Committee. The roll was called, the fates decreeing that for the occasion the secretary begin calling with the letter "H."

Miss Mary Floyd, '16, was elected and given a seat on the treasury bench beside her six colleagues, thus completing the constellation, the seven members of the Steering Committee.

Miss Cornelia Puleston, '16, has been appointed Prime Minister for the present Ministry. The ministerial duties of the other members will change according to the needs of the government. After the elections the regular program was taken up.

Miss Mary Lou Leman gave a reading on the Bible as literature. Her reading showed a great deal of hard work and faithful industry. From her words the members of the society were made to realize the wonderful wealth of the Bible as a literary storehouse, and the tremendous variety of its literary expression.

Miss Cornelia Puleston contributed a valuable discussion of the Bible as an educational instrument. She gave special attention to the history of the work of Luther in Germany, and to the history of the use of the Bible in the schools of Germany for the past several centuries.

Between the presentations by Miss Leman and Miss Puleston, Mr. Salley, as consulting speaker, asked the two groups of the society, sitting in opposite tiers, to read with choral effect, group answering group, the XXIV Psalm, as given in the Modern Reader's Bible, edited by Richard G. Moulton, of the University of Chicago, each member having been furnished a mimeographed copy of the famous lyric.

At the close of the program, Mr. Salley, in a few words, pointed out the importance of the Bible to teachers, and showed that a teacher is poor indeed who is not readily conversant with Biblical lore, and has not genuine freedom of speech, if her lips have not been touched with the fire of Holy Writ.

Fete of the Season

Large Crowd, Novel Shows, Made 1915 Mardi Gras Great Success

"This way! This way! to the passing show of 1915!" "Old maids remade!" "All right, gentlemen, see the little Sunbonnet Sues, at the Old Oaken Bucket for your pink lemonade!" Such shouts, through the various megaphones, came from all quarters of the brilliantly lighted Bohemia. Blanket tents, with alluring colored posters, enticed on every side. Bryan Hall atrium and balcony were transformed to a real live carnival, with the noisy, laughing crowd, jostling each other, crying balloons and horns, popcorn and candy, snatches of music from the tents, all intermingled with the aroma of peanuts. The gaily colored lights showed Turks, clowns, gypsies, imported dukes, sailor boys, and even Charlie Chaplin in the noisy throng. The carnival started promptly at eight o'clock with a grand parade. The shows started immediately after and continued until the coronation at 9:30. At the entrance two stately Seniors, placarded with information, directed the show-seekers. To the left, Charlie Chaplin and a harem girl auctioned curios and relics from their booth. To the right the strains of Hawaiian music took the crowd to the doll show, where the good fairy, in a dainty wand-dance, brought the cry-baby doll, the ole' mammy, the bride and bridegroom to life. Old Maids Remade featured a new attraction. Withered spinsters tumbled headlong into the great machine and came out debonair, brides, merry widows, right before your eyes. "Investigate" tent held the most beautiful hat in the world and a hot square meal for each and every one. Greek and Egyptian fortune tellers read the past, present and future. The Indians of the "Indian Village" taught craft, told fortunes and danced by the camp fire. The original Siamese twins were on the grounds. Photos were made in short order. The Passing Show of 1915 held a panorama of the Highland laddie, Dutch girl, harem girl, Japanese maiden and Columbia, with a bevy of charming chorus girls featuring in catchy steps and choruses. And did you see it—the attraction in the big tent—the Minstrel? Did you follow the crowd? No one at the minstrel got stung but the end man. There were real original jokes, solos, "A Little Bit of Heaven," "I Got a Sneaky Feelin' Round My Heart" and "Down Among the Sheltering Palms," were well set off by the movements of the chorus in black breeches, yellow blouses and great green neckties.

At nine o'clock the tents closed and the royal procession was announced. An aisle was ribboned off through the crowd to the throne at the end of the grounds. The royal train of attendants approached the throne, the carnival orchestra in accompaniment.

Ladies in Waiting—Lady Marie, Lady Margaret, Lady Nell, Lady Marion, Lady Ollie.

Lords in Attendance—Lord Raymond, Lord Francis, Lord Hubert, Lord Arthur, Lord Lucius.

Prime Minister Salley.
Maid of Honor—Lady Alicia.
Queen Lucile.

Pages—Lawrence Salley and Alexander Collins.
Court Poets—Monroe and Lovell.

The royal procession having grouped themselves about the throne, Queen Lucile, in white, with robe of ermine and purple, knelt to receive the crown at the hands of the Prime Minister, who said, as he placed the crown upon the royal brow: "Lucile, I, the Prime Minister of the far-flung Realm of Fairyland, by virtue of the awful authority vested in me by the loyal subjects of our kingdom, do hereby crown thee Queen of Nineteen-fifteen Carnival." Arising, crowned, her Royal Majesty seated herself upon the throne and thus addressed her subjects:

"The Queen, to her most loyal subjects, welcome! We are met in a spirit of revelry. Let us be partakers as well as observers, for this is the kingdom of good cheer. Again, to all those within our court, a most hearty welcome." Her joyous words brought forth thunderous plaudits and acclamations of approval from her subjects, for Lucile was beautiful, gracious and of queenly grace. She then summoned by her prime minister her court favorites, Stommons and King of unknown tongue, dialogue and song. Then her court dancer, Zelia, gave an interpretive dance, embodying in music and grace the mirth and revelry of the grand fete. After the coronation and court entertainment the shows reopened. Revelry, music and mirth heralded and ended the Carnival of 1915.

"IMPORTANCE OF BEING ERNEST"

Dramatic Club Play, Monday Evening, December 20.

All we can think of these days is, "When we go home!" "We leave such a day!" But let's not forget the treat in store for us before vacation. The dramatic club is working hard to give us something we'll remember, quote from and laugh over for many days to come.

"The Importance of Being Ernest" is one of the cleverest examples of modern comedy. The characters are original and refreshing and the interpretation of the cast is adequate. There is love-interest enough to satisfy the most romantic. Agnes Edwards and Lila Taylor, as the two young Englishmen, will surely win the heart of every college girl. Their sweethearts do them full justice.

Helen Farrington takes the part of an English lady of high degree, while Lucile Freeman is pliantly charming as the unsophisticated school girl. Too much cannot be said in praise of the other characters. Natalie Moffett adequately interprets the haughty Lady Bracknell. The comedy element is supplied by Ruth Cook, as Rev. Canon Chasuble, D.D., and Marion Colman, as the old maid governess, Miss Prism. Besides this, there are two handsome butlers, whom you must not fail to see.

Now, all we need is your hearty support. Come and bring all your friends and make this one of the big things of the year.

IMPROVEMENTS IN AND ABOUT THE COLLEGE.

The library will soon place the largest order it has ever before placed at one time. Additional shelves will be built in the cataloging room to accommodate the new books.

A fine new chemistry desk has arrived. It will be put in place during the Holidays.

The bricks for the entrance gates have arrived and work will soon be begun.

Improvements in the way of re-roofing the gymnasium, remodeling it within and adding shower-baths, have begun. It is hoped the work will be completed in the course of a few weeks.

THANKS OF CLASS '16.

We, the Senior Class of the College of Arts and Sciences, wish to thank the student body and the town people who helped so much with the carnival. We feel that the success of the evening was due to the wonderful co-operative spirit shown by our fellow classmates and patrons. The net proceeds amounted to $125.

SCHEDULES.

Some one pointed out a girl on the campus the other day, exclaiming in a voice full of awe, "That girl lives by a schedule!" She studies at just such and such a time; she walks at exactly so and so o'clock; she reads at a certain time."

From the speaker's tones the scheduled girl might have been one of the seven wonders of the world. Undoubtedly she was not an altogether ordinary student for anyone who can make out a schedule and live up to it in this college is certainly worthy of admiration. With all the distractions and temptations to fritter away time which surround us, it requires an immense amount of will power and perseverance to stick to a schedule.

Some of us have tried to follow out a schedule and failed; others have determined to try, but never quite got to it. Yet it is really worth while. It teaches one the value of time; it forces one to concentrate in order to accomplish the required work in the allotted time; it trains one in self-control. This does not mean, however, that one must become an automaton. On the contrary, it means that by learning to do one's necessary work in a specified period, and to do it well and effectively, one will have greater leisure and freedom for the development of individuality. Instead of fussing and fuming around, wondering how on earth we will ever get all that work done, we find it done quietly and efficiently before we are aware of it. Then we have time left over to use as we please and a conscience which permits it.

It is, of course, not an easy matter at first to follow out a hard and fast schedule. A mechanical aid such as suggested in The Flambeau of November 27 might be found useful. This plan provided for "a chromatic chart, showing different colors for different studies and activities, of all the student's work for the seven days of the week, vacant leisure hours showing up in white." This, or any other practical scheme, followed out thoroughly and consistently, ought to result in great good to the student, both in her work and in her other activities.

MR. SHAW AND SCHOOLS.

Editor Flambeau:

Please grant me a few lines for comment on Mr. Shaw's remarks about schools.

The quotation from Mr. Shaw was very entertaining; but like most things which proceed from his pen when he essays the role of critic or thinker, was a mixture of truth and error. In short, Mr. Shaw is a purveyor of half-truths, which are the most dangerous kind of truths in the mind of the uncritical. Much that he said was a just and scathing rebuke to the dogmatism and self-sufficiency which too frequently characterize the deliverance of pedagogues. Teachers too frequently think that schools make and unmake human nature, oblivious of the fact that for ages, mankind struggled onward and upward with no other aid than that which comes from the give-and-take of social life.

And now within very recent times, largely by a blind method of trial and error, has been elaborated a pedagogical discipline that is ruthlessly imposed upon the young of succeeding generations with but little reference to individual taste and capacities or to the needs of adult life. I remember once seeing a picture of a group of happy Chinese children at play, dancing and running about with the joy and freedom of birds; and the thought flashed across my mind that soon this scene of happiness would be spoiled with barbarous traditions, musty with age, and enforced by a pitiless pedagogical as well as social discipline began to curb their native impulses; for soon must begin the task of memorializing a bulky lore made sacred by the hand of death.

The faults which we see in an exaggerated degree in the Chinese system of education are to be found without doubt elsewhere. No matter what efforts may be made to correct them, they will in all probability continue to exist in some measure to the end of time. And why? Because conflict is the very essence of all life, whether it be physical, mental or social. We have on the one hand social institutions, i.e. established ways of thinking, feeling and doing; and on the other hand, human nature with its instincts and capacities for training, renewed generation after generation. Both of these factors are variables; and it is only at a few points that we have an exact equation between them. And in reality only because of this lack of balance do social movements arise that make for greater fullness of life, both individual and collective.

Undoubtedly, much that is retailed in the schoolroom in the way of information is flat, stale and unprofitable, without one spark of genius in it. The usual course of instruction, as Mr. Shaw rightly says, does not yield the drama of heaven, life-giving and soul-sustaining, like the great works of inspiration which sound the depths of man's emotion or explore the confines of his experience in the effort to render an intelligible account of the Universe.

There are a number of causes which aggravate the condition of sterility so frequently found in the schoolroom, chiefest among which are the following: First, inadequate preparation of teachers. The lack of first-hand experience with the subject matter of the studies they profess, makes them mere retailers of second-hand goods. Second, the use of poor text-books which have been prepared by professional book-makers of a low grade of intellect—not by great authorities in the various departments of learning. Third, a cause of more general nature, viz., a partly unorganized social economy which does not give the teachers adequate support in a moral and aesthetic way.

We thus cheerfully concede many of the points made by Mr. Shaw in his incisive criticism; but the picture is not only overdrawn, but misses altogether some things of fundamental importance, to the consideration of which I shall return in the next issue.

A READER.

The Florida Flambeau came out in a splendid six-page issue last week. Our sisters in Tallahassee have one of the very best college papers in the South and are proud of their Flambeau.—The Alligator.

SELF-IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY.

The Self-Improvement Society, which has been recently organized, is progressing very nicely. The meeting last Saturday night was a very interesting one, and the members showed an enthusiastic spirit. Many plans were discussed for our society and the following officers were elected: President, Annie McPherson; Vice-President, Viola Mathers; First Critic, Mattie Lee Parker; Secretary, Mrs. Dessie Brock; Treasurer, Cecelia Bradwell; Second Critic, Nellie Harder; Censor-Morris, Mary Bohm.

As we are going to make a success of our society, we are going to start right. Each member has ordered a copy of Parliamentary Rules, which we will study at the next few meetings with the help of Jean Salley.

Every girl who is not of college rank is cordially invited to join our society, not only invited, but urged to come. We need you, and feel sure that you will enjoy it and be benefited too.

THE EDUCATION SOCIETY.

Mr. Salley announced that the next meeting of the society would be devoted to the subject: "The Educational Possibilities of Literary Clubs Working Under Parliamentary Law and with the Fine Dispatch of Parliamentary Practice."

All announcements of programs will hereafter be made by the Prime Minister. After the rendering of the program, Miss Minna Harris, for the Ministry, moved a vote of confidence on the work of the evening. This motion was carried by acclamation.

At the conclusion of the business of the evening, the society adjourned in due and ancient form, to meet at the call of the Ministry. The next meeting of the Society, which will likely be in January, 1916, will be called to order by the present speaker, Miss Edwards; a speaker for the evening will be elected at once and conducted into office with all proper ceremony, due attention being given to gown and gavel.

The names of the students who will have the honor of representing the society on the program at the next meeting will be announced by the Prime Minister in the next issue of the Flambeau.

SHORT-COURSE GIRLS ENTERTAINED AT SUPPER.

Seniors' Fancy

Dress Ball

Last Big Event of 1915.

Saturday evening at eight o'clock, in Recreation Hall, the Senior Class of the College will have charge of the farrowed ball of the season. Tickets will be sold at the nominal price of 10 cents a couple. The hall will be beautifully decorated in Christmas berries, and it is rumored that prizes of mints will be used here and there.

Delicious refreshments will be served during the evening. A prize is offered for the most attractive couple. Many novel features are being planned. The College Orchestra are ready with their latest music. Girls, you can't afford to miss this last big Senior event of 1915. Make a date with your best girl and meet us in Recreation Hall for the grand march at 8 o'clock. Proceeds will go into Senior class fund. Do not hesitate—it's out of style. Just fox trot to that waxed floor.

ELECTION TO PAVE COLLEGE AVENUE.

The city council of Tallahassee has called an election, December 28, to vote on a bond issue to the amount of $1,000, to pave College avenue. The sentiment of the city seems to be practically unanimous that this avenue shall be paved, and there is no question but that the bond issue will carry with a large majority. A prominent citizen of Tallahassee said the other day that there could not be a more popular bond issue in Tallahassee than the one to pave College avenue. That's the way it should be. That sentiment is expressive of the cordial feeling existing between the city and the college.

It is hoped that College avenue will be paved before Commencement next spring.

INFIRMARY NOTES.

The Infirmary has been full to overflowing this week with gripple patients, among whom are the following: Mary Louise Nahr, Harriet Smithwick, Hazel Hough, Augusta Martin, Ruby Ricks, Lizzie Shepard, Addie Johnson, Annie May Nettles, Frances Reynolds, Alan White, Cornelia Brown, Lulu May Green, and Ella Ready Jordan.

We are glad to say Miss Schwalmeier is very much better. She has been moved to the "Cottage."

German Club Picnic

German Students Celebrate Jolliest Fete of Year.

The German Club held its annual picnic Monday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. P. A. Claassen. The members revelled in outdoor games in true German student style. They romped over the Claassen estate, enjoyed the garden and other points of interest, especially the Claassen goats. They accompanied Dr. Claassen to the field when it was time to feed "Suwanee." At noon, Mrs. Claassen, assisted by Mrs. Hayden and Mrs. Brantle, served a delicious picnic lunch. During the day the club participated in the following program:

Der Deutsche Verein.

BOARD OF CONTROL IN SESSION.

The Board of Control was in session at the Leon Hotel Monday. The chairman of the board, Hon. P. K. Yonce, arrived in the city Saturday morning to attend to some official business in connection with the higher institutions of learning. Later in the day, he came out to the college and inspected the buildings, and also the improvements that are being made.

FRENCH CLUB.

The French Club held its second meeting at 8:15 o'clock Wednesday, December 15, in the Minerva Club room. The business meeting was followed by an interesting program, which was as follows:

Ma Normandie—Par le Cercle.
Le Quatorze Juillet—
Papa—Mlle. Sloan.
Maman—Mlle. Knott.
Papa—Mlle. Engleston.
Marguerite—Mlle. Willard.
Duet, Chantant Noel—Mlle. Grimm, and Mlle. Carroll.
Ma Chasse n'Fours, in Recollection Personnelle—M. Claassen.
Reste Avec Nous—Par le Cercle.
Des Jeux.
After the games, delicious refreshments, consisting of tea, sandwiches and cakes, were served.

STUDENT RECITAL.

An interesting Recital was given last Tuesday afternoon by students from the various departments of the School of Music. The work as presented evidenced the conscientious training that is being carried on and the earnest work of the students. The Recitals will be continued after the Christmas vacation, and will be given every Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock.

Christmas

Vesper Services

The Florida College Glee Club will appear for the first time this season at the Christmas vespers, which will be held next Sunday at four o'clock. The enrollment of the club has now reached eighty. They will sing three Christmas choruses, Miss Ransche will play Bruch's arrangement of Kol Nidrei, a Hebrew melody sung at the atonement. A soprano solo, telling the story of the Christ Child, will be sung by Miss Sparkes. Following is the program:

Doxology.
Invocation.
Chorus—"O Little Town of Bethlehem"—Paul Bliss.
Scripture reading.
Violin Solo—"Kol Nidrei" (Hebrew melody)—Max Bruch.
Chorus—"O Silent Night"—Haydn.
Soprano Solo—"The Heavenly Message" (with violin obligato)—C. W. Coombs.
Chorus—"O Holy Night"—Adams-Seymour.
Hymn No. 13—"Hark! the Herald Angels Sing"—Mendelssohn.
Benediction.

A WOMAN'S CREED.

The following creed was written by Laura Drake Gill for several years dean of Barnard College and now head of the college at Swansee, Tenn.:

I believe that every woman needs a skilled occupation developed to the degree of possible self-support.
She needs it commercially for an insurance against reverses.
She needs it socially for a comprehending sympathy with the world's workers.
She needs it intellectually for a constructive habit of mind which makes knowledge usable.
She needs it ethically for a courageous willingness to do her share of the world's work.
She needs it aesthetically for an understanding of harmony relationships as determining factors in conduct and work.

I believe that every young woman should practice this skilled occupation, up to the time of her marriage, for gainful ends, with deliberate intent to acquire therefrom the widest, possible professional and financial experience.

I believe that every woman should expect marriage to interrupt for some years the pursuit of any regular gainful occupation; that she should prearrange with her husband some equitable division of the family income, such as will insure a genuine partnership rather than a position of dependence (on either side); and that she should focus her chief thought during the early youth of her children upon the science and art of wise family life.

I believe that every woman should hope to return, in the second leisure of middle age to some application of her early skilled occupation—either as an unsalaried worker in some one of its social phases, or if income be an object, as a salaried worker in a phase of it requiring maturity and social experience.

I believe that this general policy of economic service for American women would yield generous by-products of intelligence, responsibility and contentment.

Weekly Calendar

Sunday—Christmas Vesper Service, College Auditorium at 4 o'clock.

Monday—"The Importance of Being Earnest," presented by the Expression Department, Auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Tuesday—Special Christmas Y. W. C. A. service, 6:45 o'clock.

Saturday—Fancy Dress Ball, given under auspices of Seniors.

DICKENS RECITAL.

The Expression Department gave a Dickens Recital at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, December 13, in the Expression studio. The program consisted of three numbers from "Sketches from Boz," and an original arrangement from "Christmas Carols." The program was as follows:

The Bloomsdale Christening—Lola Mae Stroup.
The Haunting Academy—Bess Milton.
Christmas Carols—Elizabeth Conrad.
Horatio Sparken—Mary Groover.
The selections were rendered with a great deal of appreciation. Miss Groover was especially good; her voice is pleasing in quality, and she showed good dramatic possibilities.
This is the first of a series of studio recitals to be held on Monday afternoon. The next will be a Kipling Recital. The students and faculty are always cordially invited to be present.

FROM OUR COLLEGE MOTHER.

I take this means of wishing my girls, collectively and individually, a "Merry Christmas and Happy New Year."

Remember, my girls, that the home folks have been doing a lot of hard work for you since you left them, and that the most acceptable gift you will take home to them is your own self. So radiate happiness and be helpful.

I do want you to be the better for this Christmas. Do not let the Christmas spirit be merely a genial, sentimental glow with no actual renovation of heart and mind to reinforce it.

May this Christmas be fraught with the deepest significance of the Christian religion and may you not fail to bring to the Christ Child, whose birthday you celebrate, a white gift of Self-service, or Substance.

Heartily, Your College Mother,
S. L. CAWTHON.

ANVIL PROGRAM.

For Friday Evening, December 17.

Paper—"Our Alone Hours at College"—Mizpah Otto.

Discussions—"Shall we have a quiet hour at our college?"

Violin Solo—Dorothy Osgood.

Reading—Lula Taylor.

Public cordially invited.

CLASSICAL CLUB.

The Classical Club held its first meeting Friday evening, December 10, with an attendance of seventy-five. Professor Lane, of Pensacola, made an interesting talk on "The Practical Value of Latin." The club sang several songs—"Lauriger Horatius," "Adeste Fideles" and "Gaudiamus Igitur." Preceding the lecture by Professor Lane, a short business meeting was held and the following officers were elected: President, Alice Corry; vice president, Oakley St. John; secretary, Virginia Mays, and treasurer, Willie Igo.

MERRY CHRISTMAS.

With this issue, the Flambeau goes to "Santy Lau" to stay until 1916. We shall come again with the New Year. We have new hopes, new plans, and many other good things in store for you, when we come again. Until then,

"A MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL AND TO ALL A GOOD NIGHT!"

CHRISTMAS AND OUR COLLEGE.

Happiness is abroad. The flood gates are open. Christmas is at F. W. C.! Christmas: "The place where God was homeless, and all men are at home."

This echoes the message of the Christmas spirit, the message of service. In the ruddy cheer and mirth of the season, this is our joy in the Christmas spirit—to serve. How much of that joy, that spirit have we college girls brought into our lives this season? Or have we brought it? Vassar has recently revealed the secret of our joy in college, which is to say, the secret of our college spirit, she says: "The secret of all college spirit is service." It is then our Christmas Message, and it is our college spirit—service. They are one. The bells of F. W. C. shall ring out with it this Christmas, our holly-wreathed seal, with its three maiden torches, vires, artes, mores—the perfect woman—will brighten it and the girls of F. W. C. will embody it. We shall pursue the ideal of the perfect woman, through service; we shall pursue it through integrity of scholarship, and the fulfillment of social needs. We shall pursue it as the Star of Bethlehem directed it—that, not only we, but others, ALL, "May have life and have it more abundantly."

Editor of The Flambeau:

On returning to consideration of the criticism made by Mr. Shaw, I desire to submit two theses:

First—There are as many forms of "Manna" as there are phases of human nature. In most cases we cannot say that one form is more real than another, except in reference to the satisfaction of some particular need. The intellectual creations of Newton, Darwin, Helmholtz, Gauss and others are truly sources of inspiration to the human mind, as are the dramas of Shakespeare and Goethe, or the musical compositions of Mozart and Wagner. Nor would I end the comparison here. "Although we do not have Dante and Gothic cathedrals, we do have Newton and railroads." The assumption that the aesthetic productions of the human mind can thrive only in the past orders of civilization has no foundation in fact. Goethe shows us, for example, how the modern scientific spirit may embody itself in artistic creations of the highest order of human achievement.

Second—The inspiration which is valuable for mental growth must come from within—must lead to some inner activity, however meagre, which, of itself, organizes the experiences of the individual. Of course, the picture which Mr. Shaw has in his mind when he is writing of the "Manna of Heaven" is an audience in rapt attention to the creations of musical or dramatic genius.

But occasions of this sort are only for the leisure moments of life. We must find for the most part the inspiration of our lives in our daily work. Manna of Heaven cannot be defined in terms of subject matter of study or the material character of the concrete acts of human endeavor. It is rather an attitude, a way of looking at life, or on the dynamic side, a way of doing things. On the one hand we may have a mechanical, dry-as-dust routine, as on the other a broad, liberal, progressive discipline. It is the plane of thinking and feeling on which our particular acts are done that is the vital and essential matter.

Many years ago in a little country village in the far north, where I spent my boyhood days, lived a rough blacksmith who to a stranger looked much like any other member of his craft. He was a skilled mechanic and prided himself upon the quality of the work which he did. All this, however, was on the surface. Within was a spirit cast on heroic lines, the soul of an Emerson, which grasped with clear vision the deeper realities of life. In the light of a world-view this humble man saw and did his daily task in a way that many a king has been unable to grasp the duties of his exalted position.

In some later issue I shall, with your kind indulgence, make an application of the above to the matter of school work.

A READER.

DR. CONRAD VISITS DAYTONA.

Dr. Conrad attended last week the Teachers' Institute, which met in the Daytona high school, Daytona. The meeting was well attended.

A luncheon was served by the Domestic Science class of the high school, in charge of Miss Naomi Crawford, a 1915 graduate of this college. Those present were: The members of the Board of Trustees of Daytona; the county superintendent, C. R. N. Shepard; the principal of the high school, H. Clay Marks; and Dr. Conrad. The luncheon was excellently prepared and served and was a credit to the school.

CHI OMEGA BANQUET.

The members of Gamma Chapter, Chi Omega fraternity, entertained with their annual banquet at the Leon Hotel Monday night, December 13. The occasion was the predominant social function of the year. It was a banquet of beauty and Greek fellowship. The hostesses and guests arrived at 7:30 o'clock, and were conducted to the private banquet room, a tower of autumn beauty. Covers were laid for forty. The chandeliers were of holly foliage and Florida moss. The long tables formed in a "T," were artistic with slender straw baskets of red roses, down the centers of the glistening covers ran spirals of white carnations, lace fern and red ribbons. Tiny gilt baskets with dainty red ribbons, held the salted nuts. Place cards of college Gibson girls marked the places of the guests. As souvenirs of the festive occasion, there were, by the place cards, handsome cardinal leather card cases, with the gold seal of Chi Omega on the cover. These contained the menu, toasts, and chapter roll of the hostesses. The color scheme of cardinal and straw predominated in perfect harmony. It was as if Demeter herself had, with her magic touch, visited the banquet scene. Toasts and songs, interspersed with added charm, the various courses, Oakley St. John, Toastmaster, introduced the speakers with a fitting tribute to the banquet and to fraternal life, and called for a response, first, from Priscilla Major, who toasted to a "Vision of the Pan-Hellenic World." All arose, clinked their glasses across the festive board and sang the "Pan-Hellenic Toast." Frances Lotheridge followed with the toast, "Our Guests." Other toasts of the hostesses between the following courses were: "Our Ideals," "Katheryne Ball," "The Promise Land," "Virginia Holland," and "The Transformation," Mary Floyd.

The guests responded to the hospitality with toasts to Chi Omega, and to the "New Fraternity Spirit." After banqueting, the guests arose, clinked their glasses to the final toast, formed the endless chain of friendship, and raised their lusty voices in "And Lang Syne." They sang in their chain from the banquet room to the reception hall, where they bid good night. The elegance, beauty and good cheer will ever distinguish the occasion as most beautiful in Florida's Greek letter world. The charm of the hostesses shall ever be remembered with keenest pleasure among their Pan-Hellenic sisters.

Members of Chi Omega present were: Oakley St. John, Jeanette Hopson, Virginia Holland, Mattie Davis, Priscilla Major, Frances Lotheridge, Katheryne Ball, May McCord, Mary Groover, Alice Corry, Dorothy Manchester, Ruth Sisson, Margaret Willard, Florence Conlour, Carolyn Ray, Bessie Fulton, Katherine Bitzer, Helen Conlour, Mary Floyd, Florence Burger, Sarah Burwell, Lilla Patterson, Sara Fraleigh, Betsy Floyd, Bartle Baird, Rowena Longacre, Mary Evans, Cecil Jenkins, Mrs. Owen, Miss M. D. Lewis, Mrs. G. Lewis, Isabelle King, Frances Tippetts, and Sarah Spears.

Guests, representatives from other Sororities, were: Agnes Edwards, Kappa Delta; Mizpah Otto, Alpha Delta; Dorothy Stemmans, Alpha Kappa Psi; Pearl Caldwell, Alpha Omega; and Dorothy Osgood, Delta Gamma.

"THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST."

There are only a few more days left in which to make your plans for the Dramatic Club play, "The Importance of Being Earnest," which will take place on Monday evening, December 20. It should be a happy evening for us all. To begin with, we can all say "Day after tomorrow" with that beaming smile which is always a sign of Christmas vacation. Besides this, the play is a delight in itself—a bright, clean, entertaining little comedy.

The cast is working hard; the managers are working hard. Now get together, girls, and do your part to make the play a success, socially and financially.

ALUMNAE NOTES.

Christmas greeting from all the Alumnae to the editors and managers of The Florida Flambeau! Your paper has carried many kind messages to the graduates who are scattered over the state, and they hope and believe in your continuous success.

A large number of the Alumnae will visit the college during the Teachers' convention, December 28-30. Some girls have spoken for their old rooms in Bryan Hall and expect to live over the old days as far as possible.

Constance Cavell, a graduate of last year, is visiting her friends at the college and in the city. It seems natural to see her in the halls again, and her visit brings pleasure to her many friends.

Nettie Lisk, of the class of 1907, is studying in Columbia University. She took her master's degree in science at the College for Women in 1909. In connection with her studies in Columbia she has a contract with a New York firm to prepare bacteriology slides. Since the European war has practically stopped the importation of such slides, Nettie Lisk is performing not only a useful but a very remunerative work.

Blanche Glenn, who graduated in 1913, is now teaching home economics in the high school at Punta Gorda. She is pleased with her position and many reports of her success come to the college from her school patrons.

Mrs. Karl Van Doren, of New York City, has a daughter, born December 11, 1915. Mrs. Van Doren is still known among the college girls as Ireta Bradford. After her graduation here she studied in Columbia University, where she met Mr. Van Doren, one of the professors in the University. Many happy greetings from the alumnae to Mrs. Van Doren!

Isadora Sykes, of Punta Gorda, is to be married during the holidays to Mr. J. E. Skipper, of Avon Park. Isadora was a graduate of the Normal School last year. Congratulations upon her approaching marriage!

Blaunie Warren, a graduate in kindergarten last year, has recently been promoted to the first place in the primary department at DeFuniak Springs. Blaufie is a splendid little teacher and is to be congratulated upon her success.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Turner, of Gainesville, in November last, a fine young son. Mrs. Turner is known here more familiarly as Lena Baird, who graduated in 1908.

Cedora Fitch, of the class of 1911, is teaching mathematics in the DeFuniak Springs high school. Reports from her work show she is succeeding finely.

Helen Carter, a graduate of 1912, is teaching home economics and history in the Pensacola high school. Helen is making a great success of her work.

Y. W. C. A. SERVICES.

Sunday.

The Y. W. C. A. service Sunday evening was conducted by Dr. Dodd. His subject was: "And they took knowledge of them that they had been with Jesus." "These words," said Dr. Dodd, "are the most wonderful that can be said about anyone. Nothing nobler can be said of Y. W. C. A. members. If these words are to be true of us, what should our lives show to proclaim this? First, an abundance of spiritual life, that is, power and influence gotten from association with Christ. The tendency among people today seems to be to put too much stress upon the spiritual side of life and too little upon the human. Although it is necessary to spiritualize our lives, Christ stressed the fact that he was the Son of Man. I sometimes think that, instead of spiritualizing the practical it would be a good thing to 'practicalize the spiritual'—that is, to use our religion as a means to an end. That end is the purpose for which Christ came into the world, that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

Wednesday.

The Y. W. C. A. service Wednesday night was conducted by the Freshman Class, with Helen Conibear as leader. Her subject was "The Morning Watch." This is, as we all know, the time set aside early in the morning for Scripture reading and prayer. Miss Conibear spoke of the importance of having some time in which we may talk with God and ask him for strength and guidance during the day. Miss Mary Evans rendered a vocal solo, "Just for Today." Miss Gladys Comforter, accompanist.

DINING ROOM COURTESY.

No matter how cultivated in mind and spirit one may be, if there is an absence of refinement of manners, the higher generalities are likely to be overlooked—no one can afford to slight the study of good manners. The basis of all good manners is tact—that is, kindly consideration of others. This consideration may be shown at the dining table as well as at social gatherings. Graceful and easy table manners and a knowledge of how to serve and be served, add to the comfort as well as to the pleasure of one's associates in the dining room. Most of the rules of table conduct have been adopted because they are sensible. Others have been established by custom and long usage.

Quiet mastication, without noise, is an obligation that one owes himself and others. Always refrain from talking during mastication. One cannot eat quietly unless his lips are kept closed. Enjoy your meal, keep in a cheerful temper while eating. Mental disturbances while eating, often lead to nervous diseases.

Above all, don't be selfish, so absorbed in your meal that you are oblivious to your responsibility in serving others and in the general conversation; but do not monopolize the conversation.

Do not carry on conversations in an undertone, obviously excluding others at the table. Do not talk of disagreeable topics.

Do not lounge at table; sit gracefully; keep the chair on all four legs; do not sit far away from the table and tilt the chair; never use your own knife and fork when serving one's self; do not complain of how many things you can't eat; do not mix food on the serving plate any more than possible; do not drink tea or coffee from the saucer; do not pick your teeth in the presence of others; do not take more on your plate than you can eat; do not reach across the table for anything; do not assemble all the dishes around your own plate; do not disarrange table during meal; have everything in order and leave it in that way. If you do not care for soup, wait until others are ready to be served to dinner before you are served. In using spoons for serving or for sipping soups, there is less danger of spilling the food if the spoon is moved away from, rather than towards, one's self. For beverages the spoon is used for stirring and tasting, but not for sipping. After the spoon has been used, it should be placed in the saucer. When tasting with spoon, the side, not the tip, should be used.

There is only one right way to hold the knife and fork. When the knife and fork are used together, grasp the handle of the knife or fork with the first finger and thumb so that the end of the handle touches the palm of the hand. The hands should almost cover the handle, but the first finger should not extend down on the blade of the knife or the prongs of the fork. The knife is held in the right hand only, and is used for cutting food and spreading butter on bread. After the knife has been used for cutting, it should be so laid on plate that it rests wholly on plate—never partly on plate and partly on table. The fork is held sometimes in the left hand and sometimes in the right. It should be in the left hand when holding foods that are being cut with the knife; it may be held in either hand when conveying food to the mouth.

When a second serving is desired, the knife and fork should be placed together on one side of the plate in order to make room for the food. At the end of the course, the knife and fork should be placed side by side in the center of the plate. The fork should be used whenever it is possible and sensible to do so. Soft food, such as soft cooked eggs, custards, certain fruits and desserts served with cream, should be eaten with a fork.

Almost all foods are served with a fork or spoon. There are a few foods, however, such as bread, cake and wafers, which should be taken with fingers. Bread should not be cut at table; it is better to break off a piece of bread and then butter, than it is to spread the entire slice at one time.

When getting fish bones, olive seeds or tough meat which you are unable to swallow, into the mouth, remove very calmly with fingers, place on edge of bread and butter plate, or bone dish; or if neither are provided, place at extreme edge of plate, so that it will not come in contact with other food.

Let us put into practice the few suggestions given above, and not think because we are away from home and mother, at college, we can lay aside our manners until we are ready to return. Think of it—three, five, six or even nine months of bad manners! What will we be at the end of that time? Unconsciously, bad manners will take hold of us, and there we are!
